Fosdick gazed at him and Burleson lifted his head slowly.

"You mean—?" gasped Fosdick.

"I mean just that! I'll wait. I can't strike such a blow at them all, now at—" Mark stopped. He did not want to add "a dying man."

Burleson rose unsteadily, facing him. "You—you know I let you suffer? And—you do this?"

Mark nodded. "I'll wait."

Burleson sank into his chair, speechless; speechless he hid his face in his hands.

Fosdick stood staring, reluctant to be convinced. "Here's a wonder!" he exclaimed at last.

Pam when she was told, saw it all more clearly.

"Of course I understand! I knew you'd be like that," she said proudly, "you're great enough to spare an old man who's wronged you! It's awfully grand, and I know it's for me. You can't stop me now, Mark Grant, for I want some of the glory; we'll face those ex-convict years together—yes, we will!"

British Newspaper Comment on D Day

(Contributed)

At this decisive hour we think of our fighting men. Not a man or woman in this island home of ours but has some personal stake in the mighty venture we are undertaking together.

We on the home front are proud to bear our share of the cost and pain of these days. We want our men to know that a nation with one heart and mind is fighting alongside them every minute—fighting for the new world for which they are giving their lives.

We mean to make D Day a date with destiny for Britain. A time when we can make simple practical decisions to see that the new world does not disappear once again in lofty words and jungle living the moment the war is over.

A girl with two brothers in the Navy wrote a letter that will go straight to the hearts of millions in this country during these days of suspense: "I don't want to grin and bear it—to hold on tight till it is all over. I don't want to run from one activity to the next, to run away from my fears in a feverish unending round of things to do.

"I want to give my woman's heart and all I feel for my brothers to create now the new world they're fighting for. I want to help make this nation once again a great, caring family, with millions of hearts beating as one and beating for each other. I want to use every ounce of emotion and every extra heart-beat to free this country from the tight strangle-hold of fear, hate and greed, and to make flow again the great creative streams of love and devotion that can never be rationed and that alone bring a new life. With God's grace and power I dedicate myself, heart and soul, to doing this for my country."

PRAIRIE FARM OUTPUT SOARS

To get down to facts and figures, there are probably few laymen who know that Saskatchewan, the "poor relation" of the 1930's, in 1943 ranked second only to Ontario in point of cash agricultural income. Ontario's return was $329,140,000 that of Saskatchewan $311,440,000. Alberta and Manitoba ranked third and fifth, respectively, with Quebec in fourth place.

Nor do they realize that, of Canada's total cash agricultural income in 1943 of $1,396,960,000, the three western provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, accounted for $670,000,000, compared with $726,290,000 for all other provinces combined.

And, figures also reveal, this wartime record of the prairie provinces is no flash in the pan achievement. Statistics for the last 10 years indicate that the 1943 cash agricultural income standing was pretty well held in the order of Ontario, Saskatchewan, Alberta, Quebec and Manitoba throughout the 1934-43 period. —The Financial Post.

GRANT FULL REBATE ON CAR LICENSES

Full rebates will be given to motorists who turn in their old number plates, covering the unexpired portion of the license, according to information that the Alberta Motor Association has received from the provincial secretary's department.

Formerly the rebate could not exceed 20 per cent of the annual license fee.

The province has followed the policy of allowing a full rebate in the case of those moving out of Alberta to live elsewhere. Under a new regulation, this right also will apply to residents of the province who wish to turn in their licenses and will cover the full amount for the unexpired period of the license.

The new order will be in effect from April 1 last and will apply to licenses issued prior to Jan. 10, next.

CASTING YOUR VOTE—

TO THE YOUNG MAN or young woman casting his or her vote in a regular election for the first time there comes a thrill of accomplishment. Having passed through childhood and youth there is the sense that now having voted they have reached majority and are full grown. (Recently the voting age in Alberta was lowered to 19 but has stood at 21 in federal and provincial elections for many years.) There is the feeling that casting the vote makes one a part and parcel of society and not merely an appendage to be looked after, guarded and guided, and that statesmen and parliamentarians are not individuals on a pedestal out of reach, but fellow individuals within reach and approachable. There is also a feeling of responsibility and importance at having been entrusted with the power to assist in voting a man "in" and also futility when is is remembered that it is but one of many thousands of votes cast. To what extent first voters weigh the issues of the day we do not know, it is more than likely that in most cases they follow the teachings and suggestions of their elders though there are likely many who are independent enough in thought and action to cast a vote strictly according to their own thought and decisions. But perhaps the most important thing to be remembered by the young voter or for that matter any voter, is that the privilege of secret voting by all, regardless of wealth and attainment, is a trust handed down to them by men who had to fight hard, often at the cost of bloodshed, to obtain it. Consequently, it should never be treated lightly, but rather as the mark of true citizenship, the desecration or neglect of which is something one should constantly guard against.

On August 8th, many readers of the Mercury will have an opportunity of casting their ballots for candidates representing Social Credit or C.C.F. political faiths. At meetings, over the radio, through the press, the doctrines, promises and pledges of each party have been given again and again. To the west of Tofield, Mr. Floyd M. Baker, Social Credit, and Mr. Dave Roberts, C.C.F., are the candidates. Both are very good men and able administrators. Mr. Baker has been member for some number of years and Mr. Roberts is secretary of the enlarged M.D. of Clover Bar. He is also secretary of the Alberta Municipal Districts Association. East of Tofield the candidates are Dr. McPherson of Ryley and Mr. Lefsrud of Viking. Dr. McPherson is well known here and has been a Social Credit member for years. Mr. Lefsrud of Viking, carrying the C.C.F. banner, is we understand, a lawyer by profession.

It is not to the Mercury's interest as to how you cast your vote on August 8th. But we do hope that a good vote will be polled. Amid so many other distractions, mostly caused by the war, there is a tendency for a slackening of interest in provincial affairs which is never a good sign.

Voters could remember with some profit to themselves that governments and political candidates are but human and this being so, are afflicted in a greater or lesser degree with all the imperfections of humanity. It is quite natural for a government in power to strain every effort to remain there. Even if the financial reward is not large, to members there is satisfaction and prestige in being one. Party platforms change or at least are modified as time passes, and for a voter to cast his or her vote with conviction it is necessary to either have a definite preference as regards the individual candidates or definite beliefs as to the policies the different candidates stand for. In provincial affairs at least this is not always easy to arrive at as regards policies, as the authority of the provincial government has definite limits and it in many respects could be classed as but a supreme council. We know of no better system of government than the two party system, even with all its faults which are many, but there is a limit as to how far the two party system can be carried into government. For instance it would be ridiculous to have the M.D. of Beaver run on the two party system. The task of the provincial government is to manage the province efficiently and well and while it is not a sovereign power, its scope is large enough to permit of the use of a government and properly constituted opposition.

Finally in passing, we would like to ask voters not to vote for either Mr. Baker or Mr. Roberts on the strength of their pictures appearing in the Mercury. They are both better looking than their pictures make them appear. The cuts supplied are non too suitable for newsprint reproduction and the warm weather increases the difficulty of getting a good print.

So They Tossed For It

A professor, while tramping through a field, found himself confronted by an angry bull. Wishing only to pass and not offend the beast the professor said. "My friend, you are my superior in strength, and I am your superior in mind, and so, being so equally gifted, let us arbitrate the matter."

"Oh, no," replied the bull. "Let's toss for it." So the professor lost.

At the end of May Canadian prisoners of war numbering 5,278 were scattered through 47 camps in Germany, and 11 camps in the Far East. Of these prisoners, 8 are from the navy, 3,689 Army and 1,435 Air Force, 146 Merchant Navy. Men and non-commissioned officers work in stone quarries, on river work, brick laying, lumbering, agriculture, boot factories, anything that is not directly connected with the prosecution of the war. They work usually nine or ten hours a day, usual pay being 70 pfennings a day. The first parcel a prisoner gets is a Red Cross "capture parcel" packed in Canada and stocked in London.

Agricultural fairs throughout Canada have been a great factor in our social and economic progress and chances are that after the war they will be bigger and better than ever. Some of Canada's fairs are among our oldest institutions. The first organized agricultural fair in Canada was held at Windsor, Nova Scotia, in 1765. The first fair at Picton, N.S. was held 127 years ago. In Ontario the Niagara Agricultural Society held a fair in 1791. Centenary of the fairs are this year planned at Vankleek Hill, Ontario and Richmond, Ontario.

The federal Labour Department is making a special effort to get thousands of high school boys and girls to register for summer employment on farms. It is hoped they will ease the critical situation which threatens in every kind of farming from fruit picking to grain harvesting. Spending a vacation on a farm is not only profitable but a health-builder as well, and besides it is a contribution to the war effort. Placing officers are very careful in the selection of farms for these youngsters. The provinces have arranged for supervised camps for fruit pickers.

So far the Labour Department, it is reported, has not had to enter a prosecution against any employer for failure to replace a returned member of the Armed Forces, in his former employment. All cases apparently have been adjusted with satisfaction to date. Under the Act a discharged member of the Forces may undertake on his own behalf this prosecution. The Act provides that employers must reinstate war veterans in their original jobs, or re-employ them under conditions "not less favorable". It applies equally to men and women who were at least three months on the job in question before being accepted into the services. Where two or three left an identical job, the first to leave is entitled to reinstatement. If a returned person is physically unable to carry out his former duties, the onus is on the employer to place him at any work he can do. Ex-members have three months if discharged in Canada—four, if discharged overseas—to apply for reinstatement. The Act does not apply to Dominion or Provincial government employees as they have regulations of their own.

Nowhere has there been such a marked benefit from the wartime price and distribution controls than to the country general store merchant. His total business increase since 1939, according to official estimates tabulated at Ottawa, is around 60 per cent. To show the relative position of various types of merchants, here are figures on sales volume for the year 1943; for department stores and mail order houses there was a decrease of one per cent; chain stores also showed a decrease 2.3 per cent; independent stores, not including country general stores, increased 5.8 per cent and the country store increased 9.5 per cent.

Farming in Canada is really big business. Total cash income from the sale of farm products in 1943 was $1,396.9 millions, against $765.2 millions in 1940, an increase of two per cent. While the increase in the index of farm prices from 1940 to the spring of 1944 was only 55.4 per cent, the increase in the total cash income in the four years was 82 per cent, this being accounted for by the heavy increase in volume of farm products put on the market. The increase in volume of produce sold was in much greater proportion to the increase in prices for the products. In the same period, increase in farm wages per month, with board, averaged for all of Canada, was 136 per cent. This shows a jump from $26.02 in May, 1940, to $61.23 in May 1944.

BRITAIN CONTRACTS FOR 100 MILLION POUNDS BEEF FROM CANADA

Hon. James G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, announced July 14 that negotiations have been completed for a contract to supply the United Kingdom with a minimum quantity of one hundred million pounds of beef during the two-year period 1944 and 1945, and in addition to this minimum quantity all further surpluses of beef as they become available. The negotiation of this contract has the effect of assuring floor prices for beef on a revised scale.

In the case of Special ("Red Brand") beef and Commercial beef of "Blue Brand" quality, the Meat Board will purchase for export to the United Kingdom an agreed quantity at prices 25 cents below their respective ceilings. If further surplus quantities of "Red" and "Blue" brand beef are offered to the Meat Board, the Board will purchase all such additional quantities at prices 50 cents below the ceiling.

Other qualities of beef will be purchased on the following basis:

Choice of good quality cows—75 cents below the ceiling.

Commercial quality not qualifying for "blue" brand—$1.25 below the ceiling.

Accumulations of beef of lower qualities will be avoided by inclusion in the exports of substantial quantities of boneless manufacturing beef.

The above prices constitute in effect floor prices since the Meat Board will be prepared to buy all quantities offered to it.

If present trends of marketings continue and if high quality cattle come to market in an orderly manner, it is expected that the minimum quantities provided for in the United Kingdom contract will maintain the prices of "Red" and "Blue" brand beef at a point not lower than 25 cents below the ceiling. In any case, however, no matter how heavy or irregular the marketings may be, the producers of "Red" and "Blue" brand beef will have the complete assurance of the protection of floor prices at not less than 50 cents below the ceiling.

These new floor price arrangements will come into effect on August 21, 1944, and will replace the variable and graduated floors which have been in effect during the 1943-44 season. Under last year's arrangements, the floor prices ranged from $2.25 below the ceiling during the late summer and autumn months to 25 cents below the ceiling in the late spring and early summer months. The new floor prices will remain level throughout the year.

BEEF BOOM

Purebred beef bulls of famous blood lines are bringing fancy prices in the United States. It is reported that one bull brought $40,000 at a recent sale, (Aberdeen Angus bull, Prince Eric of Sunbeam), another $38,000, a cow $20,000 and calves from $600 to $1000. The situation compares with what occurred at the end of the last war when purebred livestock hit peak prices. The difference between then and now is that the 1919-20 boom developed on the basis of credit, while now selling is on a cash basis.

A lot of the buying is being done, according to Business Week, by city men who are founding herds or are endeavoring to improve those they had before the war. It was Ralph L. Smith, a Kansas City lumberman who bought the $40,000 Aberdeen Angus bull above mentioned. A Grand Rapids, Michigan, man bought an eight-year-old Holstein cow in Canada a year ago for $6,500 and now values it at $30,000. It's calf sold to the Curtiss Candy Company at Chicago for $14,000.

WORLD OF WHEAT

FARM HOME WEAVING

The revival of hand loom weaving among farm women on these prairies has been sponsored by the Searle Grain Company. Once again for another year the work has gone well, and all the 800 farm women and girls who have learned to weave at some 60 different prairie classes tell us they are delighted with the satisfaction and pleasure they have derived from creating something that is useful and beautiful with their own hands.

Two hundred members of the weaving classes who had purchased looms recently submitted samples of their craft for a prize competition. This was all judged in Quebec, was put on display in that province, and is now on display in Winnipeg. The pieces are varied and beautiful beyond all imagination, and demonstrate what any farm woman or girl can easily and quickly do after learning to weave.

The woven materials have been made into every conceivable article: suits, coats, bedspreads, drapes, towels, rugs, tablecloths, handbags, scarves and so forth.

I suggest that other farm women and girls who can possibly do so should endeavour to learn hand loom weaving. It is an art that is simple to learn, is inexpensive and will bring a lasting pleasure to a farm family for a whole lifetime.

Inviting Your Patronage

When harvesting starts this season considerable space will be available for deliveries of grain in country elevators. Many customers of Alberta Pool Elevators have been prevented from delivering to these elevators in the past few years due to congestion of facilities. This fall they will likely have the opportunity of again becoming patrons of this farmers' grain organization.

Sports Day A Success

[illegible] Community League's Sports Day held last Wednesday was well attended and there was a large variety of entertainment despite the conditions of the roads and grounds. Ross Creek, who were scheduled to play baseball against Tofield at 1.00 p.m. could not come so a softball game between McKenzie and Kingman occurred, Kingman winning by a score of 16-5.

A Junior baseball game between Tofield and McKenzie was also played. This was a close contest with Tofield getting five runs in the last inning to win 9-5.

Then came the first senior baseball game with Dodds and Bardo (who represented the home team.) Gus Nelson, Dodds pitcher, came through with a stellar performance. The Bardo boys netted only one run off him, while his team mates garnered ten off Bardo's moundsmen. The local boys have for the last couple of years lacked quality in the receiving department. A catcher of outstanding calibre might often spell the difference between a win or a loss.

The last game was between Dodds and McKenzie and this resulted in a real pitcher's duel between Phillips of McKenzie and Gordon Chappell of Dodds. After a hard struggle Dodds finally edged out a 4-2 win. A junior game in the evening between Tofield and Dodds ended in a 6-4 win for Dodds.

IN MEMORIUM

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Mrs. Fosmo, who passed away at Bellingham, Wash., August 10, 1943.

Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears in silence often flow.
For memory keeps you ever near us,
Though you died one year ago.

—Ever remembered by Petra and family.

Miss Zelda Dodds from Edmonton is spending her holidays at her home.

FARMING COMMUNITY TACKLES WARBLE FLY

No one farmer can fight the warble fly successfully. He can spray his herd and scrub their hides and squeeze their warble lumps in vain, unless his neighbours take the same precautions. If one single nearby herd is left untreated, its warble flies will migrate to every other farm in the district pestering the cattle, burrowing through their hides and lowering their milk flow.

To combat the warble fly, it is necessary to mobilize the efforts of an entire farming community. That fact was decisively proved this year by the farmers of the Claresholm district of Alberta. They organized and mechanized their warfare against the warble fly in a successful co-operative campaign described

Mr. Reynolds reports that forty farmers clubbed together to buy a power sprayer. A share in the sprayer cost a farmer 12 dollars if he had fifty head of cattle or less. For each additional fifty head, a shareholder's assessment was 5 dollars. For the warble fly treatment each shareholder was charged 7 cents per head, and most farmers had their cattle treated twice. Non-shareholders in the power sprayer paid 10 cents a treatment.

The farmers decided that the most efficient way of carrying out this warble fly control was to hire a man to treat all the stock in the area and they paid him 2 cents per head. He took the power sprayer to every shareholder's farm where he treated herds ranging from 13 to 450 head. The result of this co-operative endeavour is that following the treatment of nearly 9,000 cattle, the Claresholm district is this summer, the home of contented cows but an unhealthy place for the warble fly.

FARM PRICE LEGISLATION

One of the most disastrous periods in the history of Canadian agriculture occurred a couple of years after the close of World War I. Farmers had doubled their wheat acreage and went heavily into livestock production during the war. In the latter part of 1920 prices of farm products nose-dived, causing economic havoc in rural areas.

To prevent such an occurrence after World War II ends, a bill has been introduced into the House of Commons at Ottawa to provide for stabilized prices for farm products during the post-war period. In contrast to what occurred during World War I, when prices of all farm products soared to very high levels, farm prices have been held down under "ceilings" during World War II.

Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture, who is sponsoring the bill in parliament, said it would provide for the setting of a floor price for any natural product of agriculture except wheat, which is handled by the Canadian Wheat Board. The bill provides for the setting up of a three-man board to supervise the prices of farm product. Included in the powers of the board is the establishment of a price at which it will buy farm products. A fund of $200 million will be placed at the board's disposal. If in its dealings it loses any money the dominion government will foot the bill, but if it makes any money such will be retained for such purposes as it may decide.

Canadian farmers have expanded their production to a substantial degree during the war. The minister of agriculture said that in fairness to farmers they should not be asked to reduce their production in post-war years in order to obtain a better price through scarcity, nor should they be asked to sell at cost of production or suffer low prices because of exceptionally good crops during the transition period from war to peace.—Wheat Pool Bulletin.

MOVEMENT OF GRAIN

Western country elevators held 132 million bushels of wheat on July 14th. Just before harvest in 1943 there were 222 million bushels of wheat in these elevators. Before the 1944 harvest commences much of the grain now in country elevators should be moved to the lakehead. Right now about 1,100 cars are being unloaded at Ft. William—Pt. Arthur terminals each day. Last fall 600 cars a day was the maximum that could be unloaded.

Further relief for congestion in railway traffic is likely to be obtained through the fact that eastern Canadian provinces have good crops this season and will require less feed grain from the west.

When wars are done and gray years loom ahead,
And Sadness drapes its mist across the sky,
And Love has smiled, and then passed coldly by Nor stopped to bind the heart that freely bled,
And calculating reason reigns instead
Of all the warmth that once flared up on high;
Now would the coward moan and loudly cry
That life is spent and every word is said.

He would forget that none who breathes is free,
For each sails out with orders strictly sealed;
Who knows how many days or nights

SHEER COURAGE

LONDON. The first two ships to enter the harbour of Cherbourg were two British mine-sweepers. These two modest little ships took on a task that for sheer courage, can hardly be surpassed. Commodore W. A. Sullivan, head of the U.S. Naval Captured Ports Group, estimated that the number of mines laid inside Cherbourg Harbour ran into thousands. Until they had been cleared up the salvage ships could not get to work on the wreck-blocked harbour. Hardly less courageous are the 20 British Navy divers who joined in the hazardous work, after the minesweepers had done theirs.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By H. G. L. Strange

A WORTHY ORGANIZATION

The Canadian Seed Growers' Association recently met at Saskatoon and celebrated its fortieth anniversary. These men gathered together at Saskatoon, just as they have gathered together in different provinces for each of the past forty years—and at their own expense—to discuss, not ways and means of raising the price of seed, or of advancing their own welfare, but solely methods of improving the quality of their product—Registered seeds.

In 1904, when the Association started, it had a membership of ninety-three farmers who produced seed of forty-three different kinds, varieties and strains of crops. Today the Association has a membership of 2,600 who produce seed of 271 different kinds, varieties and strains.

I found myself thinking what a fine unselfish body of men they were, for no seed grower has ever accumulated much, if any, extra money through the exacting additional work that seed growing requires; indeed most of them tell you that seed growing has brought them in no extra profit, but that they do enjoy the realization that their work helps to maintain the high quality of Canadian grains and other products flowing to world markets, hence that they are contributing towards the welfare of their fellow farmers.

GAS DEFLATES HOPES FOR WATER IN TEXAS

Eden, Texas—Driller B. A. Duffey struck gas—2,037,000 cubic feet a day of top quality, dry, highly inflammable gas—but everyone is very sad about it.

FIELD FORAGE CROP PRODUCTION

Farmers who have grass and legume crops now growing should determine immediately whether any of such crops may be harvested for seed. Various kinds of forage crop seeds are in keen demand states N. N. Bentley, Provincial Supervisor of Crop Improvement. Fields which promise to yield clean seed or seed which can be cleaned to a good seed grade will likely bring good returns.

SO THEY TOSSED FOR IT

A professor, while tramping through a field found himself confronted by an angry bull. Wishing only to pass and not to offend the beast the professor said, "My friend, you are my superior in strength, and I am your superior in mind, and so, being so equally gifted, let us arbitrate the matter."

"Oh, no," replied the bull. "Let's toss for it." So the professor lost.

PRICE CONTROL

(Contributed)

PRICE CONTROL is probably the most widely recognized of the many controls making up Canada's comprehensive stabilization program. Although there has been criticism of some parts of the price control policy, there can be no doubt of its overall effectiveness.

Since the price ceiling came into effect the cost of living has been kept definitely within bounds. The total Canadian cost-of-living index has increased only about 3 per cent since December, 1941. The cost of food has gone up 8 per cent, clothing less than 2 per cent, rents less than 1 per cent, and the cost of [illegible] and lighting has remained unchanged since that time.

Despite the fact that many of the price control measures appear complicated to the unitiated, the basic policy has been simple. Prices of most goods and services were frozen at the level prevailing during the "basic period" in 1941, or at levels established by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board as equivalent.

The chief difficulty in maintaining the price ceiling has been the impossibility of preventing increased costs in many cases. Increased costs come about in a variety of ways, some of them completely unavoidable. There are increased costs of imported materials, or the necessity of substituting more expensive materials for those no longer available. There are also increased costs for transportation in wartime.

The problem has been to prevent these increases from reaching the consumer in the form of increased prices. Several devices are used to solve this problem. The first method is to have the producer and the distributor share the "squeeze". Great credit is due the manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers of the country for the manner in which they have assumed some of the burden of these increased [illegible]

The second method of combatting increased costs is by means of the program of simplification that was instituted by the WPTB. Elimination of many of the unnecessary frills from many lines of goods made manufacturing costs less.

The various simplification measures have been designed so that they can be accomplished with the minimum amount of difficulty to the manufacturer.

When these two methods are not sufficient, or are not applicable in particular cases, a third alternative has been used. This is the suspension of customs duties and import taxes on some materials. The amount lost to the Treasury has been more than compensated for by the lower costs allowed under this method.

Only as a last resort has a policy of subsidy payments been introduced. Subsidies have to be paid for eventually by the consumer from taxes, but their merit is that they prevent price increases which would in turn lead to price increases in other products, and so in the long run cost much more. Subsidies have been used mostly for imports, or for farm products.

These are the measures of proven value. But they are only the machinery of price control. The substance of price control is the support the policy has been given by every Canadian. This support must continue if the policy is to continue [illegible]fully. The cost of living can be kept down if every Candian remembers the specific tasks charged to the individual—to eliminate all unnecessary spending, to buy and sell only at legal prices, and not to press claims for higher profits because of wartime conditions.

BLITZ THOSE FLIES ADVISE DOCTORS

"Blitz those flies" is the advice given by doctors everywhere.

In Canada the house fly is one of the most important agents in the spread of diseases such as typhoid fever, tuberculosis and possibly infantile paralysis. The Department of Agriculture points out that one fly can carry a million or more disease organisms which it picks up from all kinds of filth it visits and in which it breeds.

Disease germs adhere to the outside of the body of the fly, to its sticky foot pads, to its spongy mouth parts, or are carried in its alimentary canal. Driven by extraordinary curiosity and its strong sense of smell, the pest will find the kitchen or dining room of a house in Sherlock Holmes' best style. Flies have been known to travel 14 miles in this search.

The destruction of breeding places is the most fundamental step in control measures, according to the Department. Since the larvae of the fly can only feed on liquids, it is important that no moist garbage or waste organic matter should be allowed to collect. Garbage should be wrapped in paper and kept in tightly covered cans. Where there is no collection, garbage should be burned or buried in earth or lime each day. Flies which have invaded the house in spite of screens should be killed with swatters, fly poison and tanglefoot pads.

A cheap fly poison can be easily made by stirring into a tumbler of water one dessertspoonful of formaline and one teaspoon of sugar. Invert the tumbler in a saucer covered with a piece of blotting paper. If a commercial spray is used, stupified flies must be swept up off the floor and burned before they recover.

Further information on the control of these household pests may be obtained by writing to the Publicity and Extension Division, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Weekly Editor Looks At Ottawa

Because of the existence of an adequate pool of trained pilots, suspension of recruiting for Canada's air force until October 1, was announced recently by Air Minister Power. It was pointed out that this will not affect the output of aircrew for approximately a year. Because of this reserve, pilot training courses at service flying training schools will be lengthened by eight weeks and only those best qualified will be allowed to continue training as pilots. All categories of air crew will now have the same opportunity to earn commissions. It is likely that these regulations will result in the schools turning out the best trained pilots in history.

Fifty-three million pounds of the 100,000,000 pounds of beef Canada has agreed to ship to the United Kingdom in 1944-45 has already gone there, even tho' the contract has just been signed. But the British are going to take all that we can make available, so, when the contract is over it may be three or four times the minimum figure stated. This represents the equivalent of 250,000 cattle valued up to thirty million dollars. One of the factors in the contract is reported to be that fresh Canadian beef can be landed in the Old Country in 10 days, while that shipped from the Argentine [illegible] as long. In the past the Argentine has shipped 1,250,000 head of cattle to the U.K. in a year. This contract, according to Agricultural Minister Gardiner assures floor prices for beef on a revised scale, and further will not disrupt domestic supplies to a point where meat rationing will be necessary again.

An interesting lesson in democracy goes on in the Princess Alice Barracks, Ottawa, where 200 RCAF airwomen make their home for the duration. They have a system of government, in this barracks, patterned after the government of the Dominion. They elect their own councillors—Members of Parliament—from the 10 wings or "constituencies" in the barracks once a month, carrying out a full program of self-administration which includes what they will have for Sunday dinner, how many dances they will have each month, etc. The voters have definite ideas about what they want in privileges. Where a councillor fails to represent her constituents adequately, she is accorded a want of confidence vote, and must "go to the country" and seek re-election.

The Bill passed by the House of Commons providing the franchise for Canadian war service electors at any general election is a most interesting document. Every provision is made for the same privilege and secrecy of ballot as at home. Each man's ballot goes in a separate envelope on the back of which is a form certifying his electoral district. This form carries his vote to the electoral district for counting. A standardized ballot is used. On it is printed, "I vote for . . . ." and he fills in the name of the candidate of his choice. The ballot is sealed in the envelope by himself, handed to a commissioned officer designated, who in full view of the voter places the sealed envelope in another envelope addressed to the special returning officer. The officer seals this and hands it back to the elector who then mails it himself. The operation of sorting, and distributing the sealed ballot papers in their proper electoral districts is conducted by scrutineers working in pairs, each one representing a different and opposed political party.

People often write to National Defence headquarters at Ottawa asking "the present location of Thomas Smith who is in the Canadian Army." Well, there are 124 Thomas Smiths in the Army, 14 of them from Toronto, for instance. Hence the necessity of supplying full Christian names, rank, number, and properly spelling the surname. Here's why. There are 5,118 Smiths in the Canadian Army, 362 of them having the Christian name of William. There are: Allan 308, Allen 759; Cook 716, Cooke 221; Johnson 1,807; Johnston, 1,114, Johnstone 232; The McDonalds in various ways of spelling total 3,784; Arsenault 551; Arsenneault 184. HUMAN RESOURCES OF FIRST IMPORTANCE

"Human resources are of much more importance than material resources," Mr. King declared. "You cannot have one section of the nation undernourished, ill-clothed and unequal to its daily tasks and not have the rest of the nation sooner or later suffer as a consequence." In recent months more than 50 per cent of men examined for the armed forces were rejected on medical grounds, the Prime Minister said, and observed that poor conditions during their youth undoubtedly contributed to this situation.

Mr. King said that like other measures brought before Parliament by the present government the family allowance is designed to provide a greater measure of equal opportunity for all. His forthright pronouncements were regarded by many as a [illegible] for social [illegible] throughout Canada for people in all walks of life. Leaders of all opposition groups endorsed the principle of the family allowance save that the Progressive Conservatives tried to block the measure by claiming it was unconstitutional.

Their effort to do this was defeated by 127 to 31 all groups in the Commons except the Progressive Conservatives supporting the government. Mr. King referred to the bill as a "recognition of the right of children of poor parents of what is already recognized as the right of children whose parents are in more fortunate circumstances."

49th BATTALION (LOYAL EDMONTON REGIMENT) ASSO

The annual Church Parade of the 49th Battalion (Loyal Edmonton Regiment) Association will take place at Edmonton on Sunday, August 13th, 1944. The Parade will "Fall in" on the Market Square at 9:45 a.m. and move off at 10:30 a.m. The service will be held at the Parliament Hill grounds as usual. Captain the Reverend E. T. Scragg, Chaplain of the Association, will conduct the service.

UNITED CHURCH SERVICES SUNDAY, AUGUST 13, 1944

Annual open air service at Lakeview, South Cooking Lake.

There will be no regular United Church services at Looma Vista, Hastings Lake, or Ministik, but instead there will be a joint open-air service at Lakeview, S. Cooking Lake, at 2.30 p.m. The special speaker will be Rev. W. Gray Rivers, B.A. of Calgary, the Provincial Boys Work secretary. Mr. Rivers is a most interesting speaker, and has had wide experience in the Religious Education work of our province. All friends are cordially invited to come and bring their friends and spend an enjoyable and profitable afternoon. There will also be an opportunity to visit the District Boys Camp now in session at Lakeview.

Services at Cooking Lake [illegible] Ministik last Sunday were marked by large attendances and by the participation of campers from the C.G.I.T. camp at Lakeview. The theme of the service was "God in Nature" and this was carried out very beautifully by a duet "God Who Touches Earth With Beauty" sung by two of the girls, Miss Beryl Bassett of Edmonton, and Miss Ruth Rice of Fort Saskatchewan. The children's story "The Artist who forgot Four Colors" was given by Miss Sheila Moore.

The Young People's Societies of Ministik and Looma Vista are invited to attend the evening camp-fire at the District Boys' Camp at Lakeview tonight, Saturday, August 12th. There will be a softball game so members are urged to arrive about 6.30 if possible.

L.A.C. S. J. Whitford, RCAF, Mrs. Whitford and son Bill, now of Calgary, have been visiting at the Whitford and Roddick homes. They motored up from Calgary and report the Edmonton-Calgary highway as none too good. They left for home on Tuesday of this week. We are pleased to report that Mrs. Whitford Sr. is home again and is feeling much better.

Mrs. Overton of Edmonton was a week end visitor at the home of Mrs. D. R. Swabey.

Mr Kleinschroth sr. has returned form his holiday at Fernie, B.C. and brings with him his daughter, Mrs. Wm. Mowat, Mr. Mowat and their daughters, Mrs. C. Maniquet and Mina, and grandson Roy Maniquet. Mr. Kleinschroth reports having had a most enjoyable visit in our neighboring province.

A successful dance was held Friday at the Ministik Hall by the Junior U.F.A. The orchestra included Norma, George and Johnny Kleinschroth, Bill Roddick and Al Gladu. There was a fine crowd representing the districts around, as well as some American Army visitors, and four of the leaders from the C.G.I.T. camp.

There will be a showing of films by the National Film Board at the Ministik Hall on Friday, August 18, in the evening. It is planned to hold a dance following the films, in aid of the Hall Fund.

A reminder is given here that on Sunday, August 20th, will be held the Annual Memorial Service at Ministik Hall at 2.30 p.m. This service is to honor the fighting men of this and the last Great War. There will be in attendance men on Active Service, members of the V.V.R. and other veterans. All veterans are urged to get in touch with their local commander.

U.F.W.A. NOTES

A good number of members and visitors met at the home of Mrs. C. Grinson in July.

Roll call: My Parent's birthplace" was interesting as it showed how many and varied were the lands which contributed to our local membership.

Mrs. Appleby's paper on New Zealand was most entertaining and informative.

The Bulletin on Social Planning was read by Mrs. C. [illegible]

Our constituency director gave a brief outline of the recent summer conference, which was attended by several Tofield members.

Mrs. Torrie called special attention to the privilege U.F.W.A. members have of using the Frances Bateman Memorial Library, and catalogues of books listed were given out. "Health Insurance" and "Farm Young People's Week" at University, were also topics of the conference.

It was with sincere regret that this was a farewell meeting for one of our most faithful members, and the President spoke for all of us in appreciation of the helpful services and friendship of Mrs. Morton, and wished her God-speed in her new home in Edmonton. A little gift from us all was presented to her.

The August meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Roloff on August 10th.

RYLEY RAMBLINGS

Mr. and Mrs. McMullen and family left for Lakeview on Saturday to spend a two-week's vacation. Holidaying with them are Faye and Donald Solberg.

English services were conducted at the Bethel Lutheran Church on Sunday evening. A good attendance was noted.

The first person to exercise his franchise at the polls Tuesday morning was Mr. O. Kirkelund and the last one was Mrs. Abell.

Rev. Ostrem leaves on Saturday night to attend a Church Board meeting at Detroit Lakes, Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Honeyball and Mr. and Mrs. O. Kirkelund and family attended the reception of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Roth at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Forgan.

Mr. and Mrs. Shaw of Edmonton, and also Mr. and Mrs. Shaw of Wash., U.S., are visiting at the Forgan home.

Mrs. Eaton will leave on Sunday evening for the east where she will visit her daughter.

LINDBROOK

Since its humble beginning in the spring of 1942 the Lindbrook V.V.R. has shown much improvement and has helped to fashion some of our gallant fighting sons of today.

With only 8 members to start with in April 1942, it grew to have a membership of 63 in September of that year, the first parades being held in the Lindbrook school yard, and from there to the Community Hall grounds we moved so as to have more room to manouver. While the V.V.R. paraded at [illegible] Hall grounds, the ladies of the district were taking a Home Nursing course in the Hall. The Lindbrook V.V.R. had the distinction of being the only unit of its kind in the province to have military music on its marches, this was provided with the aid of a P.A. system installed in a car which led our parades.

At the present time some 15 of our members are in service at the fighting fronts in both the army and airforce, some are in non-combatant service in Canada and some are away from the district employed in essential war work.

One of our members, at the present time is reported as missing in Normandy, while others have been killed in action in Italy this year, and all of these men received their first military instruction from the V.V.R. and many of them have remarked that the training they received at Lindbrook was valuable to them when they entered the armed forces.

Although our membership has been greatly reduced in numbers and can not parade regularly, we hold an annual Church Parade in conjunction with the Franklin, Looma Vista, and Fultonvale V.V.R.'s, the parade will be August 20th.

The Annual V.V.R. Memorial Church Service will be held at Ministik Hall on Sunday, August 20th.

Lindbrook V.V.R. will assemble at Lindbrook Store at 2 p.m., service to commence at 2.30 p.m.

Wedge caps, Arm Bands, Medals or Ribbons, to be worn.

As we are to do honor to some of our Lindbrook V.V.R. who have been killed in action this year, a good attendance is requested

JAMES BRACEGIRDLE,
Platoon Commander.

DODDS BASEBALL TEAM TAKE PART IN TOURNAMENT

The week end prior to this Sports Day, the Dodds baseball team travelled to Alberta Beach for the annual tournament held there each year. Stauffer and Johnsrud were two of the local lads who went along and despite the weather, both report having enjoyed themselves immensely. In their first game, Dodds defeated Horse Hills 4-0, in which Stauffer pitched a near perfect game. He allowed only one hit. In their second game they were leading Namao 1-0 when rain made it impossible to play and the game was called. Rossington had won their semi-final bracket so they retained the trophy. Had the weather been favorable, Dodds would have had an excellent chance to win. Their play this year has been very impressive.

Will Observe Fiftieth Anniversary of Church

Arrangements are going forward in the celebration of our 50th anniversary.

Preparations are being made to make this event memorable and worthwhile. Not many churches in our province can look back on 50 years continuous service. It is well and proper, therefore, that we, ourselves, enter into the spirit of this glad occasion. Those who pioneered in Spiritual things, kept burning and bright religious thought and work, are worthy of our highest esteem and gratitude. The church has not failed this community and we ought to try our utmost by our presence and cooperation to express our thankfulness and our appreciation.

The Sunday services will be held on 3rd September at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. There will be special music.

Our guest speaker on the Sunday will be the Rev. Elgin Turnbull, B.A., B.D. He is the popular minister of Knox United Church, Edmonton, and is an interesting and forceful speaker. Be sure to hear him.

On the Monday evening, 4th of September, there will be an old-time get together.

The Rev. A. Stewart and Rev. R. E. Finlay are to be with us and others will relate interesting items of the early days. A program of music is being arranged. So keep these dates free for the 50th Anniversary of the United Church: Sunday, 3rd, and Monday, 4th of September.

MISS WINGROVE RESIGNS

After being a member of the teaching staff at Tofield for the past 14 years, Miss Wingrove handed in her resignation this week. Miss Wingrove, who was recognized as an efficient teacher, has passed to higher grades hundreds of pupils, many of whom are now scattered far and wide over the earth's surface. While not being particularly active in town affairs, nevertheless Miss Wingrove had a circle of friends who will regret that she is leaving the town.

Bardo Celebrates Fiftieth Anniversary

Old Timers' Celebration commemorating the 50th anniversary of the early settlers, was celebrated by more than 500 people at the P. E. Anderson farm at Bardo last Wednesday, Aug. 9th. An open air program was carried out with seats built under the trees. Bennie Anderson acted as chairman. Special speaker was Rev. R. Finlay of Edmonton, who told about pioneer conditions in the early days, and Rev. Palmer Anderson conducted a memorial service in honor of the pioneers who have passed away. Harold Ronning gave a review on the book "Pioneer Days," and O. A. Broughton, Camrose, read a poem he had composed for the occasion, this poem will be published in a later issue. Other speakers were Mrs. A. Finston, Rev. Ostrem, Jack Cookson and Oscar Grue. Mrs. Harold Ronning, soloist, sang three numbers; Solo, Jack Cookson; Duet, Geo. and Jack Cookson. The five Grue brothers of Armena sang two numbers and the Bardo Male Chorus rendered four numbers. The book "Pioneer Days" was sold during the day with Martin Hagen in charge of the sales. The Ladies' Aid served dinner and supper to the large crowd, and the refreshment booth also had a busy day. In the line of sports, horseshoe was played throughout the day, the baseball game between the "Old Timers" and the present day ball tossers had to be cancelled owing to a rainstorm that came up in the evening. The large crowd represented people from Edmonton, Hay Lakes, Camrose, Tofield, Round Hill, Ryley, Armena, Sexsmith, Kingman, Dodds, Ketchamoot, Lakeshore, Amisk Creek and Dinant. All in all, the day was a success and the Beaver Hills Historical Society, sponsors of the Celebration, want to thank all for making it a successful event.

TUBERCULOSIS RESTRICTED AREAS IN ALBERTA

Several years ago, petitions were circulated in a number of Municipal [illegible] requesting the setting up of Bovine Tuberculosis Restricted Areas. Where the necessary majority of residents have signed in favour of establishing [illegible] area the Federal Health of Animals Branch provided Veterinary Inspectors to test the cattle [illegible]. Districts testing [illegible] being [illegible] Municipalities to the extent that services of Veterinary Inspectors are [illegible] for this work.

The Tuberculosis Restricted Areas, as established on the basis of old Municipal Districts, are set out hereunder:

Improvement District No. 276, M.D. [illegible] No. 277, M.D. Lamerton No. 306, M.D. [illegible] No. 307, M.D. [illegible] No. [illegible], M.D. Vimy No. 337, M.D. [illegible] No. 366, M.D. Waverly No. 367, M.D. Haig No. 396, M.D. [illegible] No. 397, M.D. Melrose No. 426, M.D. Evergreen No. 427, M.D. [illegible] No. 457, M.D. Clover Bar No. 517, M.D. Strathcona No. 516, M.D. Wostok No. 546, M.D. Leslie No. 547.

From time to time farmers and others residing in the Tuberculosis Restricted Areas find occasion to bring in cattle from districts where as yet cattle have not been tested for Tuberculosis. While the majority of these farmers residing within the T.B. Free Areas know that all untested cattle must first be subjected to a Tuberculosis test before being brought in, others disregard this important requirement which later results in a great deal of inconvenience to themselves and to the Dominion Health of Animals Branch. To avoid this all new purchases of untested cattle should be tested for Tuberculosis at place of origin before being moved into a Tuberculosis Restricted Area. A permit only is required to bring in cattle which were tested in another district. When applying for a permit state name and address of original owner, as well as ear tag numbers of all cattle to be moved.

For Tuberculosis test and permit apply to Veterinary Inspector, Dominion Health of Animals Branch, Public Building, Calgary, or Post Office Building, South Edmonton. This service is free of charge.

PRIME MINISTER'S 25th ANNIVERSARY

A ringing declaration of faith in the future of Canada marked Premier King's parliamentary response to congratulations upon his 25th anniversary as leader of the Liberal party. After more than 17 years as prime minister, Mr. King expressed a courageous and optimistic view of post-war conditions in the dominion. He predicted that Canada will rapidly and increasingly become a more important power in international affairs. [illegible] in the great testimonial dinner to him at Ottawa, similar affairs were held throughout Canada to mark the occasion. Congratulations poured in from all parts of the dominion from Churchill, Roosevelt, Cordell Hull and other statesmen outside Canada. Once again the prime minister asserted that national interest, not political strategy or advantage will govern the time of the next federal election.

BINDER CHECK-UP

The harvest season is again here and farmers who depend on the binder for cutting of their crop are advised by B. T. Stephanson, Agricultural Engineer, to give this machine a thorough check-up at the outset.

It is important that the chains be installed properly. The hook end of the chain should be leading so that the rotation of the bar end takes place within the hook, otherwise excessive wear of the teeth or sprocket will take place. The chains may be lubricated by dropping oil on them as they are running. In sandy lands, however, the chains usually wear longer without lubrication.

The bevel gears should be meshed with sufficient contact so that the teeth will not strip and without being meshed deep enough to bind or wear excessively.

The adjustments for the knotter head are:

1. Twine tension adjustable by a rolling or sliding tension. Should be 6 to 8 pounds to pull twine through needle from twine can.
2. Twine disc tension: to hold twine in place—should be about 35 to 40 pounds before twine leaves disc.
3. Bill hook—should be polished and they should be adjusted so that [illegible] 12 pounds to pull twine from bill hook.
4. Knife: the knife should be [illegible] that it cuts the twine clean. A dull knife causes a variety and [illegible] series of tying troubles.
5. Needle: The needle should be [illegible] so that it will advance far enough to place twine in the required [illegible]. The needle eye roller should be inspected for wear and replaced if necessary.

The binder should be lubricated [illegible] a routine can be followed so that all parts get oil often enough to prevent the bearings running dry.

After the season is over the knotter parts, knife and guards should be sprayed with rust preventative to protect rust and preserve the polish.

HOG MARKETINGS IN ALBERTA

The number of hogs marketed in the first six months of this year is substantially above that of the corresponding period of 1943. At the end of June, 1944, Alberta had marketed 1,721,157 hogs as compared to 1,113,706 at the same date of last year, making an increase of 54.5 per cent. Despite the heavy volume of hog marketings, hog prices have remained firm.

It is interesting to note that by early June, purchases of Canadian bacon for shipment to Britain exceeded 400 million pounds. It is quite probable that the minimum quantity of 300 million lbs. of bacon originally scheduled for 1944 will be secured in slightly over six months and that total shipments in 1944 may well approach the minimum commitment of 900 million pounds established for both 1944 and 1945.

TUBERCULOSIS IN WARTIME

London— The most spectacular development in wartime tuberculosis work, Mass Miniature Radiography, is a method of examining the heart and lungs which has been made possible by the modern camera using a high angle lens. It works as follows: the X-ray tube sends rays through the patient's chest and they form an image on the sensitive X-Ray screen. The special camera with the large aperture takes a photograph of this chest image on a piece of celluloid film, about one inch square. These squares are on a continuous strip so arranged that hundreds of pictures can be taken in one hour. This continuous strip of film is then developed, and each picture, containing the chest image and serial number of one individual case, is magnified on a screen so that it can be examined by the radiologist. Mass radiography, of course, is much cheaper than taking hundreds of full-sized films, and these miniature pictures give a general indication of whether the chest is normal or not, and whether a large film is desirable for more adequate inspection.

Mass radiography is not a method of final diagnosis, and must not be treated as such. But it enables the population of a school, a factory, or even a whole area to be examined quickly and cheaply. It is largely in use throughout the fighting services. A number of specially designed X-Ray units are being manufactured, and are in use throughout Britain. Two of these sets are to be sent to Russia by the British Ministry of Health (in replacement of two already sent but unfortunately lost at sea.)

BILL PROVIDES FLOOR FOR FARM PRICES

Three bills to aid agriculture and other primary industries advanced through various stages under government sponsorship. One of the most far-reaching of these is the Agricultural Prices Support Act, designed to ensure minimum prices for all farm products at a level which will give a good return to producers.

Hon. James G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, told Parliament that a study will be made of wartime ceiling prices on farm products with a view of remedying any injustices. But the main purpose of the bill is to put a floor under prices of agricultural products and prevent the slump and hardships which occurred after the last war. The bill sets up an Agricultural Prices Support Board which, under government direction, will pay to producers the difference between the floor price and the average price of farm products when the latter falls below the minimum to be established.

The Fisheries Prices Support Act is a similar measure to guarantee fair prices to Canadian fishermen. Though these two measures will benefit agriculture and the fishing industry directly, they are part of the comprehensive post-war economic program of the government to maintain a high standard of living for all classes and occupations. Increased income to farmers and fishermen, just as financial aid to big families with small earnings, will provide greater purchasing power to maintain prosperity in all Canadian business and industrial activity.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

HARVESTING MALTING BARLEY

Most of the barley grown on the prairies is used for feed. Some farmers, however, try to grow barley for malting purposes which, if acceptable commands a price premium.

Provided one of the varieties suitable for malting has been grown, then especial care must be used in harvesting and threshing if the barley grain is to be acceptable to the maltster. In short, to earn the extra premium for malting barley extra work must be put into its production. First the crop must be permitted to mature thoroughly before cutting, yet must not be over-ripe. Because bright colour is important, stooks should be capped and the caps discarded and threshed separately for feed at threshing time. Great care must be exercised in threshing malting barley; the germination of the kernel (an important matter to the maltster) is easily damaged if the grain is threshed too close. Fewer concaves are usually needed for barley than for wheat, sometimes indeed wooden concaves have to be used. Better to thresh so that a slight awn is present on the kernel than to thresh too close.

From all this it will be observed that it is easier to produce good malting barley with the binder and the threshing machine, than it is with the combine even with swathing.

WILL THE PARTY who loaned our pump rod die early in the spring, kindly return, as it is urgently needed. —Crown Lumber Co., Tofield. 10-17.

WILL REGISTER CHILDREN FOR ALLOWANCES

Ottawa — Without opposition or formal vote the Commons last week gave third and final reading to the family allowance bill. It now goes to the Senate for consideration.

The members spent most of the day discussing the measure clause by clause in committee of the whole. It provides for payment of [redacted] on account of [redacted] child in Canada under the age of 16 and is to come into effect July 1, 1945.

In the meantime, machinery for administration will be set up. A local office will be opened in each province and registration of children eligible for the allowances will be started.

Production of birth certificates for all children for whose benefit allowances are claimed will be required eventually.

It may not be possible to have more than 3,000,000 birth certificates by the time the allowances start, however, and some leeway will likely be needed. Local administrative offices will probably be opened about the beginning of 1945.

CHEAPER REPAIR PARTS

After September 30th of this year there will go into effect a price reduction on imported farm machinery repair parts, resulting from the budget removal of duties and war exchange tax. The Wartime Prices and Trade Board also announces that any price reduction on complete farm machinery imported after June 30th must be passed on to the consumer immediately.

AN OLD NUMBER TRICK—

(Christian Science Monitor)

APPARENT WIDESPREAD credence is being given to current abracadabra which indicates that, due to some strange coincidence of arithmetic, the war will end this September 7th at 2 o'clock. Take the number 3,888, one-half of which is 1944 — the present year. One-half of 1944—972—breaks down to the ninth month, seventh day, and second hour.

One is told to consider all the war leaders—Mr. Churchill, for instance. He was born in 1874, is 70, has been British leader for four years, taking office in 1940. Those figures, added together, total the "mystical" 3,888.

President Roosevelt was born in 1882, is 62, has been in office for 11 years, being elected in 1933. Add 'em up. Again the total is 3,888. And so it goes precisely with the rest: Hitler, born 1889, 55, in office 11 years, took office 1933; total 3,888. Stalin, born 1879, 65, in office 20 years, took office 1924; total 3,888. Even Tojo—though now out in Japan—was born 1884, 60, in office 3 years, took office 1941, [redacted] 3,888.

Why the strange repetition of 3,888? Well, try it on a friend. Ask him to jot down the year of birth; add age in years at time of birthday this year; list the number of years that have passed since the occurrence of some significant event in his life—the year he graduated from college, the year he began work, or the year he was married. Finally he should add the number of years that have passed since that occurrence.

Without knowing any of the figures he has put down, you can tell him, strangely enough, that his total will be 3,888!

Try it on yourself. Naturally, the year of birth plus age this year will [redacted] 1944. Twice 1944—3,888! Break this down as you wish. One-half of 3,888 brings us back to 1944; one-half of 1944 gives 972—9th month, 7th day, 2nd hour.

It's an old number trick—not to be taken more seriously than Hitler's astrologers.

BREAD IS NOT ENOUGH—

(Contributed)

FARMERS OF CANADA have good cause to feel satisfied with their war effort thus far. Many have wished Godspeed to sons who have dropped their chores on the farm for the bigger chores of fighting on foreign soil. Most have speeded up their work at home to produce a record-breaking output of farm produce to meet the needs of war.

At first glance that seems enough to ask of any Canadian citizen. But it isn't. While a large majority of farmers has been buying Victory Bonds to the very limit of their resources, there are indications that an appreciable number have not bought all they could and that a sprinkling of citizens in the rural areas have yet to buy their first Victory Bond. Fast rising savings deposits in certain rural areas and reports from the Victory Loan Field Organization seem to substantiate this statement.

What this minority of farmers has overlooked is the fact that Canada's sons in uniform cannot fight on bread alone. They need iron rations too—in abundance. And these iron rations, the bombs, the shells, the bullets, are produced from the proceeds of Victory Loan sales.

Some one has said that one of the reasons why a number of Canadian farmers have seemed to prefer to keep their money in the bank, or at home, arises from a wrong impression about the negotiability of a bond. As a matter of fact, the farmer who has all his money invested in Victory Bonds is just as able to meet an emergency as his fellow farmer who holds onto the cash. The Victory Bond owner can borrow on his bonds at the bank in five minutes, or if forced by circumstances to sell his bonds at the bank, he can do so in about the same time as it would take him to make a withdrawal from his savings account.

DEVILLE

The following are excerpts from three cards written by Frank Dunn in April and received by his mother on August 11th, 1944:

"We have our first heavy snow, about a foot and warm. Sorry to hear about the Tiedemann fires. Send me some more snaps please, lots of room in my album.

"I received a book parcel yesterday, a Bible and "Arctic Trader". I do not know who sent it as I do not see the wrappers. A dictionary is still at the censors, I will be pleased to get it as they are very scarce here.

"Your most recent letter received was written Jan. 3rd. I have letters from Aunt Dot, Roberta, Esther P., and Mr. Allan (Rev.). cigarettes from Anita. Will soon have done a whole year here.

"I've been X-rayed and had blood test so guess my health is O.K. and put my name in for dental yesterday. Kenneth Wideman is here now and [redacted]

"We have some garden seeds to plant but not much room. I could use running shoes and sweat shirts, but am not doing too badly.

HASTINGS LAKE

Mrs. R. Bruce and two daughters, Doris and Lillian, are going to Calgary to visit Pte. and Mrs. James Bruce. Doris Bruce will return with her mother to the farm where she will visit for some time.

There is a dance at Woodlawn School for Donald Dunham on Saturday, August 19th. Woodlawn School is 4 miles east and one mile south of Bert Splisted's corner.

Word has been received that Frank Dunham was on a 3 day trip to Rome. He reports that he likes the city.

Walter Muir is having some time to keep his sheep in. Higher fences, Walter?

We hear that Owen Hoover was married recently. Congratulations, [redacted]

Nearly all the farmers have started haying but the weather certainly isn't promising.

MINISTIK

There was an error of date concerning the Free Film Show at Ministik Hall which was announced in last week's paper as August 15. My mistake, the date is Tuesday, Aug. 22nd. Come all and have a good time.

Steele Murdock is home until the 31st of August, then he will leave for Eastern Canada. Good luck, Steele.

Mrs. C. B. Leach returned home this week from the coast. We have not seen her yet, so we do not know whether she got pickled (from the sea) or not.

Mrs. A. J. Leach has had her youngest grandchildren with her for a few days.

Bob Smith is building a new barn.

A fair gathering attended the open air service at Lakeview last Sunday. As usual the weather was not at all pleasant. We had a picnic supper after the service.

Mrs. G. Beck of Tofield was a week end visitor at her brother's place, Mr. A. Kleinschroth.

Today the boys' camp breaks up. We are glad they had a fine week and they are going home all ready to work.

Don't forget the Memorial Service next Sunday at Ministik Hall. We hope the weather man favors us.

No services at other points on Sunday.

THE BATTLE FOR THE HITLER LINE

The night before as guns and men waited.
They swore the line must break.
The dawn shook with the roar of gun fire.
The smoke was thick, the battle grim
That day in the Liri Valley.
The men gave their lives that day
That you may have your freedom
The Boche had fought his best,
But could not stop our men,
The Master race tried hard that day,
But Canucks broke through their line.

Our men gave up their lives that day,
Does that mean naught to you,
While you guys in fancy suits
Walk around in leisure.

We hand to you a challenge,
That is written in blood red,
Never call yourselves Canadians,
While you stay so far from harm.

We salute our fallen comrades,
Let them forever rest in peace,
As we march on to Victory,
We salute you, mothers of the brave.

"I guess it's up to me!"

Now that I can go I'm not going to stick around and let the other fellows do it.

Bill and Jack went over last week, and Fred's been over there a year. Now it's my chance.

It's going to take months of training before I can get fighting-fit, so I'd better get moving today.

Yes sir! I'm going now, to tell Dad and Mom that I'm on my way to sign up.

Which Is Right?

The man who spends or plans to spend his wages to meet his needs—then invests the surplus in War Savings Certificates—Or the man who decides what he must invest in Canada's war first, then gets along on the rest? There is a right decision here for every Canadian. If Hitler could see the light in the eyes of those who have decided the right way . . . he'd know where his defeat began.

CIVILIAN MOTORIST

It Doesn't Leave a Lot for the Civilian

WHEN war demands have been filled . . . when invasion gasoline, aviation gasoline, Navy fuel oil, petroleum for the manufacture of explosives, synthetic rubber, and gasoline for war industry, farming and essential trucking all have been taken from Canada's oil supply—it doesn't leave a lot for the civilian!

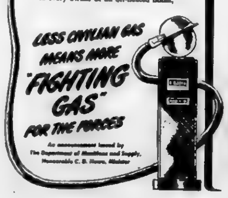
Figure it out for yourself. It takes 5,250,000 gallons of gasoline to fuel 5,000 bombers and fighters for a mission over Germany. It takes enough oil for one fueling of a battleship to heat an average house for 350 years. It takes 18,000 gallons of gasoline to keep one armoured division on the move for one hour.

From petroleum and petroleum gases we obtain the gasoline and fuels needed to power planes and ships and tanks as well as the raw material for acetone, ammonia and toluol for explosives, organic chemicals for anaesthetics, naphthas for camouflage paints and plastics and resins for war weapons production.

This is why civilian gasoline is short. This is why it's up to every motorist, to every owner of an oil-heated home, to exercise the strictest economy in gasoline or fuel oil usage. Every gallon we can do without here at home is one gallon more for the fighting men. And they need every gallon they can get.

Two full years of gasoline rationing and fuel oil control in Canada have saved 393,000,000 gallons of gasoline and 175 million gallons of fuel oil—a total saving of 568,000,000 gallons of petroleum products. Yet, despite this saving, gasoline stocks on hand in Canada, as of March 31st, this year, were 55,000,000 gallons less than at the commencement of rationing, April 1, 1942.

Oil has a mighty war job to do—yet supplies are short and are constantly dwindling. Oil powers the attack on every front. Oil can mean the difference between success or failure, between light casualty lists and heavy. Oil is vital ammunition—not to be wasted, not to be needlessly, frivolously spent.



LESS CIVILIAN GAS MEANS MORE "FIGHTING GAS" FOR THE FORCES

An announcement issued by
The Department of Munitions and Supply,
Honourable C. D. Howe, Minister

Answering Your Questions about the Gasoline Shortage

What are Canada's total yearly requirements of motor gasoline? . . . Approximately 800,000,000 gallons. Do these requirements have to cover both military and civilian needs? . . . Yes. Why cannot the supply be increased? . . . Because total hemispheric supplies are inadequate to meet both the colossal war demand and civilian needs. There is not enough oil, [redacted] are not enough tankers, for both. How much of Canada's petroleum needs is supplied from Canadian wells? . . . Only 15%. Why can't this home production be increased? . . . Every effort is being made to do so. More new wells are being drilled or prepared for drilling, than at any time in the history of Western Canada, but we have yet to find a new Turner Valley. War does not wait for new production.

The first load of barley for this season came into the Alberta Pacific elevator on August 23rd. This is believed to be a record date for barley, and that certain farmer is justly proud of his speed and effort. (We hope he got a decent price after all his trouble.)

The Blood Donor's Clinic, held last Friday under the auspices of the Ryley Rebekah Lodge, was a successful contribution to the War Effort. The Community Hall was utilized for this purpose; being divided off into various compartments, and furnished with cots and tables and other supplies by local citizens. All in all, there were approximately seventy donors from whom blood was accepted and another seventy who came with the intention of donating but were turned away. Miss Hugyll, the officiating doctor, was assisted in this work by a small staff, who accompanied her, including Mrs. H. R. Evans, Mrs. Barbara Barrow, and Mrs. Wood. Local aid was well rendered by Mrs. Geo. Lyons, Mrs. L. Umphrey, Mrs. C. Ericson, Miss A. Woods, Mrs. H. Ireland, Mrs. A. Kongarud, Miss Elda Solberg, Mrs. E. Mehus, Miss Gladys McLennan, Mrs. L. Fobes. The Lodge and Community are both grateful to those ladies who forsook their own interests to aid so worthy a cause.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Pinseth have returned to their home after a short trip to High Prairie by motor. Mrs. Pinseth boasts having canned some good amount of northern fruits while on her trip, so all those of us [redacted] favor blueberries will know [redacted] where to go for a good feed.

Hilmar Moen, one of our local Navy men, is spending a pleasant shore leave with his wife and two small children.

L.A.C. Clarence Teare, at present stationed in Medicine Hat, is home in Ryley on a week's visit.

Sverre Kongarud spent a week-end leave at his home here.

Mr. C. Teare spent several days last week at Warwick visiting a married daughter, and renewing acquaintances of the old days, "way back there, when—" (You know the rest.)

Saturday was a busy day for the Red Cross, when they served a summer supper in the Lutheran Parish Hall, held a noteworthy program in the Lutheran Church and returned to the Parish Hall to serve a delightful lunch. Someone has said that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, but that [redacted] Saturday found it's way to everybody's heart.

Well-drilling is in full swing again with new wells making appearance at Glasrenner, Magnuson's, Winans', and Lilles'.

A new porch and attractive coat of paint has been added to the Sundlie home, making a delightful change in appearance.

Builders and carpenters have begun to erect the new McPherson home on Main street. Kordich's house is practically ready for occupation. The lot has been cleared for the erection of the memorial. The drug store and garage has received new roofing.

A recent wire informs us that Eddie Lyons, for the past eighteen months being stationed in Jamaica, is in Dundurn, Saskatchewan, and is headed for home. It's a welcome sight to see any of the boys home, especially those whom we haven't seen for some time.

Among local Mission Meeting members to attend the meeting at the home of Mrs. Campbell in Holden were: Mrs. Glasner, Mrs. Honeyball, Mrs. Kjaring, Mrs. Lodmille, Mrs. McMullen, Mrs. Hay and Mrs. Greig.

LAKESHORE

On Monday afternoon a large crowd met at the home of Mrs. T. E. Seale at a pre nuptial shower in honor of Margery Murray, whose marriage to Mr. Wm. Kenny of Rimbey takes place the end of August. Margaret Dodds entertained the guests with piano music and Lorene Wood gave a review in rhyme of some of the high lights in Margery's life. To the strains of the wedding march, Miriam Seale and Mavis Jacobson wheeled in a daintily decorated table loaned with gifts. After Margery, assisted by the girls, had opened and displayed her presents, a lovely lunch brought the afternoon to a close. Most of us are selfish enough to wish we could keep Margery in our district always—she is that kind of girl—but Mr. Kenny and the Rimbey folks are very fortunate, and we wish Margery every success and happiness in her new home.

Dale and Clarence Gemmil have been visiting their grandfather, Mr. Johnston.

Word was received on Sunday of the death of Mr. Henry Tiedemann Sr., at the advanced age of 84. Mr. Tiedemann had not been well for some time and had been at the Viking hospital. He lived in our district a number of years and our sympathy goes out to the members of the family.

Mrs. Warner and Mrs. Myrtle Seale of Edmonton were here on Monday to attend the shower for Margery Murray.

Stan Snell Visits St. Peter's Cathedral In Rome

Saturday, July 8th, 1944.

Dear Mother,

Returned from a two day leave in Rome last night. My desire in Italy, to attend mass in a big cathedral was fulfilled—in the largest cathedral in the world, St. Peter's Cathedral in Rome in the Vatican city. We were in special audience with the Pope. He gave us his picture, a medal and personally blessed us and them. Words cannot explain the views one derives from such an experience.

The cathedral is immense in size, containing 47 altars, a statue of every Pope since St. Peter, and in the centre under a huge bronze canopy, rests St. Peter's tomb, imbedded in the floor in shining marble and bronze surrounded by lights. Our mass was held directly behind it at the main altar. Large paintings form a background for most of the altars. The paintings are centuries old. A large bronze statue of St. Peter rests in one pillar opposite his tomb. The right foot is shiny from being kissed. The building is awfully high also, supported by these pillars containing statues, altars, pictures, etc. Each pillar is as big as an average cottage so you can pretty well tell the size of the whole cathedral when there are, I believe, about 8 or 10 such pillars. The marble, bronze and mosaic is something to marvel at. There is also the original painting of "Our Lady of Perpetual Help."

The Swiss guards of the Pope are all decked out nicely. His building, just to the left of St. Peter's, is a huge building also. After a long and laborious task of scaling St. Peter's, we got a grand view of all Rome and the near Vatican City. Believe you me, that's the highest I've ever been. Many more sights were seen, too numerous to mention and would fill a book if I started. King Victor Emanuel's self-erected memorial is a great sight too, marble and bronze.

The grand colloseum and the large terminal station, not forgetting the Tiber river in all its beauty and glory. The city itself is modern and beautiful. People are the closest to human I've seen in Italy. I never believed in Italian beauty until I hit Rome, even the female part is included. As I said before, it would take a book, so I have to quit now.

I received a large parcel from you last Monday, batteries and a good bulb included. Everything was fine, thanks a lot. Received also since my last letter a number of yours and Mary's letters. I'm O.K., in good health.

Love, Stan.

PRUNING OF SHADE TREES

We have here a note concerning the pruning of shade trees. Trees used for shade on grounds, driveways or streets usually require pruning, depending upon the kind of trees and their location, states G. D. Matthews, Superintendent, Dominion Experimental Station, Scott, Saskatchewan.

The most satisfactory time to prune shade trees is in the autumn after the leaves have fallen. Pruning of the bottom branches should be done where it is desirable to eliminate excessive collection of snow and to prevent children swinging on them. Branches must be cut close and paralleled to the trunk to facilitate healing. On heavy branches, a saw-cut should be made at the bottom, about eight inches from the trunk, to prevent stripping off bark or a portion of the tree when the limb falls. In young trees a sturdy centre growth must be maintained. Desired shape and filling can usually be obtained by pruning branches back to a bud pointing in the desired direction.

Protection of wounds made on the trunks of trees is always desirable. Shellac should be brushed on as soon as possible. A suitable coating is a thick mixture of white lead and linseed oil, shaded to match the colour of the bark.

PEACHES RICH IN VITAMINS A, C

Having sliced peaches on the morning cereal these days? They're good that way and there are vitamins in worthwhile amounts beneath that downy skin.

Figures from the Nutrition Division at Ottawa show that while a medium peach (yellow) has only about one quarter as much vitamin C as an orange, it has approximately seven times as much vitamin A, enough to provide almost one-third of the day's needs.

Even a glutton might find it difficult to eat enough peaches to supply all the day's needs of vitamin C but with tomatoes also in season and other vegetables adding their quota, Canadians can be a lot less dependent just now on citrus fruits to keep teeth, gums and blood vessels in good condition.

LINDBROOK

The Lindbrook Hall has shown a great improvement by being newly painted.

Many soldiers' trucks, and motorcycles parked Saturday night in Jim Hooper's hay meadow and the soldiers attended the dance at the hall that night.

CANNED PEACHES

Send Johnny down cellar for a jar of fruit for supper and what does he come up with? Peaches, nine times out of ten. Everyone who cans at all cans peaches and, as only the best methods are good enough, here are up-to-the-minute directions from the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

A six quart lono (heaped) basket of peaches should give about 5 quarts of canned fruit. The peaches should be fully ripe but not over-ripe and bruised spots must be carefully removed. Under-ripe peaches will be poor in flavour and colour when canned.

SYRUP: Peaches are only mildly acid and a thin syrup (1 cup sugar to 2 cups water) is recommended though this proportion may be decreased or increased a little to suit individual taste. For a 6 quart basket of peaches add 5 cups boiling water to 4 cups sugar. Bring to boiling point, skim and keep hot.

CANNED PEACHES---COLD PACK

Test sealers for leakage. Wash, rinse, and keep hot until ready to use.

Sort peaches for size and maturity. A much better pack is obtained if fruit is uniform. Blanch, peel, halve and remove pits. As fruit is peeled drop in brine (1 teaspoon salt to 1 quart cold water) to prevent discolouration. Peel only sufficient fruit for 2 sealers at one time. Drain and pack in hot sealers, cut side down. Fill containers to within one-quarter inch of top with hot syrup if spring or screw top sealers are used and half inch of top for vacuum type sealers. Remove air bubbles by running a knife down and around the inside of the sealer. Adjust wet rubber rings and tops and partially seal screw top and spring top sealers. Completely tighten metal bands on vacuum type sealers.

PROCESS. Boiling Water Bath: Pints, 20 minutes; Quarts, 25 minutes. (The oven is not recommended for processing peaches packed cold. See Hot Pack).

When time is up, remove sealers from the processor, tighten the tops on screw and spring top sealers. Cool all sealers right side up, away from draughts. Test screw and spring top sealers for leaks when cool by carefully tilting each sealer and revolving it in the hands. Vacuum type sealers with metal lids are tested by striking the top lightly with a metal spoon. There should be a clear ringing sound . . . not dull. If sealers are airtight, label and store in a cool, dark place.

CANNED PEACHES---HOT PACK

Blanch peaches, remove skins, halve and pit, slice if desired. Drop in brine. Drain. Simmer 5 minutes in syrup. Pack at once into hot sealers to within one-quarter inch of the top with screw and spring top sealers, and one-half inch with vacuum type sealers. Remove air bubbles by running the blade of a knife down and around the inside of the filled container. Adjust rubber rings and tops on sealers, partially sealing screw and spring top sealers, completely tightening metal bands on vacuum type sealers.

PROCESS: Boiling Water Bath: Pints, 15 minutes; Quarts 20 minutes.

Thermostatically controlled oven, 275 degrees F. (not recommended when vacuum type sealers with metal lids are used.)

Pints 25 minutes; Quarts 30 minutes. Complete as for cold pack method.

WPTB PRAISED IN KAMSACK

Cyclones wait for no man and the damage they cause creates emergency conditions requiring immediate attention, said A. R. Mackie, prices and supply representative of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board in Saskatchewan. Commenting that no one in the devastated area of Kamsack need suffer from WPTB regulations, Mr. Mackie praised the prompt and efficient work of Board officials.

The nearest Local Ration Board had remained open day and night since the disaster so that no citizen would be without food even if freak weather had deprived him of his ration book. Emergency gasoline was issued where essential. On trucks carrying emergency loads to the stricken area, the 35 mile limit was temporarily relaxed and, in one case, tires were supplied.

WINTER GREEN FEED

(Experimental Farms News)

Farmer poultry flock owners who utilize home grown feeds to the fullest possible extent sometimes find it difficult to supply enough green feed to the birds. Succulents in the form of turnips may not always be available and alfalfa leaf meal, in small lots, is now practically off the market.

To meet this emergency the Dominion Experimental Station at Charlottetown, P.E.I., has been gathering green food from two sources, lawn-clippings, and aftermath, or second-cut clover, says B. F. Tinney, Assistant to the Superintendent. While it is appreciated that lawn-clippings are not commonly available in large quantities on the average farm, this short grass material does form an excellent source of green feed for hens.

As gathered at Charlottetown Station, lawn clippings are from one half to one and a half inches long. They may be collected in a grass catcher attached to the lawn mower, cured by spreading several inches thick in a current of air and turned once or twice so that they will dry quickly. During the drying process they are not exposed to rain or dew. When thoroughly dried they may be stored like any other hay crop.

Second-cut clover was harvested when coming nicely into bloom and cured and stored in the same way as grass clippings.

Two methods of feeding were tried. The first, the material was fed dry, in chicken wire racks attached to the wall. Birds seemed to relish either one and ate practically every particle except the clover stems.

In the second method the material was placed in a tub or cask and a relatively small quantity of scalding hot water was poured over it, the container being covered immediately with sacking. Sufficient water was used so that in a matter of fifteen to twenty minutes the feed would be well softened by the steam retained within the container. The commonly accepted practice, however, is to soak the lawn clippings or clover over night in cold water.

This feed was then placed in wire racks or on a clean platform and was eagerly eaten by the birds.

Production was maintained at a high level without any other source of green material, and observation disclosed that pens receiving this material were of better appearance and gave less evidence of feather pulling.

One Hundred Years Of Co-Operative Business

(Economic Annalist)

Co-operation is older than recorded time. But the beginning of the co-operative movement of today originated in the English town of Rochdale. There in 1844, 27 poor men and one equally poor woman organized the Rochdale Equitable Pioneer Co-operative Society. This small group opened a little grocery store. The society is still in existence and has at present about 50,000 members. The principles it laid down have served as a guide and model for the co-operative movement in all countries in the past 100 years. It is appropriate that the one hundredth anniversary of this Co-operative Society be celebrated by all co-operators.

From this modest start, the co-operative movement in Great Britain expanded rapidly. Within twenty years, there were enough associations to form the Co-operative Wholesale Society. This Society has now become the greatest distributive business in the British Empire. In time the Wholesale went into manufacturing. Together with the Scottish Co-operative Wholesale, this business now conducts 153 different manufacturing enterprises and produces food, clothing, household goods and many other needs for 9 million member-families.

The Co-operative way of doing business was adopted by other countries. In 1895, the national federations of co-operative societies in different countries united to form the International Co-operative Alliance. Before the Nazi regime this Alliance was made up of 124,000 co-operative societies in 39 countries and with 100 million members.

Although the co-operative movement in occupied Europe has been temporarily destroyed, plans are being made for the reorganized co-operatives to take an active part in rebuilding post-war Europe.

The co-operative movement has expanded greatly in China and India. In China the co-operatives contribute greatly to China's resistance to Japanese aggression.

It is quite natural that in food importing countries such as England and Germany co-operation should begin among consumers, whereas in the food exporting countries such as the United States, Canada, New Zealand and Australia, the principal emphasis should be upon agricultural co-operative marketing systems. In recent years, the consumer co-operatives have made great advances in both North and South America.

Today in Canada membership in producer and consumer co-operatives exceeds one-half million and the total business has passed the quarter billion dollar mark. In many rural areas, farmers can market the entire output of their farms on the co-operative plan. The farmer may deliver his grain to a co-operative elevator, livestock to a livestock shipping association, and milk to a co-operative dairy. He may also purchase a large portion of his farm supplies and household necessities from a co-operative store, or gasoline and oil from a co-operative filling station.

The greatest contribution of the early Rochdale Pioneers lies in the principles they expounded --- principles that have been accepted by all, such as one man one vote; limited returns on share capital; dividends to patrons based on volume of business; class, religious and political neutrality. They also introduced those sound business practices---trading on a cash basis, goods sold at prevailing local prices; accounts properly kept and audited and reports presented regularly to members; and education of members and non-members with reference to co-operative principles. ---Wheat Pool Budget.

Pilchards At Sea Have Same Privacy As Fish In A Bowl

The poor fish! It looks as if they might become completely at the mercy of fishermen, that is if the use of echo-sounding devices on surface vessels for fishing become common. With sensitive equipment it is believed that a trained operator can not only locate schools of fish, but tell how large they are and in what direction they are moving.

The British were testing this out in herring fishing in the North Sea just before the war, and similar tests off British Columbia have been very promising. The Americans are also planning new experiments, aimed chiefly at the unsuspecting pilchard.

Pilchards have always been caught at night by the light of the moon. As they swam about and disturbed the minute organisms in surface water, they became phosphorescent, thus revealing their presence to the fishermen. But as the echo-sounding devices will work 24 hours a day in all weather, the poor pilchards are no longer safe by daylight.

During the evening amusing games and contests were played. An assortment of useful and attractive gifts for the bride elect were brought in, in a model schoolhouse drawn by Clayton Everitt and Billy Wood, suitably and amusingly dressed as a little school girl and boy. Assisting with the serving of a dainty lunch were Miss Joyce Innes and Miss Muriel Rogers.

LAND FOR VETERANS

Suggesting caution in the development of wide-spread plans to locate war veterans on farms, Ladd Haystead, writing in the Country Gentleman, said the experience of the veteran settlement in the United States after the end of World War 1 was most unhappy. He points out that good land is scarce and expensive. Poor land is starting to go up beyond a hope of paying out a reasonable return on the investment. Land in any quantity suitable for settling many returning soldiers is not in sight.

Then intensive training and wide experience is necessary in modern farming to achieve success, says Mr. Haystead. Farming was once a rule of thumb business combined partly with experience and partly with superstition. But the successful modern-day farmer must have a body of training and experience that is comparable to the most skilled professions plus considerable more business information and adeptness than the trained professions usually demand. The farmer starts with genetics, diseases of plants and livestock, the husbandry of the same, soils and fertilizers, feeds and feeding, power-machine operation and repair, theory and use of farm tools, farm bookkeeping and management. To this background he must add a smattering of knowledge of markets, economic trends, credit and finance, and transportation.

You can be an expert welder in a matter of weeks. You can be taught to build ships, tanks, airplanes or ordnance in a matter of months. The super-speeded up armed services training can make a soldier out of you in a year. But to be a good farmer will take much more time, much book work, plus something no book or concentrated course can teach you---the actual experience around the seasons with the particular soil type, climate, crops and livestock, which will be your future.

All this pessimism does not mean there is no place on the farm for the returning soldier, nor does it mean that those who live in agriculture [illegible] unlearnable, mystic secrets that the uninitiated cannot hope to comprehend. Actually, the foregoing might be called akin to the indoctrination courses soldiers get at the start.

If you know what the tough things are it is easier to meet and conquer them. Farming is certainly one profession where it pays in capital saved and misfortune avoided if a fellow finds out what the obstacles are before he starts, rather than from an experience which may be fatal.

AIR MEDAL FOR WINNIPEG "FLYING POSTMAN OF R.C.A.F."

Flying Officer Eli M. Rosenbaum of Winnipeg, co-pilot of an R.C.A.F. mail-carrying Fortress which miraculously made a safe landing in Britain after a mid-air collision with a Wellington bomber, was awarded the Air Force Medal for his part in the "incident".

The crash, one of those million-to-one chance affairs, occurred in dense cloud formations over the Bay of Biscay. And when it was over, all that remained of the Wellington was bits of wings and ailerons later found embedded in the body of the four-motored Fortress.

On the day of the crash only two aircraft were known to be operating over the Bay of Biscay --- the Fortress flying mail to the Canadian armed forces in the Mediterranean area and the Coastal Command Wellington carrying out a routine patrol. Both were flying on instruments and taking advantage of cloud cover to escape detection by enemy fighter craft.

They met at 5,000 feet. There was a flash of flame, a grinding jar as the Fortress seemed perceptibly to stop in mid-air. The crew tensed for the crash into the sea that seemed inevitable.

Through the cloud, lighted by fire from one of their engines, they saw the shadow of an aircraft hurtling down to the water. A second later their Fortress was spinning down after it.

In the sickening descent from 5,000 feet to about 1,200 the crew jettisoned everything movable, including bag after bag of their precious cargo of mail. The pilot wrestled with his controls.

Then at 1,200 feet the stricken aircraft levelled off and staggered ahead. The flight back to England took two hours. The craft vibrated terrifically and was obviously on the point of breaking up.

One engine was completely useless, the propeller torn off and the motor badly damaged. The engine beside it turned a propeller but its blades were bent forward so that they exerted no pull. The inner port engine too had a twisted propeller and chunks had been gouged from the blades of the outer. The outer engine alone was developing anything like normal power. The metal skins of the wings and fuselage was ripped and pock-marked.

The crippled fort limped through the murk toward safety. There were times when the crew doubted they would make it, but finally there was land, then a coastal aerodrome. And the plane came down in a semi-blind landing.

MASONIC DISTRICT MEETING

Cultivated mushrooms are now daily fare at the Sirdar home. Mushrooms, so we are informed, are difficult to grow, but Mrs. Sirdar clinched the question by sending a few down to the Mercury office as absolute proof.

CAR LICENSE TOTAL MAY REACH 100,000

Motor car registrations in the province for the three months ended June 30, covering the first three months of the new license year, showed a big gain over the similar period of last year, according to information received by the Alberta Motor Association.

Indicating the gain in licenses, the revenue of more than $2,000,000 from passenger car licenses was $112,000 more than in the same period of 1943.

Total car licenses issued in the previous year was in the neighborhood of 93,000. From indications, the present year may run close to 100,000.

Other forms of provincial licenses also are on the increase this year. The highway traffic department has reported that motor truck licenses show a good gain over a year ago.

The trend toward increased licenses means that more attention will have to be paid this year to the improvement of highways and raising of these to a standard that will meet the needs of tourist traffic, in the view of A.M.A. officials.

USE PAMPHLETS AS PASSPORT

London: Mr. Anthony Eden gave some interesting facts when answering critics in the House of Commons last week. He was replying to the contention that the Allied policy of 'unconditional surrender' for Germany stiffens the resistance of German soldiers, tending to make them immune to Allied appeals to surrender.

Mr. Eden told the House that 77 per cent of the prisoners captured since the landings in Normandy have admitted, on interrogation, that they had read Allied pamphlets and listened to Allied radio messages. He also said that 40 per cent of the prisoners were carrying Allied leaflets in their pockets when captured. Many of them had read the leaflets and regarded them as something in the nature of a passport for the moment of surrender.

LONDON: British soldiers will soon be mailing home small records of their own voices. Recording machines about the size of a portable phonograph, and 300,000 five-inch records are ready to go. The records cost only one cent to produce. A film technician invented them. Each machine has a hand telephone attached to avoid "microphone fright".

GONE?
INFLATION
? PRICES, WAGES, COSTS.
1944 PRICES, WAGES, COSTS.
1939 PRICES, WAGES, COSTS.

EVER walk into an auction and find yourself getting excited and wanting to bid . . . a victim of "auction fever"? Wartime conditions can breed "auction fever" if we let them. Everything is in short supply. Many more people are able to bid.

But . . . if prices are bid up . . . all our dollars will lose some of their value. Even necessities could get out of reach.

- What use is more money, if living costs go up still higher.
- What good are higher returns to business, if they are offset by higher costs.
- What does the farmer gain if higher farm prices lead to depression and low prices later.

We cannot continue a full war effort and prepare to meet the problems of the post-war period unless we maintain a stable and reasonable price level now.

British Market For Canadian Products

Through the courtesy of W. Moisey, District Agriculturist, representatives of the Tofield Mercury and Holden Herald were privileged to listen to an address by Lt.-Col. Robertson, Dominion Agricultural Commissioner for Great Britain who is paying a brief visit to Canada. The gathering which was attended by agricultural specialists and Department of Agriculture officials, was held at the University of Alberta, so for a time at least, M.D. of Beaver journalism sat with the great and near great.

Lt.-Col. Robertson was introduced by Mr. E. McAllister, chairman, who reminded the gathering that Lt.-Col. Robertson was a westerner, having been Livestock Commissioner for Saskatchewan prior to his present appointment.

Lt.-Col. Robertson said he was pleased to be present and address the group. He was also pleased to see the evidence of a splendid crop in the fields, though after seeing the crops in Great Britain the Canadian stand did not appear heavy.

In Great Britain they expected 40 and 50 bus. of wheat per acre and frequently got 60. He was pleased to be back in Canada for a short stay and after three years in Britain was most impressed with the lights, the black-out being quite depressing. He was also impressed with the citrus fruit in the shop windows. The food in Britain was sufficient but lacked variety. Potatoes were the mainstay and came up at almost every meal.

Speaking of robot bombs, he admitted they were unpleasant. They had done much damage in certain areas, particularly London, but could not alter, change or effect the final result of the war. They came over, he said, with a buzzing noise which stopped just before the robot hit the ground. As long as one could hear the buzzing one was safe as the robot was still travelling, but when the buzzing stopped it was time to duck. The worst that had happened to him was to be showered with glass.

He proposed to speak on "British Market for Canadian Products." The British farmer had since the war doubled production. There was a pre-war yield of about 60,000,000 bushels of wheat but this has been raised to 130,000,000 bushels. There will be a 115,000,000 crop of wheat this year. Potatoes are plentiful and are bonused $45.00 per acre; the farmer getting the price of the potatoes on top of this. Dairy cattle and dairying have increased but beef cattle, sheep and poultry have all decreased. All agriculture is government controlled by a system of county committees and sub committees. British Agriculture is highly mechanized, there being 50,000 tractors before the war, now 150,000. Great Britain is grateful to Canada for her war effort and the prestige of Canada has never

A Tribute To The Bardo Pioneers

Worthy of honor and praise are they,
Who so gallantly led the way
To an unknown land, a wilderness,
To found new homes for their families.
Uncouth and wild the country lay,
Their's was the task to clear the way,
To lay foundations firm and sure,
And leave a heritage that would endure.

No homes this land had ever known,
Unfenced, untilled, where the buffalo roamed.
Through ages of sleep the land had lain
Through winter's snow and the summer rain.
The redman's warwhoops caught the breeze,
Or the coyotes yap or the honk of geese.
Here Chief Ketchamoot his braves to battle led,
Here stalked the hunter with wary tread.

In search of homes came the Bardo band,
Among them we spy a striking man;
Rugged of build but of Mien serene,
At times for rest on his staff he'd lean,
For nearing fourscore years he bore,
I've read he was quite seventy-four—
But with youthful vigor and undimmed eye,
He came as the servant of God most High.

Among the names of this pioneer band
Who ventured into this great north land,
We find Anderson, Finseth and Lerbekmo,
Jevning, Moen, and Johnson too,
Simonson, Flaaten, Steen and Berg,
Deep in their hearts a great hope stirred,
For each dear flock a home to build,
A place secure for rest and shield.
For wives and children came on apace,
They would not lag in the stirring race.
Where the sleepy Amisk wends its way,
What they sought they found, and agreed to stay.

Before their eyes unrolled a magic carpet
Of fertile plains, of woods and inland seas,
A storehouse vast of untapped treasures,
To be unlocked by those who would these treasures seize—
And toil and sweat were the magic keys.
Yes, toil and sweat is the lot of tre pioneer
Who would build his home and the brushland clear,
Prairie fires would threaten his home,
Hail or frost might unbidden come.
No roads had he, but unbridged trails
His will must be firm, lest his purpose fails.
But trials brought endurance and fortitude,
And behold, they conquered the wilderness rude.
The pioneers' vision has now come true,
Peaceful homes and farms we view,
The fruits of years of diligent work,
Their hearts rang true and they did not shirk.
A sincere tribute to them we pay
As we are gathered here today.
Precious their memory in heart and soul
Or emblazoned on History's scroll
May the rest be sweet for each weary one,
The task they faced was nobly done.

EPILOGUE

God of our fathers, whose firm hand,
Led and sustained this little band,
Now their children and their children pray
That Thou also will guide them all the way.
For all the mercies from Thee most High,
Thy grace, this day, we would magnify.

—O. A. Broughton, Camrose.

Will Advertise Land For Sale When Available

To the present time [illegible] Council has either accepted or rejected offers to purchase land to which they held title. In this way all interested will have an equal chance of bidding and the interests of the M.D. will be protected. This was decided at the regular August council meeting.

UNITED CHURCH NEWS
SEPTEMBER 3rd

Looma Vista, Sunday School	10 a.m.
Service	11 a.m.
South Cooking Lake	3 p.m.
Ministik	8:30 p.m.

Mr. Douglas R. Carr, B.A. of Edmonton, will be in charge of these services. Friends who knew Mr. Carr's brother Arthur, who as a student was on the Ministik field the summer of 1942, will be anxious to meet Douglas. A final year student in Theology at St. Stephen's College, Mr. Carr has for the last two years been assisting the Rev. J. T. Stevens in the All People's Mission work in Edmonton. He has done some particularly fine boys' work, and is very highly regarded throughout the city in this connection. He has just completed two weeks as Director of the Edmonton Boys' Work Board's first In-the-City camp of the summer, at which over fifty boys were registered. In addition to the fine message we are anticipating from Mr Carr, we are also reminded that Sept. 3rd has been set aside by His Majesty the King as a National Day of Prayer—an opportunity for special prayer and consecration on entering the sixth year of war. Either of these reasons for marking the Sunday services as "special" would be sufficient for your support.

The following Sunday, Sept. 10th, the congregations on the Ministik field will unite for the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, the reception of Members and the Sacrament of Baptism. As previously announced, the guest minister will be the Rev Thos. Hart, M.A., B.D., D.Th., Superintendent of Home Missions All are asked to kindly bear this date in mind, Sept 10th at 2.30 p.m.

Mr. Nix has been away this past week in Edmonton on a slightly different mission. He is directing the [redacted] Boys' Work Board's In-the-City boys' camp No. 2 during its first week. These camps are run by the Board in conjunction with the Council of Social Agencies, and are a fairly recent experiment in summer camping. Their object is to provide city boys and girls with a bit of the out-door camp life through a camping program held right in the city. These are youngsters who are not able to attend a regular summer camp at the lake. The camp Mr. Nix is directing is being held in the Queen Alex School, and is for the boys of that area. On Sunday he will be occupying Mr. Carr's pulpits, Forest Heights and Bissell Memorial Churches, in the morning and evening.

The Ministik Young People's Society held their meeting last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Leach. With twelve members present, the program for the evening was a famous persons' quiz and word game. The worship period taken by Mr. Nix, was on the subject "Fellowship with other Peoples." The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, September 5th.

The August meeting of the Ministik U.F.W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Butler with 7 members present. After the meeting supper was served by the hostess. Our next meeting is to be held on September 20th at the home of Mrs. Frank Sunday.

John Baumgartner motored to Edmonton from Copper Mountain. He has resigned his job there. Mrs. Baumgartner's health has been very bad in the Copper Mountain country, so John has moved to Edmonton.

Keith Williams has returned home from the East on sick leave.

Jack Card arrived in Canada on the hospital ship, Lady Nelson. We understand he is badly wounded.

Mr. J. Frith arrived home from the coast last week where he has been spending a few week's visit with his daughter, Helen.

The movie pictures and dance held at the Hall on the 22nd was well attended. The pictures took more time than expected so the dance did not break up until about 3 o'clock. We expect to have them once a month so watch for the next date of showing

WEDDINGS

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Morrow of Deville was the scene of a very pretty wedding, Thursday, August 24, at 3:30 p.m., at which the Rev. D. K. Allan officiated, when their eldest daughter, Ellen, was married to John Ray Dunn, also of Deville. Gladioli and sweet peas made a very charming setting for the ceremony which took place in the presence of both families and old family friends.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a graceful afternoon frock of pale rose sheer with chapel veil and a corsage of yellow roses.

The bridesmaids, Misses Jean and Peggy Morrow, twin sisters, wore frocks of gold and blue crepe with corsages of pale pink carnations.

The best man was Mr. Kenneth Vice of Deville.

Miss Betty Stinson of Tofield played the wedding march and Mrs. A. Ferguson of Ministik sang "At Dawning" very sweetly during the signing of the register.

After the ceremony the bride's cake was cut and a toast given the bridal pair by Mr. Allan which was replied to by the bridegroom. After refreshments, the bride and groom left by car for Banff, amidst the best wishes of all present. The bride travelled in a green wool suit.

Guests Of The Reich

The following was condensed by our Ministik correspondent from an article written by a patient in the Central Alberta Sanatorium, Calgary. It appeared in their paper, the "Cheer-U-Upper", and was given to our correspondent by a reader of the Mercury as a contribution.

A lot of people seem interested in the shackling of the prisoners taken at Dieppe in August, 1942, and since I was one of the interested parties on the spot, I can, perhaps, give a few details of which people haven't heard on this side.

We arrived at Stalag VIIIB at the beginning of September and got a pleasant surprise on finding how well organized the Red Cross was. We had known before that the Red Cross did help prisoners of war but never realized how much till we were issued with our first food parcel and cigarettes the day we arrived and were told it was the regular weekly issue. We also received a certain amount of clothing to replace or add to what we had been captured in. In the case of fellows who had had to swim a fair distance was brief, to say the least. One of our [redacted] saw a picture of himself, in a German illustrated paper, marching through Dieppe clad in an undervest and tin hat and didn't feel the least bit flattered. Good thing it was a warm day!

On the morning of October 8, at roll call, a German officer, accompanied by the usual cloud of smaller fry, like a comet and its tail, strode into the compound and gave us the order to pack all our kit and be back on parade in twenty minutes. We decided that this must be just another bright idea to annoy us, so we weren't particularly worried when we were ordered to march up to the Reception Compound. So we picked up our worldly goods and moved, staggered, or straggled up the road to the compound, shedding blankets, dixies, clogs and cuss words as we went. No one dropped any food though!

We began to wonder what was afoot as we noticed three guards and two machine guns to each sentry-box and about half the German army around the fence, armed to the teeth with light and heavy machine guns, grenades, and rifles with fixed bayonets. We were pretty quiet then, remembering the various mass murder stories we'd heard about the Nazis, and it didn't make us feel very happy.

A further wait, and then there appeared another officer with enough braid and medals to be a stand-in for Goering himself. More heel-clicking and salutes and, after giving us a good glaring over, proceeded to read us a long proclamation. Words such as "pirates" were fairly frequent, and after a while we began to gather that owing to an incident that had occurred on the Dieppe raid and another on a small Commando raid we were to have our hands tied together "until the British Government should apologize to the Reich," or words to that effect. Well, we figured that was better than being shot, so we stepped forward in groups of twenty, held out our hands, wrists crossed, and were tied, to add insult to injury, with cord with which British Red Cross parcels are bound for shipment. Then we were herded back in our huts and four guards with tommy guns placed over each barrack-room.

The first evening, everyone got together and started a sing song, which annoyed the Jerries a lot, as we were supposed to take the whole business in a serious spirit. The Jerry sergeant finally got tired of shouting and blowing his whistle, so he finally complained to an officer, who came in with another proclamation, a short one this time to the effect that "There should be no laughing, whistling, singing, or playing of musical instruments among the prisoners!" And he didn't even see anything funny in that!

We managed to get settled down for the night with our hands still tied and all the lights on in case we should try to gang up on the guards. About 2:30 a.m. an officer came in with yet another proclamation, "Although the British Government has not yet shown any sign of apologizing, through the generosity of the German Government you will now be untied until eight o'clock tomorrow morning. You will also be untied for one hour at midday and at nine o'clock for the night." This was beginning to look a bit too permanent to suit us.

So they tied us, untied us, tied us, and untied us. It took quite a section of the army to do all this and soon most of the guards were suffering from sore fingers, which helped make up for our sore wrists. We used to pull the knots tight and fray the cords out so it wouldn't be too easy for them. One day they found there were forty cords short and they threatened us with being stood on parade for the day if the missing ones weren't forthcoming and, not liking the idea of this, we handed in any bits of cord we had been using to make up the difference. Do you think that made them happy? Not much—they found they had too many cords and immediately decided they were short some prisoners, so we had an extra roll call to straighten that out.

Some of the guards weren't too bad and didn't bother us much, but a few were very officious and spent all their time trying to catch us out. One little fellow, whom we decided was a bit of a mental case anyway, announced about three o'clock one afternoon that all those with loose ropes had better come to him and be retied, otherwise he would run them in. Anything to fill in time, so those whose ropes were tight loosened them anyway and got into line, and as they were retied went to the end of the line and loosened them once more. He was still busy tying at five o'clock when the whistle blew for roll call. I think he was allergic to rope after that—he didn't trouble us any more at any rate.

On December 5, they got a shipment of hand-cuffs for us which we found were a great improvement. They no sooner had the hand-cuffs on us than everyone discovered how to open them—a nail file or bully beef key did the trick. One of the guards got quite a surprise one day when he caught one of the boys having a shower dressed in nothing but his hand-cuffs, which were on properly and apparently untouched. The proper way of opening the chains was with a ponderous key, the whole process taking a couple of minutes per man, and there being a hundred and eighty men per barrack, it was a long job. So, while some were lined up having them removed the orthodox way, the remainder would take off their own and drop them in the box behind the guards, consequently speeding the job considerably. They soon came round to our way of thinking and just issued out the chains, letting us put them on in the morning and take them off at night. If any of the guards got nasty we used to line up and let them put them on and take them off us, so we kept them fairly well in order.

We had a wonderful feed out of the special Christmas parcel which is sent by the British Red Cross, the first full parcel we'd had since the tying had started as the Jerries had clamped down on the Red Cross issue at the same time. The barracks looked very festive as everyone had been working on decorations for some time past, making them out of tin cans, cardboard, labels, cigarette packets, anything, in fact with a bit of color to it. What with concerts and sing-songs, we had a surprisingly good Christmas.

By March, they began to let us out of the compound and around the camp, and there were less guards over us. That was a bit confusing at first because one day they would let you out only if you had chains on and the next day only with them off. Then they stopped bothering [redacted] that, too.

One day the guard commander came round to check up and stood watching four fellows playing poker with their hands free, expecting them to show some sign of getting into their cuffs. Not a move. After five minutes or so, by which time the poker players had forgotten he was there, he suddenly exploded, chased everyone out on parade, and announced through an interpreter, that he didn't mind us not wearing our chains when he wasn't around, but to put them on when he came as it looked better! He finally got worn down to such an extent that, when one day some one pinched the valve out of the rear tire of his bicycle he didn't even call a parade, but put on a feeble firework display, not at all up to his usual standard, and wheeled away his bicycle, looking disgusted and muttering to himself.

Finally the whole affair became a complete farce—the [redacted] were brought into the barracks in the morning, left for the day, and counted and taken away at night. Finally, either our Camp Commandant got fed up or the R.A.F. blew the dust off the original order in Berlin and brought it to light again, but whatever happened, the chains were finally removed for the last time in November to the relief of both sides, and were not seen again.

In conclusion, I would like to state that I intend to go straight from now on, and I think bracelets, as ornaments, are greatly over-rated.

NOTICE TO EMPLOYERS AND THEIR MALE EMPLOYEES

By an order signed on August 15th, 1944, by the undersigned Minister of Labour under authority of National Selective Service Mobilization Regulations:

3. Every employer is required similarly to check the documents held by each male employee newly engaged between May 1st, 1944, and August 22nd, 1944, and to report to the Registrar for his Mobilization Division by August 29th, 1944, on any such employee found not to possess [redacted] as referred to;

4. Any male [redacted] to, is required by the Regulations to present his documents to his employer for purposes of inspection;

5. Penalties are provided for any employer or male employee who fails to comply with these Regulations.

By an earlier order, employers were required to check the documents held by their male employees, and to report by May 1st, 1944, on doubtful cases as well as any where employees did not possess documents. The procedure for the present continuing check, although being notified to employers in "Notice to Employers and their Male Employees", which is now being mailed, is identical with that set forth in "Employers' Guide", which covered the check made before May 1st, 1944.

Employers are asked to remember that they do not report on men who do possess the necessary documents—only on those who fail to present documents for examination, or where there is doubt that the document presented actually proves good standing.

The employers of Canada co-operated very satisfactorily on the first check, made up to May 1st last. This co-operation was decidedly helpful, and is very much appreciated. Further co-operation is now earnestly requested.

Schedule 9 and details as to documents which prove good standing, are available through the Employment and Selective Service Offices.

THE BACON TRADE—

WHETHER ONE IS DOING business in a big way on the Smithfield market in London, England, or raising a few pigs on an isolated farm in Western Canada, it is the same business, the bacon trade. The aroma and taste of well cured, well fried bacon is too well known to be referred to here except to say that even heaven will not be quite complete without them. Neither is it necessary to enlarge upon the immense amount of bacon raised, killed, processed, sold and eaten in the course of a year. Like a few other human foodstuffs, bacon is an essential food, and while its aroma and taste are ethereal, the result of its consumption is very real and substantial.

Last week we had the pleasure of listening to an address by Lt.-Col. Robertson, Agricultural Commissioner for Canada in Great Britain. Lt.-Col. Robertson spoke on post war market trends for Canadian products in Great Britain and dwelt at some length on the bacon trade. Incidentally, it is interesting to note that the address was given to a group of agricultural specialists, some of whom are working as district agriculturists and that the tenor of the address was post war markets, showing that Canadian agricultural specialists are looking toward the future and are not merely content with the prosperous present.

When this war is over and the nations of the world have beaten their swords into plough shares, practically as well as figuratively, what will be the lot of the farmer far removed by distance from the world's most densely populated areas? Will it be a case as regards markets of choosing the best and the devil taking the hindmost? Or will present achievements of Canadian agriculture be remembered and allowances made therefore? We are inclined to believe it will be a combination of the two. It is quite true in many respects that there is no sentiment in business, yet when the time comes for Britishers to re-arrange their import and export markets, surely it will be remembered that at a time of crisis Canadian agriculture put bacon on millions of British breakfast tables which would otherwise have gone bare.

There is this, however, to remember, that in the long run, over a period of years, there are two things that make a product popular, quality and supply. These even outweigh price as important as this is. Over and over again we hear that Canadian bacon is inferior to Danish bacon. This was the prevailing opinion long before the war commenced and as a subject , interested us long before 1939. While perhaps, like many other oft repeated statement when a simple fact has become much over emphasized, there probably is truth in the fact that Danish bacon enjoys preference over that shipped from Canada. With the passing of time can this condition be altered? We believe it can. Can the average Canadian farmer assist in its altering? We believe he can. How?

The bacon industry in Denmark is part of an agricultural economy in which milk, cream, cheese, butter and cured meat products are integral parts. Little or nothing is wasted, everything is made full use of. The objective of the Danish farmer, very often his only objective, being purely a dairy and pork products farmer, is to place a superior product upon a highly competitive market. To begin with breeding stock is highly selective, then from birth to killing time pigs are housed and fed in such a way as to produce a desired result. Tender, fine textured pork does not come from pigs allowed to roam all over the place and the Danish farmer knows it. Dry chop and cold water doesn't make top quality pork and the Danish farmer knows it. He also knows that to get top quality meat plenty of man hours have to be given to feeding, cleaning and housing the pigs, more man hours than the average Canadian farmer imagines. Quite likely Danish agricultural economy has much to do with bacon quality. Having to import much of their grain feedstuffs, they buy and feed what they deem best and not just what they have on hand.

If Canadian farmers really desire to produce bacon as good as that produced by Danish farmers, they will have to breed, feed and house and generally give as much attention to their pigs as Danish farmers give to theirs. So far there is not much evidence that this is being done, mainly perhaps because, while right now pigs are profitable, to the average Wetsern Canadian farmer they are a side line, while to the average Danish farmer they are one of his chief productions.

There is no question at all that immediately after the war ends there will be a rush for the British bacon market and while no doubt government control will be exercised, real and lasting Canadian success can only come from a superior product.

SIMPLE

"It's surprising," said the professor to his wife at breakfast, "to think how ignorant we all are. Nearly every man is a specialist in his own particular line, and in consequence we are all as narrow-minded as it is possible to be."

"Yes, dear," said his wife.

"I, for instance," he continued, "am ashamed of my failure to keep abreast of modern science. Take electric light, for example. I haven't the least idea how it works."

His wife gave him a patronizing look, and smiled.

"Why, Hubert, I'm ashamed of you, too. It's simple! You just press a switch, that's all!" Tit-Bits.

OTTAWA— Comprehensive action has been taken to assure both Canadian civilians and demobilized veterans employment and a high standard of living after the war, Prime Minister Mackenzie King asserted in his national broadcast, which brought response from many lands, following the adjournment of parliament. In addition the Liberal governments plans for social insurance against major economic hazards are well advanced, he said.

Canada now leads the world in provision for members of the armed forces to become re-established in civilian life, the prime minister stated. He outlined the 15-point program already set up for assistance of veterans of this war as follows:

1. Rehabilitation grant of one month's pay and allowance.
2. Clothing allowance of $100.
3. Free transportation to veterans' homes.
4. Basic cash gratuity of $7.50 for each 30 days' service in Canada and $15 for each 30 days' service overseas. For overseas service a further grant of seven days' pay [redacted] allowances for each six months of such service.
5. Rehabilitation credit equal to the basic gratuity, for purchase, repair or improvement of a home; for buying furniture and household equipment; for working capital for a profession or business; to purchase tools, instruments or equipment; to purchase a business; to pay premiums on government insurance or for other purposes which may later be authorized.

PREVENT SPREAD OF WEED SEEDS DURING HARVEST

All through the year the fight against weeds goes on. Winter, spring, summer and fall, each season requires constant care if the land is to be kept clean and the crops given their fair share of light, water and plant food.

Special attention will be needed during the next few weeks to prevent the spread of weeds by farm machinery. To prevent the scattering of weed seeds from field to field and farm to farm all harvesting and threshing machinery and equipment should be well cleaned before moving. If you are operating a combine, use tightly woven sacks so that the weed seeds may be taken from the field and [redacted]

If a separator is used, burn the weed seeds at the setting before turning your live stock into the stubble. Even when this precaution is taken a considerable number of weeds of all kinds may be eaten and spread around by the stock. Limit, as much as possible, the range of live stock on stubble in the fall so that weeds may not be carried to fields other than those on which they were pro[redacted]

A little care during harvest and threshing will save considerable work and worry in the future.

AMISK CREEK

Here is an interesting excerpt of a letter received from Gnr. Arthur Amsbo, somewhere in England.

"In this town we have a dog who picks up coins and drops them in a Red Cross can, and of course he takes in a big collection each day. People get a great kick out of him running after the coins as they are tossed on the floor. When he is hungry, he will go to his Master and get a cookie for his coin, and best of all, he still carries on when he is not hungry."

Perhaps this will give some dog trainer or owner here an idea.

Church, August 15, totalled $171.00, which will go in equal shares to the Red Cross branches at Ryley, Tofield and Dodds. THE WORLD OF WHEAT
By H. G. L. Strange

Farmers will soon be threshing their grain. Many farmers will harvest a crop that was grown from good Registered or Certified seed. Such grain, I suggest, should be threshed very carefully with a separator that has been thoroughly cleaned, then the threshed grain should be binned separately so that it will not become mixed with other grains.

A farmer who has grown grain which is really good seed of this quality, can improve the crop of many of his neighbors if he will offer this good seed to them at a small premium over the market price. When Registered or Certified seed is offered for sale in commercial channels the fields have to be inspected and the seed in the sack has to be inspected and government sealed. No inspection of this kind, however, is needed if seed is sold by a farmer to his neighbors.

The late Dr. Robertson, founder of the Canadian Seed Growers Association, once expressed the view that every farmer who produced a crop of true-to-variety grain suitable for seed, managed to effect an illustration farm that would help to improve the quality of the crops, and the income, of all his neighbors.

FINISH POULTRY BEFORE MARKETING

Unless farmers conduct the marketing of their poultry in a more efficient manner it is probable that in the near future there won't be much of a market, warns C. W. Traves, Poultry Commissioner. This applies especially to the marketing of live chicken and fowl.

Too many poor quality and unfinished birds are still being marketed. Too much of our valuable storage space is already taken up with grade C poultry in spite of previous warnings. The present heavy marketings of unfinished poultry will gradually but surely close the market if it continues.

The remedy is in the farmers' hands. If those who have fowl and chicken to market will prepare a small pen and finish the birds, a steady market and a better price will be assured. Be sure that the finishing pen is free from mites, etc., and is well lighted. Handle carefully every bird to be marketed and treat for lice. All very thin birds should be given a worm capsule and allowed to range until in better flesh. Fairly well fleshed birds should be well finished in the pen or in crates until in top grade for market. Birds with crooked breasts, or birds that will not finish should be killed for home use only.

Valuable information is available in the form of a leaflet on "Preparing Poultry on the Farm for Marketing." This leaflet may be obtained from Grading Station Operators, District Agriculturists, or direct from the Extension Service, Department of Agriculture, Edmonton.

These Chefs Turn Out 75,000 Pies A Year

PASTRY-MAKING being the fine art that it is, as any housewife who has slaved over a hot stove will agree, it should occasion little surprise that as Chief Pastry Chef for the Canadian Pacific Railway's sleeping and dining car service, the company has a graduate of the Ghent (Belgium) School for Chefs. He is Henry De Rycke, shown right, with his four assistants and some of the pies.

So the next time you sit down in a C.P.R. diner and order pie, whether it be chicken, raisin, blueberry, apple or what have you, recall that you will be eating the pastry of Henry De Rycke (pronounced like strike-er) who has been a pastry chef in such romantic places as Monte Carlo, Ostend and Holland, to say nothing of Canada. "From Winnipeg to Saint John—to [redacted] Quebec City, too—[redacted]" Mr. De Rycke [redacted] a stamp of a [illegible] [redacted] enrolled in the Ghent [redacted] graduated at the end of [redacted] time to enlist in the Belgian Army on his 18th birthday. Nothing happened to him in the war. "I was so brave", he modestly admits. "I cooked!"

A keen motorcyclist, De Rycke travelled extensively in England and on the Continent after the Great War, came to Canada in 1926 and liked it so well he's never gone back. Right now, in his kitchen, which is temporarily, one of the kitchens built years ago for the Harvesters' Excursions to Western Canada by the C.P.R., he and his four helpers turn out an average of 200 pies per day. Affectionately known to all the C.P.R.'s Glen Yards people at Montreal as "the pie [illegible]" Henry looks forward to the post war era when he expects he'll be able to whet the epicure's appetite with French pastry, curlicues on the cakes and so on. Meantime, out roll [illegible] in an unending stream.

Christmas Gifts For Overseas Forces

15 SEPT. — 25 OCT.

"Do not open until Christmas". That exciting phrase should soon be making its appearance on parcel mail despite the fact that many places in Canada are still recovering from the [illegible] spell on record. Postmaster General William P. Mulock advises that it is time to make plans for Christmas gift parcels to members of the Armed Forces Overseas. The Christmas mailing period this year is

SEPTEMBER 15 — OCTOBER 25

Naturally, parcels sent to those serving in the more remote theatres of war should be sent the earliest. Suggested [illegible] mailing dates are

SEPTEMBER 15 The far East, India, Burma, Ceylon, etc.

OCTOBER 5 The Middle East area, Egypt, Iran, Iraq, Syria, etc.

OCTOBER 10 Central Mediterranean Forces.

OCTOBER 25 The United Kingdom and France.

In view of the rapid progress of the war these dates might possibly be subject to change.

Last Christmas season (1st Nov. Dec.) over 12 [illegible] pounds of parcel mail alone were despatched to the Forces Overseas from Canada. This year an even greater volume is expected. There[illegible] EARLY MAILING IS NECESSARY to enable Postal officials to cope with the [illegible] and to carry [illegible] arrangements for transportation of [illegible]. Remember that [illegible] at a premium [illegible] this year that the [illegible] greater distances [illegible] of our troops are farther afield [illegible] different fronts fighting [illegible] the conditions of mobile warfare [illegible] of time must be allowed between mailing and delivery. [illegible] the chance if everyone should wait [illegible] the last minute to mail [illegible] would be faced with the impossible task of providing [illegible] aboard the last [illegible] in time to ensure Christmas delivery. The result would mean a [illegible] Christmas Day for thousands overseas looking forward eagerly to getting their Christmas gifts [illegible].

A suggestion to further help our boys and girls on Active Service receive their gifts from home is to voluntarily cut down, as far as possible, on the size of the package, even though the maximum weight at the special rate of 12 cents per pound is 11 pounds. This will enable authorities to ship a greater number of parcels in the cargo space available.

The bitter disappointment caused by late arrival of Christmas gifts can be spared our Fighting Services too if citizens will give the most careful attention to correct addressing and proper packing. Last Christmas several thousand of parcels were received at the Base Post Office in a damaged condition. They had to be set aside for [illegible] or readdressing in order that they might be safely sent on to destination. This caused delay and extra work for the Postal Corps. The long [illegible] travel [illegible] weather conditions [illegible] careful packing.

[illegible] should be carefully [illegible] in corrugated [illegible] proof containers [illegible] so that they will not shake loose and break out of the package. Then the parcels should be wrapped in several layers of wrapping paper, and securely tied with strong twine.

On no account should "Shoe Boxes" be used as containers [illegible] they easily [illegible].

[illegible] paper as an outside wrapper, or [illegible] ribbon to tie.

For added security parcels may be sewn in strong cotton or similar fabric.

Any substance likely to leak, spread and damage the mails, if sent at all must be enclosed in sealed metal containers which is securely closed [illegible] surrounded with absorbent material [illegible] corrugated cardboard and securely wrapped and tied.

[illegible] wire, etc., or [illegible] are not acceptable.

DO NOT MAIL GLASS JARS OR BOTTLES.

The mailing of matches, safety matches, lighter fluid or any other inflammable substance is prohibited by law.

A completed Customs Declaration should be attached to each parcel.

All mail should be fully and clearly addressed in ink, without misleading abbreviations. Place a return address on the cover of each parcel and also a slip among the contents giving the name and address of the sender and the complete Armed Forces address that appears on the parcel. Prepay all mail correctly. By refraining from writing to a member of the Armed Forces Overseas that gifts are being sent, until actually mailed, much worry can be saved the soldier. Do not disappoint our men by mailing too late for Christmas delivery.

Persons who MAIL EARLY FOR CHRISTMAS to the Armed Forces Overseas can rest assured that the authorities will do everything possible to make delivery on time.

Lt.-Col. Robertson Addresses Meeting been higher than at the present time.

Regarding the British Market for Canadian products, wheat was thought of first. At present the United States was raising a large crop of wheat and would most likely sell quite a large quantity to Great Britain. Great Britain was also raising a large crop for a small country, but he believed after the war Britain would go back to feeding stock rather than grain growing, and that there would be a market there for much Canadian wheat.

Regarding bacon, Canada had rapidly increased her bacon production and a very large proportion of the meat going to Great Britain now was Canadian bacon. There was some criticism of Canadian bacon but he believed the things for which Canadian bacon was being criticised for, would be remedied. Danish bacon was Canada's chief competitor, the years of specialized endeavor in the way of housing, feeding and breeding, together with a mild cure, having given Danish bacon No. 1 preference with the British housewife. Under the present system of distribution in Britain, bacon was just bacon and the customer did not know whether he or she was eating English, Irish, or Canadian bacon, but after the war bacon will again be labeled as to country of origin. Lt.-Col. Robertson said he believed that after the war Canadian bacon would be more on a par as to quality with Danish bacon than heretofore. He expected Danish competition in the British Market as the Danes still have 60 per cent of their usual quantity of pig breeding stock available.

Speaking of frozen beef, Lt.-Col. Robertson said some was going over from Canada now and after the war more would go. As regards distance, Canada had the advantage over the Argentine but the Argentine possessed some grazing advantages that Canada did not. He was not as enthusiastic about frozen beef as he was about bacon.

He believed there would be a good post war market for Canadian cheese and butter, but as with bacon, competition as regards quality was very keen.

Regarding egg powder, the Canadian product stood very high, being classed as considerably better than the American. Different packs had been tried but the general consensus of opinion is that both as regards quality of product and pack, the Canadian five ounce pack is the best yet. As a permanent thing he believed the British housewife would demand shell eggs after the war, but there will be some demand for powdered eggs from commercial bakeries. He believed also that Great Britain would provide a ready market for Canadian fruit.

Finally he said that in any arrangement of world trade Canada will have to take some products from Britain. As regards her own products, Canada must advertise, produce the goods, have continuity of supplies and quality.

HERALDS OF HOPE

There is a golden thread that runs
Through darksome fabrics of the loom,
Far-leading rays from hidden suns,
A beacon light through storm and gloom

There is a voice that wakes with dawn,
A kindly note in twilight grey,
A star appears when day is gone
That drifts across life's lonely way.

Lift up your head Oh faltering one,
The Lord of might and wisdom reigns,
His Kingdom shall outlive the sun,
The darkness and the tempter's chains.

Oh precious hope that love has set
Your heralds rich through time renew,
The Heavenly fountains flowing yet
Refresh the earth like sparkling dew.

—E. C. Vance, Kingman.

CARD OF THANKS

The Tiedemann families of Holden and Tofield wish to thank their many friends and neighbors for their sympathy, also the floral offerings in the loss of their beloved father and grandfather.

Joe Citizen Says

When handing out a bit of praise for those who've tried in humble ways the burden of the fight to share, it seems to me to be but fair that all the world should be told how farm-women took a hold, and, with their sons and daughters gone, just set themselves to carry on.
And farm boys and girls have done a job of work excelled by none.
They've worked before and after school to keep the world's pantry full.
Well, some do more and some do less—we're not all built the same I guess.
But surely we can ALL contrive to buy more bonds in this new drive.
Whatever else we've done—or do!—
this job must be put over too.

On the motion of Councillor Ovens, individual councillors will be allowed $20.00 each to help defray costs in getting signup. They may use it for their own services or pay it out to others as they see fit. The idea behind the motion is that there would be considerable travelling necessary to get signatures.

The time now being 3:00 p.m. Council sat as a Court of Revision. There were 26 appeals including farm assessments and annual assessments. Each one was dealt with individually, in some cases the assessment was lowered and in others it was sustained. In one case a ruling from the department will be sought.

The application of Hans Hanson to purchase N. half 28-48-13 W4 and S.W. 33-48-13 W4 was tabled.

It was agreed to sell Miles Barrow N.E. 32-50-20 W4 for $200.00 and a bylaw covering this was given a first and second reading.

Other land transactions came up for consideration and on the motion of Councillor Logan it was decided to call for sealed tenders on any land that the M.D. were at any time desirous of selling.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our thanks and appreciation for the messages of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings from our many friends during our recent bereavement.

Empty Granaries

For the first time in [illegible] years, many farmers have emptied their granaries. Now is the time to repair and clean them in order to prevent damage to stored grain by moisture and insects.

Many granaries will have developed roof leaks, and cracks in walls and floors. Such places must be repaired if moisture is to be prevented from reaching the new grain. Grain insects frequently remain in empty bins and must be removed by thorough cleaning if damage is to be avoided.

The following measures are suggested:

1. Repair places where rain or snow could enter. A lining of moisture-proof paper may be necessary.
2. Concrete floors often cause trouble; a covering of reinforced moisture-proof paper should be laid down.
3. Clean granaries thoroughly. Brush down walls, and on floors with damp sawdust. Then sprinkle hydrated lime over the floor and sweep it about to fill all cracks.
4. If granary was infested with mites or insects last year whitewash walls and floor a week before filling so the whitewash will dry thoroughly.
5. Fill granary to the plate only, and provide for ventilation over the surface of the grain.
6. Grain harvested "tough" should be stored in smallest bins and turned in cold weather.
7. Locate open bins or piles on well-drained ground with two or three feet of straw under the grain. Pile grain into an even cone and cover with a cap of hay or sheaves; remove cap before warm weather arrives in spring
8. Consult a local elevator agent or the Grain Research Laboratory, Winnipeg, with regard to problems of farm storage.

WINTER HOUSING OF LAYING PULLETS

(Experimental Farms News)

Three main principles are desirable for the permanent winter housing of laying pullets. (1) a concrete floor; (2) at least a quarter of the south wall glass and a quarter cotton, and (3) a straw loft above a slatted ceiling. For prairie conditions, the walls of the house should be insulated or so constructed or banked with straw that the building is practically windproof, particularly on the north and west, says E. Van Nice of the Dominion Experimental Station, Scott, Saskatchewan.

A concrete floor is desirable for sanitary reasons as it can be washed and disinfected more satisfactorily than a wood or earth floor. If a liberal quantity of chaffy litter is used and changed as necessary to keep dry, the concrete floor is satisfactory even for winter conditions.

Glass is important to admit sunlight and heat. Many houses are too dark for winter conditions, and shorten the day for the laying stock. Special glass to admit vitamin D from the sun is not needed now as this vitamin is in the fish oil used in the feed.

Cotton provides ventilation without draft in windy weather, and in mild weather some of the cotton may be opened during the day by having the frames hinged at the top to permit their opening to the ceiling. By this means, additional sunshine and heat is admitted and ventilation is improved.

Slatted ceiling and a straw loft take care of much of the moisture in the air and help to prevent the collection of frost on the walls. The birds will continue laying normally during reasonably cold weather if the house can be kept from becoming too moist. A damp, frosty house indicates inadequate ventilation or insulation or both.

LAC Sid Worton spent the week end at his home here, on route to North Battleford from the coast, where he spent part of his furlough.

Anniversary Services Well Attended

The United Church of Tofield, Lakeshore and Ketchamoot passed its fifty years of continuous service on Sunday with celebrations worthy of this great event.

The Rev. D. K. Allan and his district workers, with long and careful planning, prepared the way for the successful gathering. The editor of the "Mercury" gave the 50th Anniversary splendid publicity. The congregation and friends showed their interest and goodwill by being present in great numbers.

Sunday 3rd, and Monday, 4th of September will long and lovingly be remembered. We were most fortunate in securing the services of such an outstanding speaker, the Rev. Elgin Turnbull, B.A., B.D., Knox Church, Edmonton. His inspiring messages, both morning and evening, were greatly enjoyed and brought cheer, hope and comfort to many

His talk to the children delighted and interested the young people and others. The Junior and Senior Choirs rendered valuable assistance to our worship. It delighted the large congregation in the evening to listen to Mr. John Cookson sing "The Lost Chord."

The Sabbath services were a treat and a source of living hope in the Church in its friendship and fellowship. A well arranged variety of flowers helped to make the church more beautiful. It was a glad day in the lives of young and old and its fragrant memory will abide.

The program of music, recitations, and the recalling of the early days experiences on the Monday evening fitted in splendidly with the celebration. The histories of the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches until the time of union were well received and the work and labors of love by the Pioneers was most interesting.

Mr J Francis and Mr. J. W. Cookson are to be congratulated on their good work Mrs John Cookson gave a delightful picture of the Sunday school during the early days. It was greatly appreciated by all.

The Rev. R. E. Finley, the first Methodist minister to Tofield, forty-four years ago, kept the large audience interested, amused, and thrilled by an account of his own experiences in the early beginning of the Church.

The Rev. Alex Stewart, who 30 years ago ministered to the Presbyterian congregation, brought congratulations and spoke feelingly and humorously of people and events during his ministry. Mr. George Cookson gave us some amusing incidents of students and their horses.

Mrs. Stinson and Betty, also Mr. Chandler provided very appropriate and stirring musical items, while Mr. H. Swift recited one of Drummond's Habitant poems. These all were heartily enjoyed.

This event in the history of our Church was heightened in interest by receiving greetings and congratulations from the President of the Conference, Rev. R. Magowan, and the Revs. R. E. Pow and Thom Gordon, the Edmonton Presbytery, the Wainwright Presbytery and Knox church, Edmonton.

A social hour at the close brought these successful and memorable celebrations to a happy ending.

Special gifts were received from the Ladies' Aid, ($25) and the W.M.S. ($5).

I would like to thank most sincerely all who in any way helped by their gifts, their labors, their presence, to make our 50th Anniversary a joy and a blessing.

WEDDING

KENNEY—MURRAY

A wedding of local interest took place on Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 30, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Murray, when their only daughter, Margery Josephine, was united in marriage to William Ivan Kenney of Rimbey. The Rev. D. K. Allan officiated and the wedding music was played by Mr. McCauley.

The bride, dressed in an afternoon gown of [illegible] rose, entered the room on the arm of her father and took her place before a background of leaf green against which were arranged tall standards of gladioli, [illegible] peas and marigolds. She carried an arm bouquet of deep red roses with long white ribbon streamers. Her only ornament was a beautiful [illegible] locket and chain which had belonged to her maternal grandmother.

Attending the bride were the groom's sisters, Miss Lois Kenney as bridesmaid, and little Helen Kenney as flower girl. Both were dressed in pale blue with the bridesmaid carrying a colonial bouquet of red roses and sweet peas and the flower girl, pale pink flowers.

Douglas Murray, brother of the bride, was best man.

A luncheon was served to the twenty-five guests after the ceremony. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake surrounded by pastel shades of summer flowers. And beautiful summer flowers were in profusion throughout the rooms. The Rev. Allan gave the toast to the bride.

Later the couple left for their home on the farm in the Rimbey district. For travelling the bride wore a brown chesterfield coat, matching hat and accessories. The following day they left for a short honeymoon trip to Banff.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Kenney, Lois and Helen Kenney of Rimbey, Mr. and Mrs. J. Younie, Mr. John Murray and daughter Geraldine of Edmonton.

Margery was born and went to school in the Lakeshore district, later taking her high school course in Tofield. She also is a graduate of the Edmonton Normal school, class of 1943, and taught school at Rimbey for a year and a half.

Margery was one of Lakeshore's finest young women and will indeed be missed, but we wish her every happiness in her new home.

MINISTIK

The following was contributed:

WE DON'T WORK

Did you ever figure out just when we work? One day while waiting for a friend I happened to think of 365 days in the year, perhaps this year, leap year, had something to do with it. At any rate here is what I figured out or has someone else already figured out an equivalent item. However, here it is:

In one year there are	365 days
You sleep 8 hrs. a day, equalling	122
Thus leaving	243
Relax 8 hrs. per day, you have	122
Leaving	121
In a year there are 52 Sundays	52
Leaving	69
Half holidays on Sat. you have	26
Thus leaving	43
Time for meals 1½hrs. per day	28
Thus you have left	15
2-week vacation each year	14
Days left	1
This is Labor Day, so you have	1

Just when can we find time to work in view of the above? You answer, I can't.

Those from here who attended the nominating convention to select a candidate for the Federal riding of Vegreville held at Mundare on Saturday report it was a huge success.

After the usual business routine was finished a period of twenty minutes was voted by the one hundred and fifty-eight delegates to nominate their candidates. Only one nomination was made, that being for Anthony Hlynka, and at the end of the twenty minutes he was carried bodily from the back of the hall and set on the platform where he gave a short address thanking them for the nomination. Mrs. Hlynka also gave a short talk thanking them for her husband's nomination.

Other speakers of the afternoon were, Mr. Baker, Mr. Tomyn, Mr. M. Panich, Mr. J. M. Popil and others who gave interesting addresses.

After the afternoon session the ladies provided a banquet which was very much enjoyed by all.

At the evening session addresses were given to a full house by Mr. Hlynka and the Hon. Solon Low, leader of the National Social Credit Party. All went home with the knowledge Social Credit is going places.

LAKESHORE

According to all the old superstitions, Margery Murray was headed for a very happy future as Mrs. Wm. Kenney. Old Sol fairly beamed all last Wednesday afternoon when their marriage took place at the home of Margery's parents, Mr and Mrs. T. R. Murray. We hear that the bride wore something old and something new something borrowed and something blue, and we've heard an old rhyme that says "Wednesday is the best day of all" — and we hope that every superstition proves itself for Margery and Bill.

Marjorie Jones left on Monday for Edmonton where she will attend Alberta College.

Cpl. Geo. Abernethy arrived home on Tuesday for a two month's harvest leave.

Mrs. J. Noland of Camrose visited Mrs. Abernethy on Wednesday and Thursday.

We are all pleased to hear that Miriam Seale successfully passed her grade XII exams.

The first frost to do any damage to speak of was reported in this district on Monday night.

WITH THE R.C.A.F. IN FRANCE

"Feels just like I'd made a trip to the woodshed," grinned F/O D. J. "Butch" Washburn, Fernie, B.C., who returned to his advanced R.C.A.F. Typhoon fighter-bomber airfield in Normandy after being "paddled" by German anti-aircraft fire while he dive-bombed a concentration of enemy troops and motor vehicles in a woods east of Thury-Harcourt recently.

As Washburn, flying with the 'Wildcat' Squadron, was preparing to dive on the target, a burst of anti-aircraft fire kicked up the tail of his Typhoon, then bursting anti-aircraft fire followed him down, flipping his tail smartly each time.

"Anyway, I was No. 5 and I saw the whole section go in" he reported. "The leader (F/L Jack Beirnes, Tofield, Alta.) plunked his bombs dead on, then No. 2 and 3 and 4 laid their's right on top of them. The target was a road through this wood, and whatever was there can't be much good now."

"Beirnes has since been promoted to squadron leader and appointed commanding officer of the squadron.

F/O Phillip Macklem, Toronto, observed the first two hits on the road. "Some of us clobbered the north end of the woods, which was the main part of the target," he said. "We went from 7,000 down to about 2,000 feet and we strafed all the way down. It made the anti-aircraft keep their heads down part of the time anyway."

Bovine Tuberculosis

Organized effort for the eradication of bovine tuberculosis in Canada comes under three separate headings. First there is the Accredited Herd plan. This deals with pure bred herds only. To be eligible for acceptance under this plan applicant must have at least five pure bred cattle of one breed. When the herd has passed two Annual or three semi-annual tests without a reactor it is designated a "Tuberculosis-free Accredited Herd." Compensation is paid for reactors and is based on two-thirds of the value placed upon the animals by government veterinary inspectors. The maximum for purebreds is $100.00 and for grades $40.00. Compensation on a purebred basis is not paid for reacting animals over six months of age not registered at the commencement of the tuberculin test. Animals affected with lump jaw and grade bulls must be slaughtered without compensation if they react to the test. All reactors must be slaughtered under Federal inspection. At March 31st, 1938, there were 8,172 accredited herds in Canada, of which Alberta had 122.

SUPERVISED HERD PLAN

The supervised herd plan is a single herd policy applicable to grade herds irrespective of the number of pure bred or grade animals they contain. No compensation is paid for reactors but the owners receive whatever proceeds there may be from the salvage.

Owners placing their herds under this plan must agree to slaughter reactors, to promptly cleanse and disinfect their premises and to keep their cattle from coming in contact with untested animals. If a herd sire is not maintained on the premises breeding operations must be restricted to a tested animal.

At March 31 1938 there were 42,643 supervised herds in Canada of which Alberta had 1,164.

RESTRICTED AREA PLAN

The object of this plan is the eradication of tuberculosis in definite areas. At least two-thirds of the cattle owners in any definite area must sign a petition for the establishment of such an area under this plan. This petition must be forwarded by the Provincial Minister of Agriculture to the Minister of the Federal Department of Agriculture requesting that the necessary action be taken. The payment of compensation is based on the same limitations and maximum valuations provided under the Accredited Herd Plan.

SOME ADVANTAGES OF THE FORMATION OF A RESTRICTED AREA

It is the most practical and economical method for the Department and for the live stock owner.

It permits of organized systematic work in testing cattle and the shipment of reactors by car lots, the [illegible] expensive method.

The greatest number of cattle can be tested in a given period.

Greater permanent progress can be made in the control of this disease than by any other method because all cattle in a definite area are under official supervision. The [illegible] systematically tested, reactors removed promptly for slaughter and the infected premises cleansed and [illegible].

All infected centres are steadily [illegible] cated and the spread of infection controlled.

It provides the best possible protection to clean herds and gives owners a feeling of security.

There is no necessity to erect double fences to protect clean herds while at pasture.

It facilitates breeding operations as they can be carried on between area herds of equal health status, and has a tendency to eliminate the scrub bull.

It promotes the improvement of stock, and does not restrict the services of valuable herd sires.

It creates an active market at higher prices, as area cattle are in great demand. Buyers for foreign markets demand tuberculosis-free cattle, and select areas to purchase their animals as they obtain the [illegible] tested more quickly and at less travelling cost in areas than elsewhere.

It provides a safer milk supply to all municipalities in the area and at the same time is an effective means of controlling [illegible].

It results in better housing accommodation for cattle and better sanitary conditions in general, as our officers advise owners regarding desirable improvements.

More effective control and supervision can be maintained over our areas than under our single herd policies as the movement of cattle into an area is governed by regulations.

Area work promotes community interest and co-operation and has a tendency to protect the general interests in an area against any action which may jeopardize its health status.

It is popular with the stock owner, creates a ready market for our cattle, reduces the incidence of the disease, and is of importance to public health.

[illegible] trol of bovine tuberculosis [illegible] our present knowledge [illegible] restricted area plan [illegible]

DISADVANTAGES REGARDING FORMATION OF RESTRICTED AREA

[illegible]

REGULATIONS REGARDING FORMATION OF RESTRICTED AREAS

1. Upon receipt of a request from the Government of any Province [illegible] the Government of Canada will, whenever it appears [illegible] to the Minister of Agriculture [illegible] Bovine Tuberculosis from [illegible] after [illegible]

Upon the approval of the Minister of Agriculture of any such application, a proclamation may be published in the CANADA GAZETTE constituting the proposed area a restricted area within the meaning of these regulations, whereupon all provisions of these regulations shall apply to said restricted area.

5. [illegible] Bovine Tuberculosis [illegible] be moved into or out of the area under the following conditions:

No reactors shall be moved under license to approved feeding premises where they shall be quarantined for a retest to be conducted after the expiration of a sixty day period.

[illegible] All cattle within the area shall [illegible] tuberculin test [illegible] veterinary inspectors or accredited veterinarians [illegible] whenever [illegible] Veterinary Director General.

[illegible] Reactors to the test shall be [illegible] and shall [illegible]

[illegible] animal, or animals, unless otherwise provided, shall be valued and compensation awarded in accordance with sections 14 and 15 of the Animal Contagious Diseases Act.

Compensation will not be paid for reacting grade bulls, or animals [illegible] with lump jaw.

The feeding of animals within a restricted area on by-products of cheese factories, skimming stations and butter factories is prohibited unless such by-products have first been sterilized by heat.

The Minister may order the exclusion of public stockyards and other places for the assembling and marketing of cattle, located within an established area from the provisions of these regulations.

4. All premises and contact matter [illegible] suspected of being infected with tuberculosis, shall be thoroughly cleansed and disinfected by and at the expense of the owner or occupier, in a manner satisfactory to an inspector.

An area (county, municipality or district) in which the percentage of cattle infected with tuberculosis does not exceed one-half of one per cent (0.5) shall be declared by the Veterinary Director General an accredited area for a period of three years and when a percentage of cattle infected with tuberculosis does not exceed two-tenths of one per cent (0.2) it shall be declared an accredited area for a period of six years.

Note: Compensation on a purebred basis will not be paid for reacting animals over six months of age not registered at the commencement of the tuberculin test.

RESULTS OF TESTING

There is tabulated evidence to show [illegible] ten years, under the restricted area plan, the percentage of reactors [illegible] tremendously. Just as an example, 5600 square miles in the Fraser Valley, B.C., involving 45,000 to 65,000 cattle, the percentage of reactors dropped from 7.9 per cent [illegible] to 0.2 per cent in 1937. There are numerous other similar examples.

FOUR RABBIS SERVING WITH CANADIAN EXPEDITIONARY FORCE

For the first time in history four rabbis are serving with a Canadian expeditionary force, while four other rabbis are in the Canadian Chaplain Services in the dominion, according to the current issue of "Jews in Uniform" which has just been published here by the War Efforts Committee of the Canadian Jewish Congress.

This publication which is the only one of its kind in the world also reports that thirty-five Canadian Jews, who are serving in the army, navy, and air force, have been decorated or mentioned in dispatches since the outbreak of the war. Other features are news about Jewish men on various war fronts with the Canadian Forces and a lengthy casualty list. The total number of Jewish casualties in this war has reached three hundred and thirteen.

THE CARE OF THE FUTURE LAYERS

(Experimental Farms News)

In August and September the spring hatched pullets lay their first eggs. This transitory period in the life of the future layers may have an influence on the winter laying if certain precautions are not taken. The feeding, health, and culling are always important considerations, but especially at this time.

When the pullets are on the range they find in addition to the feeds served in the hoppers, that pasture grass contains necessary elements for their growth. If the grass hardens or goes to seed, it should be cut immediately. An ideal sod for range should never be more than four or five inches long.

Mashes too rich in protein at this time of the year would hasten too much the sexual maturity to the prejudice of the physical development. The onset of the laying or the sexual maturity should never happen before the normal weight of 4 to 4½ lb. for Leghorns and 5 to 5½ lb. for Plymouth Rocks. If the pullets lay before that time, the production will not keep up as long as it should and the moult will be premature.

If the growth of the pullets is not uniform, it is advisable to separate the bigger ones from those which are not so highly developed. Each time the birds are shifted the stunted ones should be disposed of.

THE UNDERGROUND PRESS

LONDON—Ten European countries are represented in the Underground Press Exhibition sponsored by the Printing Trades Federation at the Scottish Corporation Hall in Fetter Lane, London. The most astonishing fact that emerges is that 112 daily papers are published on the continent by staffs all the time in peril of their lives. In addition there are numerous news-letters and fly-sheets.

BOVINE TUBERCULOSIS—

AT A RECENT MEETING of the M.D. of Beaver Council it was decided to endeavor to make the M.D. of Beaver a Bovine Tubercular Restricted Area. Each councillor is given the responsibility of creating interest and getting petitions signed within his own division. This is no easy task and much educational work will need to be done before the signatures of two-thirds of the herd owners within the district are obtained. What is really required is the co-operative assistance of about 20 men in each division who believe wholeheartedly in the restricted area plan.

The subject has been under consideration in the area which is now M.D. of Beaver divisions four and five for several years. Petitions were actually circulated and signed but with the coming of the war in 1939 the matter was just dropped. At the time interest was keen in this project, the Mercury published details concerning the scheme and we are repeating these now.

There is little doubt but what a tubercular restricted area is a good thing for any district after the initial stages of organization. No person desires to distribute tubercular germs with his product and unfortunately this is an ever present danger when milk is shipped from untested animals. Particularly when milk is consumed in the raw state is the danger greatest, thus the farmer's own home is the one most exposed. The M.D. of Beaver is now surrounded by bovine tubercular restricted areas, so if sufficient cattle owners sign the petitions now being circulated, it would simply mean that the residents of M.D. of Beaver were stepping into line with neighboring municipal districts.

As previously mentioned, getting the signatures of two thirds of the cattle owners over an area as large as the M.D. of Beaver is no easy task. Each man before he signs should be convinced that it is a good thing for the municipality to which he is placing his name. Some kind of contact and discussion between cattle owners so as to engender enthusiasm or at least beneficial recognition of the plan should take place. It might be a good idea for the M.D. council to appoint one good speaker for each division, he to hold meetings in every school house. Petitions could be signed and the information required regarding the number of cattle could be obtained from those present at the meetings.

Anyway the newspapers published within the M.D. are doing their part in spreading information regarding the tubercular restricted area plan so that all may be properly informed and act accordingly.

THE DAWN OF VICTORY—

IT IS MANY WEARY days and nights since September 3rd, 1939, when with bated breath the world waited for a reply to the British and French ultimatums to Germany. When none came and we realized that once again we were at war with a powerful, well prepared and well armed foe, there was no hysterical outburst, but rather a grim determination to see the miserable thing through. As each week, each month, each year passed, taking terrible events into history with it, this grim determination never left the British and Canadian people and whatever the fortunes of war at any given time were (and at times they were very bad) the British and Canadian peoples never relaxed the grim determination to, as it were, wade through the slough of hidden terror to the distant hills of hope. That their sacrifice, fortitude and bravery have stood them in good stead is now quite evident. The dawn of the day when sanity would replace terrorism, seemingly so far off, has actually commenced to dawn. Through the mental and physical labor of many men of different nations, victory for the cause of freedom seems assured. The many days of waiting and nights of terror are past and immediately before those Europeans whose sufferings have been great there shines the light of Victory.

The following verses written by Alex Robson of Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, are very beautiful and timely. The Comox District Free Press of Courtney, Vancouver Island, had the honor of first publishing this poem.

THE DAWN OF HOPE
TO 1944

The new dawn breaks and from her smiling eyes,
Stretch beams of hope o'er many tragic skies:
O'er frozen steppes, o'er burning sands and sea,
O'er jungle swamps and dread captivity,
She breaks in beams with ever growing length,
To gladden hearts and crown our growing strength.
She strikes relief on clouds which now display,
A silver line to mark a happier day;
Till with her birth new faith, new hopes abide
And eager hearts cling closer to her side.
And so to you, whose secret is the might
Of Him who gave us faith, and you the light,
We pray your smiles may profit us and be,
The light we seek . . . the dawn of VICTORY.

This is the true nature of home—it is the place of Peace: the shelter, not only from all injury, but from all terror, doubt, and division. —John Ruskin.

EATING BY THE ACRE

Lionel Barrymore, actor, remarked one day at a luncheon: "I like farm humor. It is so courageous. Farmers, you know, needs lots of courage. An old, white-whiskered farmer was talking in the general store one day about a crop failure.

"'Yes,' he said, 'our corn crop sure did fail us back in 1873.' Then he gave a chuckle and went on. 'Why, one hot day in '73, we had corn for dinner and dad ate 19 acres of it.'" —Wheat Pool Budget.

WHAT'S AHEAD FOR WHEAT

In an address to the annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association held in Winnipeg in the middle of August, J. S. Davis, director of the Food Research Institute of Stanford University, expressed some opinions regarding the future of wheat. He said:

"Even if German resistance crumbles tomorrow and Shanghai interposes offer no obstacle, total wheat shipments to Great Britain, continental Europe and Soviet Russia in the year ahead will not exceed 600 million bushels. It will be surprising if world exports in 1944-45 (exclusive of United States imports from Canada) reach 750 million bushels.

"This whole amount could, if necessary, be spared from the carry-overs in North America, Argentina, and Australia without drawing at all on the big new crops. The end of hostilities in Europe seems certain to find large wheat exporting countries holding large surpluses. They are here now. Only their size is in question. Let's keep out of the fool's paradise of denying their existence and address ourselves in time to the important question of how best to deal with them." —Wheat Pool Budget.

DONALD GORDON TALKS SUPPLY

Ottawa, Sept. 5— "So that sufficient supplies can be sent to our fighting forces, Canadians, at home can expect "temporary shortages in all sorts of things", Donald Gordon, WPTB Chairman, stated in a nation-wide discussion of civilian supplies.

He urged that civilian buying be kept to a minimum, and also praised co-operation of the public, saying, "Price control has worked in Canada because the people have wanted it to work."

Mr. Gordon candidly pointed out how war requirements have limited civilian production. Referring to metals he showed why major civilian requirements such as farm machinery have been limited. Household appliances, washing machines, and refrigerators have been restricted, as well as the small items such as bobby pins and safety pins.

He described the food position as encouraging, due to the magnificent job of Canada's farmers in stepping up production.

He did not anticipate resumption of meat rationing, or that clothes rationing would have to be introduced in Canada.

Referring to clothing, Mr. Gordon discussed textiles, and their uses for wartime uniforms, parachutes and other needs. Suppy of textiles has been limited since early Allied losses to Japan and in addition available labour for manufacture has decreased. "The supply of some garments is not and cannot be adequate to meet all demands, but no one will suffer", Mr. Gordon stated. In comparison, he referred to countries where civilians have suffered ravages of war, both economic and physical.

Mr. Gordon said "The fact that Canadian economy has fared as well as it has under the crippling effect of a tremendous war diversion of goods and services is due to the farmer, the manufacturer, the importer, the wholesalers, retailers, the business men and the worker."

The Chairman's speech launched a campaign in which the Board will tell the supply position of various essential commodities.

ORDER YOUR COAL NOW

An appeal has been issued by the Dominion Government urging that orders for coal be placed early. Conditions are such that it will be impossible to satisfy the demand if orders are neglected until the cold weather arrives.

Farmers are advised not to delay until cool weather gives warning of winter ahead, but to act now and place orders with their dealers when next in town.

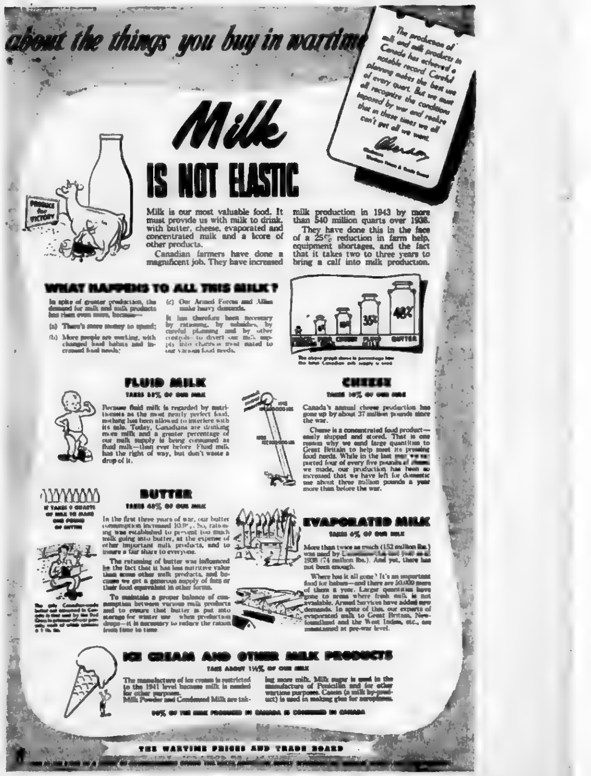
NO LICENSE REQUIRED FOR OPERATION OF A THRESHING MACHINE IN ALBERTA

Threshermen in this province are again reminded that it is not now necessary to apply for a threshers' license before commencing operations.

In March of this year The Threshers' Lien Act was amended, and although protection of threshers by threshers' lien still remains in effect, it is no longer necessary to obtain a permit for operation of a threshing machine in Alberta.



about the things you buy in wartime

The production of milk and milk products in Canada has achieved a notable record. Careful planning makes the best use of every quart. But we must all recognize the conditions imposed by war and realize that in these times we all can't get all we want.

Milk IS NOT ELASTIC

Milk is our most valuable food. It must provide us with milk to drink, with butter, cheese, evaporated and concentrated milk and a score of other products.

Canadian farmers have done a magnificent job. They have increased milk production in 1943 by more than 540 million quarts over 1938.

They have done this in the face of a 25% reduction in farm help, equipment shortages, and the fact that it takes two to three years to bring a calf into milk production.

WHAT HAPPENS TO ALL THIS MILK?

In spite of greater production, the demand for milk and milk products has risen even more, because—

(a) There's more money to spend;

(b) More people are working, with changed food habits and increased food needs;

(c) Our Armed Forces and Allies make heavy demands.

It has therefore been necessary by rationing, by subsidies, by careful planning and by other controls to divert our milk supply into channels most suited to our various food needs.

The above graph shows in percentages how the latest Canadian milk supply is used.

FLUID MILK
TAKES 31% OF OUR MILK

Because fluid milk is regarded by nutritionists as the most nearly perfect food, nothing has been allowed to interfere with its sale. Today, Canadians are drinking more milk and a greater percentage of our milk supply is being consumed as fluid milk—than ever before. Fluid milk has the right of way, but don't waste a drop of it.

CHEESE

Canada's annual cheese production has gone up by about 37 million pounds since the war.

Cheese is a concentrated food product—easily shipped and stored. That is one reason why we send large quantities to Great Britain to help meet its pressing food needs. While in the last year we exported four of every five pounds of cheese we made, our production has been so increased that we have left for domestic use about three million pounds a year more than before the war.

BUTTER
TAKES 48% OF OUR MILK

IT TAKES 9 QUARTS OF MILK TO MAKE ONE POUND OF BUTTER

In the first three years of war, our butter consumption increased 10.9%. So, rationing was established to prevent too much milk going into butter, at the expense of other important milk products, and to insure a fair share to everyone.

The rationing of butter was influenced by the fact that it has less nutritive value than some other milk products, and because we get a generous supply of fats or their food equivalent in other forms.

To maintain a proper balance of consumption between various milk products and to ensure that butter is put into storage for winter use when production drops—it is necessary to reduce the ration from time to time.

[illegible]

EVAPORATED MILK
TAKES 6% OF OUR MILK

More than twice as much (152 million lbs.) was used by [illegible] in 1943 as in 1938 (74 million lbs.). And yet, there has not been enough.

Where has it all gone? It's an important food for babies—and there are 50,000 more of them a year. Larger quantities have gone to areas where fresh milk is not available. Armed Services have added new demands. In spite of this, our exports of evaporated milk to Great Britain, Newfoundland and the West Indies, etc., are maintained at pre-war level.

ICE CREAM AND OTHER MILK PRODUCTS
TAKE ABOUT 1½% OF OUR MILK

The manufacture of ice cream is restricted to the 1941 level because milk is needed for other purposes.

Milk Powder and Condensed Milk are taking more milk. Milk sugar is used in the manufacture of Penicillin and for other wartime purposes. Casein (a milk by-product) is used in making glue for aeroplanes.

Book Review

Pioneer Days in Bardo, Alberta, by Ragna Steen and Magda Hendrickson, published by the Dahl Co. Ltd. Winnipeg, Man., can be secured from Martin Hagen, Tofield, Alberta, Rudolph Johnson, La Glace, Alberta, or Augsburg Publishing House. Price [illegible]

Several years of painstaking work is reflected in the pages of this book. It is said to be the first book of its kind in a Norwegian settlement in Canada. There are priceless records. We commend the two women for their persistent determination in accomplishing this difficult task.

Fifty years ago, the adventurous spirit so prominent in our forbearers brought the first settlers into Bardo district. The first chapter, "Canada Calls" is a splendid record of historical value. Much research work was necessary to write this compact record beginning with the year 1893.

One can almost sense the feeling of expectancy in the hearts of the pioneers when they left friends and relatives to come to the "Wilderness of Canada". Led on by the glowing accounts of the first "land-seekers", one can almost sense too, the feeling of disillusionment when the newcomers first saw the trackless wilderness and when swarms of mosquitoes helped to shatter the picture of this promised land. The endless water sloughs would also have a depressing effect. But the discouragement and disillusionment was only temporary. Beyond this trackless wilderness they dreamed of the comfortable homes that have now become a reality.

"Summer and Fall Of 1894" tells of the beginning of the Bardo settlement that this year celebrated its Golden Jubilee, August 9. It is good to read the chapter, "The First Christmas Celebration", since it reveals that the pioneers began building for eternity through their beloved Lutheran Church. Having served the Bardo Congregation we know something of the hallowed tradition when the new generation sings: "Nu er Julen Kommen" and "Jeg Er Saa Glad Hver Julekveld". One can almost see a man, whom we have never seen, the little deaf old man with the ear trumpet, the first Lutheran pastor, Bersvend Anderson, as he breaks the bread of life in the pioneer log house that first Christmas. One appreciates the preserved record of this soldier of the Cross in the chapter entitled "Bersvend Anderson". He began preaching at the age of sixteen and continued until near the time of his death at the age of 96 years. Another pastor who played an important part and who is mentioned in this book is the man, soon fifty years a pastor, the Rev. R. E. Finlay of the United Church of Canada.

One chapter deals with the trek to Grande Prairie under the intrepid leadership of the Missionary pastor, Dr. H. N. Ronning. Space would fail us to tell of the contents of the other chapters—"Congregation Organized", "Prairie Fires", "Home Making", "The Story of the Church", not to forget "Rainy Years" and "Experiences."

Poignant is the paragraph in the chapter, "Our Pioneer Mothers", relating the death of Mrs. Peter Jevning's baby. "There was no undertaker—like many another pioneer mother confronted by this tragic task, she used her treasured bridal wreath to make the laying away of this dear one as beautiful as means would permit."

Buy the book and read it. It is a good book. It is not a perfect book. One could have wished for a better and more attractive binding. However, between the covers of this publication we find the saga of pioneer life. We note the Traces of the nail scarred hand of the Saviour guiding the destiny of these brave men and women. We are glad that this book (as does the spire of the Bardo church) point to One who can bring visions of heaven even in a trackless wilderness.

—Albert M. Vinge, Minister.

SNAPSHOTS RAISE MORALE

LONDON—Servicemen like to have pictures of their families in familiar home surroundings rather than against the formal studio background. Every branch of the Y.M.C.A., in base towns or even mobile canteens, is acting as an order office to supply such pictures. The men make their applications, which are forwarded to London headquarters. Then a corps of 1,500 amateur photographers go into action. They are volunteers who joined this scheme and who, in their spare time, visit the homes of servicemen to take snapshots. Even General Montgomery has taken advantage of the plan. One of the amateur photographers visited his son's school and, at Montgomery's request, forwarded the latest snapshot of the boy.

LINE ELEVATORS PROTEST BARLEY EXPORT RULING

Protest has been lodged with the government by the Line Elevator companies against an order of the Feeds Administrator prohibiting export of barley below grade 3 C.W., in a wire forwarded to Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, by R. E. Emerson, President of The North-West Line Elevators Association. It is contended that the order is detrimental to western farmers as the order will result in farmers being denied the opportunity of obtaining the premium procurable for malting barley.

Following is the wire sent to Mr. Gardiner

"Recent orders of Feeds Administrator prohibiting exportation of barley below grade 3 C.W. for export is extremely detrimental to producers' interests. Weather over west last few days has been very wet and will lower barley grades. Malting types which ordinarily would qualify for top grades will now be lowered but shippers will still select these types for malting purposes with payment of malting premium. To prohibit the export of these types denies the producer the opportunity for malting premium. Surely there are plenty of feed supplies in Canada without penalizing barley producers. We recommend Feeds Administrator be requested to reconsider his decision and govern his actions by developments after feed grains commence to move in volume."

AVOID WEED FLAVOURS ON MILK AND CREAM THIS FALL

Weed flavours on milk and cream are troublesome most of the year, but this problem is accentuated in the spring and fall seasons when pastures are not at their best.

One of the most disagreeable weedy flavours is caused by stinkweed. This weed, being a winter annual, makes rapid growth on summer fallow early in the fall, especially when cultivation is relaxed due to harvesting operations, and is consumed by cows when it is at the tender stage. Another source of stinkweed flavour is screenings at threshing settings which contain stinkweed seeds. The chemical substance causing the distinctive flavour of stinkweed is highly concentrated in these seeds.

Weed flavours, particularly stinkweed flavour, are very undesirable in fluid milk and its manufactured products, cheese and butter. Consequently milk tainted with this flavour is returned to the producer. When stinkweed cream is churned into butter, the flavour of the butter is very disagreeable and the market for it is limited. Therefore, the returns for this type of cream are at least 12 cents below the price paid for Special Grade cream.

Dairy producers can increase their revenue, and at the same time help Canada's war effort by adopting the following methods outlined by D. H. McCallum, Dairy Commissioner for Alberta.

1. Wherever possible, keep all milk cows off pastures and fields infested with stinkweed.
2. Remove or burn all screenings from around threshing machine settings before allowing milk cows to pasture in such fields
3. Remove cows from stinkweed infested fields at least three or four hours before milking. The longer the interval, the less possibility of tainted milk.
4. Milk each cow into an empty pail and determine by taste and smell which cows are producing tainted milk, this milk can be separated by itself or used for feeding live stock on the farm.
5. Carefully check and test the flavour of cream from each individual separation before adding to the shipping can. Market the tainted cream separately.

SHEEP TO INCREASE FARM INCOME

(Experimental Farms News)

The feed required to keep one cow is sufficient for a half dozen sheep. For a considerable part of the year sheep require no grain. The returns for wool come at midsummer when there are often few sources of revenue. The wool returns usually cover the cost of feed for the year, leaving the lamb crop to cover the cost of labor, fencing and other incidentals. Under normal conditions, a reasonable profit is received, says E. Van Nice, Dominion Experimental Station, Scott, Sask.

In wartime, a great profit can be expected. Lambs develop during the summer when feed costs are lowest and can often be sold to advantage in the fall without grain feeding. Tests at the Scott Station indicate that lambs weaned on rape pasture do fully as well as when grain fed. Only the breeding flock need to be carried through the winter and an inexpensive shelter is adequate, such as an open shed with plenty of ventilation. Closed buildings are not satisfactory for sheep.

Aside from shearing and lambing time, sheep require very little labor in proportion to other kinds of live stock. They are particularly valuable in weed control as they readily eat most kinds of weeds and no weed seeds will grow after passing through the digestive system of a sheep.

An important factor to success with sheep is the attitudes or likes of the attendant. Breeders who like sheep find them able to pay their way and return a profit but the sincere interest of the attendant seems to influence profits more than with other kinds of stock.

Special Wartime pamphlet No. 71 on Breeding, Feeding and Housing of Sheep and other literature concerning sheep may be had upon request to the nearest Dominion Experimental Station.

Herd Law In M.D. Of Beaver In Force October 15th

In regular session at the district's office at Ryley on Friday last, M.D. of Beaver Council decided to give the herd by-law its third reading and to make October 15th the date the by-law becomes effective.

There were present at the meeting, Reeve Anderson; Councillors Giebelhaus, Lucas, Moen, Ovens and Swabey.

This meeting was a comparitively short one, commencing at one o'clock and the adjournment coming before six o'clock.

Minutes of previous meeting were read and adopted.

Monthly financial statement was accepted.

A representative of the Black Nugget Coal Co. of Dodds interviewed council regarding some assistance in gravelling a mile of road running east and west between the company's coal mine and loading tipple. It was explained that the company had recently purchased what was known as the Folsom mine and were making extensive improvements. These included the erection of a tipple, the building of a spur railroad line, installation of electric power, etc. They had purchased the adjoining quarter section and after stripping operations were completed they intended to take out the coal by steam shovel and transport it one mile by truck to the tipple where it would be screened and graded and loaded on to railroad cars or trucks. The road over which they intended to transport the coal they intended to gravel and they were asking council if they would consider exempting the company from taxation to help pay for the gravelling. They would also like two culverts for use on the road. Councillor Moen sketched a plan of the road to be gravelled in its relation to the mine, railroad, Dodds and the tipple and after all councillors had understood the nature of the request, the mine representative withdrew.

After some discussion it was decided that the M.D. could not assist by the exemption of taxes in the gravelling of any particular piece of road, but that they would be pleased to supply the two culverts requested. This was covered by a motion by Councillor Swabey.

A communication was received regarding the purchase of a new adding machine. The secretary said they now had two, one brought in from Cornhill and one acquired from Beaver Lake. The Beaver Lake one was quite old and was hand operated, the Cornhill one was more modern and electrically operated. They could profitably use another modern adding machine in the office.

On the motion of Councillor Ovens it was decided that question regarding the purchase of a new adding machine be left to the Reeve and Secretary.

A petition regarding the proposed herd law was presented. There were quite a few names but many of these were not accompanied by the location of the land occupied. The petition called for the non application of the proposed herd law in a certain area. Council did not wish to have two sets of regulations within the M.D. and the request of the petition was not granted.

On the motion of Councillor Ovens the third reading of the herd by-law was given and by unanimous vote the date set for it to come into force was October 15th.

Councillor Lucas described a pound incident within his division which was ultimately satisfactorily settled.

Mrs. Olive Willans wrote requesting soldiers' tax exemption on some Bruce lots. It was announced that Mrs. Willans already enjoyed soldiers' tax exemption for a farm and that it was not possible to grant exemption on two places.

Casten Berg and Sidney Matson applied for soldiers' tax exemption. Both applications were granted.

The hospital accounts were checked and passed.

Mention was made of weeds growing on the roadsides. In discussion it was brought out that some places in the States charge a $10.00 tax against the land, the $10.00 being refunded if the land owner keeps his road side cut down. It was explained weedy roadsides add to snow accumulation on roads.

On the motion of Councillor Ovens a number of bills and accounts were passed.

Three land deals were finished up as far as Council were concerned, all land deals being subject to the approval of the Minister of Municipal Affairs. The third reading was given of by-laws covering the sale of N.E. 3-51-20 to Alex Robson; lots 11 to 13 in Poe to J. W. Reidlinger; and S.W. 16-50-20 to Roy Ferson.

Some enquiry had been made as to whether M.D. purchasers could be made exempt from sales tax and the office was informed only purchases by provincial governments were exempt from sales tax.

The annual convention of the Alberta Municipal Districts Association is scheduled for November 15, 16, 17 at Calgary. Appointment of delegates for M.D. of Beaver was left until next meeting.

Letter from Dept. of Mun. Affairs regarding an assessment appeal. The case, rather an unusual one, involved an appeal against an $850.00 assessment on some buildings situated on acreage close to but not a part of the appellants farm. The ruling was that unless the appellant received his living from the land on which the buildings were located, the assessment was valid.

Some wild land assessments were heard and dealt with.

Reeve Anderson brought up the question as to the method of financially handling large road building units as between divisions. He thought there should be a definite and permanent policy adopted. He was particularly anxious that in every respect the municipality be one unit and not be split up into divisions as regards the ownership of large machinery units. After some discussion Councillor Ovens moved that the Reeve and Councillor Swabey be a committee to formulate a proposition re machinery used in divisions four and five and present this to council at the next meeting. Carried.

Councillor Giebelhaus made a report re Mr. Kunish who is unable to work and recommended an allowance of $7.50 per month. This was agreed to.

A granary and platform was sold to Councillor Lucas.

Meeting adjourned until October 13th at 10 a.m.

Coal Mine At Dodds Making Big Improvements

Through the courtesy of Mr. A. B. Weber of near Dodds, a Mercury representative was enabled to visit the new coal mine at Dodds. Actually it is not exactly a new mine, being an enlarged development of the Folsom mine. The Black Nugget Coal Company of Calgary purchased the former Folsom mine quarter section and also the adjoining quarter section and are now busy improving the property prior to the coming coal season.

The Paget contracting Company of Calgary is stripping 100,000 yards of earth off of the coal seam which lies about eight feet below the surface. They are using two and three turnpulls which pick up as much as 21 yards of earth at a time. There is a caterpillar booster which keep running up behind each outfit in tough spots. They are finishing up their contract now.

The coal will be loaded on to motor trucks by steam shovel and transported about one mile west where the Company has brought in a spur railroad line. Here they have erected a tipple 32 feet high and were installing grading equipment at the top of the tipple last Saturday. The tipple has a 10 per cent grade in and a seven per cent grade out. In addition to bringing in the spur line the Company has also brought in Calgary Power from a point three and a half miles distant, they have installed or are about to instal three large transformers which will cut down the high voltage on the line to that required by their appliances. Most of the coal will go to the top of the ramp in trucks where it will be unloaded into bins. Some however will be carried up by carrier belt electrically driven.

The company intends to market five sizes of coal, namely, lump, stove, nut, stoker and slack. They intend to erect a modern garage to hold six trucks, and attached to the garage will be a modern machine shop with a welder. The amount of capital invested will run in the neighborhood of $80,000.

Mr. Miles, who stopped endeavoring to line up some heavy machinery at the top of the tipple to give us the above information, seemed quite capable of taking running in the spur, building the tipple, installing the graders, bringing in power, all in his stride and as ordinary events. The big feature to him was that a trucker could load coal without touching a shovel, which when you come to consider, it has its advantageous features.

McKENZIE

Renewing acquaintances in the neighborhood over the week end was Jim Campbell of the RCAF, former school teacher here, who has returned to Canada after spending three years overseas. With him were his wife and two and a half year old son Jimmie. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. Walker and Mr. and Mrs. A. Steen

Our deepest sympathy is extended to the Bailey families in their recent bereavement.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Walker made a trip to Edmonton over a week ago to take Mrs. Walker sr. to a nursing home, where she will remain for a short while.

Freddie Jacobsen spent a short vacation at his home recently.

School will re-open this term with Mr. L. Olsen as Senior Room teacher and Miss Pauline Walker as Junior Room teacher

Perfect weather has permitted the completion of harvesting operations on many farms in this district. Here's hoping the sun will remain shining so that threshing may be completed as rapidly.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Haukedahl, Corrine and Enla, Margaret and Bernice Fenton, and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Moen were visitors at the Jacobson home on Sunday.

TAKE $1,000,000 IN GASOLINE TAX

Nearly $1,000,000 was collected by the provincial government in gasoline tax for the first three months of the present fiscal year, ended June 30, according to information received by the Alberta Motor Association.

This total was $142,000 more than what was received from this source in the similar period of the previous year.

The increased yield from the gasoline tax, coupled with the fact that passenger car registrations showed an increase of $112,000, has intensified the A.M.A.'s demands for lower motor licenses and the allocating of all motor revenues to highway construction and maintenance purposes.

It is pointed out that Alberta should be preparing now for the tourist traffic demands of the post-war period. Now is the time to make necessary improvements to the highway system, bringing it to a standard that will meet the requirements of a heavy increase in holiday motor traffic.

MORE ABOUT PERENNIAL WHEAT

Time Magazine gives more information about Nikolay Tsitsin, a 46 year-old Russian cerealist, who, it is claimed, has perfected a perennial self-sowing wheat. This strain is a cross between wheat and couch grass and is said to be rust-proof and drought-resistant, grows summer or winter, pollenizes itself and has a gluten content equal to that of the best annual wheat. It is known as No. 34085, and experimental plantings have yielded two crops (totalling about 60 bushels to the acre) a year. Its defects are: the grain is wrinkled and hard to mill and is not as resistant to frost as its discoverer would like.

The Soviet government provides Tsitsin with $15 million a year for large-scale studies in grain economics for non-fertile soil. The objective is to open to cultivation 150 million acres of hitherto untillable Soviet land. Tsitsin's dream is to cross wheat or some other glutinous grain with rye and produce a super grain which would revolutionize the world's bread and cereal economy. He says: "The battle between wheat and rye in my laboratories is one of the most momentous in the world."

The Homesteader

Still nearer to the sunset rim
He built his cabin in the wild,
And nature's gardens challeng'd him,
The heartsome morn, the evening mild.

The rose and prairie mingled far
To shadows of the kindly grove,
Nights vesture wierd could not debar
The vision of his distant love.

Her memory cheer'd the moonlight pale,
And brightened labor's rugged way,
His step was lighter on the trail,
The song was sweeter from the spray.

Till years and struggles brought their prize
When he who wrestled with the sod
Saw neath the pleasant autumn skies
Full harvest and the Hand of God.

SYMPTOMS AND LESIONS OF HEMORRHAGIC SEPTICEMIA

Hemmorhagic Septicemia in cattle usually develops very rapidly and lasts from 2 to 8 days or longer. Affected animals first show an elevation of body temperature, ranging from 104 degrees to 107 degrees F., accompanied by loss of appetite, mucopurulent discharge from the nose, an occasional hacking cough, swollen, watery eyes, general depression, gaunt appearance, stiffened gait, and sometimes diarrhea. Within 3 to 5 days after the first symptoms appear, affected animals may develop pneumonia and die in 48 to 72 hours; or the disease may assume a chronic course and the sick animals may linger on for several weeks. In mild attacks, affected animals may recover in a week or two.

During the course of the disease other symptoms may occur. Swelling may appear beneath the skin of the head, throat, or dewlap. These enlargements are somewhat soft and pit on pressure. The tongue is often extensively swollen, and the animal drools and slobbers because of the irritation of its tongue and throat. There may be difficulty in breathing, depending on the degree of involvement of the air passages and the lungs. Muscular trembling may be evident. There may be a blood-stained discharge from the nostrils, and strings of mucus may hang from the mouth. Examination of the nostrils often reveals the presence of many small hemorrhages, or blood spots, just beneath their lining membranes.

There is an intestinal form of the disease in which the changes are found chiefly in the abdominal cavity. This form may develop after the disease has appeared in the lungs. The stomach, intestines, and kidneys and the lymph glands belonging to them become studded with hemorrhages of various sizes, and the intestines become intensely inflamed. Diarrhea sets in, and shreds of mucus and bloody droppings are passed. The intestinal form is rare, most cases show severe involvement of the lungs and the symptoms of croupous pneumonia. The animals may stand with their forelegs wide apart in order to breathe more freely. They lose flesh very rapidly, [illegible] become "tucked up," and the eyes quickly become sunken. A staggering gait, caused by extreme weakness, is sometimes noticed.

On post mortem examination the following anatomical changes may be observed in the carcass of an animal dead of hemorrhagic septicemia: Swellings of doughy consistency, containing jellylike material tinged with blood, may be found under the skin. If these swellings occur in the region of the shoulder of flank, they are sometimes mistaken for those of blackleg. The lymph glands are enlarged and hemorrhagic (injected with blood), the mucous membranes lining the nose, throat, and air passages of the lungs are inflamed and may contain blood-stained mucus. Hemorrhages may be observed in the fat tissue around the kidneys and in the serous membranes of the internal organs.

When the disease is chiefly in the chest, the lungs are darkened in color, and their fibrous tissues are much thickened owing to the collection of bloody serum in their meshes. There may be solidification of one or more lobes (pneumonia). The diaphram, heart sac, and heart walls show numerous bloody points and larger collections of blood.

District Agriculturist.

TWINE PRICES ARE A SAVING

By maintaining binder twine prices at the 1940 level, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has saved farmers thousands of dollars. The wholesale price of binder twine rose to 25 cents per pound during the last war, but it has been kept steady at nine cents per pound during this war.

The Prices Board has limited the use of the twine to the binding of agricultural crops only.

Guard Butter, Sugar Supply

The sugar-butter situation in Canada is not alarming but bears careful watching, O. W. Rodomar, Deputy Ration Administrator pointed out in a recent interview here. There is no danger of an immediate cut in the sugar ration, Mr. Rodomar stated.

Urging butter conservation, he explained that Canada is endeavouring to maintain her foreign commitments in addition to supplying the increasing home market. Possible future diversion of butter and other milk products to UNNRA all indicate that available [illegible] be carefully watched, he said.

Mr. Rodomar [illegible] tribute to the great contribution to the war effort of Canada's 613 Local Ration Boards. These Boards will again take on distribution of Ration Book 5 between October 14 and 21.

He praised the attitude of the Canadian public to rationing, along with other wartime restrictions, and mentioned that Canada's rationing system had also won approval of other countries.

about the things you buy in wartime

When you go to a store to buy and can't get the things you want, remember that war upsets the whole machinery of production and supply. This is true not only in Canada but throughout the whole world.

As Canada is devoting over half her production to making things for war it is inevitable that civilian supply must be reduced.

We just can't produce all the things required to fill the greatly increased civilian demands, but production efforts are being directed to see that the best use is made of materials and labour that are available for the production of civilian goods.

Remember these facts when you have difficulties in your shopping.

Chairman, Wartime Prices & Trade Board

THE STORY OF CHILDREN'S UNDERWEAR

OBVIOUSLY babies and children must have underwear. So—the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has given special attention to the production of these garments.

The problem has not been so much one of a lack of raw materials, but of getting the raw materials (wool, cotton, rayon), spun into yarns—and then knit into garments. Canada has never produced all the wool, cotton and rayon yarn she requires. We have always had to get a substantial part of our requirements from other countries, even in peacetime. But since the war, there has been an acute shortage of underwear yarns everywhere.

There has been a greatly increased demand in addition to production difficulties. The efforts of the Board to meet the problem are given below.

THE INCREASED DEMAND RESULTED FROM—

More babies . . . It's apparently always the way in wartime.

Reduced use of second-hand or "hand-me-down" garments.

Extra buying . . . Perhaps too many people wanted to be "on the safe side."

Increased consumer buying . . . More people with more money.

Less home sewing . . . Mothers have been working outside the home.

Huge demand for underwear by Armed Forces.

MORE UNDERWEAR: but still not enough!

The reason is that it just has not been possible to produce with the skilled workers and machines available to the United Nations enough yarn and garments to meet the increased demands all over the world.

WHAT HAS BEEN DONE ABOUT IT

✓First of all the Board found out the kind and quantity of garments Canadian children must have.

✓This showed that the public is asking for more than is actually needed.

✓So plans were made to see, by directing production all down the line, if we could meet the swollen demand as nearly as possible.

✓Each manufacturer was told to produce an increased number of garments.

✓A constant check is kept on mills to see that they are producing the required number.

✓Manufacturers not previously making children's underwear were induced to go into its production. An additional 600,000 garments will be provided this year from these sources.

✓Negotiations were conducted with production authorities in other countries for supplies of yarn to Canadian knitters for use in children's underwear.

✓Primary cotton mills were required to divert spinning facilities from fabric manufacture to the spinning of underwear yarns.

✓Arrangements were made through National Selective Service to direct more labour to the underwear [illegible]

✓A special campaign was launched to enlist parttime workers.

✓Distribution to retail stores was organized to ensure equitable supply to [illegible]

The greatly increased supply of children's underwear resulting from these efforts is shown by the relative sizes of the figures below.

COMPLETE VICTORY SOON?—

CERTAINLY ALL STATESMEN, high ranking military, navy and air personnel, together with all writers, magazines and newspapers, cannot be wrong. Victory in Europe at least, is in the air and with it intense relief for millions of people including those within Germany itself. Current newspaper reports are to the effect that at least 25 separate armies or columns are now marching on and directed toward Germany. Some of these are actually inside the borders of Germany while others are crashing the gates, while others are much farther away. But the fact is now quite clear, even if Germany does make a last ditch stand, it cannot last very long. It does not seem possible that with superior equipped armies converging on her capital both from the east, from the west and from the south, Germany can carry the campaign through another winter. Therefore victory over Germany at the worst is but a matter of months and could easily be a matter of weeks.

So much attention has, during 1944, been directed first to D day in Europe and now to V day in Europe, that much of the importance of the Japanese problem has been overlooked by the average Canadian citizen. Many of us have been so engrossed and so thrilled with the wonderful success and speed of Allied armies in France that we have failed to notice the importance of events occuring on the other side of the world. Many of these events have been in our favor, particularly those connected with island, air and sea warfare. Other events such as the onward march of Japanese armies in China have not been in our favor, and while no doubt eventually Japan will be forced to retreat to her own home islands, for the present at least the Japanese armies in China present a problem to the allied cause. How long it will take to bring defeat to Japan and bring about a global peace as well as an European peace, is purely a matter of conjecture. Barring some incredible event, Japan is beaten right now. Superior forces are being lined up against her in such strength that Japan's hope of Asiatic conquest is doomed. The only question is by what method she will be defeated, whether by bloody pitched battles in China or slow strangulation by air and sea forces. The coming Pacific campaign can now be viewed in the light of time versus sacrifice. If the allies transport soldiers running into millions into China and in a series of costly pitched battles, knock out and defeat the Japanese army, it is possible the Asiatic war may be over within a year, but if the Allies choose to conserve their men and literally squeeze by methods of blockade and attrition the Japanese home islands, the end would come slower.

The only thing we know at present is that the preliminary moves to either one or the other of these plans are now underway. The United States forces are now, if present bombing is any guide, planning to re-occupy the Phillipines. When they do it will give them a base from which attacks may be made upon the Malay peninsula at the tip of which lies Singapore. One does not hear much about Singapore from the British, but the Japanese government may rest assured that as soon as the European fracas is over, some attention is going to be given to Singapore.

So the question of an Asiatic peace is whether it will come quickly or be long delayed. And this question hinges on the method by which the Allied commanders choose to bring about victory.

BINDERS—

THERE ARE A LOT of binders in use in Alberta and no small a number could be found within the M.D. of Beaver. It would be quite easy to go into raptures about "the song of the binder" and no doubt one would be quite justified in doing so for there are few sights more significant of power, peace and plenty than to see four or six good horses stepping right along, cutting a field of ripe grain. Tractors and combines have their place but as yet they are too young to have romance.

This morning's mail brought to us a one hundred page booklet "Binder and Knotter Troubles", by J. MacGregor Smith, Department of Agricultural Engineering, University of Alberta, and a quick perusal of the book leads one to believe that within the frame work of the binder, there is much mechanism. And it is not unlikely that on many occasions in the midst of harvest, the "song of the binder" has been changed to "the wail of its owner" when some piece of mechanism failed to function. The booklet mentioned is very complete and any farmer would find within its covers much valuable information.

Just after a new tax assessor had taken office, a citizen of a certain municipality was astonished and dismayed by the receipt of a notice that under "personal property" he was taxed $24 as the possessor of one goat.

He visited the new tax assessor and demanded an explanation.

"Why, I had to obey the law," was the calm rejoiner.

"Law? What law?" snapped the man with the tax bill.

"Just this," replied the assessor, pointing to a passage in his law book. "It says right here, 'For all property bounding and abutting on the highway, $12 a front foot"'! —Wall Street Journal.

Service 11 a.m.
S. Cooking Lake 3:00 p.m.
Ministik 8:00 p.m.

The combined service held last Sunday in Ministik Hall of all four points was a most inspiring service. The guest preacher was the Superintendent of Home Missions for Northern Alberta, the Rev. Dr. Thos. Hart. Dr. Hart's subject was "The Conditions of Discipleship." The Ministik choir rendered special music, and a solo "My Task" was beautifully sung by Mr. Harry Fawcett of Edmonton. There was also a baptismal service and the reception of new [illegible]

Mrs. Davenport is now back home after her visit to her daughter in Winnipeg. On her way home she visited friends in Saskatchewan.

The Misses Tetta McLaughlin and Nora and Kathleen Barnes of Edmonton were week-end visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Barnes.

The Junior U.F.A. held a surprise party last week for Keith Williams, home for a few days from the RCAF. The party was held at the Williams' home, and was a most enjoyable gathering. The program included a short meeting and games. Keith has now left for a new posting.

We hear that Mr. and Mrs. Russel Rowland are the proud parents of a new son. Congratulations to you!

Efficient Operation Of Combines

For good results, proper adjustment of the combine is essential, says B. T. Stephanson, Agricultural Engineer. Each crop requires certain machine adjustments. The best way to find what these adjustments are is to study the service manual furnished by the firm making the machine.

Probably the most common cause of grain loss is an overloaded straw rack. If the straw is heavy and it is necessary to cut close to the ground the speed of the machine should be reduced so that grain losses are reduced.

The most common "measuring stick" for good threshing is to examine the heads of grain for kernels still fast in the heads. This is not the proper procedure for determining total grain losses. It will give the cylinder loss but not the other machine losses. The operator in trying to thresh the last kernel out of the head will close down the cylinder so tightly that the straw will be cut up very fine.

This finely broken straw will overload the straw rack and sieves with the resulting loss of grain. The finely broken straw will settle on the sieves and form a heavy mat which will not be lifted up by the wind blast. Thus the grain will not have an opportunity to sift through this mat and will go over the end of the sieve and out of the combine.

The clearance between the cylinder and concaves is a more important adjustment than the cylinder speed. The clearance should be just enough to thresh the grain out of the head and not break the straw up too fine.

Youth Camps And Youth Hostels Combat Juvenile Delinquency

(Contributed)
Evelyn Craw Mathews

In these war years when there has been a 46 per cent increase in all juveniles appearing before the courts of law in Canada, all good citizens should give their warm support to the youth movements which are building nature-loving, law-abiding young Canadians. Money invested in boys and girls attending a good camp yields high returns in character. Inquire about the camps in your district and give them your support.

The Canadian Youth Hostel Association is to be commended by all W.C.T.U. members for its firm stand on the liquor question. There is no drinking at all permitted in the hostels and the house parents are chosen with care. The aim of this movement is to help all, and especially young people, to a greater knowledge, understanding and love of the world and their fellowmen by providing for them Youth Hostels, bicycle trails, foot paths, and assistance on their travels.

We all wish Keith the best of luck and safe return.

DOMINION LIVE STOCK SURVEY SHOWS DECREASE IN SWINE POPULATION

According to a report recently issued by the Agricultural Branch of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, numbers of swine on farms in Canada at June 1st, 1944 were 5 per cent below those of the same date in 1943. In addition a decline of 12 per cent is indicated in numbers of sows to farrow in the fall of this year.

Swine population on farms was maintained or increased in the five Eastern provinces and British Columbia, but declines [illegible] in each of the three Prairie Provinces. The change [illegible] least evident in Alberta where a [illegible] of 2.5 per cent in numbers compared with [illegible] per cent [illegible] Saskatchewan and [illegible] per cent [illegible] Manitoba. The swine population [illegible] Alberta at June 1st, 1944 was 5[illegible] less than at the same date in 1943.

Decreases are noted in all provinces in the number of sows expected to farrow this fall. The least change occurs in Ontario where the reduction will be 4.2 per cent or approximately 8,000 less than in 1943. The most serious reduction is indicated in Manitoba where the number of sows to farrow is reduced from 90,500 in 1943 to 46,000 in 1944, a cut of 52.3 per cent. The picture in Alberta shows a decline of 38 per cent, a reduction from 281,100 in 1943 to 174,300 in 1944. 106,800 fewer [illegible] will produce fall litters in Alberta this year, as compared to a [illegible] of 8,000 in Ontario.

It is pointed out in the report that the relatively small decline in numbers at June 1st will probably not be reflected in commercial marketings, [illegible] percentage of total hog [illegible] being commercial [illegible] are the advantage of government [illegible] It appears likely [illegible] early [illegible] fall farrowed [illegible] below the [illegible] of the [illegible] of 1944.

NEWS OF THE WPTB

The Wartime Prices and Trade Board will as soon as practicable revise and simplify its orders prohibiting and restricting manufacture of civilian products and will immediately revoke a number in the metals field, Donald Gordon, Chairman of the Board announced Monday.

Coincident with the Chairman's statement is the repeal of fourteen Administrator's orders affecting production of metal goods and forty-three orders covering standardization and simplification of production.

The Chairman made it clear that it is not possible to release all wartime controls of the Board, and that manufacture of civilian goods still depends on materials and labour available in excess of essential demand.

War production and essential civilian goods will continue to get prior claim, but there should be no delay in removing regulations which might impede transition from war to peace, Mr. Gordon pointed out.

If, without impeding the war effort, the supply of civilian goods can be increased, pressure on prices can be relieved. Goods returning to the market will be under 1941 basic prices. New goods for which there is no basic period price will sell at levels appropriate to the 1941 prices. Stable prices will assure a "healthy and orderly reconstruction of our peace time economy," the Chairman affirmed.

Mr. Gordon declared that the basic causes of inflation are still with us that there will be keen competition for the first "trickle" of many articles which have been scarce or off the market, backed up by accumulated purchasing power.

He warned of some continued shortages, and urgency of controlled buying. The Chairman stated that it is not the responsibility of the Board to guide industry through the conversion period. Decision of what goods should be produced and their market possibilities rest with enterprise.

Board restrictions were introduced to meet wartime emergencies and should not continue when the emergencies pass, Mr. Gordon repeated. The Board must shoulder responsibility for creating regulations which might prevent civilian production taking up the slack" when war production begins to decline. The Board will maintain responsibility of seeing that distribution of short supply goods is adequate, that distribution is fair and equitable he said.

Retooling and reorganization will take time and meet bottlenecks just as when Canada first converted industry to war the Chairman stated.

He said that for the first time in a war cost of price level has been stabilized, pointing to the rise of 18 per cent in the cost of living during this war as against the 65 percent rise in the same period of the last war. He affirmed the dangers of any relaxing of prices during the post war period, and declared that abandonment of price control at the moment of victory would be a "gross betrayal" of our fighting forces.

The Chairman announced that the policy of the Board is to abandon subsidies when feasible, not to add to them.

Mr. Gordon referred to the period of transition as a task which may provide a greater challenge than the job of organizing for war calling for the imagination, courage and planning of business, labour, agriculture and government.

Prepare Now For The 7th Victory Loan

The over-all objective of the 7th Victory Loan has been set at one billion, three hundred million dollars. This is an increase of one hundred million dollars over the objective of the 6th Loan.

Provincial break-down has not yet been made, however six hundred millions of the total will be required from individual subscriptions and the balance from Payroll savings, Special Names and Armed Services.

The slogan being employed during the 7th Victory Loan Campaign will be "Invest in Victory" with a Bond appeal to "Buy One More Than Before."

During recent conferences of Dominion and Provincial officials of the National War Finance Committee, it was indicated that there is a prevalent feeling that the imminence of an Allied victory would mean the diminishing of Financial requirements in the conduct of the war effort, however, this is far from being a fact. Vast movement of fighting personnel, supplies and equipment, enormous quantities of food, clothing, medical supplies, transportation and the care of peoples in newly occupied territories will require ever increasing finances.

Prime Minister Churchill has pledged responsibility to finish the job in the Pacific when the European situation has been cleaned up. This will require continued support of Victory Loan Campaigns. With victory in sight there must be no let up in our support, in order that peace may be assured at the earliest possible date.

Procedure in the 7th Victory Loan Campaign will follow the pattern of preceding loans however, it is anticipated that there will be a greatly increased number of Bond purchasers in the lower income brackets due to the elimination of the compulsory savings feature of income tax.

LAKESHORE

The Lakeshore War Workers club have not met for over two months and there are several items of business which need to be discussed. It is hoped to call a meeting as soon as roads and weather permits. There are three ditty bags to be filled and it would help greatly if any member not able to attend, would send to the meeting any article that she has to donate, such as: razor blades, tooth brush or powder, hanky, towel, wash cloth, darning wool, needles, game or books, any snacks suitable for lunches, candy, gum, comb, and a knitted article in grey or navy. If any one has any knitting completed or partly done, please let us know so that we can make any necessary purchases. The question of the Christmas parcels for the boys will be before the meeting and the money and the ticket stubs for the blanket draw should be on hand, so the draw can be made. Mrs. Steen kindly offered her home for the meeting which will likely be held the first of next week.

Mobile X-Ray Unit Here In October

Considerable publicity and organization has been done since the free chest x-ray project was announced last June. We are now able to announce that this Mobile X-ray Unit will be in our Health Unit during October beginning on October 6 in Viking. The dates for Holden and Tofield will be given later as arrangements are completed.

Previous articles in this paper have dealt with the importance of this project. Suffice it here only to remind you that the chest x-ray is the only means of detecting Tuberculosis in its early stages, and that it is planned not only to x-ray tuberculosis suspects but all the population twelve years and over within our area. Finding the early cases---the unsuspected cases---and treating these is the only means at our disposal to control the spread of the terrible disease.

The taking of the x-ray film requires but a few seconds and a whole family can be done in less than 15 minutes. If everybody co-operates it will be but a small sacrifice of time on the part of each person; a small sacrifice in comparison to the benefits to be derived by the community.

The Municipal Council is at present sponsoring a Bovine T.B. campaign. We commend this very highly; but is not the discovery of human sufferers worthy of even greater support. How well these two projects may function together in eradicating tuberculosis from this district depends entirely on the active support of every individual.

Since the date falls so soon after the reopening school term, it will be impossible to place the full burden of publicity and organization upon the teachers and pupils. We are therefore appealing to all responsible organizations---Town and Municipal Councils, Local and Divisional School Trustees, Red Cross, I.O.D.E., Women's Institutes, Church Organizations, Clergymen and all others---to assist in publicity and organization. Do not wait for "someone who might do it better." If a committee has not yet been formed in your district, organize one. Otherwise, offer to help the one in existence. Every family has to be canvassed.

Those who have the interest of their family and that of others at heart have never had a better opportunity to express it in deed.

Montgomery did not go into detail.

How Robot Blitz Was Beaten

LONDON, Sept. 7 — Only 29 per cent of the flying bombs which Hitler launched in his terror offensive against England ever reached the London area, the British Government disclosed today in relating the whole spectacular account of how vengeance No. 1 was delayed, mitigated, and finally destroyed.

It is one of the war's biggest stories, this dramatic account of how Britain with the stout assistance of American Air Force and weapons, defeated Hitler's bid to destroy London, derail the invasion and secure at the very least a negotiated peace.

It is a touch and go account beginning as long ago as April 1943, when British intelligence forces learned the Germans were developing some sort of long range bombardment weapon. It runs on through anxious days when the Allied air forces delayed the V-1 launching by months by bombing out of existence the 100 first launching sites erected by the Germans.

The story continues to the final weeks when a combination of ground and air defence and barrage balloons along the southern coast's "bomb alley" was destroying more than 70 per cent of the flying robots which came over.

Without the utmost Allied exertions at the very start, the Nazis would have been able to send their flying bombs crashing over long before D-day. London's ordeal under fire would have been much more crucial and prolonged, and devastation would have been doubled or maybe quadrupled.

It was extremely fortunate that the new gun equipment which took such toll of the flying bombs was available, as it was only in the past few months, indeed, just before the raids began. The only parallel in history is the construction of the iron clad Union ship Monitor in time to fend off the Confederate iron-clad Merrimac in the American War between the States.

HOW EGG POWDER IS MADE FOR BRITAIN

The drying of eggs in Canada for delivery to the British Ministry of Food in the form of powder is an outstanding example of the highly developed methods of sanitation and expert workmanship in the processing of Canadian food products. The work is carried on under the Special Products Board.

The success of Canadian egg powder really begins with the high quality of the fresh eggs used, while the drying plants, of which there are nine at present working under strict supervision of the Board, are models of sanitation. No detail is overlooked. The cases of graded and inspected eggs arriving at the plants must be removed outside the breaking room, and the eggs transferred to sanitary buckets or other suitable containers. From the buckets the eggs are taken direct to the breaking table and broken by girls in white overalls. A stainless steel knife is used to break the eggs into a stainless steel cup on a tray, and as each egg is cracked and the shell separated, the girls raise it to about chin level, dropping the contents into the cup with a quick, expert jerk. This removes the thin albumen which would otherwise stick to the shell.

When two or three eggs have been broken, they are again examined for off odours in order to avoid a possible undesirable egg contaminating the contents of the cup and consequently of the whole bucket. When the cup is full, the melange—liquid eggs—is poured into a bucket and when the bucket is full it is emptied in a settling tank equipped with sieves and from there it is pumped from a line [illegible] to holding vats. From these vats, the melange can either be pumped to the drier or poured into moulds and put into a sharp freezer. The melange arrives at the vats at low temperature around 35 to 40 degrees, and from the vats, high pressure pumps force it directly to the drier.

When the melange comes from the nozzle it resembles a small cloud of mist which is immediately picked up by the inlet air and carried part of the way in the air current before it becomes dry and falls as a powder to the bottom of the chamber. The powder is continually removed by an auger and conveyed to the sifter. As the powder travels it is cooled to a temperature of at least 90 degrees F., the specified temperature at which powder must be packed. The packaging is a process which requires full supervision at all times in common with every phase of converting a shell egg into dried powder.

GROUP BEEF FEEDING CLUBS

A departure from the usual junior live stock feeding activities has been outlined by S. H. Gandier, Supervisor of Junior Activities.

Last fall for the first time in this Province, a junior group beef feeding club was organized at Lethbridge by District Agriculturist S. S. Graham. The club, which has recently completed a highly satisfactory and profitable season, was limited to eight members. Each member fed a group of five steers. The club held its fair jointly with the Lethbridge beef calf club at which time the groups were marketed by auction. Standing of members was decided on a three way basis. Placing of the group at the show, group gain in weight, and the feeding technique and feed records. Five of the groups recorded a gain of over two pounds per animal per day over the entire feeding period.

The success of this experimental venture in its first season has encouraged the consideration of similar clubs at other points this fall, where local interest guarantees the necessary finances to secure suitable feeders.

FALL TILLAGE FOR WEED CONTROL

Experimental Farms News

Fall tillage is proving valuable as a cultural practice for the control of annual and perennial weeds.

Shallow tillage immediately after harvest is effective in promoting the germination of annual weed seeds which ripened with the current season's crop and scattered on the ground during harvesting. While fall [illegible] will not germinate all these weed seeds, large numbers of wild oats, mustard, stinkweed and other weed seeds will start growing, leading to [illegible] for them to be killed by the winter temperatures or by late fall and early spring cultivation, says J. E. DeLong, Dominion Experimental Station, Lacombe, Alberta.

If the autumn should be dry the germination of the weed seeds will be retarded and many of them may lie dormant in the loose, dry surface soil until the snow moisture and spring temperatures promote germination. It is possible to destroy these seedlings by the usual tillage practices followed in preparing stubble and for the grain crop.

Deeper tillage, such as is given with a one way disc or a plow, is effective in helping control perennial weeds such as thistles, and quack grass. While deep tillage will not eradicate such weeds, it will substantially reduce their vigor.

The use of combines which are not equipped with weed seed screens and collecting devices is tending to increase the spread of annual weeds in areas where much of the grain crop is grown on stubble land. This need not and should not happen. The cost of weed seed equipment for combines is not prohibitive. The use of the combine tends to clear the fields earlier than is the case when the harvesting is done with the binder, facilitating early autumn tillage of stubble land. In other words, the use of the combine when coupled with the practice of suitable tillage operations should make weed control easier rather than more difficult.

Fall tillage of stubble land intended for crop the following year need not be limited to one operation. If the first tillage operation is given early in the autumn, weed seeds may germinate quickly making it advisable to give a mid-autumn tillage operation and another one just before freeze up. In which case two to three lots of weed seeds may be germinated and destroyed.

An ideal fall tillage program consists of a number of operations, the first being shallow and as soon after cutting as possible, and each successive operation an inch or two deeper than the previous one. Such a tillage program would help control both annual and perennial weeds.

LONG GROWING PERIOD

This year in Alberta the seeding to cutting period for wheat averaged 121 days. With the exception of 1942, when the average was 135 days, this is the longest growing period in the last eleven years.

While some varieties of wheat will mature earlier than others, the period between seeding and cutting depends to a large extent on weather conditions experienced during the season. This is illustrated by the fact that in [illegible] the average for Alberta between seeding and cutting wheat was only [illegible] days. The average over a period of years is 112 days.

There has been magnificent response reported in blood donations at the Canadian Red Cross clinic. In the year 1943 there were 529,635 donations compared to 5,325 in 1940. But in the first six months of this year [illegible] donations were given, more than for the whole of last year.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By H. G. L. Strange

WE MUST BUY IF WE WANT TO SELL

Our farmers are receiving much advice about what they should produce. They are being urged to go in more for diversified farming. "Surely", one of these critics said the other day, "our farmers have now learned how much better it is to produce livestock and livestock products than to confine themselves to grain production."

The trouble is that our prairie farmers can only produce commodities for which there is a good market, and which will return a price that will cover costs of production with some profit. Markets—which means mainly export markets—therefore, and not advice, govern the whole matter. To illustrate, this war has brought a large demand for hogs at remunerative prices. Our farmers quickly increased hog production and needed no advice nor urging to do so.

We must ever remember, however, that we cannot sell if we do not buy, and this means that if after the war large quantities of farm products are to be sold abroad, then Canadian people must be willing to purchase the goods of these foreign people who need our foodstuffs. This in turn means that high tariffs, which now obstruct the importation of foreign goods, will have to be torn down. Those who earnestly desire to help farmers, therefore, can best do so by pressing our Government to tear down existing Canadian tariffs.

REHABILITATION—

ALL SIGNS POINT to an early termination of the European war. While of course the German authorities, political as well as military, could by making a very strong defensive stand on the Rhine, prolong the conflict for some months, there is now more than sufficient evidence of Allied arms superiority to ensure victory fairly soon. While the cessation of fighting in Europe will not mean the end of the war altogether,—there is still Japan—it probably will mean that quite a number of men who have seen several years of active service will be released from actual combat and as soon as circumstances permit, will be released from service altogether.

However, regardless of whether the discharge of service men may come soon or be long delayed, there should be definite plans for their economic welfare when they are discharged. The federal government has already announced that it has prepared plans for the welfare of demobilized men, for which it should receive full credit, but while in many respects the plans are quite liberal, in other respects they are incomplete. What a discharged service man fully deserves is an opportunity to work at suitable employment, and if this is not available, economic help until such time as it is. Of course there woud be plenty of men who would stall in the reaization of getting pay for doing nothing, but the big majority would wish to become useful workers within the nation. The thing to remember is that the citizens of Canada are indebted to the men who have sworn to defend their coutry for the simple fact that there is a democratic Canada left to live, work and do business in. Important as civilian war time work is, and much of it is indispensible, it is the men of the armed forces who for such time as their country needed them, sacrificed their personal privileges and freedom and placed themselves at the service of their country when and where they were asked to serve, who must be credited mith the victory.

Caring for discharged men until such time as they can be absorbed into the economic structure of the country would undoubtedly cost a lot of money. By-passing the full question of money and national finance,, it can truthfully be said that war costs a lot of money also, in fact a year cut off the duration of a major war would quite likely save enough "money" to take care of Canada's discharged men for a long time. In reality, money, while important enough in national affairs is not everything as applied to war. National war effort which consists of very many things from the performance of a simple individual task to the combined operation of a mammoth war plant, is really the thing that counts. For purpose of illustration, money as applied to war is the motive force which makes the wheels of war effort revolve, and it is the wheels of war effort which produce the results, not the motive power. Actually the wheels of war effort are useless without motive power and all the power in the world is useless unless there are wheels to turn. But this is the point to remember, if it is possible for the citizens of Canada to produce the multiplicity of things required by men while in the armed forces by a combination of finance and work, it should be possible to take care, by means of employment or otherwise, of the same men when their armed services are no longer needed.

Canada is, we have been told again and again, a "rich" country. That is, natural resources, combined with intelligence and skill of her people, place her in the front rank of nations. Canada's civilian citizenry have been good and rich enough to provide the best for her fighting forces while they were at war, it is only fair that no less be done when peace time comes.

GOVERNMENT ISSUE

William, son of John Post, head of the composing room of a publishing firm in Cincinnati, broke into rhyme in a letter to his father from an Army camp somewhere. His meditation was this:

Sitting on my GI bed,
My GI hat upon my head,
My GI pants, my GI shoes,
Everything free, nothing to lose;

GI razor, GI comb—
But GI wish that I were home.
They issue everything we need
Paper to write on, books to read.

They issue food to make us grow—
But GI want a long furlough.
Everything free, nothing to buy,
Your belt, your shirt, your GI tie.

You eat your food from GI plate,
And spend your funds at GI rate.
It's GI this, and GI that;
GI haircut, GI hat.

Everything is Government Issue—
But GI sure would like to kiss you.

COMMUNICATION

[To The Editor]

The members of the Alberta Farmers' Union are making voluntary donations to a fund for the purpose of giving emergency help to their fellow farmers who were drowned out by the unprecedented floods in the Pembina Valley.

All of these farmers are compelled to contribute every year to the funds of the Prairie Farmers Assistance Act which have been used mainly to assist those suffering from drought and they have been doing this for some years and will continue to do so.

Owing to the wording of the Act a considerable area has to be afflicted before the farmers are entitled to benefit under the act and this would not often happen in the case of a flood which is quite restricted although more damaging. Some farms will be ruined as a result of sand and other debris deposited on them. The Alberta Farmers' Union is requesting the Dominion Government to make the funds of the Prairie Farmers Assistance Act available to those suffering from this flood. The fund being raised by the members of the Alberta Farmers' Union is strictly an emergency measure and is supplementary to efforts being made by other organizations.

These contributions are very welcome and will be much appreciated by the victims but this does not relieve the Government of its responsibility in this matter.

Any Government measure which compels farmers to contribute 1 per cent of their crop year after year should contain provisions for some benefit to accrue to those who have to pay this premium and it will display a woeful lack of statesmanship if some endeavour is not made to reword the act so that its benefits can be made available to those who are compelled to contribute to it.

Yours truly,
H. E. Nichols, Secretary, Alberta Farmers Union.

GET EARTH SODS READY FOR PIGS

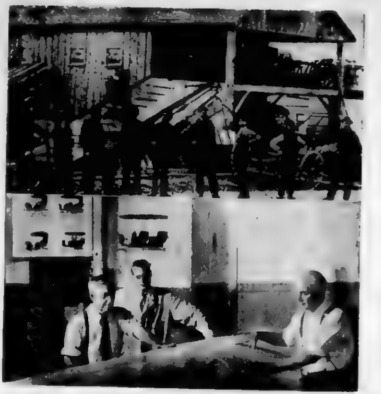
Young pigs cannot thrive on the sow's milk alone, because in one respect her milk is not a complete food. It does not contain iron, and iron is as essential for normal growth as milk. Under natural farrowing conditions outside, pigs are able to supply themselves with iron. When the pigs are farrowed indoors, they must be given the iron in some other way. One of the best and simplest methods is to give clean sods in a creep where the young pigs can get at it without disturbing the sow.

If earth or sods are not available, chemical iron may be given instead. Either reduced iron or iron sulphate (copperas) is satisfactory. A feed of iron is the amount that can be held easily on a ten-cent piece. The first feed of iron should be given when the pigs are one or two days old and the feed should be repeated once every week. When pigs are eating solid food freely, the feeding of iron is not necessary. The feeding of iron is a food and not a medicine and should not be delayed until its lack causes pale shivery anaemic pigs.

Both for their own good and that of the sow, young pigs should be encouraged to eat food as soon as possible. If a corner of the pen is boarded off and some dry feed placed in a small trough, the pigs will begin to eat when quite young. Creep feeding helps to reduce the effect of weaning and keep the sow in better condition.

However, in the feeding of chemical iron to young pigs, caution is necessary. It is important to take care to give them the correct amount because an over-dose may cause illness or death. A simpler way than feeding each pig an individual dose of iron is to sprinkle the sods or earth, if there is any doubt about the sufficiency of iron in them, with a solution of iron sulphate. The solution of iron for the spray is made by dissolving one teaspoonful of the iron sulphate in one quart of water.

75th Anniversary of McLaughlin-G M Enterprise



75th ANNIVERSARY OF FOUNDING OF McLAUGHLIN CARRIAGE CO. FINDS GM BUILDING VAST STREAM OF WAR MATERIAL

Oshawa, September 15: The 75th Anniversary of the founding of the McLaughlin Carriage Company, the forerunner of General Motors of Canada, Limited, was observed here this week. There was no let-up in production at Company plants, which have turned out hundreds of thousands of vehicles and armored units, since war began.

In 1869, the late Robert McLaughlin founded a carriage shop at Enniskillen, Ontario, with four employees. Today, nearly 16,000 men and women are employed exclusively on war production in General Motors plants across Canada. Among these workers are men who once built carriages for Robert McLaughlin. They have come out of retirement to apply their skill and craftmanship on the assembly line for Mosquito Bomber fuselages.

This span of years from "buggies to bombers" saw McLaughlin carriages recognized as the finest in Canada; the introduction of the first McLaughlin car in 1907—the famed Model F—production of the first Chevrolets; formation of General Motors of Canada and the building of more than a million and a half motor cars, the last in 1942.

The expansion of Robert McLaughlin's Carriage business forced the company to move to a railroad town and in 1879 a new carriage factory was built in Oshawa. Improvements in the product were frequent, among them the McLaughlin patent buggy gear. This made the product more attractive and there was a move to still larger premises.

R. S. McLaughlin, who with his brother George had become partners with their father, recognized the possibilities of the horseless carriage and prevailed upon the Company executives to make the big step and enter the motor car field.

First the McLaughlin car came into being. Then the Chevrolet "490" was manufactured in Canada. The McLaughlin Carriage plant was expanded again to take care of the instantaneous demand. The carriage business was sold in 1915 but not before 270,000 carriages and sleighs had been manufactured and sold all over Canada. In 1918, the McLaughlin Motor Car companies consolidated into General Motors of Canada. The carriage craftsmen found themselves associated with the largest industrial institution in the world.

Today, the successor of the small village enterprise produces the greatest variety of precision war equipment in Canada. Its employees are proud of the record production of motor transport vehicles, armored fighting vehicles, tank hulls, Browning machine guns, Oerlikon gun mounts, anti-tank gun carriages, the nacelles and completely equipped fuselages of the Mosquito bomber, and a large variety of items, some of them still on the secret list. Company plants in Oshawa, Windsor and Regina are devoted exclusively to this varied war production.

This year also marks the completion of 25 years by R. S. McLaughlin as first and only President of General Motors of Canada and 57 years as an employee. Recently he was congratulated by officials and employees on his 73rd birthday.

Recalling the progress of the organization begun by his father, Mr. McLaughlin said: "My father inherited nothing but his hands and a natural skill and creative ability. His decision to build a shop was a bold one because every village had one. But this one outlasted them all and [illegible]. This man had the spark of genius and a great creative energy and the right country in which to put enterprise to work.

"When you look at today's General Motors plants, turning a vast output of vital war materials every year, you see what can be done in a country where there is incentive and opportunity.

"There is a lesson here as there is in any story of success. No great achievement in any line of endeavour was ever accomplished without hard work and sacrifice.

"I agree with Mr. Churchill that the nation which destroys initiative cannot live. If in Canada we are alive to opportunity there is no likelihood of this country ever going backward. Canada will go forever forward."

HOLD THE LINE

The immediate post-war period will be beset with many agricultural problems. The principal one will be the possibility of a collapse of the prices of farm products such as occurred after World War I.

Canadian farm production has increased substantially during the war years in direct response to the pleas of the Canadian and Allied governments. There have been abundant markets for farm products during the war. There is a danger, however, that these markets will contract in peacetime with the result that surpluses will accumulate in Canada.

Canadian farmers should be strong in their determination to insist that there shall be no collapse of farm prices in the post-war period similar to what occurred after the first world war.

The best way of achieving this is to strengthen farm co-operatives and farmer associations.

THE CANADA YEAR BOOK

The 1943-44 edition of the Canada Year Book, published by authorization of the Hon James A. MacKinnon, M.P. Minister of Trade and Commerce, is announced by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

On grounds of war time economy, the 1943 edition of the Year Book was not published and the present volume has therefore been planned to cover developments over a two year period perhaps more important from the standpoint of the changes in our internal economy than any other [illegible] in Dominion history. The problem of selecting all necessary new material and at the same time keeping the volume [illegible] to convenient limits has not been an easy one to solve and wherever possible, space has had to be saved by reference to earlier editions for standard material.

The Canada Year Book is the official statistical annual of the country and contains a thorough, up-to-date account of the natural resources of the Dominion and their development, the history of the country, its institutions, its demography, the different branches of production, trade, transportation, finance, education, etc.—in brief, a comprehensive study within the limits of a single volume of the social and economic condition of the Dominion.

By a special concession, a limited number of paper-bound copies have been set aside for ministers of religion, bona fide students and school teachers, who may obtain such copies at the nominal price of $1.00 each. Application with remittance for these special copies must be forwarded to the Dominion Statistician, Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Ottawa.

CATTLE MARKETINGS

Packers and Live Stock Commission Firms who operate at the Calgary and Edmonton stockyards advise that only cattle that are well finished can be moved at fair prices at the present time. Thin cattle should be kept on the farm. There is no demand for them.

If [illegible] farmers consider it good business to buy western feeder stock and then buy western grain to [illegible] cattle it should pay Alberta farmers to [illegible] these [illegible] and use their own grain. The cattle should be held on [illegible] the farm so that they [illegible] the market after the [illegible]. Re-enact Last Spike Ceremony

FIFTY NINE years after he, as a boy, witnessed the driving of the last spike, completing the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's and Canada's first transcontinental railway, [illegible] at Craigellachie, B.C., Col. Edward Mallandaine of Creston, B.C., was an interested spectator as members of the Kinsmen Club of Revelstoke, B.C., re-enacted the historic 1885 "last spike" ceremony as a highlight of Dominion Day celebrations in Revelstoke. Proceeds of events sponsored by Kinsmen during the period were applied to local charities including the Kinsmen Milk for Britain Fund, and the Revelstoke Civic Centre.

From Montreal the Canadian Pacific Railway Company forwarded to Revelstoke Kinsmen the mallet used by Donald A. Smith (later Lord Strathcona) to drive the last spike. This added further authentic detail to the reconstruction of the 1885 tableau which featured costume garments and flowing, home-grown beards.

Col. Mallandaine is shown at right congratulating the youth who impersonated him in the re-enactment of the "spike" ceremony, and in the background are Kinsmen who participated.

Joe Citizen Says---

These settlers from across the sea who came here so's they could be free to live their lives without the fear of death and danger lurking near;
who've built their homes beneath these skies where no unfriendly ship e're flies, and send their children day by day to school to learn to work and play;--- they must by this time understand the many blessings of this land, where folks from countries near and far,
with neither race nor creed a bar, can freely come and freely go and count on reaping as they sow.
I hope they fully realize that all these freedoms that they prize are really what have been at stake throughout the war and so will take their utmost dollar and respond when asked to buy another bond.

False Loose Smut of Barley

Last June, we published a description of "false loose smut," and we appealed to [illegible] barley growers, members of [illegible] clubs and others to send [illegible] for identification [illegible] of what looked like loose smut.

The response to our appeal [illegible] fairly good and we are very grateful to those from whom specimens were received. Of [illegible] specimens, 410 proved to be [illegible]

[illegible] 140 Manitoba specimens [illegible] were [illegible] chewan specimens, 93 [illegible] were false [illegible] and in [illegible] (17%) [illegible] of [illegible] total [illegible] to be false loose smut. This can be explained, at least in part, by the fact that the practice of seed treatment [illegible] West [illegible] loose smut can be controlled by ordinary methods of seed treatment but [illegible] smut cannot. 80% of all Alberta specimens, 70% of Saskatchewan specimens and only 47% of all Manitoba specimens were derived from treated seed. In other words, it looks as though Alberta may be keeping false loose smut down by seed treatment.

It is also significant that of 65 Nepal specimens, only [illegible] false loose smut. Nepal [illegible] concentrated in Alberta. Of 90 Plain specimens 49 were false [illegible] Plain is concentrated in [illegible]

Due to the small quantity of material the above results [illegible] be regarded as suggestive [illegible] than conclusive.

In the farmyard Canadian hens have scored an astounding record for their bosses, farmers and poultrymen. In the first 7 months of this year the Special Products Board bought nearly two and a half million cases of surplus shell eggs for export to Britain in the form of dried egg powder. This is double that of any first seven months in any previous peak year.

AIRMAN LONGS FOR 'MOM'S COOKING' WHILE DYING ON LIFERAFT IN PACIFIC

ELKHART, Ind.—An airman's last days adrift in the Pacific on a life raft, with a Japanese plane diving at the raft, piercing his legs with machinegun slugs, were unfolded by Mrs. Henry Clevenz, mother of Jack Cooper, 23, of Elkhart, a radioman on a navy torpedo plane which was shot down June 15. The mother pieced together the story from Cooper's sketchy but graphic log released by the U.S. Navy.

Sprinkled through the notations scratched laboriously on papers in his wallet were frequent endearments to "Helen" or "Big Eyes"—Helen E. Cheerio of Elkhart. She and Cooper had set their wedding date for his next leave.

The log reads:

July 6—Mom: wings are in sewing kit, am entitled to all stars and more. Be sure to check ins. etc. 10,000 ins. Roses to remind me of Helen. I've always loved her. Love, kisses, same for you Mom, Dad and all.

July 8—Weak. Can't catch fish . . . no rain . . . Love, Big Eyes.

July 9—Little rain. Headed west. Weak.

July 10—Rain last nite. Very weak. Land close somewhere.

July 11—Mavis flew over . . . No see . . . Left eye bad shape. Still have water. Drifting NE.

July 12—Little cloudy. No planes, no land. Headed north p.m. Jap Nell saw me . . Strafed, hit me, in both legs. Bandaged them. Drifting E.

July 13—Very weak from loss of blood . . . Land in sight. No food since the 4th. Six ounces of water left. Going east.

July 14—Caught one small fish last p.m. Very slight breeze SE. If this is my last day tell my Big Eyes to be happy with someone else. I'm back to salt water . . . God bless you all.

Surprise—July 15. Tell Helen I found God. Be happy love. No rain for two weeks . . To Helen—I loved her until the end—Jack. I love Mom, Dad and all. Wish I could eat some of her cooking.

The log stopped here.

Weekly Editor Looks At Ottawa

By JIM GREENBLAT

Coming up for the week of October 8-14th, Canada will again observe "Fire Prevention Week," deemed so important that it is announced by Proclamation in the Canada Gazette. The Dominion Fire Commissioner flatly states there are too many fires on Canadian farms as well as towns and cities. During the past ten years 470,000 fires in the Dominion have destroyed insurable property valued at more than $264,000,000, and during that period 2,000 persons lost their lives as a result of fires. That's something to think about, alright, and a mighty good reason why everyone should make a thorough inspection of premises for fire hazards—and be careful, always. Nearly all fires can be prevented.

Our lumber industry will be in a favored spot when the war is over. Negotiations have been in process between the British Timber Control Office and eastern and western Canadian lumbermen for the export of 2,400,000,000 feet of lumber in the two years after, and this will involve a transaction of nearly $140,000,000. Canada is expected to become the chief source of lumber for British reconstruction in the immediate post-war years, because of the heavy demands on all the Baltic countries except Sweden for their own domestic reconstruction.

German Chiefs Issue Call To Place Trust In Fuhrer

London, Sept. 20—As some allied armies consolidate their gains beyond the outer crust of the Siegfried Line and others, including air-borne troops, press through Holland, the attitude of the German people assumes a more important and more immediate significance.

There is little doubt as to how German leaders are trying to influence their own people in the present serious situation. In their propaganda, two features are outstanding.

First, that the German nation must now endure the hardship attendant upon invasion as did its "great ancestor" Frederick the Great, and that, like him, they will again triumph, especially as the alternative is total annihilation.

Second, that the Germans' great hopes must be centered not upon any defense lines like the Siegfried Line but upon themselves, and even more upon their "great Fuhrer."

Gauleiters are preaching up and down the Reich that reliance must be upon the Fuhrer, upon something emotional and mystical which is indefinable in terms of reason.

Germans at home have been warned not to listen to reports of disaster or even to the stories which soldiers returning from the Russian or Western Front now recount. Not only are tales of suffering to be ignored, but also no credence should be given to reports of overwhelming and more modern armaments possessed by the Allies.

One Gauleiter even instructs his Nazi followers: "We mustn't be tempted to guess at the issues of war from studying maps."

Appeals to remember how the German nation extricated itself from catastrophic situations in the past, however, do not seem to carry much weight, even with the editors of newspapers forced to use them.

Even the SS weekly Schwarze Korps, after praising German bravery in the 1813 war of liberation, does not refrain from admitting that "at that time there were no bombers and no long-range guns." And many Germans undoubtedly are realizing the great difference between 1813 and today—namely, that then the German people were united to throw off the foreign yoke of Napoleon. They were outwardly enslaved but internally free, whereas today they are outwardly still free but internally enslaved.

Heinrich Himmler, today's master of the Third Reich, obviously is leaving no possibility for the continued existence of any persons with whom the Allies might possibly deal, including former Socialists, pre-Nazi Reichstag Deputies, and even officials who compromised with the Nazis but who have never really been accepted as trustworthy.

All such activities, including the killing of Communist Ernst Thaelman and Social Democrat Rudolph Breitschied in the Buchenwald concentration camp and attributing such to Allied bombers, are in keeping with the Nazi policy, which believes in striking at potential enemies before they can organize themselves.

What of the German people themselves? What are they thinking about their immediate future?

If the attitude among German prisoners of war is any indication, then broad differences of outlook on political issues similar to those existing during the past five years still exist.

Since D-Day, German prisoners have numbered about 400,000, according to Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery.

They presumably represent a fair cross section of the younger German people—up to 31 years of age—likely to dominate their country tomorrow. These appear to have one characteristic in common: little sense of individual or social responsibility in regard to their part in either this war or in postwar reconstruction.

There therefore is a complete lack of initiative on their part concerning how they are to extricate their country from the chaos into which Hitler and the Nazis have led it.

These same prisoners can be divided roughly into three classes as far as their political outlook is concerned.

The first and largest group appears convinced the Nazis are finished and they must make the best of a bad situation. They do not, however, seem quite sure as to either Hitler's responsibility for all this or as to what kind of Germany there can be without him or some other such Fuhrer.

Second, those fed up with Nazism because of the condition into which it has brought them. They are concerned that above all, order shall be restored, almost regardless of the system under which they live.

Third, there is a small number still completely Nazi who in some peculiar way still believe the outside world has misjudged them or dealt treacherously with them. Those, whose conceptions are purely emotional and irrational, are the type on which Herr Himmler still relies to do all possible to continue fighting, whatever the disastrous cost to Germany.

Such differences also are evident inside Germany, according to reports from neutral correspondents. There the people can be divided into those who declare "we were never Nazi," opportunists and Nazi fanatics.

Naturally in the Rhineland, with the first Allied invasion, there will be a great tendency on the part of the majority of the local population to repudiate all responsibility for what has happened in the neighborhood, especially as local Nazi leaders such as gauleiters and other party officials upon whom responsibility justifiably could be placed will have fled before the incoming troops.

The Allies when they come to the administration of areas conquered, probably will find no lack of willing German co-operators in local administration.

Looking further to the problem of restoration of a genuinely democratic Germany, however, the material available will not be of high quality. For Hitler and his associates appear to have succeeded to a large extent in achieving a nihilism among the German people, resulting in a docility and willingness to be ruled, which affords no sound foundation for free Reich of tomorrow.—Christian Science Monitor.

Weekly Editor Looks At Ottawa

By JIM GREENBLAT

Most people are interested in banks only as a place to deposit money or cash cheques, but in the aggregate of deposits is reflected the well-being of Canadian citizens as a whole. In this connection it is notable that last July saw an all-time high when notices deposits at our chartered banks amounted to $2,264,327,000. At the end of that month demand and notice deposits combined reached $4,083,406,000 an increase of $781.8 millions over last year.

In all communities of the Dominion patriotic men and women are now organizing to help put over the Seventh Victory Loan, opening October 23, as announced by Finance Minister Ilsley. The people are being asked to subscribe to $1,300,000,000—by $100,000,000 greater than any previous Loan and things look rosy in the war now, but it is not over yet. War is eating up more money right now than ever before. Our total requirements (war and ordinary) will probably reach $6,500,000,000 for the year, just think of that. Our spending nationally, will be more than $500,000,000 a month, more than $100,000,000 a week and more than $15,000,000 a day. Our individual savings must be thrown into the balance which brings our boys and girls home sooner. After all, we're only lending—not giving.

Another reduced rate is announced on overseas mail now, with Airgraphs—"the letters on film that travel by air"—may be sent for just 5 cents to civilians in which the airgraph service operates as well as to members of the armed forces. It is interesting to know these letters are flown to Toronto, photographed on reel of microfilm—1,600 messages being contained on a 8 2-4 ounce reel of film—over 6,800 messages to the pound. Enlarged prints are made overseas after being flown across the briny. If a reel is lost, a duplicate can always be made and despatched.

Don't worry. The postal department advises that letters from Canadian prisoners of war in Germany, or in the reverse, may cease to arrive altogether for a time because of cut in German mail connection due to speedy Allied drive. As soon as certain regions are cleared it will be possible for allied authorities to collect P. of W. mail from Swiss postal people and fly it from there to country of destination. At the moment mail from Canadian prisoners is still arriving but it is mail which reached Lisbon before disruption of German connection with Portugal.

Don't let them down. Mail your Christmas parcel overseas to the fighting forces at once, because soon closing dates will be past.

The steel production of Canada has tripled since the outbreak of war, to a present total of three million tons.

Canada's breeding stock is destined to play a great part in rebuilding devastated Europe's livestock and horses for farm power. It is estimated horses of Britain, Belgium and Holland have been reduced by half, in Russia by one-third and that only a third remain of the original horses in Poland, Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia and Greece. Germany by her plundering is believed to have even more than before the war.

OUTLINE BORDER CROSSING RULES

An outline of border crossing regulations of interest to residents of this province has been issued by the Alberta Motor Association.

Border officials say the trouble lies in a confusion between (a) U.S. regulations governing entry to the United States; (b) Canadian regulations governing exit from Canada.

No specific documents are required for admission for visiting periods not exceeding 29 days, of Canadian citizens or British subjects who are domiciled in Canada. Each applicant must be able to satisfy immigration authorities as to his status.

If the visiting period be more than 29 days, the visitor must have a visa from a U.S. consulate.

All residents of Canada wishing to leave the country for any length of time require an exit permit issued under authority of the Foreign Exchange Control board. These can be obtained in any chartered bank.

POTATO STORAGE

According to Dr. J. S. Shoemaker, Professor of Horticulture at the University of Alberta, there are two distinct stages in potatoes after they are dug. For two months or so after harvesting the tubers are in a resting stage, and during this resting period they won't sprout. Potatoes for table use may be held at about 60 degrees until around the end of the rest period, then the temperature must be lowered. Potatoes held a reasonable time at 60 degrees will have better cooking qualities than those stored at lower temperatures.

However when potatoes are near the end of the resting stage, they must be cooled to 41 degrees or lower to prevent sprouting.

WITH THE AIRMEN

Bill Herbert, former chief announcer at the Vancouver studios of the CBC, is with the corporation's overseas unit, covering the invasion for listeners at home. New CBC war correspondent attached to the Allied Expeditionary Air Forces, the Western front is his theatre of operation, and his reports concern the part that flying men are playing in the liberation of Europe.

SURPRISE

On walking through his field one day last week Mr. H. Bauck had a pleasant surprise when he found about 18 acres of his grain stooked and the following brief note attached to a pole in the field.

This was done by some lonesome soldiers who were out for pleasure.

Sons of Sask. Farmers

We thank you"

This work was done in 15 minutes by 16 men."—Heath News in Wainwright Star.

CANADIAN LEGION APPOINT NEW EXECUTIVES

Ottawa, Sept. 25.—During the past year the multitudinous activities of the Canadian Legion Educational Services have expanded to such an extent that it has become necessary to appoint a full-time deputy to the national chairman, Lt.-Col. the Hon. Wilfrid Bovey, as well as a general secretary at C.L.E.S. headquarters at Ottawa, it was announced at Legion headquarters here today.

With the approval of the dominion president and the Legion's executive council, Wing Commander R. Byrne Curry, B.A., LL.B., of the RCAF, has been appointed Deputy Chairman, National Committee on Education, Canadian Legion B.E.S.L. and, with the concurrence of the Department of National War Services, to the newly created post of Deputy Chairman, Canadian Legion Educational Services. The new position of general secretary is being filled by the promotion of Mr. T. A. McMaster, B.A., M.Ed., who has rendered distinguished service in various capacities to Canadian Legion Educational Services since, in 1940, he was granted leave of absence for the duration by the Winnipeg public school board.

MAY EXHIBIT FARM MACHINES

Exhibits of farm machinery at rodeos, fairs, exhibitions or conventions may be resumed through recent lifting of Wartime Prices and Trade Board restrictions.

Restrictions have also been lifted on manufacture of all kinds of pumps; with labour and material shortages the only limiting factors, the Board announces.

As you march along with a song.

ABOUT THE THINGS YOU BUY IN WARTIME

"I think it can be safely said that the sugar supply position is the most difficult situation we have to face today in any rationed commodity.

You can't get all you want in wartime. If one pound will do, don't buy two."

The sugar situation is NOT sweet

FOUR-FIFTHS OF THE SUGAR CANADA CONSUMES HAS TO BE IMPORTED

This map shows where Canada, Great Britain and the United States got their sugar in the good old days of peace. Our three countries take practically all the exportable sugar from these major sugar-exporting areas.

But supplies have either been cut off by enemy occupation of the country—as in the case of Java and the Philippines, or their production radically reduced by shortage of workers, as in the case of Hawaii, Porto Rico, Australia, Trinidad, Fiji.

Even the production of beet sugar in Canada and the United States has been drastically cut by labour shortage. In both countries the '43 sugar beet crop was forty per cent less than in '41. The only country to show an important increase is Cuba, where output had for years been deliberately restricted. But its increase has not been sufficient to offset the losses elsewhere—let alone meet the increased demand.

ROLLING ON SUGAR

The war has brought some unusual demands on the United Nations' sugar pool. Vast quantities have been taken for making industrial alcohol used in the manufacture of synthetic rubber (tires, etc.) as well as T.N.T. and smokeless powder. For instance, the explosive to fill five 16-inch shells requires as much sugar as is produced on an acre of the finest sugar land. This year Cuban sugar alone used for making industrial alcohol will equal Canada's normal sugar imports for more than two years.

THE SUPPLY IS SHARED

All sugar supplies are pooled and under the control of the Combined Food Board of the United Nations, which allots supplies to Canada, United States and Great Britain on a uniform basis.

DO WE NEED MORE SUGAR?

A century ago the whole world didn't consume as much sugar as Canada does today. Our sweet tooth has been acquired in quite recent times. Sugar rates high for its energy value, but starchy food is a good substitute.

WE'RE LIVING ON OUR SUGAR CAPITAL

At the time of "Pearl Harbour" the United Nations had a reserve stock-pile of about 3 million tons, but for the last 3 years we've been using more than has been produced—and dipping heavily into "reserve." Liberated nations will have to dip in too. Extra good crops could improve the situation, but greatly increased supplies are not in sight. If current consumption keeps up, we could be very short of sugar next year. We must do the utmost to conserve our supplies.

RATIONING WAS STARTED BECAUSE OF SHORTAGE OF SHIPS. IT MUST BE CONTINUED BECAUSE WORLD STOCKS ARE DEFICIENT

THE LIGHT OF THE WORLD—

WITHIN A VERY SHORT TIME the citizens of Canada will be awakened to the need of purchasing Victory Bonds of the Seventh Canadian Victory Bond Issue. As in previous campaigns the Central Publicity Committee at Ottawa, down through the Provincial and Unit organizations in the different provinces will endeavor by various methods and mediums to arouse the interest of every Canadian citizen so that all may have a full realization of the importance of victory loan bond purchases. There will be the usual newspaper, poster and radio publicity, all very necessary, the cost being infinitesimal in proportion to the volume of business done. But while all these things are necessary and without which a loan drive would surely be a failure, they are, or at least should be but the prelude to an individual state of mind, both serious and self conscious.

For over five years Great Britain and France and for a lesser time the United States and for a longer time the Republic of China have been fighting aggressors. During that time pages of history crowded with deeds of heroism have been recorded. Never in the torturous course of human affairs have courage and endurance been more notably demonstrated than during the past five years. In spite of the horrible nature of war, it does bring out on occasion all that is noblest and grandest in mankind, and also on occasion all that is deplorable and base. At no time is war a pink tea affair; at all times war is an unfortunate occurrence; and whether one believes war to be unavoidable or not, it is always tragedy. But as in this war human courage and endurance have reached glorious new heights; and scientific and mechanical knowledge coupled with man's ingenuity reached new and higher levels of achievement, so has the trite saying, man's inhumanity to man, been dwarfed by the very horribleness of events. During war time, atrocity stories are always rife, some of which are concocted for propaganda purposes and some of which are true, but in this war more so than in any other, have atrocities been visited upon defenseless civilian populations, atrocities devised with cunning cleverness and all too horribly efficient. There are few of us who have not read of the wiping out by the Germans of whole villages, and particularly of the mass murder of Poles and Russians. A "murder factory" as part of a concentration camp in which scores of thousands of helpless souls were mercilessly put to death is an accredited fact. Whether, living here in security, we realize it or not, there have been events occurring in different parts of the world which ten years ago informed opinion would have said could not possibly happen again on this planet. Events merciless, brutal and horrible; events not directed against armed combatants but against helpless civilians whose only crime was that they were born what they were.

Immediately prior to or upon the outbreak of World War I, the late Sir Edward Grey, the British Foreign Secretary, said: "The lights of Europe have gone out, we shall not see them lit again in our time." But they did go on again, or if one wishes to look at this in the light of ultimate human destiny in which time is endless, they did flicker for twenty-one years, but surely now the darkness is more abysmal than ever. This in spite of every prewar effort for peace on the part of Great Britain.

And it is to light these lamps again for which our boys have enlisted and are fighting; to replace despair with a measure of happiness and contentment; to bring about an orderly world in which the deplorable things such as murder factories and torture chambers may be forever banished. And more important still, our boys have enlisted and are fighting so that these terrible things may not be brought to this continent, so that our homes, our lands, our crops, our businesses, our welfare, our lives may not be seared, burned or even destroyed on the altar of greed, aggression and hate. Whoever you are, wherever you come from, whatever you do for a living, if you obtain sustenance from Canadian lands, enjoy the protection of her courts, the learning of schools, the healing of her hospitals, the freedoms of her political system, the right to worship God as you choose, your duty is clear. Not only the lights of Europe but the lights of the world must be lit again. This is a personal matter and involves to a greater or lesser degree some sacrifice, perhaps merely the sacrifice of pleasures deferred, perhaps the sacrifice of something even more personal. But whatever sacrifice is made when a Victory bond is purchased it can be but puny when compared to the sacrifice thousands and thousands of our young men and women have made. Practically all of them do not like war and prefer the comfort and safety of their own homes, but they are holding aloft the torch light of freedom. That some have fallen in the attempt is recalled with poignant sorrow; that there are others to assume the burden is recalled with pride.

As the Victory loan campaign swings into action each person should recognize and accept a definite responsibility and if it entails sacrifice it should be remembered that the whole structure of Christianity is founded on sacrifice, the sacrifice of the cross. Each bond purchased will quite possibly light a lamp that will dispel the shadows of tyrannical horror and did He not say "I am the Light of the World."

7th Victory Loan Opens October 23rd

The objective for the Province of Alberta for the Seventh Victory Loan the campaign for which opens on October 23rd, has been set at $45,000,000.00 said Fred E. Osborne, Chairman of the National War Finance Committee for the Province of Alberta, in an interview today. The objective in the Fifth and Sixth Loans was $37,000,000.00 in each one, the new objective representing an increase of approximately twenty five percent in the General Sales and Payroll Sections, and making the Seventh Victory Loan the largest financial undertaking ever accepted in this Province.

Asked to outline the reasons for this heavy increase, Mr. Osborne said that in previous Loans, the major requirements were for the training of personnel and providing a backlog of ammunition and supplies. Since "D" Day, however, the Armies of Canada have been engaged in actual combat, a much more costly phase of war than the preparation period. The demolition of supplies under such conditions is terrific and demands a continuous flow from factory to boat, from boat to beachhead, from beachhead to the front line. Only by having too much can there be enough, to guard against exceptional pressure at unexpected points.

Mr. Osborne did not believe that the expected collapse of Germany would at all lessen the need for the greatest financial effort of which Canadians are capable. Should chaos break out in Germany, an immense army of occupation would be required, and former enemy countries would have to be similarly patrolled. But the main reason was that the end of the European phase of the war would immediately see intensification of the war in the Pacific, beginning with the transportation of millions of men, and likewise millions of tons of equipment and supplies half way around the world. Any feeling of complacency at this time due to the European situation would be most detrimental to our war effort, and, if given effect to, would undoubtedly unnecessarily prolong the war.

The abolition of compulsory savings, the savings bank credits at an all-time high, full employment, farm income at peaks never before reached in this Province and the way in which Albertans of all classes had measured up to their responsibilities in previous loans made Mr. Osborne optimistic that the higher objective would not only be reached but greatly exceeded. "In addition, our people are becoming more "bond conscious" as the financial pages show previous loans holding at par or better," he said. Double Bank interest, which the bonds carry, makes participation in each campaign not only an act of patriotism but worthwhile from the standpoint of good business.

The Management of the Alberta National War Finance organization has already held many meetings with those responsible in the various sections for the success of the loan. Others are to be held during the weeks before the campaign opens. It is hoped that individuals from all walks of life, from whom the bulk of subscriptions must come, will early review their financial position and be prepared to subscribe early—either through the canvasser who will call upon them, through their banks, or through the Payroll canvass of their firm. "The accepted slogan for the campaign "Invest in Victory" puts it all in a nutshell", concluded Mr. Osborne.

LONDON — Mobile churches mounted on a big six-wheel motor trucks are in Normandy. They have been changed into small but very handsomely fitted places of worship, lined with polished oak. The altars are movable so that each vehicle can either accomodate a small congregation in itself or, with the altar moved to the open rear end, and the use of a microphone, be made the center of a very large open air service. The trucks carry poles and canvas to form penthouse extensions for the chaplains' use when camps are pitched. The chaplain can thus live in the field for weeks at a time, moving from group to group.

DUCK POPULATION 5 TIMES GREATER

Duck population in the three prairie provinces, and the Northwest Territories has increased from [illegible]0,000,000 to 140,000,000 since 1937, T. C. Main of Winnipeg, general manager of Ducks Unlimited, said in an interview here Wednesday.

Mr. Main said Ducks Unlimited is spending $160,000 this year in the prairie provinces on the conservation and preservation of these birds. This program includes the construction of dams. It was estimated 1[illegible]0,000 acres would be improved for nesting purposes.

"Forty percent of the program has been allocated to Alberta. This is an important duck province," said Mr. Main.

The duck population was the largest in 25 years, said the official. Figures are based on the census reports from 2,000 key men.

Formerly, millions of ducks died each year from natural causes limited, in full co-operation with

Through the work of Ducks Unlimited, federal and provincial governments and fish and game associations, a program of conservation had been effected, and the duck population was increasing from year to year.

Twenty-five projects had been completed this year in the prairie provinces and it was expected that 10 more will be built before the season ends.

The general manager conferred with Rennie Harley, Alberta, manager for Ducks Unlimited, concerning plans for the annual directors meeting in Calgary on Oct. 7. The board is an international body, made up of nine Canadians and a similar number from the U.S.

SEE 1½ YEARS "ABSOLUTE MINIMUM" FOR BEATING JAPS AFTER NAZIS QUIT

Washington — The job of crushing Japan is expected to require an "absolute minimum" of 1½ to two years after defeat of Germany, the U.S. Office of War Information said Wednesday in a summary of war agencies' data.

Indeed, the psychological effect of an end to the European war is apt to favor the Japanese rather than the Allies, O.W.I. said, figuring it this way:

"For the United States, defeat of Germany will mean that a half-way point has been reached in the global war and will bring extensive changes in the war economy which might produce a let-down in effort and morale.

"To the Japanese, the end of the war with Germany will mean that Japan's war with the United Nations is just beginning. It might well heighten Japan's determination and fighting spirit."

O.W.I. said its findings were based on information from the state, war and navy departments and the foreign economic administration.

Factors which may enable Japan to prolong the war were said to include the ability of Japan to increase its production of "almost every category of war equipment and military supplies." On the other hand, O.W.I. related Japan has "failed to capitalize thus far on her conquests, limiting war production to capacity of the Jap's pre-war industrial plants.

The agency pointed out that the [illegible] shipping problems must be solved before a major invasion can be launched against Japan, and added it may be several months before shipping to be transferred from the Atlantic can be made effective in the Pacific.

Joe Citizen Says---

Our needs would really fill a book—
Most anywhere I chance to look there's something showing wear and tear and often, too, beyond repair.
Take paint now! Both inside and out our need for paint is past all doubt.
And I'm just itching to commence the building of a brand-new fence.
My wife too has the odd complaint—
She says 'twould aggravate a saint the way her kettles one by one,
in one-horse-shay style, just go done.
And the linoleum she says,
with truth, has all seen better days.
But still we neither one deny that war bonds are the thing to buy.
For, after all, we only lend the price of them, and we can spend our money with an easy mind when these sad times lie far behind.

RAINS AFFECTING GRADES OF GRAIN

Ottawa—Continued rainfall during the last two weeks has delayed harvesting operations in most prairie areas although cutting is fairly well advanced, the dominion bureau of statistics reported Tuesday. Most of the threshing, however, has been completed in the brown soil zone along the international border.

The grade of grain has suffered in the unthreshed areas and a altered but light frost damage has occurred, said the bureau.

Conditions in Alberta vary greatly with most of the threshing completed in the area south of Calgary and in the Peace River area. Both these sections experienced an abnormally dry season and the grains matured early. In central Alberta about 70 percent of the cutting has been completed with from five to 30 percent of the grain threshed. So far, grades have been mostly No. 2 but with continued wet weather the grain will deteriorate rapidly, the bureau reports.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Secord ar visited Banff recently. Mr. Secord returned and Mrs. Secord remained there where she will take treatments.

PARTRIDGE FLIES THROUGH STATION WINDOW

A partridge crashing through the C.N.R. station window caused quite a commotion for a few minutes among the station staff. The partridge chose this way of ending a care free life just before nine in the morning on Monday, perhaps in disgust at the rainy weather when everyone wished it were fine.

SEEK 100,000 MEN FOR WOODS, PLANTS

Ottawa—Labor Minister Mitchell Wednesday announced a Selective Service plan to obtain the services of 100,000 farm workers for other essential industries during the fall and winter months.

While some of the workers are required for plants, the largest group, 60,000 is needed in the woods. Mr. Mitchell said care would be taken not to encourage men to leave dairy or livestock farms where they are needed during the winter.

SAYS WAR CHANGED AUSTRALIA OUTLOOK

Vancouver — The war has changed Australia's whole outlook and that country is thinking with a broader outlook both nationally and internationally, Arthur Ford, editor of the London (Ont.) Free Press, said in a service club address Wednesday.

Mr. Ford, while president of The Canadian Press, visited Australia and New Zealand last year as an official guest of the commonwealth governments.

Before the war Australia had been isolationist and some of the states were agitating for secession from the union. People thought in terms of state interests as against federal. Industrial development lagged.

"All this is changed now," Mr. Ford continued. "The menace of a Japanese invasion brought the people face to face with the reality that the danger could not be repelled without unified efforts.

"Thrown upon her own resources in defending herself, Australia's industrial development during the past two or three years has been almost unbelievable."

After Singapore there had been a temporary reaction against Britain. The people felt they had been "let down." Now Australia is as determined as Canada to remain a member of the British Commonwealth. Like Canada, Australia wants to live on good terms with the United States but politically she will go her own way, he said.

CANADIAN GUNNERS DISPLAY ACCURACY

Ottawa—How Canadian anti-tank gunners have taken on extra-mural precision gunning to knock out other targets when no tanks are about was told Tuesday in a defence headquarters release.

During the recent break-through the Gothic line by Canadians in Italy, the Loyal Edmonton Regiment was held up by a strongly defended church with a high spire serving as an observation post for Germans.

The thin spire was a difficult target for field artillery but not for a 17-pounder anti-tank gun crew.

Ten accurately placed rounds on the target brought the tower crashing on the heads of the German defenders. Later, the ground floor of the church was captured by infantry.

OBITUARY

In the passing of Michael (Mike) McCusker at Edmonton on Tuesday, Tofield has lost a familiar figure and old timer of the town. Mike, as he was familiarly known, came to Tofield, we believe from Vegreville, where he was one of the baseball stalwarts of earlier years. He never lost his interest in the sport and for many years travelled to all the baseball tournaments around here in his Model T Ford which he kept shining and bright to the last. Of an independent nature he wouldn't stand for any "babying" and it was not until he was really ill would he accept assistance. He was 81 years of age and leaves one sister and several nephews and nieces, among whom is Jack McCusker of Tofield. The family came to Canada in 1902.

Funeral service was held at the grave side, today (Thursday) Rev. D. K. Allan officiating. J. E. Stinson, funeral director.

Pre-Loan Saturday

The publicity section of the Alberta War Finance Committee is very desirous that in every town and city in Alberta, some form of public gathering should be held on Saturday, October 21st. At Tofield it is hoped to have a gathering of the people at night at the Varisty Theatre. Negotiations are now under way with the hope of having the Bardo Male Choir come in. At time of writing (Thursday) we are unable to make any definite statement but hope to be in a position to do so next week.

McKENZIE

Mrs. G. Walker returned home last Thursday after spending a week in the hospital, receiving medical aid. We certainly hope she will soon feel up to par again.

Five beginners enrolled at McKenzie School last Monday morning. They are Marilyn Moos, Ingy Sustbauer, Elly Schramm, Glen Olson and Eddie Morzuik. There were also three grade niners added to the enrollment. They are Earl and Russell Jones, and Glenn Jones, all of Lakeshore.

We are sorry to report that Mr. Kerby had to be rushed to the hospital early Sunday morning. He underwent an operation that same morning. A speedy recovery is wished for him.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. V. Moos for a couple of days this week were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Glover of Tofield.

Those leaving McKenzie to attend High School in Tofield this year include the Misses Mary Mishow, Lylia Bailey and Nellie Hawrylechko.

Get togethers for the dressing of poultry have been held recently at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. I. Phillips, Mrs. L. Moos, Mr. and Mrs. V. Moos and Mr. and Mrs. H. Jacobson.

Miss Joan Morziuk is assisting with the work at the Walker home.

RYLEY RAMBLINGS

Anyone looking for a good time should attend the Carnival at Ryley on November 2nd and 3rd. All carnival features and added attractions will make two big nights of fun.

A poultry meeting will be held on the premises of Mr. William Winsness of Ryley on Friday afternoon, October 6th. Mr. C. W. Traves, Poultry Commissioner will be the speaker. Farm women are invited to attend. Bring lunch with you. Coffee will be provided.

LAC Bob Freeman of the RCAF, who was home on leave, left for the east last Friday.

The snow last Friday delayed threshing for a few days but most farmers are ready to begin operations again on Thursday or Friday.

Sgt. and Mrs. Kirkelund and son of Calgary are spending two weeks with relatives in the Dodds and Ryley district.

Mr. C. Freeman is taking treatments in an Edmonton hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Teare left last week for the coast. They hope to have at least two month's vacation.

Mrs. Lillo and Mrs. Geddes were hostesses to the United Ladies' Aid last Wednesday. Compliments were given on the lovely lunch.

HOME BUILDING

Are you looking for a house?

Houses for all. It's a great programme. Prefabricated or reconstructed, temporary or luxury fitted—but they have to wait for men and materials.

Homes for all. We need not wait for them. You can build a new home without moving a brick. The people to build them are the ordinary men and women.

The materials for home building cannot be ordered from the contractor. They are stored in the heart. They have made the homes of this country strongholds throughout history. Willing hands, warm hearts, steady tempers and honest minds are the foundations of every true home.

Building must start now if we are to be ready for the men coming back. We must sweep out the ideas that break up homes—ideas of "every one for himself" and "pleasure at any price." More homes have been destroyed by selfishness than by bombs. They become filling stations by day and parking places at night.

The homes of tomorrow can be built now in the places where we live and in the factories and offices where we work. A home begins in [illegible]

MINISTIK

Mr. [illegible] wishes to take this opportunity to thank the people of the Ministik and Hastings Lake Districts for their many kindnesses to him during the past summer. CROP ROTATION EXPERIMENTS

(Experimental Farms News)

What type of crop rotation gives best results in various parts of the Prairie Provinces? Over thirty years ago the Dominion Experimental Farms attempted to answer this important question by establishing a series of experiments with different rotations on the Experimental Farms in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. These experiments have been continued substantially unchanged, except for minor improvements, and now provide very reliable information on the best systems of cropping in the different regions where these experiments are located. Farming is a permanent business and it is important to know in advance what yields may be expected from different types of rotations, not merely in the immediate future, but over a long period of years.

Is it preferable to have a straight grain rotation or should a mixed-farming rotation including hay or intertilled crops be used? How frequently should a summerfallow be included in a rotation, or is it necessary at all in some regions? Where can hay crops be grown to advantage and what benefit is there from legume crops? What cropping systems control weeds most effectively? How much increase in yield is derived from commercial fertilizer, farm manure and green manure? What effect has different systems of cropping upon the nitrogen supply of the soil?

The experiments conducted on the Dominion Experimental Farms have provided considerable information on these important problems. The results are included in a recently published bulletin, Publication 761, entitled "Crop Rotations in the Prairie Provinces". It may be obtained free by writing to the Publicity and Extension Division, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

CANADA'S VETERANS
Their Post-War Opportunities
This is the first of a series of advertisements to inform the people of Canada of plans to re-establish men and women of the armed forces. To get the full details save and read every advertisement.

For complete information write for the booklet "Back to Civil Life."

The Future After Discharge —

A MESSAGE TO RELATIVES OF THOSE IN THE ARMED FORCES

When your boys and your girls come home, when they lay aside the uniform, when they go out into the world as normal peace-loving Canadians, what lies ahead? Can they pick up their lives as civilians, where they laid them down, months or long years ago? Are there plans to help them do the things they wanted to do before the war? Will they have security? Can they continue education, or receive needed training? Will they be assisted in home owning, or to establish their own business, and will they be enabled to pick up their family life once again?

These are questions which concern all those Canadians who have loved ones in the services. They are questions which this series of advertisements is designed to answer.

OPPORTUNITY IS THE OBJECTIVE
Canada has been making plans for your boy's and your girl's return to civilian life since early in 1940. These plans are in effect and operating now. The aim is that every person who has served shall have opportunity. Thousands, already back in civilian life have benefited by training, by maintenance grants, by advice of departmental officials, and by the social security provisions. There is ample help for those men and women who want to help themselves.

ASSISTANCE ON DISCHARGE
When your boy and girls are discharged from the service they will be given:

1. A clothing allowance of $100 (if discharged after August 1, 1944)
2. Their pay to date of discharge
3. One month's additional pay, if they have 183 days' continuous service, as a rehabilitation grant
4. A railway warrant home or to the place of enlistment

Dependents will receive:

1. Their normal dependents' allowance to date of discharge, with assigned pay
2. An additional month's dependents' allowance, with assigned pay, if there has been 183 days' continuous service

Your boy or girl will be allowed to retain certain items of uniform. They will be given a complete medical and dental examination and will be eligible for free medical treatment for a year after discharge. Those discharged not physically fit, in need of continuing treatment and unable to work, will have their pay and allowances of rank continued for at least a year if necessary and, if the disability is pensionable, for as long as curative treatment is beneficial. All are interviewed by Veterans' Welfare [illegible] and told of the re-establishment programme.

WAR SERVICE GRATUITY
On discharge, those enlisted to serve outside Canada, or those who served in the Aleutian Islands, are eligible for a war service gratuity. It provides $7.50 for each thirty days service in Canada and the Western Hemisphere and $15.00 for each thirty days' service overseas or in the Aleutian Islands. For those with overseas service or with service in the Aleutian Islands, there is an additional seven days' pay and allowances for each six months of such service. Payments will be made at the end of each month in the months following discharge. Complete details of the war service gratuity will be given in a later advertisement.

RE-ESTABLISHMENT CREDIT
In addition to the war service gratuity, there is a re-establishment credit of $7.50 for each thirty days' service in the Western Hemisphere and $15.00 for each thirty days' service overseas. This is for things such as the purchase or repair of a home, the buying of furniture, a business, or government life insurance, and for certain other purposes which will assist your boy or your girl in becoming re-established. This credit, which is reduced by grants given for training or education, or under the Veterans' Land Act, is primarily for those who do not wish assistance under these three plans.

RETURN TO FORMER JOBS
If your boy or girl held a civilian position before enlisting, and was not engaged to replace somebody already in the forces, and if the position still exists, and your boy or girl is capable of filling it, it is the employer's duty, under the law of Canada, to reinstate him or her in that position with seniority. Application for reinstatement must be made to the former employer within three months of discharge from the forces or from hospital.

Veterans' Welfare Officers are stationed in key centres throughout Canada. They are the friends of Ex-Service men and women. It is their duty to advise and assist all Ex-Service personnel with their re-establishment problems. If there is anything about the Rehabilitation programme which you do not understand, consult your nearest Veterans' Welfare Officer.

TRAINING AND EDUCATION
The surest way to permanent employment—the thing your boy or girl will want—is a skill to get and to hold a job. Canada's plans give opportunity to acquire needed skill either at university or in preparation for a business or industrial career. Fees are paid by the state, along with living allowances, while training or continuing education.

WHILE ILL OR UNEMPLOYED
There is protection against illness or unemployment by maintenance allowances which can be drawn against in the first eighteen months after discharge. There is also protection under the Unemployment Insurance Act for those who enter insured employment and remain in it fifteen weeks.

HOME OWNING AND FARMING
There is provision to assist city and other workers to have homes of their own, either on small acreages of land outside the high taxation area, or in town, under the National Housing Act. Full-time farmers can be given financial assistance in full-time farming, while commercial fishermen may secure financial help in getting their own homes, on small acreages of land, and in buying needed fishing equipment.

FREE TREATMENT
In the year following discharge, service men and women are eligible for free treatment, hospitalization and allowances for any condition, even if not the result of service. Pensioners are entitled to this for life for their pensioned disability.

THE POLICY ON PENSIONS
Canada's Pension Act is administered by an independent commission, all former members of the services. Any permanent disability suffered overseas, not a result of misconduct, is pensionable. Where service is in Canada only, the disability must be a result of service.

PENSIONS AND NATIONAL HEALTH

EUROPEAN FOOD SITUATION—

IT IS OF VITAL interest to the farmers of Canada to know what the food situation really is in Europe. For a long time Canadian farmers have been taught to believe that as soon as hostilities ended immense quantities of food would be needed for Europe, the implication being that Canada would be called upon to supply much of it. Recently according to surveys made, informed opinion has veered round to the viewpoint that Europe is not so badly off for food as was at one time believed and with the exception of two or three relatively small countries it would seem that the rest of Europe has not been seriously depleted of food and that it will require only a short time for the larger portion of Europe to resume normal production after the war is ended there.

There is no refuting statements regarding the food situation in Europe based on figures compiled by competent authorities, they are supposed to know what they are talking about, yet it does not seem possible that a continent that has been held in the grip of war for over five years would have now anything like a normal agricultural economy. Shortage of man power, seeds, fertilizer, machinery, etc., it would seem, would be bound to cut into their production. Our opinion is that if financial and cargo arrangements can be made, Europe will take a considerable quantity of foodstuff within the first year after cessation of European hostilities, but we also believe that many other factors, other than the production of the actual food itself, will enter into whatever arrangements are made to feed a post war Europe, and that a definite authoritative statement regarding it now is extremely difficult to make.

MONOGRAMMED WAFFLES—

THE MILL THAT slowly grinds out patents upon the dreams and aspirations of ingenious inventors at the United States patent office, has been kept turning. Inventors young and old, rich and poor, have been busy sending in every conceivable kind of gadget, together with plans, drawings and descriptions. The large majority of new inventions have to do with war and war needs and many have been the attempts to "beat Hitler to the gun" by means of inventing some war weapon better than that possessed by the enemy. But the needs of civilians have not been overlooked either and the post-war Mr. and Mrs. Citizen will most likely enjoy homes containing "modern" improvements now unknown to the people. Under the pressure of war needs constructional, electrical and electronic devices have come into use within the armed forces that were not in existence at the beginning of the conflict and these in different ways and means will be incorporated into many articles for household and commercial use. Even before the war it was possible for the city dweller to weigh out so much laundry, put it in a machine and then take a walk down town. The laundry would be washed, rinsed, and partially dried automatically, untouched by hand. Radio, television, automatic cooking devices, refrigerators and model kitchens and whatnot are all waiting to be sold to an appreciative public—after the war is won. In the field of transportation there is the Hellocopter in different styles and spelling. The Hellocopter is now proficient enough that a person may alight from one without it actually touching the ground, and what a boon they will be when roads are muddy. A fellow in the country could travel to town and back and shout hello to his neighbors in the yard as he passes. But when it comes to patented inventions to smooth life's pathway for ordinary mortals we are of the opinion that the fellow that took out a patent for a monogrammed waffle iron exceeded all others in imagination. By using his iron your waffles may be monogrammed which might or might not add to their eating qualities. We can imagine the busy farm wife changing a small disc in the centre of the waffle iron as she makes waffles for each member of the family. As an adornment for a waffle, a liberal helping of butter and maple syrup still excels.

(Selected)

IT IS ONE of the fictions of the age that the country is dull and monotonous. I have just come from the "back pastures" of New England and I can't remember when I have had an experience so bright, so active, and so full of beauty. It is of the beauty I would speak. The countryside was a poem in color. I saw ferns springing up in a dozen varieties by the roadside. I saw corn so tall you couldn't reach its top with a stick. I saw goldenrod (the bane of the farmer but the joy of the artist) cover an entire hillside. And then there was the fragrance of the pines—where men were sawing wood to build a new barn—the scent of the balsams, the sweet smell of the new-mown hay and the fields of blooming clover.

The best story I heard while in the country was of a farmer who promised to do something for his wife when he came into an inheritance. "Mary," he said, "you've been lugging water from the cellar for a long time, and I told you I was going to do something for you when I got this inheritance." He did. He bought her a new pail. She could then carry two instead of one.

A Letter

When you've lived in the same old town,
Say twenty years or more,
When you've walked those same old pavements,
'Till your feet felt "purty" sore,
You think— 'I'd like to get away,"
Then far away you roam.
But right away you're wishin'
That a letter'd come from home.

They say "that far off fields are green,"
I never found them so,
Right here in our own good home town,
Are the "purtiest" spots I know.
But you said, I'm tired of seein' them,
Give me the chance to roam,
Then you find the things you loved the best,
Are far away—at home.

When Mother England called her sons,
To guard her native shore,
Our boys have answered to that call,
As their fathers did before.
And whether they're in "the Air Force Blue"
"Navy Blue" or "Khaki Brown",
Their hearts are beating true to you,
Don't ever let them down.
You say "There's nothing I can do"
Just go and sit you down
And write the boys a letter
All about their Old Home Town.

PICK COLORS FOR ALBERTA LICENSES

The color combination of Alberta's car licenses next year will be orange on a black background, according to information which the Alberta Motor Association has received from the provincial secretary's department.

Officials already are making plans for the handling of the licenses. It is confidently expected that the "sticker" system will be abandoned in 1945 as it has been indicated that metal plates will be supplied by the manufacturers.

As in the past, the metal plate will be attached to the rear of the vehicle.

Preparations are being made to place the required orders for the metal plates for next year.

Motorists and departmental officials look forward eagerly to the early restoration of the plates. They were not available this year owing to wartime metal restrictions.

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By H. G. L. Strange

The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration—an organization set up to take relief to the people of Europe—are now starting to work. The greatest immediate need is food in Greece, Italy and Yugo Slavia. One expert stated that "The infant mortality in Rome is 50 per cent and every tenth man or woman, now walking on the streets of Rome will be a corpse before the end of the year."

The [illegible] from [illegible] and France, countries which had suffered the most from Italian aggression gave their approval of generous relief for the people of Rome and Italy.

The Food Research Institute of California tells us that in general the agricultural situation in Europe is far better than most people suppose. The main trouble, says this authority, is not so much the depletion of livestock herds as it is that animals have been poorly fed and that, therefore, production from these animals has been low. Fats and dried milk will apparently be the chief need in most parts of Europe, but in certain large areas relief wheat and flour, it is expected, will be required for some time.

How fortunate [illegible] that Canada and the United States have available surpluses of agricultural products which can be sent to all these suffering European people.

Thrift...
IS PRACTICAL PATRIOTISM

How many ways can you save
....to LEND TO CANADA?

In the homes, all over Canada, loyal, patriotic women are discovering new ways to economize . . . new ways to save money to lend to their country. A little saved here and a little saved there provides money to lend to Canada to help pay for the war. Small sums from millions of Canadians mount to billions when totalled up.

The amount that you may lend to your country may seem a small sum to you, but pennies make dimes and dimes make dollars, and Canada needs every single dollar that every Canadian can save and lend. Canada's need for borrowing is greater now than ever before. Every Canadian must lend, and lend more than before.

Money you save and invest in Victory Bonds will benefit you in a personal way, too. You will have cash, when the war is over, to buy things you want for your home . . . things you are doing without now . . . cash to pay on a new home . . . to pay on a new car.

Dear Mother,

Time I scribbled you another note. I am in Leeds at the moment, and half way through my leave. The last two raids we were on was on Monday and Tuesday night. [illegible] the Atlantic port of [illegible] a town of 170,000 people [illegible] it out. The town itself [illegible] the coast 5 miles long and about 2 deep. We went along the full length of the town dropping a full [illegible] 2500 incendiaries [illegible] The attack was finished [illegible] You can imagine the [illegible] had 500,000 fires started [illegible] As we came out the [illegible] an inferno. You could see [illegible] and waterfront as plain as day. It sure makes you wonder [illegible] all about. Tuesday night we attacked Munchen-Gladbach. The [illegible] just the same although [illegible] scattered and the concentration [illegible] as good.

Well that's enough of the [illegible] tails. Wish I could forget [illegible] it. Spent part of a day [illegible] and a day in York. [illegible] a few Canadians I knew. The Canadian bomber group [illegible] around York. [illegible] are a lot more of [illegible] here. Have been [illegible] Not a bad [illegible] are a couple of [illegible] and not a bad bunch of [illegible] all wanting to come to Canada after the war of course, which cramps my style a bit.

Seems to be raining a bit today, but guess that won't stop me from seeing the rest of Leeds.

I expect to go on to Manchester tomorrow and will be meeting the bomb-aimer there. I haven't seen very much of the west coast, so will probably spend the rest of my leave there.

Well, I guess that's all for now.

Love, Allan.

LONDON: A [illegible] aircraft of R.A.F. Transport [illegible] has just finished a tour of 30,000 miles. It took 175 flying hours [illegible] the aircraft made [illegible] take-offs and landings, visited fourteen countries, flew in temperatures varying from 12 degrees below freezing point to tropical heat. At the end of the journey the plane had [illegible] defect. The tread of the [illegible] tyres had worn thin.

Joe Citizen Says---

You know, I always think it queer that such a land as this one here should have to coax and beg and plead for money for an urgent need.
Our loans, I grant you, end up strong--- but how they crawl and creep along!
And no one asked to GIVE a dime
but just to LEND cash for a time!
You'd think that everybody would be buying all the bonds they could to speed the day that sees our men brought back to Canada again.
And also help to make it sure---
a good sound peace that will endure!
Yes, sir, we ought to back this loan with every dollar that we own.
To stop right now and pare and prune would be to quit the job too soon.
And THAT would certainly look grim to those who offered life and limb.

JEEPS NOT SUITABLE FOR USE ON FARMS

[illegible] may be beaten into ploughshares but few military vehicles can [illegible] to farm use, states the [illegible] Committee on Agricultural Engineering which recently met in [illegible] of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

[illegible] R. P. Frey of the [illegible] of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon, [illegible] recent experiments [illegible] conducted with the jeep [illegible] transmission of this [illegible] stand up if burdened [illegible] than a four-horse load. [illegible] the jeep's drawbar pull varies [illegible] and terrain, it is not likely [illegible] that of the tractor. The [illegible] speed is too fast for farm [illegible] and even when throttled has [illegible] sufficient power. Also unsuitable [illegible] is its transmission which like that of most war vehicles is designed for military use and not to run continuously in low gear, they said.

A theory that tanks might be used as bulldozers was exploded at the meeting when agricultural engineers agreed that tanks are designed to carry their own load only and not to do bulldozer work. Nor has the [illegible] carrier any possibility for adaptation as a tractor, as some people had believed.

One agricultural engineer pointed to the danger of being unable to obtain repair parts for military vehicles. He said that at present, manufacturing companies own neither military vehicles nor their parts which, on manufacture, become government property.

WARRIORS WELCOMED BY RETURNING LEGION

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 2---Canadian veterans landing back in Canada aren't very long in finding out that Canadians at home are glad to see them back, and the farther they travel the more welcoming they get, J. Maxwell Allan, director of personal services for Canadian Legion War Services, said in an interview here today.

The welcoming begins at Halifax, Mr. Allan said, when Canadian Legion men and women, with other voluntary groups, meet the returning men and women at the docks, with candy, cigarettes, fruit, writing paper and information regarding rehabilitation.

At every stop the train makes on its journey across Canada, with the co-operation of the defence department and railway officials, a welcome for the veterans has been arranged, Mr. Allan continued. In many places the returning servicemen are met by the whole town headed by the local band. The entertainment, however, is not for the men coming back to their home towns alone. The entire train load is included and gifts are distributed indiscriminately.

Other organizations and citizens' committees gladly assisted the Legion and the result has been a complete network of Welcome Home groups waiting on the station platforms whenever and wherever a train pulls in.

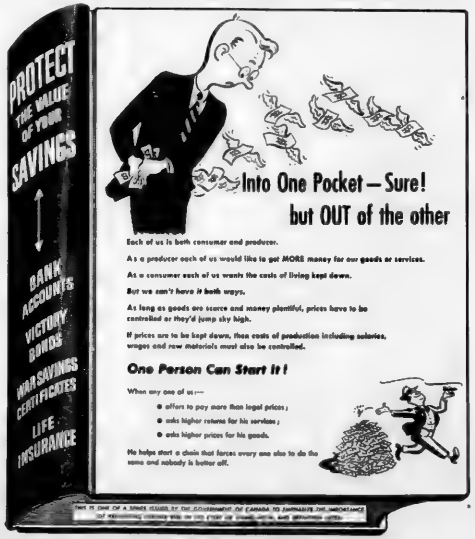
Public life brings out the statesman's bringing up.



Each of us is both consumer and producer.

As a producer each of us would like to get MORE money for our goods or services.

As a consumer each of us wants the costs of living kept down.

But we can't have it both ways.

As long as goods are scarce and money plentiful, prices have to be controlled or they'd jump sky high.

If prices are to be kept down, then costs of production including salaries, wages and raw materials must also be controlled.

One Person Can Start It!

When any one of us:---

- offers to pay more than legal prices;
- asks higher returns for his services;
- asks higher prices for his goods.

He helps start a chain that forces every one else to do the same and nobody is better off.

Hand Loom Weaving

We have recently received from the Searle Grain Company a very attractive booklet describing [illegible] hand loom weaving club plan which has been running some twelve years. The plan is fully described and there are quite a few color and black and white photographs of articles woven and made by members of different clubs. No doubt the Searle Grain Company would be pleased to give complete information regarding the formation of these clubs. Anyone interested should just mail an enquiry to the Searle Grain Co., Winnipeg.

Weekly Editor Looks At Ottawa

By JIM GREENBLAT

The mushrooming of Canada's chemical research and production, impelled by the needs of war, will make a thrilling chapter in the history of World War II; it will be the story of an astounding job by our scientists and industry. "Canada at War", August issue, lets us get a peek behind the scenes. Starting practically at scratch in 1939, Canada "merely" completed 80 projects for explosive, chemical and shell-filling plants. Only nine of these plants were privately owned, the remainder owned by the people of Canada. The whole program entailed an expenditure of $150,000,000 on properties owned by the Dominion, excluding the $48,000,000 synthetic rubber plant. By the end of 1943 this somewhat small nation of ours contributed to victory by producing some 100,000,000 rounds of gun ammunition, grenades, mines, bombs, etc., and hundreds and hundreds of millions of small arms ammunition and our high explosives are used on every fighting front. Some record!

Members present: Mayor Swift, Councillors Francis, Clutterham, Patterson.

Approved minutes of last meeting and examined hospital notices of admission which were approved with one exception.

Perused letter from Municipal Branch concerning arrears of Social Services Taxes owing from 1936. When no arrears are owing the Department, Council are authorized to set one combined rate for all purposes, but for the present and until the matter of arrears is adjusted Social Services taxes are separate. The Secretary was instructed to try and secure an adjustment of the arrears and perhaps a reduction in the equalized assessment and levy now made since recent changes in the Act.

Tabled an application for Old Age Pension until further particulars are obtained.

Approved action of Calgary Power Co. Ltd., to send out accounts every two months instead of monthly as at present. This decision on the part of the Company is due to lack of help and shortage of paper supplies.

Perused letter from M.D. of Beaver No. 490, concerning proposal of the Town to have five remainders of Plans cancelled, and which are presumed to be outside Town limits but within the Municipality. Particulars of arrears are to be supplied as requested.

Examined Auditor's Statement of receipts and expenses to August 31, and passed accounts for payment on motion of Councillors Francis-Clutterham.

Were advised that City of Edmonton bonds have been sold and the proceeds placed in current account.

Placed reserve bids for property to be offered for sale under Tax Sale Proceedings on the 30th inst., and authorized for cancellation all arrears on lots sold so far this year.

Considered the matter of Unemployment Insurance and Workmen's Compensation as it affects employees generally.

TOFIELD'S LOSS — CAMROSE'S GAIN

Mr. and Mrs. McDonnell were visitors to Tofield from Camrose on Saturday. We slipped up badly in not mentioning Mr. and Mrs. McDonnell's departure a week or so ago and were pleased to see that our Lindbrook correspondent appropriately filled in the omission. We can't improve our Lindbrook correspondent's style, but years ago when people left, a stock phrase, which was literally worn out was used. This was that it was Tofield's loss and some other place's gain. We would like to say now with regard to the McDonnells that it IS Tofield's loss and it IS Camrose's gain.

Tuberculosis Mobile Unit Here Soon

The tuberculosis mobile unit which has already been mentioned in these columns is now at Viking and is due to arrive at Tofield, Saturday October 21st or Monday, October 23rd.

At a meeting at the town hall, Tofield, Wednesday night, Dr. Cutsongavich, M.O. of the Holden Health Unit outlined the procedure. X-ray photographs of the chest will be taken and such is the proficiency of arrangements that 50 persons per hour can be attended to. It is easy, there is privacy and it is to the advantage of the individual to come in and have a photograph taken. By this means each individual can know definitely whether they have tuberculosis or not. This is a valuable health measure, it is free, and all are urged to come in. Revs. Allan, Peterson and Schmeltzer, were appointed as convenors for the town and a committee of ladies were appointed to canvas the town and suggest that the people have these photographs taken. The big problem is to get the people in. Dr. Cutsongavich said each householder will be notified of the exact date and time to come. It is expected the unit will be here three days.

PREVENT FIRES

In the last ten years, property damage in the Dominion as a result of fire has amounted to $264,000,000. A total of 2,000 persons lost their lives and at least 10,000 others were seriously injured as a result of fires.

Most fires could be prevented by a little thought and time used in the removal of hazards. According to B. T. Stephanson, Agricultural Engineer for the Alberta Department of Agriculture, defective chimneys and sparks igniting roof surfaces are the most common causes of dwelling fires. These can be readily controlled by approved chimney construction methods. If the shingles are warped and checked, new roofing or spark arrestors are needed. Other causes of dwelling fires are handling gasoline or kerosene near an open flame.

Common causes of fires are the use of a lantern or open flame when filling a tractor or automobile with fuel at night. To bring any open flame close to vaporized gasoline is to invite death. Familiarity with the use of inflammable liquids tends to minimize regard for their potential danger.

Barn fires are mainly caused by spontaneous ignition of hay, and by lightning. Any hay that shows signs of heating should be removed from the mow. Fire fighting equipment should be on hand when moving such hay so that any outbreak of fire may be extinguished immediately. Unrodded or defectively rodded barns result in a large number of fires. Properly installed lightning rods offer excellent protection from lightning damage.

Both dwelling and barn fires may be caused by defective electrical wiring. Use proper insulation, and fuses of correct size. All electrical wiring should be done in such a manner that it will pass official inspection.

RECORD IS BROKEN

During the first Great War eleven Boy Scouts were awarded the Victoria Cross. That record has now been broken in this war, with fifteen former Scouts now listed as winners of this most coveted decoration.

District Home Economists To Visit Schools

Assistance in the important work of encouraging suitable lunches for children in the rural areas is one of the many services provided by the Home Economics Division of the Alberta Department of Agriculture.

Unless the school child receives a well balanced and nourishing lunch, it is almost impossible to make up the requirements for health protective and essential foods in the other two meals. The child soon has lowered resistance to colds and other communicable diseases. Growth is stunted, and the depleted nervous system results in retarded progress in the classroom.

Organized effort is required on the part of parents and local organizations to sponsor the establishment of a suitable system of planning proper lunches, and serving at least one hot food at the school. The work being done in some of the school districts is commendable, and it is with a view to extending these practices to other districts that the services of the home Economists are being utilized.

Beginning in October the District Home Economists will be visiting schools to discuss with parents and teachers the possibility of organizing a hot school lunch. They will assist by suggesting methods of serving the food, the equipment required, and recipes suited to the particular needs of the school. Where school divisions are prepared to offer financial assistance, as many are, this will also be outlined.

Parents and teachers who wish to take advantage of this assistance are invited to write to the nearest District Home Economist or direct to the Home Economics Division of the Alberta Department of Agriculture.

PROVIDE FREE SERUM TO HELP PREVENT SHIPPING FEVER

To assist in the prevention of outbreaks of shipping fever in feeder cattle passing through or shipped out from the Union Stockyards, St. Boniface, Man. and the Edmonton Stockyards, Edmonton, Alta., the Health of Animals Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, will provide serum free of charge for the treatment of the cattle while they are in the yards.

The serum may be obtained from the Office of the Health of Animals Division at the yards by a licensed veterinary practitioner on the written application of the owner of the cattle or his agent.

Owing to pressure of other work and to a shortage in his veterinary staff, the Health of Animals Division cannot undertake the work of injecting the cattle. It will be necessary, therefore, for owners or their agents who wish to take advantage of this treatment to engage their own veterinarian. The owner or his agent will be expected to report to the Office of the Health of Animals Division from which the serum was obtained as to whether any losses from shipping fever have occurred in treated shipments while on route or within a period of two weeks after their arrival at destination.

Treatment with serum is believed to be the only safe method of protecting cattle while they are on route against shipping fever. It has also been found to be the most effective method of preventing an outbreak, and of checking a case where the disease has already developed.

Serum treatment should not be confused with the better-known aggressin and bacterin treatments. To inject cattle with aggressin or bacterin within two weeks prior to shipment, or while en route, is dangerous. Immediately after injection with either aggressin or bacterin resistance of the tissues is lowered and the animal is more susceptible to an attack of the disease. Maximum resistance is not [illegible] until a varying period of ten days to two weeks after injection with aggressin or bacterin.

Shippers are warned that serum treatment should not be regarded as a panacea which will offset carelessness or neglect in handling cattle on route. Cattle are ordinarily susceptible to shipping fever only when their vitality is reduced as a result of unthriftiness, fatigue, exposure to bad weather, enforced abstinence from feed and water for an unduly long period, overloading of cars, etc.

Precautions which should be taken in the handling of cattle on route are outlined in a pamphlet issued by the Veterinary Director General in 1940, copies of which may be obtained from the Office of the Health of Animals Division at the stockyards.

How To Obtain Ration Book

Alberta's 54 Local Ration Boards have enlisted around 5000 volunteers to distribute Ration Book 5 from 700 distribution centres during Ration Book Week, October 14 to 21.

Note: Watch for weekly newspaper advertisements announcing the distribution centre in each community and specific dates of distribution.

To obtain Ration Book 5, fill in the K coupon sheet at the back of Ration Book 4, printing your name, address, prefix letters and serial number of your book. The age of children under 16 should be recorded beside the name.

Do not detach the K coupon sheet, but present Ration Book 4, intact to your distribution centre, to obtain Ration Book 5.

One adult member of a family or community may obtain new ration books for the family or neighbours providing the required information is recorded in Ration Book 4.

One copy of a pamphlet entitled "What New in Rationing" will be given to each family.

WARNING! Those who neglect to pick up new ration books during distribution dates will have to wait until November 6.

Pink covered, ration book 5 is designed to last 50 weeks and contains 11 sheets of coupons with 25 coupons per sheet instead of the former 16.

BACK TO THE CITY

Claude Wickard, secretary of agriculture in the United States government, says that if the standard of living on farms is to be maintained at a decent level, the number of persons going back to the land must be strictly limited. Over-population of the land will result in a lower income for each person thereon.

Commenting on the fact that many people believe there will be places in agriculture for millions of returning veterans and persons leaving war plants, Mr. Wickard says there is every reason to believe that agriculture will need a smaller rather than a larger labor force in the post-war years. During the last several years there have been such improvements in machinery that about 4 per cent fewer farm workers have produced one-third more food. Furthermore, the only good land now available in the United States is that which must be reclaimed by irrigation or reclamation. ---Wheat Pool Budget.

The busy bee takes a hand in the war effort. We didn't think about it that way until we read an item tucked away in a Department of Agriculture bulletin. It appealed to beekeepers---and lots of them read this column---to conserve every scrap of beeswax possible this coming winter. Do you know, beeswax is mixable with oils and fats, plays a prominent part in the manufacture of ointments and cerates for wounded. (Cerates is a pharmaceutical preparation for external application.) Beeswax is also used in making casts, modelling profile maps of war, and candles.

The "navy is here" for a 77-year old Newfoundland lady, Mrs. Margaret Trim, who just saw her very first movie by courtesy of the Royal Canadian Navy. At a rest camp in Newfie, near which she lives, she does a lot of washing and pressing for the lads and was invited to see the picture "Blondie for Victory". She thought is was "just grand" and is sure the invention is here to stay.

SCOUT SAVES SCOUTMASTER

Patrol leader L. A. Lawrence, a Scout in Nottinghamshire, England, had the unique experience of rescuing his own Scoutmaster from drowning, when the latter took violent cramps while in swimming. The Scout brought him safely to shore and with the aid of other Scouts, successfully applied artificial respiration which their Scoutmaster had taught them.

PENICILLIN

Control of the distribution of penicillin in Canada has been taken over by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Montreal now maintains a 24-hour service to supply 18 strategic depots, including Edmonton, making it possible to fly penicillin to almost any district in Canada inside six hours.

BAKED ALASKA---

THE CANADIAN WEEKLY Newspaper Association has both Dominion and Provincial organizations, each complete with its own officers and executive. There is an annual convention of both Dominion and Provincial organizations which are held separately on different dates and in different parts of Canada. All the conventions follow much about the same pattern, the programs being made up of serious and not so serious gatherings and functions. The conventions are generally held in some large hotel, which as the Vegreville Observer remarks, gives the delegates a temporary sense of importance, which even if it goes as quickly as it comes, is nice enough while it lasts. In addition to the regular business sessions there are social functions at which the delegates are guests of different firms or persons and where they are entertained with food for both body and mind. The Alberta Division of the C.W.N.A. recently held its convention at the MacDonald Hotel, Edmonton, and the delegates were guests at a complimentary luncheon given by the Edmonton Journal and Edmonton Bulletin, at which Prof. Cameron of the University of Alberta delivered a very thoughtful address. In the evening the delegates were guests of the Province of Alberta to a complimentary banquet at which Hon. Lucien Maynard was speaker, and who gave some interesting observations on rural reception of country weeklies. The following morning the delegates were guests of the Western Newspaper Union at breakfast and at noon were guests of the Wholesale Paper Houses, Barber-Ellis, Clark Bros., Midwest Paper Ltd., and Smith, Davidson and Wright, to a complimentary luncheon at which a Mr. Rose of Edmonton gave a very thoughtful address, dotted with gems of humor, on re-hapilitation.

When attending these functions and while amid the glamor of fine linen, silver and shining glass, and while observing the super efficiency of the waiters and waitresses, we have often pondered on the arrangements in the kitchen and marvelled how they got everything just right at the right time. But at the recent Paper House luncheon the chef produced a triumph of culinary skill. Sitting close to the door we saw the waitress bring in on a tray four or five long dessert confections, handsomely decorated with scrolled meringue, and we knew that underneath the meringue was cake and inside the cake was frozen ice cream, and that in its entirety it had just left the oven, ice cream and all. Served in portions by the waitresses with a topping of strawberry sauce, no ancient or modern king was ever served more delectable food. So while the guests were applauding the speakers and the speakers were complimenting the guests, we offered up a little praise to the chef who produced the handsome and certainly delicious dessert known as Baked Alaska.

KETCHAMOOT

School re-opened Monday, October 2 with Miss Muriel Pinseth as teacher. Four new pupils enrolled, Alice Ragukr, Shirley Sutton, Evelyn Gray and Vernon Penner.

Mr. Ralph Harrison spent the week end at the home of his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Harrison at Lamont last week.

Thanksgiving passed very quietly on Monday. We doubt if any family dinners were held, we were all more interested in getting some threshing done. We are sure no farmer had anything to do with it when Thanksgiving is set on Monday and so early in the fall. Thanksgiving services were held on Sunday with a fairly large congregation present. Mrs. Appleby gave it a nice harvest touch by bringing vegetables and grain for decoration.

Threshing started in earnest on Monday. Machines started up were: McGinitie's, Sears' and Coombes', Brown's, Simonson's, and no doubt others.

Mrs. Hugh McCall and daughter Mary returned home Monday after spending the week end in Edmonton.

Home for Thanksgiving holidays were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schultz, Mr. and Mrs. Jack and Dawn, Misses Marguerite and Joyce Whillans and Miss Margaret Mitchell, all of Edmonton.

Mrs. G. W. Sears entertained the Ladies Aid at her home Wednesday afternoon of last week. Some thirty members and visitors were present.

Mrs. M. Davison, daughter Edith and a girl friend from Wainwright are away on a pleasant holiday, visiting and sightseeing at Seattle, Bellingham and Vancouver Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Mac Harrison, oldtimers of Tofield, visited at the Davison home Tuesday of last week.

We think we will have to mention a very ambitious hen belonging to Charley Sears. She was hatched in the middle of March, stole her nest out and brought off a flock of her own the first of October. Can anyone beat that?

CO' BOSS!

No man in his right mind ever sat down to milk a cow on her left flank. So the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has been told in no uncertain terms following a recent advertisement stating the national milk supply situation!

A small thumb-sketch of a cow being milked on the left side, illustrating the ads, drew protesting letters from scores of Alberta farmers. Milkmaids had their say too.

"Anyway", said a harried Board official . . . "They certainly read our ads!"

AMISK CREEK

A wedding of much local interest took place Wednesday, October 4, at Killam, when Mrs. M. Weeks of Killam and Mr. I. Annebo were married. Neighbors and friends surprised Mr. and Mrs. Annebo at their home here last Friday evening. Mrs. E. A. Moen, on behalf of all present, wished Mr. and Mrs. Annebo much happiness and presented them with a purse of money. Later on the ladies served a dainty lunch.

Mr. A. Erickson has moved to Ryley to reside with his daughter, Mrs. C. Kjaring.

Mrs. A. Flasten spent Thursday of last week in the city.

Mrs. I. C. Olson accompanied her Mother to Banff where Mrs. Rorem is to receive medical attention. Mrs. Olson returned last Friday.

Mr and Mrs Jack Murray and infant son motored to Lousana last Saturday to spend Thanksgiving at Jack's parental home. Jack is now on the teaching staff at Innisfree, and returned there Tuesday morning. Mrs. Murray is remaining at her parental home here until Nov. 1.

Pastor Ostrum conducted service at the Amisk Creek Church Sunday afternoon.

The Amisk Creek School has re-opened with Miss Beatrice Baptist as teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Annebo of Camrose spent Thanksgiving at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. Annebo.

Miss Pearl Patterson R.N., who is on the nursing staff at a Vancouver hospital, is home for a month's holiday.

Norman Patterson, RCAF, who has been home on harvest leave, has returned to his post in Manitoba.

Miss Mary Johnson spent last week end at Killam.

Mrs. C. Berg was hostess to the A. C. Ladies' Aid Tuesday of last week. "Thankoffering" contributions totalled approximately $18.00. The members decided to make a woolen top quilt, the blocks to be 24" by 30", which are to be handed in at the November Meeting.

MINISTIK

Frank Baumgartner and family have moved over to Mr. Holme's place for the winter. Jimmy Holmes expects to go to Olds to school on the 17th.

Some of our young people went to the dance at Lindbrook on Saturday night. Bob Smith tells me there were 200 paid at the door and they sold out of Hot Dogs and coffee.

Mrs. A. J. Leach received a letter from Rev. W. Irving. Bill is overseas now. He sends his best regards to the Ministik people.

Threshing got under way on Monday last and if the weather man is good to us it will not take long to clean up this district.

The next picture show and dance will be on Friday, November 3rd. Come all and have a good time.

Stanley George is expected home from the North in the near future. I guess the weather up there is getting winter, and home sweet home is looking good to him.

Bruce George says they have had snow at Fort Graham for over a month now.

There was a good turnout at Church last Sunday. Mr. Archer took the service which everybody enjoyed. There will be service next Sunday afternoon.

The movie picture show and dance was a great success. The music was supplied by the Ministik Music Makers and they're sure good. It was fine to see Lowell Bacheldor there as M.C., it seemed like old times. The proceeds of the dance went to the Hall fund. About $20.00 was collected and after expenses were paid about $12.00 went to the hall.

TURKEY PRICES

Grade A young tom or young hen turkeys may sell wholesale at 39½ cents per pound on Alberta markets until November 1, says the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Old hen turkeys are under the maximum 36½ cents per pound and old toms, 35½ cents per pound. Ungraded poultry is governed by the Grade B maximum wholesale price.

Wholesale prices must be observed by farmers selling to retailers. Farmers selling direct to consumers may add up to seven cents per pound to the wholesale price.

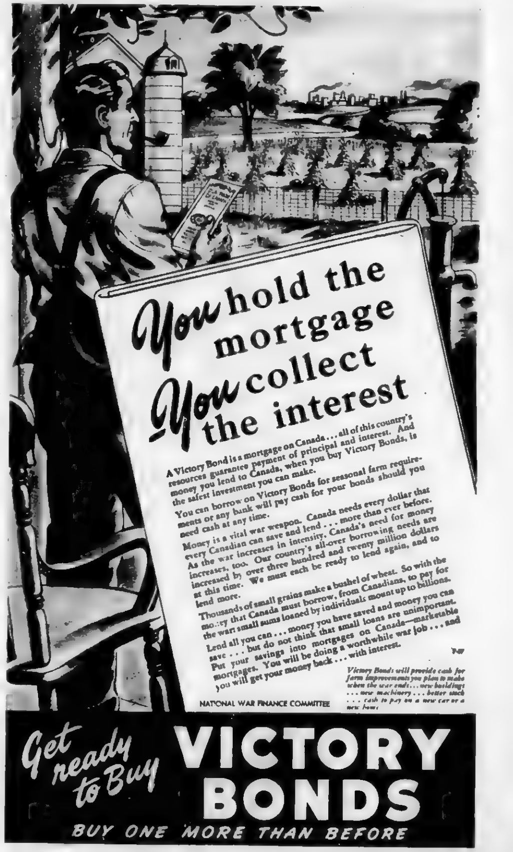
CHEF TO THREE KINGS ---AND COURAGEOUS

Halifax, October 10---Chef Elie Louis Brahan of the Canadian hospital ship "Lady Nelson" former queen of the Canadian National Steamships' West Indies fleet, has been chef to three kings, King George V, Edward VIII and the present King George VI. During this war Chef Brahan has been torpedoed six times. In the last war, while serving with the Navy, he was mentioned in despatches and received Oak Leaves for saving his ship from a floating mine by diving overboard and pushing the mine away from the ship.

FISH FOR EUROPE

Vancouver, October 10---It has been learned here from the Natural Resources Department of the Canadian National Railways that large quantities of fish from the West Coast of Canada will be sent for relief of people of war torn Europe. An order has been placed by UNRRA for 14,500,000 pounds of fish from the West and East coasts and an additional order is expected that will bring the total up to 20 million pounds. The order calls for herring from the West Coast while the East Coast is to supply chicken haddie, mackerel and also herring.



A Victory Bond is a mortgage on Canada . . . all of this country's resources guarantee payment of principal and interest. And money you lend to Canada, when you buy Victory Bonds, is the safest investment you can make.

You can borrow on Victory Bonds for seasonal farm requirements or any bank will pay cash for your bonds should you need cash at any time.

Money is a vital war weapon. Canada needs every dollar that every Canadian can save and lend . . . more than ever before. As the war increases in intensity, Canada's need for money increases, too. Our country's all-over borrowing needs are increased by over three hundred and twenty million dollars at this time. We must each be ready to lend again, and to lend more.

Thousands of small grains make a bushel of wheat. So with the money that Canada must borrow, from Canadians, to pay for the war: small sums loaned by individuals mount up to billions.

Lend all you can . . . money you have saved and money you can save . . . but do not think that small loans are unimportant. Put your savings into mortgages on Canada—marketable mortgages. You will be doing a worthwhile war job . . . and you will get your money back . . . with interest.

Victory Bonds will provide cash for farm improvements you plan to make when the war ends . . . new buildings . . . new machinery . . . better stock . . . cash to pay on a new car or a new home

KEEP THE MILK FLOWING

Every fall a decline is noted in milk and butter production, a decline which is not only serious in times like the present but one that could [illegible] be remedied if more attention were paid to proper housing, feeding and management.

An indication of the seasonal nature of milk production is obtained from the fact that two and one half times as much milk was produced in Canada in June of this year as was produced in February. This seasonal aspect is even more noticeable when a comparison is made of statistics in the production of dairy butter, a major product of Alberta Dairy Factories. According to the Alberta Dairy Commissioner, factories in this province manufactured over five and one half million pounds of butter during June of this year as compared with less than one and three quarter million pounds during the month of January. Production during June was 3.2 times that of January.

There is urgent need for more milk during the coming winter, and an endeavour should be made to level out production. Prices paid for milk and cream are higher during the winter, cost of manufacture of dairy products can be reduced by increasing the volume, and farm labour during the winter cannot be used to better advantage than by milking and caring for a dairy herd.

EUROPEAN CONDITIONS

For some years now it has been dinned into the ears of Canadian farmers that war-ravaged Europe would require huge quantities of food after the war ended. While it is fairly certain that for a while at least substantial shipments of food will have to be made to that continent, some authoritative sources are indicating that the prospective demand has been greatly exaggerated.

The United States department of agriculture is seemingly convinced that Europe has not been so badly fed and only a few countries will require very large quantities of imported food when the war ends. It says that Nazi-held Europe has been getting from 85 to 90 per cent of its pre-war food volume and the worst feature has been unequal distribution. Lush farming areas and the cities contiguous thereto have suffered very little. Deficit areas such as Norway, Belgium and Mediterranean France have fared less well. Poland and Greece have felt starvation.

The worst off country will be Germany. That nation has grabbed off surplus food wherever it was produced. It obtained annually about 45 million bushels of wheat from France, Roumania and the Ukraine, and substantial quantities of dairy products from Denmark, Holland and France. The Reich has little surplus food with which to carry on throughout another winter even if it willed to fight.

The areas liberated by armed forces of the United Nations will have enlarged domestic supplies made available to them immediately, as well as supplies provided by the Army Command. There is no purchasing of domestic supplies by the liberating forces.

With regard to wheat, the London Corn Trade News says that the only actually shortages of bread in Europe occurred in Poland and Greece, parts of Russia and Italy. It says further that where bread has been rationed the scale of rations, with few exceptions, has been generous and there is no evidence that years must elapse before home production can meet deficiencies.

In the meantime production of food products in exporting countries, particularly in Canada and the United States, has been at peak levels and huge surpluses of many lines have been accumulated. There is apprehension that these reserves may cause glutted markets, particularly if unemployment develops in North America, thus bringing down domestic consumption of food. ---Wheat Pool Bulletin.

COVETED DISTINCTION

Prince Rupert, Oct. 10--- It is seldom indeed, that a large ship is found to be free of defects of any kind on its first trial run, and any shipyard is [illegible] for the production of such a vessel establishes a record enjoyed by few. Such a ship was S.S. Fort Aspin, 10,000-ton "Victory" type cargo vessel, launched this summer by the Prince Rupert Drydock and Shipyard. After the trial run, Lloyd's inspectors, representatives of Wartime Shipbuilding Limited and the captain and chief engineer of the ship could find nothing wrong with the vessel and all signed a "nil defects" certificate. This is the most coveted distinction a shipyard can gain. The layman may be impressed by the fact that a ship has been found to be in perfect condition on its first run but it goes much deeper than that. It must be borne in mind the "nile defects" certificate was being earned from the very minute that the keel blocks were being laid.

Every worker, every hargehand, every forman, assistant superintendent, and superintendent did his share in turning out the perfect ship. It is a triumph of, and a tribute to co-operation. Without the diligent help of all, the success could not have been gained.

THE TOFIELD MERCURY

Vol. XXIX., No. 28 Thursday, October 19, 1944 $2.00 Per Yea. In U.S.A. $2.50

A Message From The Local Committee

This issue of the Mercury could well be called Victory Loan Issue. In it you will find many appeals to your patriotism, purse, and good judgment. In common with many other units throughout Canada, the Tofield Unit has a specific task to do and it depends upon each individual's co-operation whether this task is successfully accomplished. Our quota in this campaign has been raised to $120,000.00 and to sell Victory Bonds up to this figure will require the energy and enthusiasm of all those connected with the work as well as a good reception on the part of the buying public. In each Victory Loan drive our quota has been successively raised and in each Victory Loan drive we have successfully met the challenge. We feel confident in doing so in the forthcoming drive. We know the money is available and we are counting on the loyalty, goodwill and generosity of our people so that with them the Tofield Unit may do its full share in Backing the Attack.

Signed on behalf of the Committee,
GEO. B. BRACE, Chairman.
A. J. H. McCAULEY, Unit Organizer.

Just a little longer -

It is up to each of us to do our utmost, without delay, to help our men achieve the goal we have all dreamed of now so long — unconditional surrender.

It's time to act! Every bond we buy in this Seventh Victory Loan hastens the day when the boys come home! That is why it is vital each of us buy one more bond than we bought before.

Veterans Will Receive Preference In Civil Service

Ottawa, Oct. 16—Fullest protection to the preference for veterans in the civil service was promised here today by Prime Minister Mackenzie King in a letter to Alex Walker, dominion president of the Canadian Legion.

In answer to a request from Mr. Walker that the government clarify its position in regard to veterans who would come back to Canada seeking positions in the civil service, Prime Minister King said: "The government is at present giving consideration to the procedure to be followed in releasing temporary wartime civil servants, and I can assure you that, in working out such procedure, the fullest protection will be given to the preference for veterans."

There was not, the prime minister declared, any occasion for apprehension that the men coming back from overseas would find all desirable positions in the civil service filled with wartime civilian appointees. It had been necessary, he said, to make some appointments permanent in order to fill certain key posts but "the vast majority of the posts in the public service will be open to competition by ex-service men and women after the war."

Temporary employees were hired on the understanding that, should it be necessary to continue the position after the war, consideration would then be given ex-service men and women applying for work.

"As exceptions to this general rule," he continued, "it was agreed that permanent appointments might be made, in the case of veterans of either war, civilians who had entered the service after competitive examinations prior to the outbreak of the present war and permanent officers of the service promoted to higher positions. A limited number of additional exceptions have had to be made in order to maintain the efficiency of the public service. These have been cases in which a satisfactory appointee was immediately required whose services could only be secured by granting permanent status. This was true of some of the higher positions in the unemployment insurance commission at the time it was established."

Cost Of Hog Production Increases With Age

(Experimental Farms News)

It is expected that during 1944 about 10 million hogs will be killed in Canada for meat. This will provide a market for about 200,000,000 bushels of oats and barley or the equivalent in wheat, says H. L. Wilson, Dominion Experimental Station, Lacombe, Alberta.

To secure the permanence of the export bacon trade after the war, it will be necessary for hog producers to make a concerted effort to provide the type, finish and weight of carcasses required for the British trade.

At the present time and under the present grading regulations the marketing of hogs only when they have reached the correct weight of from 190 to 210 pounds at the farms is one of the greatest problems of the Canadian bacon industry. The future of the Canadian bacon trade may depend upon the weights at which farmers choose to market their hogs.

It is difficult to estimate the weights of pigs with the necessary accuracy. To overcome this difficulty a special pig scale which is well suited to the job of weighing pigs on the farm has been developed under the auspices of the Production Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, and is being offered at cost to farmers. Information on this scale can be obtained from District Fieldmen of the Production Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, or the Superintendent of the nearest Dominion Experimental Farm.

Hogs weighing not more than 210 pounds alive when marketed at about six months old are not only more likely to receive the premium on A grade but they will also cost considerably less to produce than will hogs marketed at heavier weights and when several weeks older.

Experiments at the Dominion Experimental Station, Lacombe, Alta., have shown a progressively decreasing efficiency in food utilization with increasing weight. Information on growth and feeding recorded on 100 hogs showed that it required 219 pounds of grain to produce one hundred pounds of gain for the first thirty days of the experiment, 275 pounds for the second thirty days, 378 pounds for the third thirty days and 422 pounds for the final thirty-eight days, the average requirement for the total period being 292 pounds of grain for 100 lb. of gain.

The cheaper gains made by younger pigs may be attributed to the fact that gains at heavy weights are mostly made up of fat, and fat is 2½ times as concentrated in heat units as lean.

With the cost of gains steadily increasing with the age of the pig and the undesirable bacon obtained from "heavy" hogs, it stands to reason that hogs will be most profitable when marketed between 190 and 210 pounds in weight.

Some Excellent Reasons Why You Should Buy Some Victory Bonds

● There must be a man on the ground to pitch on. Two on the ground is better.

And we can't expect the men on the fighting fronts to win this war without support from the home front. "Combined Operations" provide a war job for every Canadian. We must "pitch on" more to keep our fighters supplied with tools to finish the job. We must replace munitions which victories have cost. To help to do this we must buy more Victory Bonds.

This is our share of the work that remains to be done . . . our privilege and our duty. It is our opportunity to save money to buy things which we will want and need when the war is ended. GRAIN HANDLING CHARGES REDUCED

On Saturday morning October 7th, the Alberta Wheat Pool announced that the directors had decided to adjust the schedule of grain handling charges at Pool elevators to bring them into uniformity with those in effect in Saskatchewan and Manitoba, and the benefits of this reduction should be made retroactive to August 1st, 1944. The new rates went into effect on October 10th. In the case of "street" wheat delivered to the wheat board the reduction in handling charges is two cents a bushel. The charges for handling other grains in Alberta Pool elevators are also reduced by substantial amounts.

The decision to cut the cost of handling grain in Pool elevators throughout the prairie provinces was reached at an inter-provincial meeting of the directorates of the Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta Wheat Pools held in Regina on September 22nd and 23rd. The Pool elevators in the other provinces announced their reductions a week earlier than did the Alberta Wheat Pool. As these reductions date back to August 1st, and as all farmers who delivered grain to the Pool elevators between that date and the time the new policy went into effect will get a refund equal to the reductions, the week's delay in Alberta is unimportant.

From the time Pool elevators start[illegible] efforts have been made to reduce handling margins as operations warranted such action. In the early stages of the operations of the wheat pool organizations, grain handling charges were as high as six cents a bushel. Over the years reductions have been made, mainly at the instigation of the Wheat Pools, until a year ago the cost of handling wheat was fixed at three cents, which was considered to be a minimum margin consistent with the type of service extended.

The wheat pools are true co-operative organizations and hitherto have followed the principle of charging regular rates and refunding excess earnings to patrons and members. This method has been accepted as a sound co-operative principle throughout the world.

During the war years earnings and conditions of operation of all elevator companies have probably been the most favorable in the history of the grain trade. This was due to the fact that in this period the bulk of the wheat has been handled by the Canadian Wheat Board, which organization paid storage charges on grain delivered to it. The board's operations eliminated much of the risk in handling and selling grain. In the period from August 1st, 1940, to July 31st, 1943, the wheat board paid $60 million carrying charges for wheat stored in country and terminal elevators. It is thus clear the profits made in grain handling did not result from the established handling charges but from the carrying charges paid by the wheat board. These carrying charges were, of course, deducted from the final payments on wheat delivered to the board and thus really came out of the pockets of the wheat producers.

The Pools thought the proper course to follow was to reduce the storage charges. Mainly through their actions such charges were reduced from 1-30 of a cent a bushel a day to 1-60 of a cent for stocks in country points, and 1-80 of a cent per bushel per day for stocks in terminal elevators. Even at the lower figures storage charges on the huge stocks owned by the wheat board amount to very large sums.

In cutting the handling charges the wheat pools are really handing to the farmers money realized from st[illegible] charges paid by themselves through the wheat board. It should be clearly understood that handling charges are now substantially below the cost of such services and this cut could not be made if substantial revenues from storage charges were not available.

In every province the Line elevator companies have followed the precedent set by the wheat pools. This means that the farmers of the prairie provinces now stand to gain millions of dollars as a direct result of the actions of the wheat pools.—Wheat Pool Bulletin.

NATIONAL FILM BOARD RESUMES OPERATION

With the rural film circuits of the National Film Board resuming operation for another year, residents of rural communities are promised a variety of films on agriculture, nutrition, current events, industrial and geographic topics, sing-songs, and a number of one-reel films on educa[illegible] subjects especially made for [illegible].

Four outstanding films on agriculture are planned to supplement the Farm Radio Forum broadcasts this winter, and the order of their release will correspond very closely with the Farm Radio Forum schedule.

Of particular interest in the October showings are:

BATTLE OF RUSSIA—a highly dramatic film of outstanding value, in feature length (seven reels), showing the background of the development of a great nation through a century or more of progress. Authentic scenes from the defence of Stalingrad are included; the cartoons on Russian strategy alone make the picture worthy of careful study.

HISTORY OF POWER IN CANADA—showing the progress in 200 years from crude oil lamps, hand-made threshers, wheelbarrows, to the hydro-electric power, combines, tractors of today. Two reels.

Mr. Donald Cameron, Regional Agent for the National Film Board in Alberta, hopes to see an increase in the activities of rural study groups who take advantage of these film showings in their local communities. Women's Institutes, U.F.A. and A.F.U. locals, Home and School Associations, young people's groups should be particularly interested in this vital aid to rural adult education. Farm Forum and Citizens' Forum groups should inquire about the possibility of combining film showings with the broadcasts and forum discussion.

Program notes on the films are available on request, either from the National Film Board operator in your district, or from the University Department of Extension. Supplementary films on a large variety of topics may be secured from the Department at a nominal service fee, to be shown by your NFB fieldman with the regular program. The Film Board operator will be glad to furnish information on the films and University Extension services. Watch for his posters in your local post-office.

MINISTIK

There was a nice turnout at Church on Sunday last. Mr. Pugh took the service and his address was very interesting. Next Sunday the Service will be our usual Student preacher at 2:30 o'clock.

The U.F.W.A. ladies have sent Christmas boxes to the boys overseas from this district.

Jack Card is in a Vancouver hospital. We hear he is coming to Ministik on a visit as soon as he gets strong enough.

We hear Mildred Rowland is a Mrs. Morrison and is residing at Grande Prairie now.

Miss Jessie Swabey is home on a visit to her mother for a few days.

Don't forget the Movie Picture Show and Dance on Friday, Nov. 3rd.

The October meeting of the U.F.W.A. was postponed owing to the rush of harvesting. The next meeting will be in November, the place to be given out later.

Mrs. D. R. Swabey was a Sunday visitor to her sister's, Mrs. A. J. Leach.

LOCAL & PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Wilson and family motored to Red Deer on Saturday where Corinne and Lou enrolled in the High School department of the Nazarene College. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson went on to May City, east of Olds, and spent Sunday visiting Mrs. Wilson's brother, Rev. R. J. Rogers and family.

A New Hampshire pullet owned by Mrs. R. E. Wilson hatched on March 12, stole her nest away and on August 3rd was found to be very broody and setting on a nest of 12 eggs. We believe this beats the hen mentioned in the Ketchamoot news. Has anyone one better?

- This simplification will relieve the congestion in our billing department, as well as help us comply with a new paper curtailment. There'll also be a saving in gasoline and rubber, and that's important right now. This won't result in any reduction in staff but instead will allow them to devote more time to bettering the service to you.
- Other utilities operating under this plan have found it very satisfactory to both themselves and their customers. I'm sure you'll like it too. Six bills a year instead of twelve will save you time and trouble, yet your total cost will be exactly the same as before.

CANADA'S VETERANS
Their Post-War Opportunities

The third in a series of advertisements to inform the people of Canada of plans to re-establish men and women of the armed forces. To get full details, save and read every advertisement.

Training and Education—Doorways to Opportunity

SOCIAL SECURITY MEASURES

In planning Canada's re-establishment program, its framers worked with one principal idea in mind. This was that the only answer to the problem of permanent re-establishment is a job, and that the surest way to get and hold that job is by the skill necessary for it.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING

Every ex-service man or woman who will be assisted in re-establishment by training is eligible to have it. There is provision for paying fees for all courses and, in addition, the ex-service man or woman may receive maintenance grants up to:

$60 monthly if single;

$80 monthly for a man and his wife, together with children's allowances.

This training is available for the period of service to a maximum of one year, but can be extended beyond that period, if necessary, and if service is more than one year.

EDUCATIONAL TRAINING

This is available to all who are admitted to university within 15 months of discharge and, as in vocational training, fees are paid and there are maintenance allowances up to:

$60 monthly for a single man;

$80 monthly for a man and his wife, together with allowances for dependent children.

These allowances will be continued on a month for month basis of the time in the services, providing all examinations are passed. Outstanding students may have assistance continued to completion of the course.

SOCIAL SECURITY MEASURES

Under the re-establishment program Canada's veterans who, within 18 months of discharge from the services, become ill or unemployed may draw maintenance allowances up to $50 if single and $70 for a man and his wife, together with children's allowances. The out-of-work benefits are for those fit and able to work, but for whom there is no work immediately available. In the case of serious illness there is free treatment and hospitalization for any condition in the year following discharge.

As a further security measure, every veteran who enters insurable employment is entitled, after 15 weeks in that employment, to unemployment insurance credit as though the whole period in the services since July 1, 1941, had been spent in the insurable employment.

VETERANS' WELFARE OFFICERS ARE STATIONED IN KEY CENTRES THROUGHOUT CANADA. THEY ADVISE AND ASSIST EX-SERVICE PERSONNEL, AND SHOULD BE CONSULTED ON ALL PROBLEMS.

PENSIONS AND NATIONAL HEALTH

STRIKES AND LOCK-OUTS DURING AUGUST 1944

Time lost through strikes and lock-outs was 41.2 per cent less in the first eight months of this year than for the same period in 1943, the Department of Labour announced today.

A total of 478,189 man-working days were lost up to August 31, 1944, in 151 strikes involving 69,200 workers. During the first eight months of last year, 822,045 days were lost in 287 strikes involving 149,977 workers.

In August, 1944, 12,771 workers took part in 25 strikes which caused a loss of 121,243 man-working days. Fifty strikes in August, 1943, involved 23,645 workers and caused a time loss of 240,493 days.

Approximately 87 per cent of the total time lost during August of this year was due to two work stoppages—the Montreal Tramways strike and a strike of shipyard workers at Halifax and Dartmouth, N.S.—which involved 54 per cent of all the workers who took part in strikes during the month.

HUNDRED THOUSAND FARMERS NEEDED

"This Autumn and Winter, Canadian farmers are expected to help in the processing of products they themselves had a hand in producing during the summer months."

A Department of Labour spokesman made this statement recently commenting on the N.S.S. campaign to secure more than 100,000 men for work in essential Canadian industries.

Meat packing, feed and flour milling are but two of the industries on the look out for men from the farms during their off-season. The largest group of farmers is being asked to work in the woods, cutting sawlogs, pulpwood and engaging in other forest operations. "Sixty thousand men will be needed for this wartime job alone," said the spokesman.

In Quebec and Ontario recruiting of men for woods operations commenced on October 1. In Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, men will not be asked to leave their farms until threshing is nearing completion.

In Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick as soon as the potato and apple crops are harvested, efforts will be made to recruit workers.

"The Minister of Labour announced the other day that last Winter 100,000 men from Canadian farms answered their country's call", this spokesman pointed out. "This year as many or more willing workers are urgently needed." He continued "Whatever course the war in Europe may take 100,000 or more workers will be needed by Canadian industries."

MOTHERS SOLVE SCHOOL LUNCH HOT DISH PROBLEM

The vexed question . . . hot food in the children's noonday meal . . . means just another headache for some Canadian mothers.

The headache isn't necessary, because this knotty problem can be solved very simply, whether that particular meal is eaten at home, in the school cafeteria or from the lunch-box.

Here is how the women in some rural communities have solved their special 'headaches'.

In one community each child brings the food to be heated to school in a covered jar . . . the screw-top kind to avoid spills. The jar may contain home-made pork and beans, delicious scalloped potatoes, vegetables in creamy sauce with a sprinkle of grated cheese, good old-fashioned Irish stew, and so on. At recess all the jars are placed in a pan of water on the stove and by noon the food is piping hot.

In other rural schools the hot dish problem has been solved in this way. Each mother takes turns in preparing a hot dish for the noon meal in sufficient quantity for all the pupils. This plan has worked well and the youngsters love it.

Enterprising teachers in still other communities have undertaken the task of preparing the hot course at noon. It may be a steaming kettle of rich cream of tomato soup, or a delectable vegetable chowder, or the old favorite, hot foamy cocoa.

However it's achieved, this hot course at noon is all to the good and adds up to better health for young Canadians. For this reason, it has the hearty approval of the Nutrition Division, Ottawa, which stresses the importance of hot food in the children's lunch.

TAXES NEEDED TO WIN THE WAR

By H. G. L. Strange

The Wheat Pools and Line Elevator Companies announce they will handle wheat at one cent a bushel instead of the official governmental rate of three cents. The Pools have not paid Dominion income taxes for years, and so perhaps have the savings with which to do this for a certain time. The Line Elevator Companies, however, have been paying each year such income taxes.

For my part I think that this action by Pools and Elevator Companies is wrong and unpatriotic, and will harm our war effort, and I believe most farmers, after careful consideration, will agree with me. This means handling grain at a loss, and so the first result will be to deprive the Government of large sums of tax money it now badly needs to buy foodstuffs and munitions to support our fighting sons in the dreadful battles now going on. To collect taxes at first hand from Companies is the quick and economical way for the Government to obtain a large part of the money it must have. If the Government cannot collect taxes on grain from Grain Companies, it may put on a special and costly drive to collect the same sums later from the farmers individually. Our farmers, therefore, will pay their share in any event, as they patriotically will want to do. It is quicker and cheaper, however, for the Government to collect these taxes from the Companies who handle the grain, than it is to collect the same sums from farmers later.

—V—

EASE CONTROLS WITH CAUTION

"We have had the responsibility of imposing controls during the wartime period and we recognize we have a similar responsibility in removing them in a sensible way" said Price's Board Chairman, Donald Gordon, in a recent interview in Ottawa.

War needs over, there will be abundant materials for civilian production but man power will need to be directed to the most exigeant channels. This will entail consultations with the Labor Department, Mr. Gordon explained.

Although the Board is working towards a speedy return to business freedom, modified control will have to be exercised to combat the inflationary tendency which could accrue if pent-up spending power is released when production is in "trickle" stage.

Mr. Gordon pointed out that inflation came after the last war and said "if the Prices Board is as successful as I hope we just won't have that crazy peak this time."

A dollar saved is 90 cents earned—or did you remember that income tax?

LINDBROOK

The Lindbrook Mennonite Church was the scene of a colorful wedding on Sunday, Oct. 8th. The church was beautifully decorated with pink and white roses and spruce boughs, as Mary Goertz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Goertz of Lindbrook, and Frank Peters, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Peters of Woodlawn, exchanged wedding vows. The bride was attired in a white floor length gown with matching veil. She carried a bouquet of pink, white and red roses. The bridal couple will take up residence at the home of the groom's parents.

Mrs. N. E. Chandler (nee Thelma Kortzman) has been a visitor at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Kortzman for the past week.

AUTOMATIC HEN NOT YET INVENTED

Mechanization is said to be so complete on some poultry farms that the collection and packing of eggs has become the principal item of labour cost. There are automatic waterers, feed carriers, mass adjustment of ventilation, deep litter, manure pits, all useful in their proper place. But there is a potential snag in the fact that the modern trend to mechanization monopolizes much of the poultryman's time, with the result he is forced to spend less and less time with his flock.

Mechanization cannot supplant the art of poultry husbandry. It cannot replace the seeing eye, the feeling hand, the need of daily contact with the birds themselves as the means of judging and correcting the comportment of any flock. The maximum efficiency in production depends upon a happy combination of the art of poultry husbandry which calls for the greatest amount of time to be spent in personal attention to the flock together with the adventitious aid of mechanization as the means of greater efficiency and reduction of costs.

All farm animals need personal care. Tractors may have replaced horses, but no one as yet has invented the automatic hen, so that mechanization should not become so all absorbing to leave out of consideration the instinctive or acquired faculty of first observing, then knowing what to do and doing it at the proper time in order to keep the flock in good condition, healthy, and contented. Mechanization and the art of poultry husbandry can go hand in hand, each a complement to the other.

A CENTURY OF CO-OPERATION

David Raymond

Britain's Co-operative Movement, which celebrates its centenary this year, plays an important part in the social and economic life of the people of England, Scotland and Wales. Hardly a town exists that does not have its Co-operative store, usually in the main shopping centre with premises of modern design.

Eleven million consumers—a quarter of the total civilian population of Britain—buys its main rationed foodstuffs (meat, milk, eggs, fats, sugar and the like) from Co-operative stores. Nine million persons are actual members of the 1,140 local retail Co-operative societies throughout the country.

The Co-operatives handle something like a third of Britain's milk supplies, a sixth of the total meat trade and between 5 and 6 per cent of the clothing trade. They employ 300,000 workers, mostly in the distributive trades. Besides merchanting, most of the societies are regionally federated for productive activities such as laundries, bakeries, tailoring and pharmaceutical factories. Banking and insurance, boot and shoe manufacture, motorcycle and radio manufacture, biscuit making, fruit preserving and coal production are carried on by the English and Scottish Co-operative wholesale societies as [illegible] agents for the retail Co-operatives.

It would be wrong to deduce from the impressive survey that could be made of the commercial scope of Co-operative activities that Britain's Co-operative movement is nothing more than a gigantic, prosperous trading organization. It may not have travelled all the way to the goal ambitiously set for it by its Rochdale workingmen founders a hundred years ago when they declared their purpose to be to "arrange the powers of production, distribution, education and government." But the very least that can be said of it is that it has contributed incalculably to the wider acceptance and the increasing application of economic justice.

It has been a powerful factor in the development of political democracy. And it has provided the world with a set of principals that turned co-operation from a series of disillusioning Utopian experiments into a workable system of almost universal validity.

The achievements of Britain's Co-operatives in all this must be judged against the fact that they were born and established themselves on a sound basis during the era of laissez faire triumphant, that is, the original members, cotton [illegible] and others, set themselves the task of starting a commercial venture based on principles diametrically opposed to the prevailing [illegible] standards and ideas of the time. [illegible] that they did not succeed without a valiant struggle against [illegible] and enveloping opposition.

The first 25 years of the movement during which it experienced a phenomenal expansion came between the decline of the [illegible] movement for political emancipation and the rise of British trade unionism. That the movement started in Lancashire, where the Industrial Revolution was seen in its ugliest form, was significant.

The Lancashire pioneers who opened their first small Co-operative shop in Toad Lane, Rochdale, were themselves active in the various movements of the time. The man who drew up the rules, Howarth, was a Chartist orator. The members held their first meetings at the Weavers' Arms and at the Socialist Institute next door.—Wheat Pool Budget

WHERE IT'S COLD

On the fighting front our men are still "slugging it out". Each advance . . . each new sector . . . each mile that the battle front is extended . . . is hard going. Much fighting lies ahead.

There's more to be done on the home front, too.

More money is needed to enable our country to carry her share of the war's cost.

Our duty is clear . . . we, at home, must provide the money. Canada must get this money from Canadians.

Fortunately, most of us have good incomes. We can do our share.

But it is the extra effort that wins battles and we must be prepared to make extra effort on the home front. Canada's borrowing needs have been increased by some three hundred and twenty million dollars. That's extra effort that we, at home, must make. We must provide the money that is needed . . . more money than ever before.

We must keep faith with our fighting men. We must continue to work and save . . . and lend. We must all lend more.

Mrs. Wendel Wiley and Mrs. J. Nicholson assisted their mother, Mrs. J. H. Ingram, cooking for threshers.

Mrs. J. Younie and daughter, Miss Mabel, Mrs. Jean Dawe and Daughter, Mrs. Barford, all of Edmonton, were guests of their brother and uncle, Mr. W. A. Mitchell and Mrs. Mitchell.

Mrs. Dawe and Mrs. Barford recently motored from Vancouver, where they have been residing, but now expect to make their home in Edmonton.

Mr. P. O. Moline and daughter Florence of Lacombe, visited with Amisk Creek friends for a few days last week. On Wednesday Mr. Moline called on Mr. C. A. Ingram and the Sears family. We were very sorry to hear of the death of his sister, Sarah, Mrs. Harvison, at the home of her son Harry in Idaho, in September. Mrs. Harvison had often visited her sister, the late Mrs. C. A. Ingram, and had made many friends in our district.

Mr. G. W. Sears and Miss Hazel were passengers to Edmonton Friday.

The Williams family have been busy building a new house throughout the summer months. Thinking we would get back to see it and be able to tell more about it, we have not mentioned it before. We hear it is a medium large house, 6 rooms and full basement.

Out of the old house, Ida,
Moved into the new,
May you have many years of happiness,
And your trials and troubles just about through.

FIRE—EVER PRESENT HAZARD AROUND CANADIAN FARM BUILDINGS

Every day hundreds of farm buildings in Canada and the United States are destroyed by a single enemy — fire.

In many instances, according to authorities these fires could be avoided. This year with farmers working overtime to produce food for the United Nations, farm production should not be impeded even by the smallest fire.

Fire authorities say that all rubbish about the house and the other farm buildings, especially inflammable material, should be cleared away. Smoke pipes should be checked and cleaned out if they've become sooty. The kitchen stove should be on a good substantial base where there is little chance of fire. Electric wiring in the house and barns should be properly installed and checked regularly. Worn wiring constitutes a very real fire hazard.

FOR SOLDIERS' DEPENDENTS

Soldiers' dependents desiring legal aid regarding his or her personal affairs are advised to apply in writing to the Dependents' Advisory Committee of the Dependents' Board of Trustees, headquarters of M.D. 13, announced today.

The application will then be considered by the board and if it is thought that the services of a solicitor are required arrangements will be made accordingly by the committee.

CROPS UNDER WATER

Miriam Green Ellis, writing in The Family Herald and Weekly Star, says that an extraordinary situation existed in Manitoba where the Prairie Farm Assistance Administration, which was set up for the relief of drouth area farmers, will have to come to the assistance of farmers whose crops are a failure because of too much moisture. In parts of Manitoba there is water lying in the fields to such an extent that the ducks can swim to their food and [illegible] Large fat mallards are being shot off these grain fields in the Red River valley this fall.

IMPLEMENT CO-OP BUYS PLANT

Canadian Co-operative Implements Limited took over the Winnipeg plant of the Gregg Manufacturing Company Limited on October 2nd. This plant has been engaged in the manufacture of farm implements since 1912. Henceforth it will be known as the Elmwood factory of Canadian Co-operative Implements Limited. The plant is equipped to produce light farm machinery but for the time being output will be confined to drag harrows, cultivator shovels, sleighs, farm trucks and wagons. —Wheat Pool Budget.

Through Faith to Victory

"I said to a man who stood at the gate of the year, 'Give me a light that I may tread safely into the unknown.' And he replied, 'Go out into the darkness and put your hand into the hand of God . . .'"

Do you remember when His Majesty, King George VI used this quotation?

"Go out into the darkness and put your hand into the hand of God. That shall be to you better than light and safer than the known way."

It was Christmas, 1939, when he made those lines immortal . . . on the eve of the darkest year of the war. In a few months we were to experience Dunkerque, and for years we knew no victory. Today, the faith of the faithful—the Thanksgiving of all of us—is justified. We have come to the time when we may continue that quotation:

"So I went forth, and finding the hand of God, trod gladly into the night. And He led me toward the hills and the breaking of the day in the lone East."

When we could see no light ahead, we bought Victory Bonds to "furnish the tools." We "carried on" with more Victory Bonds in the second Victory Loan. With the Third Victory Loan we declared that, "Nothing matters now but Victory." Dawn began to gray the night, and we "Backed the Attack" with more Victory Bonds. Success in Sicily brought a feeling of complacency that had to be overcome to make the Fifth Victory Loan the success that it was. Last spring we met the Sixth Victory Loan in an attitude of tense expectation of the invasion of Europe from the West.

Our guide has not failed us. Our past efforts have been rewarded with success. Would you falter now, and "turn back into the darkness?" Or will you follow on to the daybreak? Buy one more Victory Bond than before.

Brothers Meet After Twenty Years

Brothers Alex and Frank McCauley, not having seen each other for twenty years past, greeted each other again this week. Frank, who is a resident of Aklavik, is "outside" on a holiday and business trip combined, during the course of which he visited brother Alex here at Tofield. Over thirty years ago the two brothers batched in the house just north of the creamery, Frank later leaving for the north while Alex stayed on as a resident of Tofield, so it was as no stranger that Frank returned. Tuesday evening at the Town Hall, Mr. F. McCauley with the assistance of Mr. Elliott, school principal, showed some moving pictures of life as it is lived in the northern latitudes. They were very interesting and gave one a good idea of what life is like up there.

Mr. F. McCauley is manager of a large trading store and buys many thousands of furs each season from Eskimo trappers. The Eskimos, he says, are honest, friendly folk and their family lives are hardly ever marred with any discord. They are very strong and healthy but are prone to be effected by epidemics. Vegetables are grown at Aklavik now and there are a few cows, the first one being flown in by plane by Dr. Livingstone. Mr. F. McCauley drove the mail for a number of years and looks very fit. He was accompanied by Mr Ekternach also of Aklavik.

Mr McCauley says that he believes that there will be more development in the north during the coming ten years than has taken place during the past fifty years

Pre-Victory Loan Program Much Enjoyed

The pre-Victory Loan program arranged for last Saturday night went off very well. There was a good number present and the different numbers were well received. The children of room two sang very nicely in the opening number and from this good start the program went forward smoothly, each number being heartily applauded.

Rev. D. K. Allan gave a very good address on the importance of investing in Victory bonds, his remarks being clear cut and to the point. Mayor Swift kindly acted as chairman. The program follows.

Chorus by Room Two; Piano Duet Cathy Currie and Joan Webb; Solo, Norma Scott; Violin and Clarinet duet, Shirley Stinson and Mr. Chalmers; Piano Duet, Mrs. Stinson and Betty; Chorus, Room Two; Saxaphone Solo, Mr. H. Chandler; Tonette Band, Room Four; Address by Rev. D. K. Allan.

Following the concert portion of the program, Mr. Muir of Edmonton showed the moving picture "Attack". This was a picture of an attack by the Signal Corps of the United States army when they invaded an island in the south Pacific. The picture was very realistic.

CARRYING CHARGE COSTS

It may surprise farmers to learn that the wheat board paid in carrying charges in country and terminal elevators a sum totalling $41,096,300.87 on deliveries from the 1940, 1941 and 1942 crops. This money was received by all elevator companies.

This sum was in excess of the total amount of the final payments made to farmers on deliveries of wheat on the 1940, 1941 and 1942 crops.

The Alberta Wheat Pool has, from time to time, pointed out to the authorities that the storage charges were away out of proportion. Furthermore, the payment of this huge total in storage charges came out of the money received from the sale of wheat by the wheat board and, therefore, was actually paid by the farmers who delivered the wheat.

The action of the Wheat Pools in cutting handling charges really means a return to the farmers of money realized from their wheat and paid out in elevator storage charges.

The tabulation of carrying charges in the period mentioned is:

1940 Crop—
Wheat stored in country elevators	$31,830,571.36
Wheat stored in terminals	12,004,971.89
1941 Crop—
Wheat stored in country elevators	7,121,047.91
Wheat stored in terminals	811,346.84
1942 Crop—
Wheat stored in country elevators	3,184,484.16
Wheat stored in terminals	94,878.67
Total	$41,093,300.87

WHEAT POOLS APPEAL DECISION

A sitting of the exchequer court of Canada will be held at Calgary in November when the appeal of the Alberta Wheat Pool against the assessment for federal government corporation income taxation will be held. Mr Justice J. T. Thorson is president of the exchequer court. Isaac Pitblado of Winnipeg, well-known grain trade lawyer will appear on behalf of the government.

Subsequently, a similar appeal by the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool will be held in Regina, and the Manitoba Pool Elevator case will be heard in Winnipeg. It is understood no decisions will be handed down until after all the cases are heard. —Wheat Pool Budget.

ALBERTA BEEKEEPERS CONVENTION

Beekeepers and those interested in the industry are invited to attend the Eleventh Annual Convention of the Alberta Beekeepers Association to be held in the Masonic Temple at Edmonton on November 9th and 10th. Speakers will include J. R. Armstrong, Honey Specialist, Ottawa; C. B. Gooderham, Dominion Apiarist, Ottawa; S. M. Deschenes, Assistant Apiarist, Montreal, and W. R. Agar, Commercial Beekeeper, Toronto.

Among subjects for discussion will be "Swarm Control," "Requeening," "Queen Rearing," "Preparing and Shipping Package Bees," "How to Produce No. 1 White Honey," and "Wintering Bees." The new moving pictures on beekeeping will be shown.

The convention affords an opportunity for the beekeeper to acquire knowledge both from the speakers and from discussion with other beekeepers. A special question period will be provided so that anyone with a problem may be able to obtain expert advice.

STORING FARM MACHINERY

Depreciation of farm machinery is a far more important item than is often realized, B. T. Stephanson, Agricultural Engineer for the Alberta Department of Agriculture, advises. That depreciation accounts for 55 per cent of the total farm machinery costs.

Where shelter is not available frequent painting will help to protect machinery. Painting wood parts provides protection from moisture with its resulting splitting and decay. Painting also influences the appearance and appraisal value of machinery as illustrated by the higher resale value of a machine with the paint finish in good condition.

Rusting of farm machinery is one of the very serious problems facing the farmer. In order that agricultural implements may be in first class condition for work, it is necessary to protect from rust such parts as mouldboards, colters, discs, metal hoppers, cultivator shovels and all polished parts. Rusting can be prevented by the use of compounds or greases recently made available to the public by oil companies. The soft grease type of rust preventive when brushed on metal surfaces will prevent rusting from ten to twelve months or more on machinery outside and for an indefinite period when stored under cover. Liquid rust preventives can be sprayed or brushed on metal parts. These will prevent rusting for from four to six months on implements standing outside, and for a year or more on machinery under cover.

It pays to take care of farm machinery, and to see that when the seasons work is done all implements are put away in first class shape.

THE SOIL — SALVAGE OR CONSERVATION

Farm problems are often due, not to lack of information on conservation methods, but to the lack of application of methods known, says the Field Crops Commissioner, A. M. Watson.

With the passing of time, increased effort is required to maintain crop yields, to prevent soil drifting and to keep the land free from weeds. The control of weeds is just part of the larger problem of soil conservation. Soil conservation is of national importance, as well as a provincial, municipal and farm responsibility. United action is necessary so that the resources of the soil may be used not only to our own advantage but may be preserved in good condition for future generations.

It is unfortunate that the extra effort required for soil conservation is often neglected, resulting in a decrease of yields to the point where fields must be reclaimed or salvaged before they can be profitably cropped. Farm communities and local authorities have a direct responsibility in maintaining the resources of the soil, not only for the use of this generation but so that rich fertile soils may be the heritage of those who follow.

BEST TRAINING I'VE HAD

Writing to friends, Lt. C [illegible] MacLellan of New Glasgow, Nova Scotia, says this of his training as a Boy Scout: "Having a grand time trying to keep myself as [illegible] as my clothes clean. And here is where the training I had in the Scouts is really put to use. I don't know what I'd ever do without that training. Even being able to tie knots in a hurry is helping me immensely. The experiences I had in camping in Canada is also of great benefit. [illegible] to build a fire for several uses, cooking, making gadgets, all are proving useful. It's been the best training I've had so far and I am glad I had it."

"FUTURES" MARKETS ON THE INCREASE

When "Futures" trading in wheat was temporarily suspended last year on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, some persons thought that this meant that the system of "Futures" trading on Exchanges was on the decline. It would appear, however, that on the contrary "Futures" trading in grains and in other products is actually increasing, and is being held in higher and higher esteem.

An entirely new "Futures" market, to trade in grain sorghums, has been opened on the Kansas City Grain Market. News comes, too, that trading in corn "Futures" on the Chicago market has been resumed. The Saskatchewan Government has decided to set up a Fur Exchange for trading in furs in the city of Regina.

It is reported too, that eight Farmer Co-operative Elevator Companies in the United States have purchased memberships in the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce which operates the Grain "Futures" market. In doing this these American Co-operatives are merely following the wise action of our own prairie Wheat Pools which for years have been members of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange where the Wheat "Futures" market is operated and which "Futures" market no doubt our Pools have found to be most beneficial, otherwise they would not have retained their memberships during all this time.

CONSTRUCTION WORK ON MILITARY AND VETERANS' HOSPITALS

Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labour, today stated that a recent survey through the Employment and Selective Service Offices indicates that no work is being held up on military and veterans' hospitals by shortages of labour.

Special instructions issued to local employment offices some weeks ago gave top priority to labour requirements on military and veterans' hospitals. While it has not been easy in all cases to provide the skilled workers immediately they are required, so far the employment offices have been able to keep up to date on the demands listed.

Emergency repairs to public buildings due to the earthquake at Cornwall and the cyclone at Kamsack have temporarily taken up several building mechanics in those areas, but generally speaking it is not anticipated by Selective Service officials that there will be any trouble in providing the construction workers needed for hospitals from now on.

Wisdom is oftimes nearer when we stoop than when we soar.—Wordsworth.

FARMERS! WILL YOU HELP THIS WINTER?

If you are not required on the farm this winter you should take other work.

Extra winter workers are needed for woods operations—logging and pulpwood and fuel cutting—base metal mines, coal mines, meat packing and cold storage, grain handling, railway track maintenance, iron foundries and other high priority occupations, varying with the area.

Please offer your services to:

The nearest Employment and Selective Service Office; or

The nearest Provincial Agricultural Representative; or

Your Local Farm Production Committee.

A good response to this appeal is important to Canada's welfare — please act immediately.

Postponement of Military Training continues while in approved essential work off the farm.

1922
COST OF LIVING ROSE
EVERYBODY THOUGHT INFLATION DIED
BUT PRICES CLIMBED HIGHER THAN EVER
WE HAD NO PRICE CEILING LAST AND THEN C

The worst inflation came AFTER the war the last time . . . to be followed by disastrous deflation, unemployment and confusion. For Canada to manage successfully the change back to peace, maintain employment, and meet the world's competition . . . we must continue to have stable economic conditions. To protect the individual from rising costs of living and later unemployment we must continue to prevent inflation.

To prevent a repetition of the conditions following the last war

PRICE CONTROL MUST BE MAINTAINED

AS LONG AS INFLATION THREATENS US.

This can only be done if production is efficient and economical, costs are kept down and consumers refuse to pay more than ceiling prices.

THIS IS ONE OF A SERIES ISSUED BY THE GOVERNMENT OF CANADA TO EMPHASIZE THE IMPORTANCE OF PREVENTING A FURTHER RISE IN THE COST OF LIVING NOW, AND INFLATION LATER

One person can start it!

When one person demands more for goods or services he compels others to do the same and Price Control goes out the window.

WARN DANGERS AT LEVEL CROSSINGS

Recent reports of two fatal level crossing accidents in Alberta, taking the lives of four people, have caused officials of the Alberta Motor Association to issue fresh warnings concerning these traffic hazards.

The old maxim to 'Stop, look and listen' applies more forcefully these days when the volume of traffic is heavier than ever before, than in earlier times.

The careful driver takes extra precautions when approaching a level crossing. Nothing is left to chance. The car is brought to a stop or slowed down sufficiently to ensure that the way is clear.

Each year there are deaths caused in level crossing accidents and many suffer physical injury. Despite the fact that many of these crossings have been eliminated, there still are an alarming number in the province.

Death lurks at these crossings for the careless driver. It is necessary that every care should be taken to ensure that the way is clear for vehicular traffic. "Take your time, look and listen, and save lives," says the A.M.A.

A DANGEROUS GUESSING CONTEST—
(Contributed)

THE PROBABLE DATE when cease fire will sound in Europe is important to us because almost everyone in this country has a vital interest in the ending of hostilities. Given the approximate date, families of men overseas can begin to estimate the time which must elapse before they receive their loved ones back home again. Labor has an additional interest in the date, in planning for the transition period overlapping war production and the new production of peace time goods. Business men, who must plot the future of their establishments with great care are especially keen to have some one give them an approximate date of the conclusion of hostilities in Europe.

Thus, when at various times Mr. Churchill, General Eisenhower, General Montgomery, Admiral Halsey and others have attempted to give the public an idea of the length of time it would take to finish up the military campaign, their words have been read avidly.

But in the wake of such statements there has been a wave of other predictions from ten thousand minor and less informed circles. Especially since "D" Day, almost every man in the street has been taking a guess at the date of "V" Day.

All of this might be harmless, were it not for the psychological effect that the contest has on people at large. For one thing, many are led into the belief that the war is almost over and that the time has come for some relaxation at home. Further, when the war keeps its furious pace for weeks after "V" Day dates previously predicted, the morale of many people is unsettled.

In these crucial days preceding the final knockout, Canadians at home may again take their cue from Canadians at the battle fronts. Over there none marks time, waiting for Germany to collapse. They are all on their toes, fighting as energetically as at any previous period of the war. Over here our duty seems just as clear cut—a duty which calls us to work as hard as we have ever worked before, and to keep our production lines as vigorous as they have ever been before—through the purchase of Victory Loan bonds.

A MOTHER'S LETTER TO HER SON
(Contributed)

Son,
When you are weary and worn and homesick,
For sunlit skies blue streams and shady woods,
For stretches of prairie and mountains high,
Just think of us back home holding your hands,
Lift up your head and go forward
We'll not stand idly by.
Son,
A letter is on its way to you today,
A parcel will shortly follow,
We write to you often and think of you oftener,
We're with you in spirit if not in body.
Son,
Write to us older folks at home
We get worried lest harm should befall you
As you fight to protect us we're left all alone,
The waiting and watching is hard on old bones.
Yet, we're proud to acknowledge you're doing your bit,
We're proud, very proud of you, Son.

From Mother.

A FATHER'S LETTER TO HIS SON

Son,
Canada is proud of you,
And you are proud of Canada.
Or you wouldn't be risking your life
In this terrific fight for democracy,
Freedom, triumph of right over might.
Son,
Canada will not forget your sacrifice,
Your loyalty, love and devotion.
Though oceans divide and lands intervene
She will pray often that
"God keep you safe and protected under His wing."
Son,
Canada will back you up
Keep you supplied with arms,
Give you the tools to finish the job,
Stay with you till the end.

We're all in the front line, thank God.

Father.

EMPLOYMENT DEPENDS ON PRICE CONTROL

Full employment in the transition period from wartime to peacetime production is tied up with maintenance of price ceilings, Donald Gordon, Chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board stated at the Canadian Congress of Labour conference this week. For this reason labour has a special concern in effective price control.

"All experience shows that a stable and reasonable price level holds out the best prospect for continuous and high employment at decent wages," Mr. Gordon pointed out.

"In a serious inflation wages trail behind prices and labour loses out", the Chairman stated. He showed that sensible planning of production and markets is not possible when business becomes gambling and labour is struggling to get wages into line.

He estimated the labour potential as about 1,000,000 more men after the war than before, and said that to take up the slack caused by decline in war contracts labour and management must think in terms of mass markets to provide plenty of jobs at decent wages.

"To help meet employment needs, prices must be controlled now and during the transition period," the Chairman stated.

"In the reconversion period prices must be prevented from rising so that the urban worker and the farmer can buy better housing and more consumer goods and services, and so that Canada can get into and hold expanded export markets. If we can get volume production, Canada will enjoy a high level employment. And if employment is well maintained I am sure that organized labour will look after the question of wage rates" the Chairman declared.

Mr. Gordon emphasized that maintenance of employment after the war, the buying of dollars in terms of goods and services, are just as important as a high wage.

Tofield District Boys In Ruhr Air Raids

With Advanced R.C.A.F. Airfield: Happy Valley remains earth's closest approach to Inferno according to Typhoon pilots of the R.C.A.F. Wildcat squadron, who recently attacked and cut a railway line near Wesel, in the Ruhr.

Said F/O Harry Uptam, Minneapolis, Minn: "Jerry obviously stations his best flak people in the Ruhr. I don't want to spend much of my time in that neighborhood. There were all kinds of smoke screens on the ground and we nearly ran into a balloon barrage."

The sortie was led by F/L Ross Reid, Toronto, while the C.O. S/L JACK BEIRNES, Tofield, Alta, flew in the number three position.

Beirnes reported: "We dropped our bombs on the track, ahead of a train. We cut the line all right, stopped the train and strafed the cars and engine.

"Two of us went back over the line afterward to check the damage. The were messed up and there was a big hole in the ground where our bombs had hit the track."

Another rail target took six "Beaver" squadron Typhoons, led by F/L Donald Jenvey, Ingersoll, Ont., to a junction at Winterswijk, northeast of Nijmegen.

"We went in over the town at a 45-degree angle, following the track," said F/O J. A. D. Gordon, Lachute, Que. "Luckily there was no flak. We came at this intersection in a low dive and cut both branches. On the way back we strafed box-cars and other stuff in the railway yards. It was pretty routine."

With The R.C.A.F. in Britain: A devastating attack on Bremerhaven by Bomber Command had more than usual significance for a number of Canadian airmen flying with one of the crack R.A.F. bomber groups that participated.

Happiest airman in the debriefing room at one R.A.F. squadron was Flight Sergeant Bruce Gilbert, air-gunner, 22 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gilbert, Midland, Ontario.

The target represented the final trip on Gilbert's first tour on Lancasters and it proved the most exciting from the standpoint of results.

"We could see the target clearly as it had been well marked," Gilbert stated. "Not a fighter came near us and we had a wonderful run."

To Flying Officer ALLAN HARRISON, pilot and Flight Sergeant Bill Beacon, navigator, the attack on Bremerhaven marked the anniversary of the day they arrived overseas. Harrison's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A Harrison, live at Tofield, Alta., and Beacon is the son of Dr and Mrs. George Beacon of Listowel, Ontario.

"A hang-on trip" was the way F/L Gil Kilgour, 21 year-old pilot, son of Mr and Mrs. N. D. Kilgour, Shawville, P.Q., described the mission. "We saw bags of flak but the target was so well marked that we had pin point precision."

His rear gunner, 19 year-old Flight Sergeant Yeomans whose mother, Mrs J. H. [illegible], lives at Fredericton, N.B., stated that fires from the target could be seen 150 miles away.

Every one of us . . . proud at this hour to be a Canadian . . . should support Canada's 7th Victory Loan by buying Bonds to the absolute limit. Only in this way can we help repay the sacrifices of our fighting lads and crown their heroic advances with final victory.

WEDDING

JOHNSON—WENZEL

The Camrose Lutheran Church was the scene of a lovely wedding on October 12 at 2 p.m. when Renata Rufina, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolf Wenzel of Opal, Alta. became the bride of Carl Edward Johnson, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Johnson of Tofield, Alberta. Pastor A. M. Vinge of Camrose officiated.

The church was decorated with white, pink and blue streamers. Two vases of white 'mums adorned the front of the church.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Miss Berniece Wenzel, sister of the bride.

The bride looked lovely in a floor length gown of white frosted satin, with sweetheart neckline and long sleeves coming to a point over the wrists. Her veil was three-quarter length held in place by a halo of white lace. She carried a shower bouquet of American Beauty roses. Her only ornament was a gold locket, gift of the groom.

Her attendants were Miss Viola Wenzel, sister of the bride and Miss Mary Johnson, sister of the groom. Miss Wenzel wore a floor length pink sheer dress while Miss Johnson's dress was blue sheer. They wore chapel veils held in place by pink and blue flower wreaths. Each carried a shower bouquet of pink carnations.

The flower girl was Lyla Wenzel, sister of the bride. She wore a short dress of yellow taffeta and carried a bouquet of yellow roses and marigolds.

Supporting the groom was his brother Elmer, and Leland Wenzel, brother of the bride.

After Pastor Vinge pronounced the blessing and while the young couple were still kneeling at the altar, Miss Marian Fenstad of Edmonton sang "O Perfect Love" accompanied on the piano by Miss Berniece Wenzel.

The ushers were Daniel and Albert Vinge.

The reception was held in the C.L.B.I. dining room for about 40 guests. The room was beautifully decorated with white, pink and blue streamers. A three tiered wedding cake made by the bride and beautifully decorated with silver trimmings centred the table of the bridal party. For the occasion the bride's mother wore a navy blue dress of pebble crepe while the groom's mother wore a deep blue dress of featherlaine.

The table waitresses were Miss Thelma and Clarice Sharel, Miss Amy Grue and Miss Olga Hall.

Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left for a short wedding trip. For travelling the bride chose a light blue dress of all wool flannel with black accessories. On their return the happy couple will reside on a farm at Irma, Alberta.

The bridal couple were the recipients of many lovely gifts both at the wedding and showers.

CANADA'S VETERANS
Their Post-War Opportunities

This is the Fourth in a series of advertisements to inform the people of Canada of plans to re-establish men and women of the armed forces. To get full details, save and read every advertisement.

For complete information, write for the booklet, "Back to Civil Life."

Home and Farm Ownership— The Man Who Wants His Own Business

There are two ways in which Canada's service people can have homes of their own. One measure, the Veterans' Land Act, provides assistance in financing homes on small acreages of land outside the high taxation area, while the re-establishment credit may be used for purchase or building of a home in town or city. Low cost financing is available under the National Housing Act. Under the Veterans' Land Act, assistance is given in financing up to a maximum of $4800 for land and buildings. The veteran must be prepared to pay down 10 per cent of the cost of land and buildings and the property is then sold to him for this down payment plus two-thirds of the cost. This balance may be financed, if necessary, over 25 years, with interest at 3½ per cent. A further grant may be made for purchase of equipment.

The veteran is given title to the property, including the grant of 23⅓ per cent of the cost of land and buildings and the money for equipment, after he has lived up to his agreement for ten years.

If the re-establishment credit is used for a home, the veteran must be prepared to put up one dollar for every two dollars used from it. This type of assistance may be applied for at any time within 10 years of discharge.

FARMERS AND COMMERCIAL FISHERMEN

Veterans qualified for full time farming and for commercial fishing may receive assistance in purchasing a farm or home under the Veterans' Land Act in the same way as the veteran wanting a home on a small acreage, outside the high taxation area. In the case of full time farming, an additional grant of $1200 is available for purchase of stock and equipment, and in commercial fishing the commercial fisherman may receive up to $1200 to buy needed fishing equipment. To benefit under any of the three provisions of the Veterans' Land Act, the ex-service man or woman must have overseas service or at least 12 months' service in Canada.

TO ASSIST BUSINESSMEN

One purpose for which the re-establishment credit may be used is to buy a business or to provide working capital for a business. Here again application may be made at any time in the 10 years after discharge.

In addition to using the re-establishment credit in this way, people who start their own businesses, or farmers, may draw maintenance grants, during the period they are awaiting returns from the business or the farm. These grants may be paid in the first 18 months after discharge, for the period of service, and up to a maximum of one year.

VETERANS' WELFARE OFFICERS ARE STATIONED IN KEY CENTRES THROUGHOUT CANADA. THEY ADVISE AND ASSIST EX-SERVICE PERSONNEL, AND SHOULD BE CONSULTED ON ALL PROBLEMS.

Issued under the authority of Hon. Ian A. Mackenzie, Minister of PENSIONS AND NATIONAL HEALTH

Mobile X-Ray Unit Have Busy Days Here

The Mobile X-Ray unit under the direction of the Provincial Department of Health, and operated by Mr. Nelson, Mr. Kudryk, and Miss Coughlin have recently concluded several busy days at Tofield. In all there were over 1000 chest photographs taken. The object of the visit was to discover any tubercular cases so that proper treatment could be administered. The percentage of cases discovered varies, one authority mentioning one in 400 persons examined. The unit which was housed in a special van was purchased by the sale of Christmas seals by, we believe, the Kinsmens' Club and cost in the neighborhood of $17,000.00. The largest day at Tofield was Wednesday when 302 chests were X-ray photographed.

Dr. Cutsungavich of the Holden Health Unit made the preliminary arrangements and the local clergy, Revs. Alan, Peterson and Schmeltzer, became a kind of executive committee and these were in turn assisted by many other ladies and gentlemen of the town and district. Those in charge of the unit expressed pleasure at the splendid response by the people of this area.

The unit also made successful visits to Ryley and Holden.

This Hallowe'en instead of the usual canvas for apples, Tofield children assisted in the Milk for Britain Fund sponsored by the Kinsmen and directed in Tofield by the I.O.D.E.

Prior to the 31st, the youngsters sold 1c tickets which were given back to them on the night of the 31st.

The children were very enthusiastic in their drive, meeting in the basement of the Catholic Church where the tickets were counted and prizes were awarded to the following: Girls First, Rita Corbin, 2nd, Jennie Sirdar, 3rd, Joan Herndon.

Boys' 1st, Ernie Pollock, 2nd, Jackie Ewanovich, 3rd, Ronnie Kudryk.

A rousing three cheers was given by the children to the Community Club and the business men for the treats they received of apples and hot dogs.

Those directing the drive were the teaching staff, Mrs. W. Webb and Mrs. Patterson, Blake Clatterham, Shirley Stinson and Rev. Schmeltzer.

Vancouver, October 23—In addition to building cargo vessels and minesweepers at its shipyard on the Pacific Coast, the Canadian National Railways has equipped every cargo vessel built in Canada during the past three years with sea stores.

Victory Loan Thermometer Climbing

With half of the allotted time expired the Tofield Unit part of the campaign has kept pace very well. But it is not easy, salesmen having to contact individual buyers. Most individuals are receptive to a degree, it having been urged upon them in various ways the importance of subscribing to the loan. What is needed to make bond buying really brisk is for residents, particularly country residents, to step up to their nearest salesmen or come to Unit Headquarters or to the bank and say "I want to buy a Victory Bond."

Last Friday night number of applications stood at 117, the amount sold being $46,650. Saturday it had risen to 133 applications and $49,150.00 sold. Monday, up it went to 152 applications and $50,050.00 sold. Tuesday there were forty sales which jumped the number of applications to 192 and the amount purchased to $63,600.00. Wednesday the total was hoisted a bit higher to 201 applications for $66,400.00 sold. Thursday, the last report we can give this week the figures stood at 217 applications for $70,200.00 worth of bonds sold.

Both municipal bodies within the area have purchased bonds, the M.D. of Beaver's share to the Tofield Unit being $11,500.00 and the Town of Tofield subscribed for $6000.00.

The total amount subscribed to date brings the Tofield unit up to 80 per cent of its quota with just over a week to go.

PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT BUYS

Expressing the hope it would help the Province reach its objective, Hon. W. A. Fallow, Minister of Public Works and acting Premier, Tuesday announced a $3,500,000 subscription by the Province to Canada's Seventh Victory Loan.

The large subscription, heaviest made in any previous single war loan by the Province brought the total subscription to all loans to $30,[illegible]. The provincial subscription probably will be the largest "special names" subscription to Alberta's loan effort.

NATIONALLY

Tuesday night's national total was $575,813,600. The total on the same day in the last loan was $553,617,550. Thus Tuesday's sales were $74,343,750 as against $72,373,500 on the same day in the last loan.

A GIRL IN EVERY PORT? BUYS A BOND ANYHOW

Mr. Geo. B. Brace,
Tofield, Alta.
Dear Sir,

Received your letter last week and was very glad to hear from you, although why you should think that I have any money, I'm sure that I do not know. After all, how can you expect a sailor to keep a girl in every port and still buy Victory Bonds?

However, I still have a small bank account at Tofield that two years ago amounted to $197.41 so by this time it should be good for a $200.00 bond, which is about the best I can do just now. Will you take care of this for me and turn the bond over to Conrad to keep for me?

Good luck to you in your bond campaign, Mr. Brace, and remember that the R.C.N. is still in there pitching.

Yours truly,
ARTHUR PATTERSON.

BY EASTERN WATERS

Far westward rose the windy mountain wall,
That holds the Minas in its broadened sweep;
The light boats hear the white-top billows call,
The tide is flooding from the distant deep.

The tow lines hold the sea drench'd dauntless bow,
The fearless gulls sweep down to waters wild;
The white home rests on yonder verdant brow,
While distant groves recline 'neath sunbeams mild.

At length the white sails flutter o'er the foam,
The wife, the children linger on the shore;
The day was hard, but sweet the welcome home,
And rich the joy that lights the cottage door.

And when we fold our sails at eventide,
And turn our ears from echoes of this strand,
May that True Hand be still our trusted guide,
To bring us to the shores of golden sand.

—S. C. Vance, Kingman.

Here's an interesting note on one of the 10,000-tonners. After loading with ship's stores and water, it will carry on the average: 2,850 tons of flour, cheese bacon and ham; 2,150 tons of steel, enough motorized equipment to outfit a full infantry battalion; 1,900 tons of bombs; sufficient lumber, plywood and nails to build 90 cottages; enough aluminum to build 210 bombers or 640 fighter planes, and two complete bombers stowed on the aft-deck in a knocked-down condition.

AN ITEM OF INTEREST

While out for the cows early this week, David Tough came across one of those devices sent up by the War Dept. Meteorological Division, Dayton Ohio, in an effort to learn more of the weather and through the information gathered to make possible greater accuracy in forecasting.

The device, complete with balloon and durable paper parachute was caught in a tree. The box would be about three times the size of a box camera and contained wires and the necessary apparatus. The balloon carries it to a height of about twelve miles at which altitude it bursts and the instrument descends slowly. Whiles aloft the instrument acts as a radio broadcaster of the temperature, pressure and moisture of the air through which it passes. When returned the instrument is used again.

The return address reads:

Signal Property Officer, Dayton Signal Depot, Meteorological Division, 429 North Main St., Dayton, Ohio.

All of which proves that it pays to keep a sharp lookout for the cows even in unlikely places, eh Chum?

One of these devices was also found by Geo. Lee of Woodlawn.

A new movement has been launched in the United States, entitled "Voluntary Alcohol Control." The declared purpose is:

To mobilize conviction that individual voluntary curtailment, to a minimum, in the use of beverage alcohol is essential to hastening victory.

Featuring the Stars and Stripes, it calls for "War Victory Through Self Control." It declares that it's stand is for "Liberty—Justice, for Victory," and states

"We pledge self control,
That we not abuse liberty
Through intemperance,
That we not impair justice
Through greed.

The movement is gaining in strength and was given large publicity through an address by Senator Robert Rice Reynolds of North Carolina who stated "To master the enemy we first must master ourselves."

One slogan used is: Drink less, achieve more; save money; buy Victory Bonds."

CANADA'S VETERANS
Their Post-War Opportunities

This is the Fifth in a series of advertisements to inform the people of Canada of plans to re-establish men and women of the armed forces. To get full details, save and read every advertisement.

For complete information, write for the booklet, "Back to Civil Life"

Care for the Wounded and Ill —

CANADA'S TREATMENT AND PENSION LEGISLATION

Canada has assumed as a minimum obligation to members of the armed forces that, before their return to civil life, the fullest possible measures shall be taken towards physical fitness, and that pension shall be provided for any permanent disability due to service. Full medical service is provided and veterans' hospitals have been established from coast to coast. Equipment for the most modern types of treatment has been installed, and leading specialists in all branches of medicine and surgery have willingly placed their services at the disposal of veterans.

There is free treatment with allowances to every discharged person for the first year after return to civil life and free treatment with allowances for pensionable disabilities is available throughout the pensioner's life.

[illegible] unable to work and in need of continuing [illegible] have their pay and allowances of rank continued for one year, if [illegible] when treatment is still required for a pensionable [illegible]

PENSIONS

[illegible] under three simple and easily understood conditions:

1. When the veteran has served in a theatre of war, death or any permanent disability not due to misconduct is pensionable.
2. (a) When the veteran has served in Canada only, death or disability caused by service is pensionable.
   (b) Death or serious disability not due to service may be pensionable if hardship would otherwise result.

JOBS FOR DISABLED

A very wide program of education is being carried on continuously so that veterans who suffer a disability as a result of their war service may have a full and happy future. Many volunteer associations are assisting in this work, while specialized help is available from such organizations as the War Amputations of Canada, the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, and the Canadian Society for the Deaf and Hard of Hearing.

THE COMMUNITY'S RESPONSIBILITY

This series of advertisements has given, in brief form, an outline of the Canadian re-establishment program for ex-service men and women. The responsibility, however, is not entirely that of Parliament. It can provide legislation and funds but in the final analysis it must be the veterans themselves and the people of Canada who make the program work. The public support so far has been unstinted, but successful administration requires further public support. Understanding and effort by the whole people are needed.

VETERANS' WELFARE OFFICERS ARE STATIONED IN KEY CENTRES THROUGHOUT CANADA. THEY ADVISE AND ASSIST EX-SERVICE PERSONNEL, AND SHOULD BE CONSULTED ON ALL PROBLEMS.

Issued under the authority of Hon. Ian A. Mackenzie, Minister of

VETERANS' AFFAIRS

MUNICIPAL FINANCE—

THE DECISION OF THE M.D. of Beaver Council to purchase $25,000.00 worth of Victory Bonds is to be commended. At this time of the year to write intelligently upon municipal finance is not easy, one would need to have access to current records together with the last financial statement and generally a better knowledge of current M.D. financial affairs than we at present possess. But there are some general features which could be mentioned. Perhaps the first is that on the whole Municipal taxes are coming in better this year then they have for some years past, at least this was the situation a few weeks ago and likely still is. This would, of course, increase M.D. bank and treasury branch balances and give a feeling of prosperity to the M.D. as a whole. For some years it seemed to be almost a rule that municipal districts should not have surpluses, that inasmuch as an M.D. council was a duly authorized taxing body, it should take from the ratepayers only what was actually currently needed and no more. As the average taxpayer inconsistently shouted for more improvements and less taxes and councillors tried to do the impossible, the general result was that there were more deficits than surpluses and borrowing (quite all right within reason) was often resorted to. Lately there has sprung up a growing belief that municipal surpluses are not such bad things. In fact we have heard some men well versed in municipal affairs, say that M.D. budgets should not be based on what the M.D. expects to collect but upon what it has already collected. This would mean of course that financially, a municipality would be working at least one year ahead of collections, and should a bad year come when taxes were hard to collect, the following year's budget could be planned accordingly. We rather like this idea providing councillors could resist the pleadings of ratepayers for improvements and not dip into savings too much or too often. Almost every small boy in England at one time or another has been told that his money burns a hole in his pocket which is simply one way of saying that he spends his money too fast.

But buying Victory Bonds is not spending money at all—it is investing it. There probably is no better security than a Dominion of Canada bond, certainly not for Canadians, and with an assured income of three per cent it is good sound business for municipalities to use this means of investing surplus funds. We know there are plenty other forms of appeal, loyalty, sacrifice, etc., etc., and we also know that there are some well meaning individuals who believe that buying Victory Bonds is outside the jurisdiction of M.D. councils, that it is a personal matter. But we also know, and this is important, as each sailor, soldier and airman goes into action, he is protecting every ratepayer's holdings in this municipality, and it is nothing less than pure justice that every ratepayer should do something, just a little, to help protect them. The M.D. investing surplus money in Victory Bonds is just one way of appreciating what the enlisted personnel is doing for the Municipality.

Parliament Buildings, Edmonton, Alberta

"We must plow to the end of the furrow"...

● That old saying, so well known to farm folks ... "Plow to the end of the furrow" ... so aptly makes our duty plain. And the end of the furrow is beyond the horizon.

Our men on the fighting fronts have weary, trying days ahead of them. We, on the home front, must not waver nor falter. Our duty is clear, we must keep faith with our fighters. On Canadian farms we must maintain our efforts to produce the foods our fighters and our allies need. That work will reward us with increased incomes.

And we must save ... to have money to lend to our country to pay the increased costs that this war continues to pile up.

Money invested in Victory Bonds will help to buy the tools of war. They don't last long in action. They must be replaced. It's our job ... the home front job ... to see to it that our fighting men have everything they need.

Victory Bonds yield a double harvest. They provide our country with money to carry on the war. Later, they will provide money to buy things we will want and need, and which we have done without during the war. Victory Bonds will provide cash to pay for improvements for farm and home ... new buildings ... new machinery ... better stock ... new car ... furnishings and conveniences for the home.

FACTS ABOUT SUPPLIES

Four-fifths of the SUGAR Canada consumes has to be imported.

Of the sugar-exporting countries of the world, Java and the Philippines are in the hands of the Japanese, Hawaii, Porto Rico, Australia, Trinidad and Fiji have had their production cut by shortage of workers, the increased production in Cuba is not enough to offset the losses elsewhere.

Beet SUGAR production in Canada has been hindered by labour shortage.

All the SUGAR supplies available to the United Nations are pooled and under the Control of the Combined Foods Board. Supplies are allotted to Canada, United States and Great Britain.

The Sugar Pool also has to supply enormous quantities of SUGAR for making industrial alcohol which goes into such materials of war as T.N.T., smokeless powder and synthetic rubber.

For the last three years world reserves of SUGAR have been dwindling. Increased production is not in sight and if we do not conserve our present supplies we could be very short of SUGAR next year.

Congratulations to the newly-weds, Mr. and Mrs. H. Berchers of Scandia, Alta., (nee Irene Gabrielson). Mrs. Berchers is well known here.

Carmen Rude won first prize for an essay on "Why Girls should not smoke" in a contest sponsored by the Ryley W.C.T.U., and Eugene Rude won second prize in a poster contest.

The Hendrickson family attended the church meetings in Camrose on Sunday.

Many from here attended the farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Bonnes and Mr. and Mrs. Lowry in Kingman on Sunday, who are going to the coast to reside.

Home over the week end: Alice Broughton with her folks in Camrose, Wyonne Rude, Viking; Ella Moen, Doris Hendrickson and Andy Heiberg, Camrose; and Gordon Hendrickson, Saskatoon, at their homes here.

Mrs. Tom Rosvm is at Banff taking medical treatments.

Thresh outfits completed their runs last week after 20 days of ideal threshing weather. Average wheat yields 15-35 bus. per acre; Oats, 45-60 and Barley, 30-40. Geo. Foshaug had a wheat field that made 34 bus. and Charles Rude an oats field that yielded 65 bus. per acre.

Geo. Foshaug has purchased a De Laval milking machine. Geo. will now have more time to fulfill his dates.

Clifford Anderson has started a milk route, trucking the milk to the Pool Cheese factory, at Round Hill.

Geo Foshaug has bought a 1935 Ford Truck.

With the Seventh Victory Loan in progress it is well to know that since the war began, Canadians have bought and held more than $3,250,000,000 of War and Victory bonds and War Savings certificates. These savings and investments have helped to drain off excess purchasing power in the face of scarcities of goods and have thus relieved the pressure on the price ceiling. After the war the spending of some of these wartime savings will help to maintain employment. That is an important point to remember.

Victory Loan Quota Assured

As we go to press early Friday, word comes that the Tofield Unit has unofficially reached its objective in the Seventh Victory Loan Drive. As most readers are aware the Tofield quota was raised from $85,000 in the 6th Victory Loan to $120,000 in the present campaign. This is a much greater increase than that requested from the whole province. However by hard and energetic work the official figures for bond sales were raised from $83,200.00 at the close of business on November 4th to $115,550.00 at the close of business on November 9th. There were 282 applications.

However, there is in sight, though not actually registered in Thursday's business, sufficient sales to more than reach the unit's quota of $120,000.00. Congratulations are due all those connected with the work. A full list of committee and salesmen will appear next week.

JACK CARD HOME AT MINISTIK

Residents of the Ministik area west of Tofield welcomed Jack Card home from the war quite recently. While not a native of the area he lived there long enough in pre war days to become well known. He enlisted in 1940 in the Canadian Scottish at Vancouver but later transferred to the Seaforth Highlanders. After prolonged training in England he saw service in Sicily and Italy where he was wounded and later invalided home. He speaks very highly of the care bestowed upon the wounded men by the Medical Corps and Nursing Sisters. They go to very great pains to make the men in their charge comfortable. While his future plans are uncertain he hopes to be able to get back into service again as soon as he has sufficiently recuperated from present injuries.

GROCERY BUYING

Grocery Buying is not as simple as it once was. When stocks were overflowing and duplication of many lines was common the housewife could fill her grocery basket easily.

There are still ample stocks, not as full as at one time perhaps, but the discriminating buyer need not become weary with searching.

Here at the RED & WHITE we have kept our connections and our shelves still have upon them many of the old familiar lines. The groceries are fresh, of good quality, well chosen and properly priced. Try the RED & WHITE for your next grocery order.

Weekly Editor Looks At Ottawa

By JIM GREENBLAT

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics. That's a phrase you read often in this column. Yet few of us realize the importance of this department which was established in 1918. The average Canadian citizen answers the questions put to him every ten years by the census taker, but those answers and those of eleven million others are probably forgotten. But they are not forgotten by the 1,100 persons employed in the Bureau of Statistics who compile a mass of pertinent facts on a multitude of subjects and make them available on demand.

For instance, if a Canadian wrote to the Bureau and asked how many cheques had passed through the Canadian banks in July of this year, quick as a flash the Bureau would reply that "4,723,461,536 cheques were cashed in Canada in July, 1944". And that's the truth.

The vast amount of data existing in the Dominion Bureau of Statistics has been used by every department and agency of the government engaged in directing the war effort, and there has been an increasing demand for information from non-war departments and from the general public. Besides the statistical data, the Bureau assists war departments by lending services of trained statisticians. It gets a variety of work. One of its early war jobs was compilation of National Registration facts and figures taken in 1940. It also deals with many problems including cost of living, wholesale and retail trade and financial statistics, etc. This department which is so much taken for granted, does a big job.

Another effort is being made to make contact with Japanese-held prisoners-of-war and internees. The International Committee of the Red Cross has arranged a ten-word cable service between them and their Canadian next-of-kin, but its success will depend on the co-operation of the Japanese.

It is proposed that each prisoner or internee be allowed to send one cable a year at first. The prisoner's cable must be the first in the exchange and next-of-kin will not be able to send a message until they have heard from their relative in the prison camp. If the Japanese government does its part it is hoped that the first cables will start coming in about Christmas time. Costs of the cables both ways will be paid by the Canadian Red Cross Society.

Thousands of women all over Canada work for the Canadian Red Cross and many have been doing so since the outbreak of war. It should give them a warm feeling of a job well done to know the splendid results of that collective effort.

By arrangement with the British Red Cross, the Canadian Red Cross is now furnishing two-thirds of all food parcels sent to allied prisoners, except those from the United States. The new program calls for the packing of 190,000 food parcels a week in Canada in an attempt to send one parcel per man per week. This is an increase of 90,000. The cost of these parcels will be $34,700,000 in 1944. That includes 80,000 parcels a week for British prisoners in Europe (which includes Canadians), 80,000 for other allied prisoners in Europe and 30,000 which will include civilians, in the Far East.

At present Canada is budgeting to pay $6,500,000 of the total. Though the International Red Cross at Geneva distributes them, the parcels are sent individually to prisoners. The purpose is to supplement the prisoners' diet from a nutritional standpoint. The parcels, 11 lbs. each, contain this: 16 oz. whole milk powder; 16 oz. butter; 4 oz. cheese; 16 oz. jam or marmalade; 10 oz. pork luncheon meat; 8 oz. salmon; 4 oz. sardine or kipper; 8 oz. raisins; 8 oz. dried prunes; 8 oz. sugar; 12 oz. corned beef; 16 oz. pilot biscuits; 1 oz. salt and pepper; 4 oz. tea; 2 oz. soap; 6 oz. eating chocolate. Up to August 31, 1944, the Red Cross has sent 11,227,974 parcels overseas.

THE NEW PRINCESS OIL WELL

The Princess No. 8 well, which came into production recently with an oil strike in the Devonian limestone, is now officially pronounced by the California Standard Company as a proven well producing 34.5 degrees gravity crude oil from this formation. The well is stated to have produced 4,884 barrels during the last four weeks and production from 200 to 250 barrels per day is now anticipated. Discovery of commercial oil in the Devonian limestone will open a new chapter for prairie oil development. Filing activity in the area has been particularly active and new development on an enlarged scale will surely follow.

WINTER CARE OF COMBINES

The following suggestions on combine care from R. T. Sunderson, Agricultural Engineer for the Alberta Department of Agriculture, will, if followed, result in reduced operation costs and prolonged period of service:

The first step in preparing the combine for storage is to clean off all dust, grain and straw so that there cannot collect moisture, which if allowed to stay on the machine will soon corrode through the thin metal.

The canvasses should be taken off and after all straw and weeds are cleaned from under the slats, allowed to dry thoroughly. The canvas should then be re-rolled and hung in a dry place, preferably suspended by wires from rafters so that mice cannot get at them.

Rubber tires should never be allowed to stay on a machine outside over winter. The tires should be removed, cleaned and painted with a good rubber preservative, then stored in a cool moist place. Rubber belts should receive the same treatment.

Combine motors should be well taken care of. The sediment bowl should be drained to get rid of water. The crankcase and filter should be drained to get rid of possible acidic oil. New oil should be put in, and the motor run for a few minutes to distribute the oil.

Following this, each of the spark plugs can be removed and about a pint of light oil poured in each cylinder. The plugs are then replaced and the motor turned over a few times by hand to coat the inside with oil. The exhaust pipe should be covered to keep out rain and snow, which, if allowed to enter, will corrode the valves.

A few minutes spent in applying a rust proofing material to the guards and knife is well worth while, and will ensure that they are in first class condition for the next season.

OSMAN, A GOOD HARDY CRAB

(Experimental Farms News)

With dozens of new and tempting crab apples to choose from the Dominion Experimental Station, at Beaverlodge, Alberta, still prefers the Osman, one of the oldest varieties under test. This variety has a good reputation for hardiness and yield and one tree planted in 1926 has averaged 157 pounds of fruit per annum in the last seven years. Its 1944 yield was 245 pounds but dry weather and the excessive load of fruit reduced the size of the sample sufficiently to make it slightly unattractive in appearance, especially when displayed with imported fruit. Nevertheless it carried the extra flavour and colour which makes it so appealing to the housewife. Thinning of the fruit may be advisable in some years.

Osman is one of the hardiest crab apples. Its bloom is exceptionally attractive and its general appearance makes it an asset to any garden or orchard. Like other varieties though it must be protected from injury by rabbits and mice. By maintaining the shrub form winter-killing and sunscalding can be avoided.

HOSPITAL CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS CAUSES FLURRY

Ottawa, Nov. 6—The Canadian hospitals in France and Italy are going to be just as Canadian this Christmas as they can be made—but it was a close call.

W. R. Acker, assistant manager of Canadian Legion War Services today told the story of the Christmas decorations. For all the years of the war C.L.W.S. office overseas has been supplying Christmas decorations to hospitals. Everyone, including officers of the C.L.W.S. figured the same thing would be done this year and it wasn't until almost too late that they found it wasn't going to be so easy. When they discovered that England and Scotland were fresh out of decorations, consternation reigned.

The result was a frantic cable from C.L.W.S. overseas to the Ottawa office. At that point Mr. Acker's staff took over and began to go places.

Speed was essential, so telephone wires buzzed between Ottawa and Toronto; then on to Montreal. Another member of the staff was contacting jobbers in Ottawa. Another was begging for immediate shipping space.

In less than an hour the three met to compare results. The Toronto call had been successful in releasing immediately $220. worth of decorations; Montreal could supply $800. right off the bat; Ottawa dug up $220.

By nightfall Toronto had reported their shipment on the way to the boat that was waiting to receive them. Montreal said their lot would arrive before the Toronto shipment. The Ottawa situation called for a little different handling.

Mr. Acker started casting around for a speedy way to get some supplies over no matter what the cost. It looked as if he would have to enlist the sympathies of the army base post office. The response was immediate. Lieut. H. B. Gillihan (of Ottawa) and Cpl. Fred Cornish (of Sarnia) arrived at the jobbers with 20 mail bags. From the Legion office came Mrs. T. A. Blackburn (of Ottawa) and Doreen Hogeen (of Smith Falls, Ont.).

At the jobbers, hands were flying and by the middle of the afternoon everything was packed and ready for despatch overseas. Just a bit dizzy, but smirking with accomplishment, the staff surveyed the mail bags. All that remained was to cable England.

TROOPS FIRST SAYS GORDON

"If troops are in danger of becoming short of anything, we on the home front must be prepared to give them the goods," said Prices Board Chairman Donald Gordon, in a recent address to Consumer Branch representatives in Toronto.

Mr. Gordon explained that some shortages are inevitable in this country where 50 per cent of our national production is diverted to war.

"To remain ignorant about V.D. is to endanger not only your own health, but that of your family and your community."
Minister of Pensions and National Health.
From a statement March 20, 1944

LET'S be quite frank.

When you read—as you probably did during the past few months—that more than 300,000 people in Canada have syphilis, what was your reaction? Did you say, "That's too bad; something should be done about it", and then turn to the comic page? Chances are you did.

But if that article had told you that Tommy Jones, the lad who used to mow your lawn after school, had syphilis—how would you have felt about it? Or that the young couple who built that cute house in the next block, had just lost a baby through syphilis . . . would that have made you stop and think?

Or, if you suddenly discovered that your Mar - - . . . No? That couldn't happen? But it can. And it does . . . to hundreds of Tommies and Marys every year, right here in Canada. Right in your community. You'll never read articles like that, of course, for these are the personal tragedies that people bear in silence.

So, when you pick up the paper sometime and read, " . . . there were 5,000 new VENEREAL DISEASE cases reported in this province last year . . .", remember! These are not cold figures. They represent 5,000 heart-breaking . . . heart aching situations.

Yes, VENEREAL DISEASE is a serious problem. It's a problem for parents; for taxpayers; for young people on the threshold of life; for everyone.

VENEREAL DISEASE need never strike if we all do our part. If we know the facts. If we use these facts to advantage. If we don't shrug our shoulders and say, "This couldn't happen to anyone in my family."

You have a duty to your family and the community.

THE TOFIELD MERCURY

W. Werton, Publisher

UNITY—

THE HON. MR. RALSTON'S resignation as Minister of Defence and the appointment of General McNaughton to this important position is without doubt the outstanding Canadian event of the week. Ordinarily the resignation and appointment of men in high office does not concern small fry newspapers like the Mercury (we are primarily interested in district events) but the issue upon which the resignation and appointment was made is such an important one that Canadians everywhere cannot help but be interested and to some extent concerned.

Long before the present war broke out it was well understood that when and if war did come conscription in Canada for overseas service would not be resorted to. The pressure for this policy to be maintained, came, so all were told, from the Province of Quebec, the residents there being, so most non-Quebecers understood, being almost wholly in favor of a non conscription policy. Nevertheless it is a matter of record that many Quebecers have distinguished themselves in the various theatres of war.

When war first broke out Canada did adopt a non conscription policy which as the need for men became increasingly important was gradually changed until a full time conscription army for home defence only was decided upon. It is whether these men, some 68,000 of them should be sent overseas to reinforce the Canadian Army there, that is the cause of the difference of opinion between Hon. Mr. Ralston and General McNaughton, with Prime Minister King backing Gen. McNaughton's beliefs. Hon. Mr. Ralston, after a tour of the Western and Italian war fronts, believe they should. General McNaughton believes a strictly voluntary system to be the best, Hon. Mr. Ralston believes the Canadians over there should be reinforced by Canadians, on a voluntary basis or otherwise. Who's right?

In the first place it seems strange that Canada, a land in which unity is preached so much and so often, should have two systems of service. If national unity is the cardinal feature of the nine provinces of Canada, every Canadian citizen as he reaches military age should have but one avenue of military approach. It should be either purely voluntary or purely conscription. As it is now it is neither one or the other. Every young man knows that as he reaches military age he will be called anyhow and rather than be called for purely domestic service most of them sign on for full military activity. A number for various reasons, apply for postponements. This of course, does not apply to those early volunteers, who before a "home army" was thought of, were off to fight their country's battles wherever those battles were to be fought.

As to whether the "home army" as at present constituted should be sent over, we feel this way. The country made a contract with these boys, if the boys live up to their part of it, the government should live up to its part of the contract, except in very dire necessity, and it is inconceivable that if dire necessity arose, the men would refuse to volunteer anyway. The "home army" should be left alone, but the flow or trickle of young Canadians to its ranks should be stopped. If national unity means anything at all it means a single approach to military service, physical fitness, or rather, lack of it, being the only bar. We suppose distant pastures having the quality to look green, Canadians would find enlistment procedure in the United States not as attractive as it looks from here, but we rather like their reported system. Each potential soldier has a registration number and when that number is drawn it is calling a man to the service of his country via the draft board.

BUY ANOTHER BOND—

This will of necessity, be the last appeal to Mercury readers to buy a Victory Bond in the present campaign. The advertising men, big and little, through various mediums, have played upon about all the emotions a loyal Canadian has, and in so doing, have smoothed the path for many a Victory Bond salesman to make a sale. But as a last minute message we appeal to your common sense. Victory Bond people know that there is more money in the banks, more money in the possession of rural dwellers, more money all around than there has been for many years. Victory bonds pay better than bank interest. They are as good as money, the banks have millions of dollars worth of them and are still buying. Victory bonds are better than money in the tea pot or pocket book as they not only increase in value but can be registered against loss. The object of the national, provincial and local Victory Bond Committees is to sell as many bonds to as many people as possible, it is good sound business sense, so if you have not already bought, buy quickly, if you have bought, buy another and prove to yourself and others how wise you are.

CREAM QUALITY

The Alberta Dairy Commissioner, D. H. McCallum, warns against the tendency to be satisfied with production of inferior quality cream. For many years Alberta has enjoyed an enviable reputation for high quality creamery butter. Since the outbreak of war, however, the percentage of top grades of cream has decreased noticeably. During 1939, 69.1 per cent of the total receipts of Alberta creameries qualified as Special Grade, while for the first eight months of 1944 the percentage of Special Grade cream amounted to only 52.1

Unless care is taken, cream quality may soon deteriorate to a point where it will be impossible to manufacture a high percentage of First Grade butter.

BARDO

Rev. Hoverlie will conduct services at the Bardo Church, commencing on Wednesday evening, November 15th, at 8.00 p.m.

Many from here attended the Inter-Mission meetings at Kingman on Sunday.

Mrs. Martin Hagen entertained the local W.C.T.U. at her home last Friday night. Delegates gave their reports on the convention held at Wetaskiwin.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Haukedahl entertained guests at supper on Friday evening in honor of their daughter Corrine's birthday. Guests were: Mr. and Mrs. M. Erickson and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. Kindley and family, Mrs. R. Heiberg and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stauffer and Evelyn and Raymond Nordhus.

A near tragedy occurred at the Brockan home last Wednesday morning, when Ingolf was awakened by a moaning voice, and found his mother laying on the floor overcome by coal gas. By opening the windows and doors, Mrs. Brockan regained consciousness. A plugged chimney was the cause of the mishap.

A nephew of Mrs. I. Eggen and Mrs. O. Brockan has been killed in a bombing raid at Vardo, Norway. This news item was found in the Norrona, a Norwegian paper published in Winnipeg.

Mrs. Walter Scott, formerly Betsy Ness, is teaching school in Regina.

Mrs. Juliette Johanson and family have moved onto the P. R. Anderson place, where they will make their home.

Morley Haugseth of La Glace, Alta. is a local visitor.

Hallowe'eners made their annual rounds last Tuesday night. Damages were slight and no casualties were inflicted.

Leif Foshaug has bought a residence from Martin Lawson and will move it to his farm.

Ivan Foshaug is building a garage on his farm.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Erickson have bought the Raymond Nordhus farm, half section.

With threshing completed farmers are busy hauling greenfeed, and filling their coal-bins.

A timber wolf has been seen recently on Monrad Pinseth's farm.

LINDBROOK

On November 5 in the beautifully decorated Mennonite Church at Tofield, Helen, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Baschmann of Lindbrook was united in marriage to John D. Heidebrecht, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Heidebrecht of Tofield. The bride wore a sheer white floor length gown with long white veil to match. She carried a lovely bouquet of pansies. The flower girls were dressed in short light blue dresses with crowns of pink roses in their hair. After the ceremony a delicious lunch was served at the church. The young couple will reside near the Tofield coal mine.

The Lindbrook Junior Room has collected $22.00 on the Afghan which they are raffling for the Red Cross and $11.00 for the Milk for Britain Fund, which they collected on Hallowe'en.

Miss Adele Goubault spent the week end in Edmonton.

Elwood Brinton from Viking is now attending Lindbrook High School.

Born: To Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Paulson, a baby daughter, on Nov. 2nd. Congratulations.

Born. To Mr. and Mrs. A. Froese, Jr., a son on October 28. Congratulations.

The High School celebrated Hallowe'en with a party in the school. A good time was enjoyed and no damage done, which was greatly appreciated by the adults.

Billy Warner has lost 2 black yearling heifers.

Don't forget the McCauley Group from Edmonton comes to Lindbrook Hall, Nov. 10th. This is their third appearance and they always give a bang up program.

Will anyone who has been overlooked by a Victory Bond Salesman, look up J. A. Richardson or Mr. A. J. H. McCauley?

HOG PRODUCTION

Hog production has made a substantial contribution to the prosperity of Canadian agriculture during the war years. Unlike wheat there has been a ready market available. It is pointed out that the future of the Canadian bacon trade may depend very much upon the weights at which farmers market their hogs. The correct limitations are from 190 to 210 pounds at the farm. Hogs weighing not more than 210 pounds alive when marketed at six months of age are not only more likely to receive the premium on A grade, but will also cost considerably less to produce according to government authorities.

MINISTIK

Mr. S. George arrived home from the North Country last week. The natives must treat him well, for he sure looks well.

We had a good turnout at the Moving picture show and dance. The pictures were well worth seeing. We also enjoyed the talk Mr. Hunt of Calgary gave us of his experiences. Everybody had a good time and are looking forward to the next show in December.

Our Student did not come out on Sunday last, but got a Gideon to take his place. Mr. Pugh took the service and from what I have heard of him, he is a most interesting speaker.

The first Church Steele Murdock attended overseas, who should be taking the service but our friend Rev. W. Irving. What a surprise for both of them!

The Ministik Hall Board wishes to let the community know the Hall needs firewood. So anybody donating a load please get it in the Hall yard by December 15th.

Frank Baumgartner is having a well bored. We hope he has a lucky strike and gets a good well.

Pete Heitman expects to be leaving for Jasper Park where he intends to spend the winter with his daughter.

HAY LAKES

Brr-r, it looks like Old Man Winter's found his way here again. Quite a sudden change from the almost "day in June" weather we had a little while ago. But according to one little boy we could have a little more snow so he could track down all the weasels. (are you sure that's what it is?)

Everyone around here have threshed, a couple of runs just finishing in time before we got the bad weather. E. J. Broen's run and J. Lovgren's were the last to finish up here.

Anton Pearson's sale, October 27, was fairly largely attended. They will be moving to Camrose to reside in the near future.

Evelyn Webster is working for Mrs. W. Swanson, Edberg.

Sylvia Naslund and Georgia Webster, Camrose High, were home over the week end. How are your feet, girls?

Lillian Naslund is teaching school near Bashaw. Best of luck, Lil.

Hay Lakes, Swan Hill, and a few from Sunt-elma were in Tofield Wednesday last for the T.B. test.

A couple of cars were unfortunate enough to slide in the ditch on the way there, but aside from a cracked window on one car, scratches and bent up fender, the occupants escaped without any injury.

E. Carlstrom was taken to Lamont last Wednesday.

E. Erickson, Fernmoch, is up visiting his sister, Mrs. Carlstrom and family.

Nanny Swanlund returned to Edmonton after assisting at home during threshing.

Clifford Morald, R.C.N., is home on leave.

Mr. and Mrs. George Miller, California, U.S.A., are visiting his brothers, Joe and Fred. He and his brother Joe are going out big game hunting in a couple of days. Best of luck, Joe.

Emil Roberge will be assisting Don Miller with the chores while his dad is away.

Elmer Anderson is doing some carpenter work for J. Nordin.

The Cheery Chums Athletic Club are holding their regular monthly meeting at I. Lovgren's, November 12.

SYMBOL OF REMEMBRANCE

Ottawa, Nov. 7—The poppy is the symbol of remembrance and is worn for those who took up arms in defence of all Canadians, General A. G. L. McNaughton said last night in a national broadcast launching the Canadian Legion's annual Poppy Day Appeal.

The funds from the poppies sold, General McNaughton explained, are used to assist disabled veterans and their families.

Reeve Anderson pointed out that as mentioned by Mr. Belcourt in his offer, he had made a similar offer to the Municipal District of Cornhill some three years ago and having received the impression that such offer was satisfactory, had moved on to the said parcel and resided there continuously since that time, making various improvements on the land by way of the erection of buildings and doing some breaking. In view of these facts, it was suggested the sale to Mr. Belcourt should proceed without the usual notice of sale being published in local papers. This was agreed to.

An offer by Lars E. Jacobson to purchase the S.W. 6-47-14 W4 at a price of $1000.00 of which $500.00 would be in cash and an annual payment of $200.00 was tabled for consideration at the next meeting.

An offer by Mr. Walter A. Stroka of Bruce to purchase the S.W. 7-47-14 W4 was similarly tabled as was an offer from Mr. Harry Macubonte to purchase the N.E. 3-49-17 W4. An independent valuation will be obtained with regard to the above land.

Joe Citizen Says

Invest in Victory, they say,— with me, for one, that's quite O.K.
When I've a dollar to invest
I choose the buy that seems the best, and these bonds at the moment are the best thing offered by far.
At least that's how it seems to me—
I hope you fellows all agree!
With all its blood and sweat and tears
the war has lasted five long years, so anything we're asked to do to see the Victory clear through, with good sound lasting peace assured, should be right cheerfully endured.

Invest in Victory! I will!
I'll find a way to foot the bill!
The other things I want can wait—
I haven't missed them much to date.
Invest in Victory! You bet!
The best investment offered yet!

CANADA APPROVED BREAD

White bread has always attracted the public fancy and, consequently, flour millers have continually striven to produce the whitest possible flour. To do so, certain coatings were removed from the wheat kernel in the milling processes and were used principally as feed for livestock. The bran and shorts thus removed from the wheat kernel contain vitamins of what is known as the B complex. About five-sixths of the vitamin content in the original wheat berry was being removed by the milling process.

Early in the war years the British government, on the advice of eminent physicians, passed legislation compelling flour millers to reinforce British flour with synthetic B1 vitamins. In Canada, after lengthy experiments conducted by scientists and flour millers, a method was devised for retaining most of the natural vitamins in a new type of flour. The Canadian government established two grades of flour and two of bread with most of the natural vitamin content of the wheat retained therein. This action had the full support of the Canadian Medical Association.

However Canada approved bread and flour has not met with an enthusiastic reception among the people of this dominion. The big flour millers are strongly opposed to the method of using the natural wheat vitamins in Canadian flour. They prefer the introduction of synthetic vitamins into the flour as is done in Great Britain and the United States. Powerful opponents of the present method is also [illegible] in the manufacturers of synthetic vitamins who, through extensive advertising, have built up business running into an aggregate of [illegible] of dollars.

Heading the case for the retention of the natural wheat vitamins is Dr. L. F. Newman, dominion cerealist. He should have the support of the farmers of Western Canada. There is no reason why the people of this nation should be induced to spend millions of dollars in the purchase of synthetic vitamins of the B type when these can be obtained at no cost but simply by a comparatively slight change in the flour milling processes. — Wheat Pool Bulletin.

Deville Boy Makes Good

Some twenty years or so ago we had a Station Agent at Deville who was somewhat air-minded and was looked up to by the boys of the district as a wonderful genius (and perhaps he was) he could build such wonderful kites and fly them so high, the height determined only by the amount of string the boys could beg, borrow or steal, and he could build such realistic airplanes if they could supply him with enough cardboard and apple crates. The boy who had not a kite and a plane of his own was behind the times. None was more enthusiastic than the ten-year-old son of the Section foreman, Bill Bahnuik, and none spent more time dragging his plane at the end of a long string around the station platform than did Russel. This was the beginning of the flying career of Squadron Leader Russel Bannock, D.F.C., who has been lately appointed commanding officer of the City of Edmonton squadron.

As a flight commander with the squadron he destroyed twenty of the flying bombs and also has a high record of trains, transport vehicles and aircraft destroyed during the six months he has been overseas. Before going overseas he served four years as an instructor at Camp Borden and [illegible]. After leaving Deville, Russel attended Eastwood High School, Edmonton, and after graduation went to the North and worked in the McMurray and Bear Lake areas and earned enough money to enable him to take private flying lessons. [illegible] after the outbreak of war he enlisted and after [illegible] retained in Canada as instructor. About six months [illegible] and some [illegible] the flying bombs and here earned his D.F.C. While the Bahnuik family have moved to Edmonton some years ago, the real sports of Deville follow the career of their hero with much interest.

This is not the first war in which the farmers of Canada have been asked to invest in Victory Bonds. Back in the boom days at the end of the First World War, many farmers invested some of their war-time earnings in Victory Bonds. Later, they congratulated themselves on their farsightedness because it wasn't long after the war until money became scarce.

Victory Loan Drive Well Over The Top

The Tofield Unit in the Seventh Victory Loan met its quota and went over the top in fine style. By Wednesday night of this week there had been 477 applications for $140,000.00 worth of bonds sold. This is the highest figure so far reached in this unit and congratulations are due all those participating in the work. The personnel of the Tofield Unit organization is as follows: Chairman, Geo. B. Brace; Unit Organizer, A. J. H. McCauley; Committee: A. E. Allen, W. Bellamy, M. C. Hammond, W. C. Swift; Publicity: Blake Clutterham, W. Worton.

Salesmen: J. A. Anderson, Kingman; Blake Clutterham; Walter Bellamy; S. E. Beemans, [illegible] Geo. B. Brace; Wilbur Gellinger; A. J. H. McCauley; Ingvald Ness, Kingman; Lars Olson, McKenzie; J. A. Richardson, Lindbrook; J. E. Stinson; W. A. Webb.

The campaign opened a little slowly here, the farmers were busy threshing and it was difficult to contact them. Later, particularly in the last week of the campaign, bonds to farmers sold more freely. The organization is very pleased with the public's response to the general appeal to purchase bonds.

Remembrance Day Observed

Remembrance Day, November 11th, was observed at Tofield by a short but impressive ceremony at the cenotaph.

The ceremony commenced sharp at eleven a.m. with a brief invocation by Rev. D. K. Allan. Two minutes silence in memory of the fallen followed at the close of which the Last Post was sounded by Mr. Herb Chandler, a veteran of the 1914-18 conflict.

Rev. D. K. Allan offered a prayer for the Royal Family and those entrusted with leadership. This was followed by two numbers excellently rendered by the school children, "Oh God Our Help In Ages Past," and "Land of Hope and Glory."

Rev. Peterson offered a prayer for the armed forces after which wreaths were placed upon the cenotaph by Mrs. W. Webb on behalf of the I.O.D.E.; Mr. Bert Lovell, M.M. on behalf of Veterans; and Capt. Mac[illegible] on behalf of the present armed forces.

Mr. A. B. Clutterham gave a short address and the ceremony closed with the National Anthem.

The I.O.D.E. under whose arrangement the annual Remembrance Day ceremony is held, attended in a body as also did the school children. There were a number of veterans of the last war present and some members of the present day armed forces. The day was fine but quite cold.

CONTINUE RATION FARM MACHINERY

Present system of rationing new farm machinery and equipment, ensuring delivery to most needy farmers will be continued, said H. H. Bloom, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Ottawa. The programme is endorsed by agricultural, authorities and advisory committees.

Although production figures for 1945 will be 102 per cent of 1940, supply will not meet calculated demand and farmers are advised to obtain purchase permit from the Board before deputies and equipment. Even with an early end of the war in Europe it will be at least a year before supplies sufficient to meet all demands, reach the market. Mr Bloom continued.

There is no rationing or limit on production of repair part[illegible]

MINISTER OF LABOUR PLEASED

"It is very gratifying indeed that Mr Justice S. E. Richards of Winnipeg, the special Commissioner appointed to enquire into industrial relations in the Packinghouse industry has succeeded in the endeavour to have the Packinghouse and the Union reach a mutually satisfactory settlement, thus avoiding any possible work interruption.

"Both the trade union and the employers deserve the commendation for their willingness to reach a settlement. I feel that not only the Labour Department and the public are deeply appreciative of the efforts of Mr Justice Richards, but that the companies and the employees will also feel that he has done a highly satisfactory job in a very short time.

"Any work stoppage in the Packinghouse industry would have been very serious. It would have most adversely affected our war effort, the welfare of our population, the business of the farming community and also the interests of the participants. That such an outcome has been definitely avoided is highly satisfactory all around."

CANADIAN FARMER TAKES A LOOK AT INFLATION

(As told to Edna Jaques)

I am just one of those guys who [illegible] every day of the week, driving along country roads, plowing, getting in the hay, milking the cows.

Up in the attic we have an old "strong box" nearly a hundred years old. This box contains the deed [illegible] farm. A hundred and fifty acres of fine Canadian land.

[illegible] what I'm getting at is this. We're just farmers here. We think with our hats on, our shirt collars open, and we chew on the stub of a pencil to figure it.

[illegible] a few of [illegible] remember the inflation during and after the last war when wheat went as high as $2.21 a bushel for No. 1. When it started down it reached an all time low of 34 cents a bushel. You couldn't pay for seed [illegible] at that price.

The war that brought these [illegible] small affair [illegible] It was over in [illegible] gone into its [illegible] there is no knowing [illegible]

[illegible] inflation and [illegible] happen [illegible] got a [illegible]

[illegible] with a [illegible] a fairly decent [illegible] after you [illegible] went to a [illegible] that would set [illegible] dollar and a quarter or [illegible] dollars.

Your child needed shoes and you [illegible] $10 for them and $1 for [illegible] with them. [illegible] couldn't [illegible]

[illegible] the grocery list your wife [illegible] in your pocket when [illegible] the door. Let's [illegible] sugar 25c a pound, flour $7 a [illegible] $1 a dozen, laundry [illegible] a bar, baking powder 55c [illegible] 25c a pound and 35c a [illegible] (These are prices we paid after the last war you know.)

What it would [illegible] add up to a [illegible] and even with a [illegible] price for your hogs you wouldn't have much money to take home.

Then you had to feed the hired help. Why, I paid my hired man $90 a month, with board, in 1919. We used to sort of joke about it and say we were working for the hired man.

There are 732,715 farmers in Canada, a good sized army in any man's country and we're working hard these days.

If inflation get ahead of us—either now or after the war—all this work would go for little. A bad runaway in prices and there just wouldn't be any farm for the boy to come back to, and the old iron box in the attic would be opened and the deed handed over to some other man, after we were knocked out.

Make no mistake about it, mister, inflation can do you in, just as effectively as a robot bomb. They have one thing in common, they both hit homes.

LUBRICATING OIL DISCOVERED IN ALBERTA

For the first time in Alberta's oil history, lubricating oil is now procurable in the province from two different sources—from Princess, seventy miles east of Gleichen in the plains area, and from Ram River in the foothills, thirty miles west of Rocky Mountain House.

Both discoveries have been made in the Devonian limestone—Princess at 4,937 feet in the No. 3 discovery well and Ram River at 4,240 in the No. 2 well. No. 3 is also nearing completion. Gravity of the Princess crude oil is reported at 25 degrees with lubricating stock around 26 per cent. Gravity at Ram River is stated to be 41.5 degrees, sulphur .126, natural gasoline 35 per cent, and residue of 65 per cent containing lubricant and distillate stock. Filing of leases resulting from these discoveries is now active and increased development in these two areas is expected.

MARKETING QUOTA FOR OATS

The Wheat Board announces that the marketing quota for oats has been increased at a number of prairie points for the purpose of filling orders for processed or sacked oats. The Alberta points are Calgary, Edmonton, Lethbridge and Medicine Hat.

POULTRY SHOWS

The Annual Poultry Show, arranged by the Edmonton Exhibition Association will be held at the Exhibition Grounds, Edmonton, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, November 28th, 29th and 30th. The Provincial Poultry Show will be staged by the Calgary Poultry Association at the Calgary Exhibition Grounds, on December 12th, 13th and 14th. Prize lists may be obtained from the office of the Edmonton Exhibition Association, Edmonton, and from A. Ferguson, Secretary, Calgary Poultry Association, Administration Building, Victoria Park, Calgary. Competition is expected to be very keen at both of these shows.

ECONOMICAL HOG PRODUCTION

Hogs weighing not more than 210 pounds alive when marketed at about six months old are not only more likely to receive the premium on A grade but they will also cost considerably less to produce than will hogs marketed at heavier weights and when several weeks older.

Experiments at the dominion experimental station, Lacombe, Alberta, have shown a progressively decreasing efficiency in feed utilization with increasing weight. Information on growth and feeding recorded on 109 hogs showed that it required 319 pounds of grain to produce 100 pounds of gain for the first thirty days of the experiment, 375 pounds for the second thirty days, 378 pounds for the third thirty days and 422 pounds for the final thirty-eight days, the average requirement for the total period being 392 pounds of grain for 100 pounds of gain.

The cheaper gains made by younger pigs may be attributed to the fact that gains at heavy weights are mostly made up of fat, and fat is 2¼ times as concentrated in heat units as lean. —Wheat Pool Budget.

JEWS IN THE SERVICES

There are sufficient Jews in the Canadian services to form a full-strength division if they were all transferred to the army, according to figures just published here by the War Efforts Committee of the Canadian Jewish Congress.

BETTER SEED NEEDED

Tests show that prairie wheat crops are not as true-to-variety this year as they should be. The use of some Registered or Certified seed would certainly improve this condition.

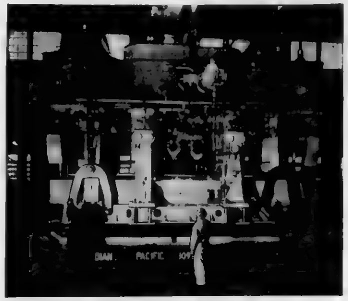
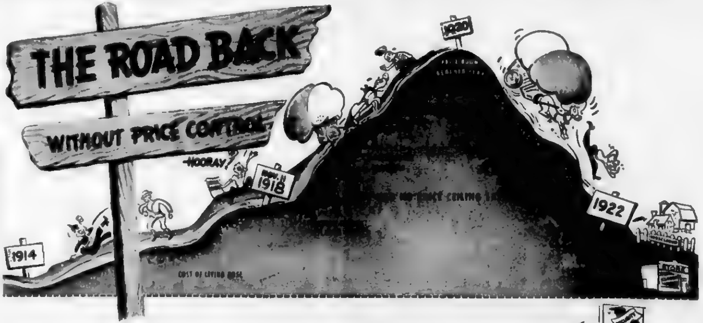
C.P.R.'s 50th Marine Engine for Invasion Barge



FOR LANDING CRAFT: The 50th marine engine from the Canadian Pacific Railway's Angus Shops, Montreal, had just been lowered to a special flat car for delivery to a shipyard turning out powered landing craft when this picture was taken. It was completed on a one-a-week schedule for these 70-ton engines in the munitions department which also has produced tanks for Russia and highly specialized naval gunnery devices at Angus and naval guns at Ogden Shops, Calgary, under direction of H. B. Bowen, chief of motive power and rolling stock. Some of the earlier engines went into corvettes and frigates.



The worst inflation came AFTER the war the last time . . . to be followed by disastrous deflation, unemployment and confusion. For Canada to manage successfully the change back to peace, maintain employment, and meet the world's competition . . . we must continue to have stable economic conditions. To protect the individual from rising costs of living and later unemployment we must continue to prevent inflation.

To prevent a repetition of the conditions following the last war
PRICE CONTROL MUST BE MAINTAINED
AS LONG AS INFLATION THREATENS US.

This can only be done if production is efficient and economical, costs are kept down and consumers refuse to pay more than ceiling prices.

One person can start it!

When one person demands more for goods or services he compels others to do the same and Price Control goes out the window.

THIS IS ONE OF A SERIES ISSUED BY THE GOVERNMENT OF CANADA TO EMPHASIZE THE IMPORTANCE OF PREVENTING A FURTHER RISE IN THE COST OF LIVING NOW, AND DEFLATION LATER

BARGAIN BABIES—

AS MOST EVERY ratepayer knows the M.D. of Beaver has a contract with the Edmonton hospitals and some rural hospitals whereby the patient's daily charge is reduced by the sum of 50c per day, the M.D. paying the hospital this amount plus 25c per day to take care of those patients who do not or cannot pay anything. This arrangement has been in force for quite a few years. During the past year the provincial government announced that it would pay the cost of hospital maternity cases. The statement was widely broadcast and the information was accepted as good and benevolent legislation on the part of the government. Naturally councils who had a hospital contract thought they were in luck as quite a number of hospital cases councils have to pay for are maternity cases. Most councils were quite sure that if the government were going to pay for hospital maternity cases, they would not have to, and acted accordingly. Much to their surprise, council found out later that the hospitals did not view it that way, and continued to charge up maternity cases as formerly, strictly according to the contract. The councils complained and after some correspondence a member of the Hospital Advisory Council met the Edmonton District Union of M.D.'s and the matter was threshed out. It was brought out that the hospitals estimate their cost of a maternity case at $45.00 and the government pays but $36.00. Thus they claimed it was necessary to collect the 75c per day from the M.D.'s to cover the cost. No person except those versed in hospital costs and finance can argue the matter. The hospital people can be either right or wrong on their estimate, but certainly no one would wish the hospitals to be out of pocket on maternity cases. Individuals wouldn't desire it; M.D.'s wouldn't desire it; and above all the government basking in the sunshine of benevolence wouldn't desire it.

There is however, a peculiar connection between the hospital estimate of cost, government payment and the amount the M.D.'s are expected to pay. The cost is estimated at $45.00. The government pays $36.00. This leaves $9.00 for the M.D.'s to pay to meet the cost. There is an allowance of 12 days for a maternity case and at 75c per day, the amount paid, the M.D. pays $9.00. This $9.00 with the government's $36.00 makes $45.00, the hospitals' estimate of cost. These figures may just happen to coincide, they may have been worked out in advance, we do not know. But this much is clear, the government received much deserved praise for enacting the free maternity legislation and the province is getting quite a number of bargain babies.

VOLUNTARY OR CONSCRIPTION—

It has been stated that our editorial last week was anti-conscription. It was nothing of the kind. We questioned then and do so now, the wisdom of having two avenues of military approach for young men in the same country. Whether voluntary or conscription it should be exactly the same for all. As to whether it is voluntary or conscription, as we see it, Canada has little choice. Almost every other country embroiled in the present day struggle is on a conscription basis and to enlist the number of men required it appears to be necessary here. As to the so called "Zombie" army, these men can only go overseas as volunteers, which would be alright, or as men with whom their country broke faith. The error was in setting up this system in the first place. As the elected head of this nation, Prime Minister King should tell these men that Canadians fighting overseas need their help and personally request them to volunteer for overseas service. The country is pinning these men down as to their responsibility, the Prime Minister should be pinned down as to his. Political strategy and expediency has no place when sending men into battle. Early in the war we said we liked the United States' system of drawing for their men; we said it last week and for the third and last time, say it again. Spread over a life time, to be drawn for the service of your country is not such a hardship after all.

The first National Farm Forum Broadcast of the 1944-45 series was on October 30th.

The series should have been of interest to every farmer as they have dealt with soil conservation and the productivity of the land.

Is our land wearing out? Listen in next Monday night at 8:30 over C.J.C.A. to the resume of the opinions and findings of the various listening groups across Canada. Then form a listening group and discuss the vital problems of your own community and send the information to Mr. Brunsden.

The fight against V.D. is a family affair . . .

A laughing couple, dodging showers of rice . . . fireside . . . garden . . . chubby babies . . .

These are scenes we know and like, because they're part of our lives . . . because they spell happiness . . . contentment.

But we know that these things don't "just happen." They have to be worked for, lived for. Protected, too, because of ever-present dangers which may spoil them.

Venereal Disease is a spoiler. In a cold, relentless way it can kill infants, rob the home of its breadwinner, cripple, destroy. These are not mere possibilities. THEY HAPPEN . . . RIGHT HERE IN CANADA!

But, these things should never happen. They can be prevented.

Young men and women can safeguard their future happiness together by making sure before marriage that V.D. will not blight their plans. A medical examination, including a blood test for syphilis, is a protection no couple can afford to pass up.

The expectant mother, too, may know for sure that her baby will be all she dreamed of. Syphilis in the expectant mother rarely shows outward signs, and it is no respecter of persons. An early check up by her doctor, including a blood test, is a most essential, yet simple, first step in protecting her baby's health.

Nor must the breadwinner neglect his part. The security of the home depends upon his ability to work regularly and efficiently. Unsuspected syphilis, striking in middle life, may make the head of the home unable to provide for his family. It is wise to KNOW FOR SURE in time. Industrial medical examinations should include a routine confidential blood test.

A blood test should not be looked upon as something unusual. It should be regarded for what it is . . . a normal safeguard of health, security and happiness.

Invest a few minutes of your time in ASSURANCE.

Salesmens' Luncheon

The salesmen, committee and a few invited guests met at a luncheon gathering at the Royal Alexandra Hotel on Monday night. Out of town guests included Mr. Stambaugh of Bruce and Mr. Rae of Holden, both gentlemen being connected with the Holden-Ryley unit.

The event was presided over by Mr. Geo. B. Bruce, chairman of the Tofield unit and addresses were given by Mr. Stambaugh and Mr. Rae, and short talks by different members of the Tofield organization. The evening was concluded with a short sing song and the National Anthem.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

A jolly afternoon was held at the home of Mrs. I. C. Olson when the U.F.W.A. staged their delayed Birthday Party. Games and contests took the place of the usual routine, and everyone entered into the spirit of fun. And, incidentally, we unearthed some quick-fire poets in our midst, hitherto undreamed of. Poems of the first water—and we do mean water, were [illegible] off with the greatest of ease, and on the most humble of subjects.

This being a super occasion, we had [illegible] pumpkin pie, for lunch, and believe it or not, a wonderful chocolate cake, as well.

Votes of thanks were tendered our hostess, Mrs. Olson, and the committees in charge of entertainment and lunch.

Thanks also to members handing in quilt blocks. We still need a lot more before the quilt can be finished and forwarded to the Flood Victims' Fund.

Don't forget, the blocks are to be 12x16 inches and made of warm, woollen pieces, not necessarily new, and of no set design.

RYLEY TO HAVE SPECIAL V DAY THANKSGIVING SERVICE

Arrangements have been completed to hold a Special V Day Thanksgiving Service in the Ryley Community Hall (kindly reserved for the occasion) on the day of announcement of Armistice or enemy surrender.

Rev. G. Ostrem and Rev. J. Gesson will conduct the service and it is hoped that all Ministers in the district will take part.

A special Hymn sheet with order of service will be prepared and Red Cross representatives will be at the door to receive any gifts or donations for Red Cross work.

It is hoped that all, irrespective of creed or denomination will be at this community service and by their presence express a genuine spirit of thankfulness to Almighty God for the cessation of hostilities. The service is arranged for three o'clock. All residents of the Ryley district are asked to keep this in mind.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN BIBLE SOCIETY CANVASS

The local canvassers, Mrs. J. W. Robinson and Mrs. W. C. Swift, for the British and Foreign Bible Society, wish to thank all who contributed so generously towards this worthy cause. We hope to finish the canvass by this week end. If you have not been contacted and would like to assist, please leave your donations with the canvassers or Mr. McCauley, the Secretary-treasurer. Let us remember the Bible Society is engaged in the costly work of publishing the Word of God in the 741 languages of many lands and also publishes the Scriptures in raised type for the blind, not only in English, but in 41 other languages. The Bible Society also publishes Diglot Scriptures (English and another language in parallel columns) in 93 languages for the use of immigrants from non-English speaking countries. The Bible Society has placed upon it increasing obligations due to present world conditions, and only insofar as it receives the support of the Christian public can it fulfill them.

A Real Accomplishment

The people of Ryley and immediate vicinity have reason to be proud of their Community Hall. The Little Theatre Group of Ryley have for years been very active and have been putting on plays and doing an excellent job in a small hall that did not do justice to the quality of their productions. In April 1929, when the depression was well started, a meeting of public spirited men and women was called and the advisability of a larger hall for a community recreation center was discussed and they decided to build that year. In common with nearly all projects in the West that have to do with improvements for rural districts, the Women's Institute came forward with a donation of $600.00 and $2,000.00 more was borrowed with public spirited men signing a note covering that amount, and the hall was started. During the years when this debt was being paid these hard working people sponsored Sports Days, Dances, Hot Dog Sales, at least one Amateur play a year. The first dance ever held in the new hall netted the grand sum of $190.00 and during the first year $1,000 was paid off. In 1932 an all-local Chautauqua was held and in passing we might add that, as far as can be learned, Ryley had the first all-local talent Chautauqua in Canada. Not only was this a success from the money standpoint but the contacts and friendships made, and talent developed, has and still is a tie between towns and persons that otherwise would have been unknown to each other, and this is above price. In 1933 and again in 1934 a five-day Chautauqua was undertaken by these tireless people. By 1939 the Hall was free of debt and was given to the Village to be used as a center for all community projects. During the past summer the Little Theatre Group again took over the management of the hall and have installed a moving picture machine and now have a show every Wednesday night. The Community team work that an undertaking of this kind calls for is something that the people of Ryley and district may well be proud, as well as the building which is second to none along this line.

STANLEY F. DINGLE

Winnipeg, Nov. 13 — Promotion of Stanley F. Dingle, superintendent of the Portage-Brandon division of the Canadian National Railways, to be general superintendent of the Alberta district, is announced by W. R. Devenish, vice president of the western region. Mr. Dingle will make his headquarters in Edmonton and will succeed H. H. Sparling, who has been transferred to Montreal as chief of transportation for the system.

Mr. Dingle has been with the operating department since 1922. Prior to this he served three years as a stenographer in the operating department. In September, 1923, he was appointed secretary to the late H. H. Brewer, assistant general manager at Winnipeg. The following year he occupied the same position with the general superintendent of transportation and in 1930 was appointed chief clerk for the department.

In March, 1939, Mr. Dingle was appointed assistant superintendent at Dauphin and two years later was promoted to be superintendent. Mr. Dingle returned to Winnipeg in May, 1942, as superintendent of the Portage-Brandon division.

Mr. Dingle has been a keen follower of athletics and was secretary treasurer and one of the organizers of the famous Winnipeg Blue Bombers, holders of the Canadian rugby championship.

NOVEMBER

The early shades of winter dull the scene,
The empty halls of Nature trill no song;
Some favor'd gardens boast of evergreen,
The woodland glades recall the migrant throng.

The cabin lone awakes in forests deep,
Where voice and stroke now cheer the rugged trail,
And giants crash where groves are wont to sleep,
Or bend and strain as Autumn's tempests wail.

The broaden'd river ponders solemn thought
Through prairies wild, by city dock and dome,
By tall industrial towers or humble cot
To spreading shores, salt tides, and ocean foam.

But faith and truth survive the season's change
New prospect springs while leaf and blossom fade,
And voices call beyond the local range
While hope's sweet strains the morning mists pervade.

FOOD SURPLUSES AHEAD?

The United States War Food Administration officials are of the opinion that unmanageable surpluses of cotton, wheat, lard and certain other commodities will pile up in 1945 unless production is controlled. W.F.A. economists say that 400 million bushels of wheat, 500 million bushels of corn and more than 11 million bales of cotton will be carried over into the next season and that the Commodity Credit Corporation will be the owner of these surpluses.

United States winter wheat growers have seeded close to 49 million acres for harvest next year against 47 million planted last fall. Wheat is disappearing less rapidly this season than last as a smaller quantity is going into industrial alcohol and there is less feeding of wheat to livestock.

These economists believe that there should be a cut of 15 per cent in the 1945 pig crop, this in turn bringing about a lessened consumption of meat.

A reduction in the over-all demand for farm products is expected next year and the W.F.A. economists say that in order to maintain prices it would be better to cut back produc-

He thanks everybody for their kindness to him while in the district.

There was a fair congregation at Church last Sunday. Mr. Bert Lecrie came out for the service. Mr. E. Nix and Miss Latter came with him.

The November U.F.W.A. meeting was held at the home of Mrs. A. J. Leach on Tuesday, Nov. 14th. There were 5 members present. After the business session the hostess served a chicken supper. The next meeting will be held at Mrs. F. Swabey's home in December.

ABOUT NEW GUINEA

Pfc. Ernest Hillerud of the Medical Corps in a U.S. Hospital Unit stationed somewhere in New Guinea, in a letter to relatives here relates: He finds life and customs quite different to those in U.S. The natives are short and stocky with a brown complexion. Their hair is black and bushy but they dye it almost all colors. If a man is wanting a wife, he dyes his hair red. As they have a very warm climate, they wear a loin cloth and the women a grass skirt and decorate themselves with brass ornaments and beads. As a rule they are quite friendly and curious about everything. Some natives called the head-hunters are found in the wilder parts of the country.

There are plantations of cocoanut palm. This palm grows tall, with very few branches and the nuts are at the very top. The natives climb the trees like squirrels and throw down nuts for a given price. The juice or milk in the nut makes a very refreshing drink.

Pfc. Hillerud says it does not "rain" out there, it pours. They wade in mud up to their hips when walk[illegible] [illegible] clothes are not all the [illegible] during the rainy season but as it is warm they do not mind it.

IN MEMORIAM

Dedicated to Mrs. Alice Knopp, postmistress and oldtimer of New Sarepta, who so sincerely tried to pattern her life to that of Christ. She passed away in October 1944, and was buried at New Sarepta, October 29th, 1944.

Dear God! I'm asking you today
Why did you take my friend away?
A woman, good she was and true,
In many ways so much like You.

Clothed in honor, she seemed to me
The soul of moral chastity.
Her voice, low pitched, and yet bell [illegible]
Rang in the right when wrong was [illegible].

No traffic with sin could she abide,
The bulwark of the countryside.
Righteousness sat on her brow,
Yet I have often wondered how

In the midst of daily strife
Of public deed and family life
She kept her poise and dignity,
A catalytic person, she!

You once gave your Beloved Son,
And when His work on earth was done,
You called Him Home. We could not see Alive, His perfect entity.

Yet crucified, our hearts full sore,
We learned to love Him more and more.
And follow in His steps, so we May enter into Heaven with Thee.

And now I'm wondering, Father Dear,
If, oft you send your angels here
To help us on life's troubled ways,
A shining light for our dark days.

So when their work on earth is done,
You whisper, 'Come Oh Faithful [illegible]'
Knowing that those who loved her dearly,
Now in her absence, see more clearly
Your messenger, so through our days
Will humbly follow in Christ's ways.

WHAT LANDS SHOULD BE SEEDED DOWN?

(Experimental Farms News)

A review of the season's cropping may recall fields where production was low because of a grain-fallow policy which has added nothing to the soil and has reduced the fibre content materially. Such land should be seeded down for a few years. Not only will the meadow crop add fibre, which will later be effective in retaining moisture, but it will also hold most weeds in [illegible] and prevent blowing and washing.

Incipient washes, gullies and potholes which remain wet in the spring should also be seeded down and in some cases be kept in sod. Long slopes should be traversed with strips of grass to prevent sheet washing and these should be put back into cereal production only when other strips have been established above or below them.

This policy is in effect at the Dominion Experimental Station, Beaverlodge, Alberta, according to E. C. Stacey. The result is that the general production level is being maintained and there is no waste land. Some of the seeded areas are small but they yield hay or pasture and where subject to flooding are particularly productive as well as serving as silt traps. One belt of brome-alfalfa mixture sown across a long slope in 1935 still gives a fairly good cut of hay.

BEET PROCESSING

It is claimed that a new method of treating sugar beets has been developed in Russia. The water content of beets is about 75 per cent. The juice is extracted from the beets, evaporated and concentrated into briquettes. Such briquettes can be stored for several years without loss or chemical change. This method cuts down the number of sugar factories required and also lowers the cost of making sugar from beets.

Now you don't!

The KIDS ARE CERTAINLY TOUGH ON SHOES!

1,300,000 MORE PAIRS OF CHILDREN'S SHOES LAST YEAR

In the last twelve months Canadian manufacturers made for Canadian children about 25% more shoes than in 1939—a fine job—done by the organization and direction of production by this Board's Footwear Administration and the co-operation of manufacturers. And this was accomplished while they were making more essential type shoes for war workers, who wear out their shoes faster than they do in their normal employment.

THE DISAPPEARING ACT OF RUBBER-SOLE SHOES

In normal times most young Canadians got at least one pair of rubber soled, canvas-top shoes a year. But natural rubber supplies fell into enemy hands, and the manufacture of rubber footwear was drastically curtailed. We're now using reclaimed and synthetic rubber in these shoes—there have been more of them this year and there will be more next year. Leather soled shoes have had to be used in place of this rubber soled footwear but shoes made of leather need more care than running shoes. When they don't get it they wear out more quickly, when they get wet they must be dried slowly, away from direct heat—and they should be greased also. It's not always a case of poor quality, it's poor care.

LEATHER GOES TO WAR

You've got to have good strong leather for children's shoes, but the soldiers are taking most of [illegible] for their boots. For these leathers, a substantial portion of the hides came from South America and other countries. War cut down these imports and there have been difficulties in getting enough of these and our own hides tanned into leather due to shortage of workers. The production of high grade leather [illegible] has, however, been maintained at the highest level consistent with the labour and materials available. While shoe factories have been working overtime, factory capacity for civilian shoes cannot be expanded in wartime and it's not possible to change plants from the manufacture of one type of shoe to another,—for instance, from women's to children's. The processes, the machines and the lasts are different.

Through its Standards and its Supply Divisions, the Board watches the production of civilian goods to ensure that everything possible is done to provide the necessary quantities and to maintain the quality. The limitations imposed by the shortage of labour and materials, however, mean that you can't get all you want in wartime.

Donald Gordon
Chairman, Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

TURNING HIDES INTO SHOES

There are very large war uses of leather—for instance, in footwear. A soldier requires four pairs of shoes in the first year of his service and about three pairs per year thereafter. But what is more important, he needs to have his shoes re-soled four or five times a year. His shoes are of the highest quality leathers obtainable, leaving the other grades of leather for civilian use. Airmen need leather for jackets and mitts. War factories need leather for belting and farmers need leather for harness. Leather—the best leathers—has gone to war.

"IN UNITY THERE IS STRENGTH"—

THOSE WHO KNOW Great Britain at all, know that during the month of November at many civic centres there is an annual luncheon or banquet presided over by a Lord Mayor or just Mayor, complete with gold neck chain and all the trimmings. These are unofficial or at the best, semi-official events at which the social amenities take precedence over ritual but at which the speeches made often include information of great importance, particularly as regards indicating coming events. The most important of these is the Lord Mayor's luncheon held in London and at which persons important in the life of the nation speak from the head table. Prime Minister Churchill has spoken at quite a number of Lord Mayor's banquets, his appearance at this event having almost become a national reminder of how fleeting time is and how quickly Novembers roll around. Also that while there have been and still may be Novembers of "blood, toil, sweat and tears," there are ample indications that there will be Novembers when bombs will be but a memory and when all aeroplanes will be upon peaceful missions. At the Lord Mayor's luncheon just recently held, both humor and prophecy appeared. Humor, when the new Lord Mayor Sir Frank Alexander congratulated President Roosevelt on his reelection by referring to him as President Theodore Roosevelt, and prophecy when Prime Minister Churchill said in the course of an address: "Now I don't mind saying that it is high time we had another triple conference."

It is a far cry from the city of London to the town of Tofield, and the chair of the Lord Mayor of London is quite a bit removed from that of the Tofield Unit of the War Finance Committee, yet on Monday night there seemed to be at least a slender connection. Perhaps it was the weather. Monday night's weather was foggy and raw, as close to English November weather as we are likely to get here, add to this an evening luncheon gathering during the speeches of which past and future policies were unofficially broached and the reader will begin to understand what we are leading up to. The event on Monday evening at the Royal Alexandra Hotel at Tofield was neither large or important, simply a salesmens' luncheon of the Victory Loan organization of the Tofield Unit, a kind of happy wind-up to a rather strenuous campaign. Guest speakers included Mr. Stambaugh of Bruce, unit organizer of the Holden-Ryley unit and Mr. Rae, secretary of that unit. During the course of his address Mr. Stambaugh suggested that the Ryley sub unit be attached to Tofield instead of to Holden, saying that he thought co-operation would be better that way. Mr. Rae, who was introduced as "the Holden statistician," quoted figures in the course of his address and showed that the Ryley sub-unit held up its end quite well both as regards amount subscribed and number of subscribers, and this in comparison with both the Holden and Tofield units. But as we have already intimated, the speeches were quite unofficial and the event purely social.

However those individuals who have had experience with matters concerning all three towns, Tofield, Ryley, Holden, know that relations are not of the happiest. This has cropped up in different ways but particularly as regards M.D. centre and hospital district. The M.D. centre question is settled but the hospital question is still alive. It is only a few months since at a hospital meeting at Tofield the Mercury drew attention to the fact that the way the Holden and Tofield districts were laid out it was leaving a relatively small strip of Ryley area without municipal hospital facilities. Since then of course the Holden scheme has been defeated but here at the Tofield end there is still hope. It is not the purpose of this writing to widen any breach but to close it; not to make matters worse but to improve them; not to blow on the fire but to pour oil on troubled waters.

It is only natural that small towns should wish to grow and expand and that individuals glow with civic pride for their home or adopted town, but these feelings should and can be allowed to bear fruit without antagonizing a neighbor. "Love thy neighbor . . . "is still more than a mere phrase. It is thirty one years since we first saw Tofield, Ryley, and Holden, and during those years neither town has made spectacular development. At a time when hundreds of boys are away from their homes in this area on a crusade, let us not mar their sacrifice. In inter-town affairs as in international affairs, "in unity there is strength."

THOSE DARK MORNINGS—

IT WAS VERY FITTING that the delegates at the Municipal Districts' Convention held at Calgary last week should draw public attention to the dark mornings caused by the wartime daylight saving time. This time may have some advantages during certain seasons of the year but it certainly has none during November, December and January. Then one has to get up "in the middle of the night" to get in a day's work—and the truth of the matter is, one doesn't. For farmers particularly, to be poking around in early hours of darkness, it is not very pleasant. The most unpleasant feature is that school children have to be sent off to school while it is still dark, a non too happy experience for rural children.

FINISHING POULTRY FOR MARKET

During the past six months Alberta farmers have been marketing the highest percentage of thin poultry that they have marketed for four or five years. There isn't any excuse for this situation, as practically every district in the province from which this poultry is being received has had an abundance of grain right on the premises.

There is only one place where poultry can be economically fleshed and then fattened, and that is on the farm. Poultry receiving stations have to crate feed or finish any poultry they receive and naturally cannot have nearly enough accomodation to feed but a fraction of the live poultry receipts. Please note that we said, "feed or finish" not "flesh or fatten". Usually fourteen days is about the limit for crate feeding. Naturally in that space of time birds will not put on any appreciable amount of flesh and unless they are in good flesh when put into the fattening crates they will not fatten to the limit during such a short time. Crate feeding is primarily to put the finishing touches of quality on birds of good flesh and fat and to lift these birds into Grade "Milkfed" the highest price bracket.

Poultry can be pen finished for almost any period if carefully managed, but the correct procedure is to cull the flock about every four or six weeks. Pick out all non-producers or males not to be used as breeders that are in good flesh and place them in a small pen by themselves. Feed a fairly sloppy mash consisting of: ground wheat 25 per cent; Ground Whole Oats, 40 per cent; Ground Barley, 30 per cent; Meat Scrap, 5 per cent. This mash should be mixed with milk if possible, and mixed to the consistency of thin porridge. Feed twice daily with a good grain feed at night.

When the birds have completed the fleshing and some fattening in the pen the ideal way is to transfer them to the crate for about ten days to complete the fattening process, soften up the flesh and muscles, and put on the final "Milkfed" finish.

Birds in pen or crates during the finishing process will consume about 1 1-2 pounds of feed per week per bird. How does this work out? Let us take a good healthy but thin Rock cockerel that will weigh five pounds and will grade No. 2 alive. He will bring 10c a pound or 50c. During four weeks of pen feeding he will consume about six pounds of feed at a cost of 2c per pound, a total cost of 12c. He should then weigh 6 1-2 lbs., grade No. 1 and bring 18c per pound or $1.17, a gain of 67c for and expenditure of 12c for feed and a little work.

Crate finish this bird for ten days or two weeks and he will cost you another 6c for feed. He should dress out on a "Rail Grade" basis at 7 pounds and grade "Milkfed A" and bring 25c per pound, or $1.75 less 10c for killing and dressing. Six weeks pen feeding and crate finishing costs 18c in feed and some labour plus 10c for dressing, or a total of 28 cents out-of-pocket expense, for a gain of $1.25. The same works out proportionately for fowl as for chicken. If you have 100 fowl, 125 cockerels and a few extra pullets to market; maybe it doesn't pay to finish them. We are sure it does. We want you to pay particular attention to that "Rail Grade" price. If you sell them on a live grade basis you will only get a No. 1 price, 16c to 18c per pound. Pay the buyer the killing service charge and insist on a "Rail Grade" and make an extra 8c per pound. We know many buying stations will put up all sorts of excuses about not being able to "Rail Grade" but producers should organize and insist that your local buyer gives you that service. If he persists in his refusal you have only one option—to sell to a buyer who will give you this service.

BEHIND SCENES WITH SANTA CLAUS

Arrangements made months ago by Canada's food organizers will bear fruit in groaning tables of Christmas fare in Canadian homes this year—shelled almonds from Spain and Portugal, currants and raisins from Australia, walnuts, filberts and pecans, orange and lemon peel from our neighbours in the south, nutmeg from British West Indies, cloves from Zanzibar, cinnamon from Ceylon, ginger and allspice from Jamaica, even imitation spices processed in Canada since Jap control of some spice producing countries.

The Jewish War Efforts Committee reveals that as of September 1, 1944 there were 9300 Jewish men and women in the army, 5301 in the Royal Canadian Air Force, and 465 in the Royal Canadian Navy. These figures do not include the Canadian Jewish men serving in the British, American, Palestine and other United Nations forces.

BREWING INDUSTRY OF ALBERTA

THE fight against V.D. is a family affair . . .

A laughing couple, dodging showers of rice . . . friends . . . garden . . .

These are scenes we know and like, because they're part of our lives . . . because they spell happiness . . . contentment.

But we know that these things don't "just happen." They have to be worked for, lived for. Protected, too, because of ever present dangers which may spoil them.

Venereal Disease is a spoiler. In a cold, relentless way it can kill infants, rob the home of its breadwinner, cripple, destroy. These are not mere possibilities. THEY HAPPEN . . . RIGHT HERE IN CANADA!

But, these things should never happen. They can be prevented.

Young men and women can safeguard their future happiness together by making sure before marriage that V.D. will not blight their plans. A medical examination, including a blood test for syphilis, is a protection no couple can afford to pass up.

The expectant mother, too, may hope for sure that her baby will be all she dreamed of. Syphilis in the expectant mother rarely shows outward signs and it is no respecter of persons. An early check-up by her doctor, including a blood test, is a most essential, yet simple, first step in protecting her baby's health.

Nor must the breadwinner neglect his part. The security of the home depends upon his ability to work regularly and efficiently. Unsuspected syphilis, striking in middle life, may make the head of the home unable to provide for his family. It is wise to KNOW FOR SURE in time. Industrial medical examinations should include a routine confidential blood test.

A blood test should not be looked upon as something unusual. It should be regarded for what it is . . . a normal safeguard of health, security and happiness.

TRADE WITH BRITAIN

Great Britain provides the most extensive market for food products in the entire world and every food exporting nation is anxious to obtain entry thereto.

In pre-war years British imports averaged a billion pounds a year of which 60 per cent was paid for by exports and 40 per cent by the proceeds from overseas investments and by the sale of shipping and insurance, banking and other services. British overseas investments have been largely liquidated because of wartime needs. Furthermore, she is no longer a creditor nation. In fact, her external indebtedness is around 14 million pounds, much of which is held by Empire nations.

In the post war era Britain is confronted with the alternatives of expanding her exports to the most extensive degree or becoming more self-contained and restricting imports. The latter alternative would result in a lower standard of living for the mass of the British people so it now remains with the people of Britain to expand exports to as great a degree as possible.

The Co-operative Wholesale Society of England and Wales, which ranks among the greatest in the manufacturing and industrial field in that country, sent a delegation of three directors to North America as a vanguard of a continual procession of trade delegations which will be sent abroad to further the exports of products manufactured in the co-operative factories of the old land. While in Calgary, these three directors spoke plainly in outlining the plans of the C.W.S. That organization proposes to pay for imports with exports. It wants to deal with co-operative associations, both producer and consumer, and in this way to spread throughout the world the system of trading in which the exploitation of the producers and consumers will be eliminated.

Farmers of western Canada are dependent upon the British market to a very great degree. It would be a disaster for these farmers if they could not find in the United Kingdom markets for a very substantial quantity of their production—mainly wheat and bacon. These farmers would be quite willing to take British goods in exchange for their wheat and bacon. A satisfactory arrangement for the exchange of products between co-operative societies in both nations would be a fine thing for the farmers of the prairie provinces and the consuming public of Great Britain. —Alberta Wheat Pool Budget.

CHECK-UP UNDER N.S.S. MOBILIZATION REGULATIONS

Out of 41,344 doubtful cases reported by employers in the last 8 months, a total of 3,343 men not in good standing under Mobilization regulations have been located, A. MacNamara, Director of National Selective Service announced today.

By an order issued early this year under Mobilization Regulations by Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labour, employers were required to check on the documents of all male employees and report on those apparently not in good standing under Mobilization Regulations. By a subsequent order of August 15th last the checking process which had originally carried only to May 1st, was made continuous. It is now necessary for an employer to report within 7 days of engagement any new male employee who fails to furnish documents proving that he has complied with Mobilization Regulations.

These reports are sent to the Registrars of the 13 Mobilization Divisions across Canada. The 41,344 reports received by the Registrars to date cover the period from the 1st of March when the first order of the Minister of Labour became effective to November 4th.

Mobilization officials take immediate steps to follow up on the cases of men who are reported upon and found not to be in good standing under the Regulations.

EMPLOYEES FOR CHRISTMAS RUSH

The hiring of extra workers by retail stores and the Post Office Department for the Christmas rush season has been simplified by a special Order signed by Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labour, under National Selective Service Civilian Regulations, it was announced today by A. MacNamara, Director of National Selective Service.

From December 13 to January 8, 1945, retail businesses may engage without first securing National Selective Service permission—students and teachers on Christmas vacation, any woman and any man who has passed his fifty-ninth birthday.

The Post Office Department may employ persons in the same categories without permit from December 1, 1944, to January 10, 1945.

If the employer—either a retail business or the Post Office Department—wishes to retain a temporary employee beyond the permit exemption period, it will be necessary to secure a Selective Service permit.

Mr MacNamara pointed out that in relaxing the regulations to ease the Christmas rush, it is necessary to still maintain employment controls in general for the protection of essential industries.

C.P.R. Plans for Future

H. J. Humphrey E. D. Cotterell

LONG-RANGE planning for the transition of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company from a war to a peace-time basis was foreshadowed recently when D. C. Coleman, Chairman and President, announced the assignment of H. J. Humphrey, formerly Vice-President of the Company's Eastern Lines, to "special duties".

"Mr. Humphrey's exceptionally wide experience, extensive public contacts and comprehensive knowledge will be devoted primarily to the solution of problems that will confront the Company in the period of transition from war to peace", Mr. Coleman said. Mr Humphrey is now located at the Company's headquarters in Montreal.

He is succeeded as vice-president, Eastern Lines, by E. D. Cotterell, formerly general manager, Eastern Lines who is promoted to vice-president, and general manager, with headquarters in Toronto. Both Mr Humphrey and Mr Cotterell report to W. M. Neal C.B.E., Vice-President of the Company. The appointments became effective October 1.

These changes again bring into the spotlight two officials who have each made great contributions to the steady advancement of Canadian railroading and have devoted their entire lives to the development of this vital phase of Canadian life.

SELF FEEDERS FOR HOGS

There seems to be two schools of thought with regard to the use of self feeders for hogs. There are those who claim that a higher percentage of grade A hogs results from hand feeding. Others are of the opinion that it makes little difference, if any, except for the extra amount of work required when hand feeding. Experiments, both in Canada and the United States indicate a tendency in favour of self feeders. Properly constructed feeders do not waste feed, but do save drudgery and labour.

A. J. Charnetski, Live Stock Supervisor, state that hog grades depend more on the breeding and feed mixtures used, rather than on the method of feeding. A well bred bacon type hog, fed for the first five months on a balanced ration containing not less than 18 per cent protein, will grade well on the rail, even though he may have been fed from a self feeder.

There are numerous plans for different kinds and types of self-feeders for hogs. In the construction of self-feeders, some farmers follow the plans very carefully. Others modify them to suit particular requirements. There can be no objection to modifications so long as the basic principle and practical application of the self feeder is maintained and used so that the work of caring for live stock is made more pleasant at lower labour costs.

CATTLE ON FEED

To convert a feeder steer into a properly finished animal, when fed in dry lot, requires about 45 bushels of grain and close to one ton of hay under ordinary conditions.

Professor J. P. Sackville of the Department of Animal Science, University of Alberta, advises that barley is superior to oats for putting gains on cattle, although oats may be used more liberally when cattle are first put on feed. By the time they have been in the feed lot two months, the grain mixture that has given best results is three parts barley, by weight, to one part of oats. Yearling steers when on full feed will consume up to 12 to 15 pounds of grain per head daily.

Recent experiments at the University of Alberta have shown that where at least one half of the hay used for cattle finishing consists of alfalfa there is little need to purchase the more expensive protein and mineral supplements. Flax, a farm-grown product, fed ground at the rate of one half to three quarters of a pound per head daily mixed with the grain, has given surprisingly good results in adding thrift and bloom to cattle during a prolonged feeding period.

NOTICE TO EMPLOYERS
AND THEIR MALE EMPLOYEES—Including Farmers

By an order signed on August 15th, 1944, by the undersigned Minister of Labour under authority of National Selective Service Mobilization Regulations, 1944:

1. Commencing August 22nd, 1944, every employer is required to check the documents held by each newly engaged male employee, within 7 days of the employee's engagement, to determine if such employee possesses documents to show that he is in good standing under National Selective Service Mobilization Regulations, 1944 (that is, in relation to the Military Call-up);
2. Every employer must report on Schedule 9 to the Registrar for his Mobilization Division, concerning any employee found not to possess documents as referred to;
3. Every employer is required similarly to check the documents held by each male employee now working for him, whose documents he has not checked before, and to report to the Registrar for his Mobilization Division at once on any such employee found not to possess documents as referred to;
4. Any male employee here referred to, is required by the Regulations to present his documents to his employer for purposes of inspection;
5. FOR THIS PURPOSE "EMPLOYER" INCLUDES ALSO ANY FARMER OPERATING A FARM, WHO HAS A MALE PERSON WORKING FOR HIM;
6. Penalties are provided for any employer or male employee who fails to comply with these Regulations.

By an earlier order, employers were required to check the documents held by their male employees, and to report by May 1st, 1944, on doubtful cases as well as cases where employees did not possess documents.

Employers are asked to remember that they do not report on men who do possess the necessary documents—only on those who fail to present documents for examination, or where there is doubt that the document presented actually proves good standing.

The employers of Canada, including farmers, co-operated very satisfactorily on the first check, made up to May 1st, last. This co-operation was decidedly helpful, and is very much appreciated. Further co-operation is now earnestly requested.

Schedule 9, for reporting to the Registrar, and details as to documents which prove good standing, are available through the nearest Employment and Selective Service Office.

Farmers not needed on the farm during the winter, who answer the urgent call for winter workers in other essential industries, will be given a continuance of postponement of military training while away from the farm.

WEDDING

BRUHA—MONCHAK

In the St. Joseph Cathedral in Edmonton, Thursday, November 2nd, at 11:00 a.m., Helen Monchak, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Monchak of South Cooking Lake was married to Mr. Frank Bruha of Tofield. Father A. D. O'Brien solemnized the nuptial mass.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a toe length gown of white sheer with long sleeves coming to a point over the wrists. The waist of her gown was tight fitting. Her floor length veil was caught to her head by a wreath of flowers, and she carried a bouquet of pink and red roses.

The bride's attendants, her sister, Katie, wore a toe length gown of blue sheer with blue flowers in her hair, and her sister Annie, wore a toe length gown of pink sheer with pink flowers in her hair.

The groom was assisted by Donnelly McGinitie of Tofield, nephew of the groom and Bill Sawula of Leduc.

A reception for 125 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Monchak. A four-tiered wedding cake centred the table. Many gifts were received by the young couple, also a sum of money. The Bride's mother wore an Air Force blue dress and had a white rose corsage.

A wedding dance was held in Ministik hall in the evening. The couple left by plane to spend their honeymoon at Vancouver and different points in the U.S.A. After the trip the couple will reside at the groom's home.

Community League Carnival Outstanding Success

In spite of adverse weather bringing the first real winter weather of the season, the carnival sponsored by the Tofield Community League was an outstanding success. Friday was a cold and stormy day and it was not expected that many would turn out that night. Even so over $300 was taken in. The dance was well attended considering the weather.

Saturday evening the Theatre was crowded with people willing to try their luck on any one or all of the numerous games. The total proceeds for the two nights was over $1000, with over $700.00 net gain.

Mr. Mark Ferguson was the lucky winner of the $50.00 bond.

Combined Forces

There has been no communique from Admiral Kadryk, General Stinson or Air Marshal Lovell as to probable gains in the war savings stamp campaign converging on the Tofield school. If the area immediately south of Rogers' store is in hostile territory, a combined attack, delivered at the right time, say sixteen hours, on Monday, December 4, might result in some gains with light casualties.

M.D. Beaver Council Meeting

A special adjourned meeting of M.D. of Beaver was held at the district's office on Friday, November 24th. There were present: Reeve Anderson, Councillors Giebelhaus, Logan, Lucas, Moen, Ovens and Swabey.

The minutes of the preceding meeting were accepted as read.

Routine business connected with Mothers' Allowance and Hospital admissions was attended to.

Communications included:

A letter from the Hospitals Advisory Council at Edmonton asking for a signed contract. On the motion of Councillor Ovens the secretary was instructed to prepare and advertise necessary by-law and to complete the agreement with the hospitals.

A letter from the Provincial Sanitary Engineer, replying to Council's request that he submit a report of the Dodds well. The letter was to the effect that the health officer of the Holden Health Unit was shortly to visit Edmonton when arrangements would be made to have some water from the Dodds well analysed. Without committing himself, offhand, he thought that a well in this area would have to be 500 or 600 feet deep.

Letter from Dept. of Lands and Mines with reference to issuing a permit to trap muskrats due to damage done by the rodents on applicant's farm. A permit was issued.

Letter from Mr. C. Holmberg regarding appointment as valuator. Mr Holmberg stated that he was sorry he was unable to accept this position as he had other work which was keeping him occupied. As the duties involved in the M.D. valuation job were very light, Reeve Anderson will interview Mr. Holmberg before another appointment is made.

Letter from the Dept. of Agriculture saying that Messrs. Wilson and Wood would be pleased to discuss the weed problem with council on December 8th.

Letter from A. Voice soliciting road machinery repairing. On the motion of Councillor Moen, Reeve Anderson will personally interview this concern.

Mr. Curtis, road building contractor, interviewed council and suggested a deal whereby he build roads for the M.D. and acquire the M.D.'s machinery as payment. In road building, the cost per mile varied according to the territory through which the road was passing, he said. He had built some road at $375.00 per mile. No action was taken.

Mr. Mosby interviewed Council re purchase of S.W. 10-48-17. He desired the land to be taken off the sales list. He had a contract for $375.00 with the M.D. of which $300.00 was due. Council agreed to accept the $300.00 and take land off sales list and to pay the additional $75.00 when the road contract was completed. The taxes on the quarter section will be consolidated. The above arrangement was covered by a motion by Councillor Logan.

Mrs. E. McKeith wrote regarding a gravel pit and requested the land be returned to her if the M.D. were finished taking the gravel. Secretary was instructed to reply that Council was not ready to dispose of the land. Council decided to fence the portion of the gravel pit that abutted on the road allowance.

On the motion of Councillor Logan, Dr. McPherson will be requested to visit Miss Margaret Peterson, also Mr. Larson of Poe and give a written report on these two patients.

Reeve Anderson gave a report on the M.D. convention which was held at Calgary recently. He said there was a large number of delegates present and there seemed to be a much better feeling between the Department and the Association than formerly. A large number of resolutions were presented but not all of them passed. An effort would be made to have the convention held at Edmonton next year, but hotel accommodation there was still a problem.

A short discussion ensued regarding the keeping in repair of bridges in the Holden Drainage area.

Meeting adjourned until Friday, December 8th at 10:00 a.m.

SUGAR BEET PROCESSING

Information of interest to Southern Alberta comes in the announcement of a new method of treating sugar beets which has been developed in Russia. The water content of the beets is about 75 per cent. The juice is extracted from the beets, evaporated and concentrated into briquettes. These briquettes can be stored for several years without loss or chemical change. The new method is claimed to not only lower the cost of making sugar from beets, but also to cut down the number of sugar factories required.

ABOUT 200,000 BAGS MILKWEED PODS

Nearly 200,000 bags of milkweed pods, the floss from which will be used to make life preservers for the Armed Forces have been collected during the past two months by school children in Ontario, Quebec and Manitoba, the Agricultural Supplies Board, stated today.

While most of the available milkweed pods have been turned in to collecting centres there are still some schools and persons who still have bags of pods in their possession. These, the Board says, should be delivered to collecting centres or buying agents as soon as possible and payment of 20 cents per bag will be made for them. The locations of these centres are known to Agricultural Representatives, School Inspectors or local newspapers. Shipments should not be made to the Board in Ottawa. The milkweed pods are being shipped to a special processing plant in Michigan, U.S.A.

The Board said that it appreciates the assistance given by School Inspectors, teachers, pupils, Agricultural Representatives and individuals in the collection of the pods. The work in this way has been a big contribution to the war effort.

LOCAL RATION BOARDS PRAISED

"It is much easier to perform voluntary jobs when news from the fighting fronts is grim" said Prices Board Chairman, Donald Gordon, in a recent letter to chairmen of Local Ration Boards throughout Canada, commending expert handling of distribution of Ration Book 5. "The dark days of the war have been brightened by successes of our fighting services, yet you and your untiring volunteers stick to the task at hand as steadfastly as ever. It is reassuring to consider the work of our Local Ration Boards, with members from all sections of the community, who [illegible] co-operative efforts have saved Canadian taxpayers many thousands of dollars," Mr. Gordon said.

BARDO

MR. COLDWELL SPEAKS

M. J. Coldwell, speaking in Calgary last Wednesday said, on the Zombie question, that he approved the government's action in calling a special session of parliament "for it is only when the complete facts are uncovered by Premier King, Gen. McNaughton and Col. Ralston that an accurate opinion of this problem can be formed". He was told overseas that equipment is excellent and reinforcements quite satisfactory. Since that time there had been terrible casualties which might alter the situation considerably. Mr. Coldwell did not have an opportunity to visit Italy. He does not believe the war is nearly ended or that Germany is going to crack up or surrender. Mr. Coldwell said: "Out of poverty, misery and want grew dictators, and these powers were thrown up to destroy mankind not only by their own people but by powerful interests in our own country as well. War cannot be ended until the cause of wars is eliminated and the only people who can end war are the common people who suffer from war." He predicted that should another war occur within the next 25 years, no country would be able to live in isolation, and no ocean would prove a barrier to these weapons (robot bombs). In England he said, eggs are plentiful and in return for them people want soap, razor blades and cigarettes. Their money is of little value . . . evidence that wealth is goods. A medical officer had said to him that men in the hospitals overseas received treatment because they needed it, asking "Why can't we do that in peace time?" Speaking of the Canadian cemetery at Dieppe, Mr. Coldwell said: "What a lesson to we who live---seeing those boys, Protestant and Catholic, French and English, lying side by side. They lived together, they fought together---why cannot we learn to live together" Many of these young men never really lived. They enlisted in the services from relief rolls . . . the Tory government gave tear gas bombs to our reliefers in 1935 when they asked for bread. They will try again to snatch power, this time by a war issue so that they can bring back their so-called system of "free enterprise". (Mr. Coldwell said by Tories he meant both, not only Conservatives but the Liberals who sat with them in parliament). The leader of the C.C.F. national party said if his party should win a majority at the next election they "would make no compromise with those who want to fleece the people."

FUNERAL

Baby Kenneth Gustav Lovgren

A quiet funeral was held at the Haveland Funeral Home, Camrose, Thursday, November 23, for the one-month old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lovgren, who passed away Monday at St. Mary's hospital.

Pallbearers were: Richard and Joanne Lovgren, Dianne Lyseng, and Marjorie Webster.

Miss Sonia Hanson and Lillian Naslund were among the attendants at the Teachers' convention held in Camrose last week.

We learn that a special correspondence instructor was up from Edmonton, so the girls received some good pointers. Lillian returned Saturday morning after a brief stay at home.

Miss Orpha Kangas will be the new Brandland teacher after Christmas. This week she is at the school receiving special instructions.

Bert Hanson motored to Wetaskiwin last Sunday. How are the roads, Bert?

Sidney Mattson left for Buck Lake last Wednesday to do some hunting. Good luck!

Esther Mattson is assisting her sister, Mrs. Sidney Mattson, during Sidney's absence.

Alton Granlund returned to his home in Donalda after visiting in the district for a week.

Ingvar Person is drilling a well for E. Carlstrom. How's digging those days, Ingvar?

Georgia Webster has been "under the weather" or the past week with a bad cold.

Mrs. G. Erickson, Caar, and her daughter Louise and son Vincent visited relatives and friends over the week end. Louise attended the Teachers' convention in Camrose.

Isabelle Grue, Camrose College, was home over the week end. We understand the College has been under quarantine for the past week due to scarlet fever.

Arnold Naslund and Billy Webster are busy working on the rink at time's so we hope to have some good ice in the near future.

Evelyn Webster has returned home again after being in Edberg for the past month.

Richard Pearson was a patient in the Camrose Hospital last week, where he underwent a tonsil operation. We sincerely hope he has a speedy recovery

Bert Hanson, Alton and Jim Granlund were in Camrose Wednesday night

Joe Miller and party returned home last week. They reported very poor hunting on account of it being very noisy

George Miller left for the States last Sunday.

At present eggs seem to be a scarcity in the district. Anyway we wouldn't advise carrying them on bicycles. They generally break!

It seems as if the stormy weather seems to have a distinct effect in this district. I wonder if the two gentlemen in the Terraplane got home Saturday night?

PRISONERS OF WAR NOT WASTING THEIR TIME

Ottawa, Nov. 29---Canadian prisoners of war in Germany are not wasting their time but, on the contrary are in thousands taking some kind of educational course, letters received by Canadian Legion educational services here indicate.

These Canadians, many of whom have been prisoners for three or four years, have studied everything from how to cook the food they received in Red Cross parcels, to Plato's "Republic". A recent letter from a sergeant thanked Legion officials for sending at his request a copy of Fulle's History of Philosophy.

A letter from F.O. Alex J. Sochonski says he is doing three hours studying a day on subjects that include trigonometry, algebra, geometry, business arithmetic and bookkeeping. All his books have been supplied through the Legion's educational division the letter adds.

SIXTY MILLION JOBS—

IF PRESENT INDICATIONS of events to come take form and shape, the United States of America will take the financial lead in post war world trade. This, no doubt, is the natural outcome of a favorable geographical location, the intelligence, energy and ingenuity on the part of its people, combined with its present enormous wealth. Just what national wealth actually consists of, is of course, always a question for debate, but for the moment admitting that national and even private wealth may consist of a combination of very many things, there is little doubt but that the United States possess most of them. Possessed of the largest stock pile of gold in the world, plus the natural ability to do things and go places, it would appear as if our neighbors to the south are going to be the banker of the coming economic world as well as manufacturers of everything from ordinary pins to locomotives. Already it is believed Great Britain, through Lord Keynes is negotiating for a five-billion dollar post war loan. French authorities would like a one or two billion dollar loan and other countries, especially China, will be asking for huge credit sums.

Out of these immense credit arrangements it is expected that there will spring millions of jobs. Those of us who can cast their memories back to the middle and late twenties and early thirties, will remember that isolationism was a live topic in the United States. It was thought, that with limited exceptions, the United States could conduct its own economy, taking little or no part in world trade as a whole. How much the great depression of 1929 onwards had to do with the isolationist policy, as expressed in tariffs, etc., no one can say. Some people say the isolationist policy was chiefly responsible for the depression, others say it had nothing to do with it. But no matter what the true state of affairs was then, opinion in the United States now seems to be all out for world trade. World trade, even unrestricted world trade, is very intricate and has many ramifications. Unless the average citizen everywhere uses tremendously larger amounts of everything than formerly, there is danger that exports will clash with imports. Great Britain too, Prime Minister Churchill says, is going after world trade and as Great Britain is the United States' best customer, the world trade situation as between nations will require much careful adjusting.

The most hopeful sign is that the United States by numerous conferences and immense credits, has departed from an isolationist policy and has willingly become, through these immense credits, something akin to a fountain from which world trade will spring. It is recognized that a prosperous and contented Europe will be a better customer than a half starved discontented continent would be. The granting of these immense credits to stimulate world trade is probably what President Roosevelt had in mind when in some of his pre-election speeches he indicated that there would be sixty million jobs available for returning war veterans.

It is quite generally known that an active and prosperous industrial set up is the best possible state of affairs for an agricultural economy to thrive in. An employed worker can afford to buy sufficient agricultural products for himself and his family and pay a fair price for them. An unemployed worker cannot. To the average Canadian prairie farmer the promise of sixty million United States jobs probably does not mean much, except perhaps to create a desire to go and take one. Yet indirectly it can become one of the most helpful things that has happened to agriculture. With factories and foundries, construction and transportation, banking and commerce forging ahead throughout the world, including Canada, agriculture cannot help but prosper. All that is required is to see that the price of farm products are in line with the price of industrial products, wage scales, etc. We sincerely hope that those sixty million jobs will materialize and become permanent.

"KEEPING TO THE MAIN POINT"—

A prominent attorney, who had won many cases by what he termed "keeping to the main point", desired to employ an office boy who possessed the same talent. He assembled a group of youthful candidates for the position and told them a story.

"A certain farmer," he began, "was troubled with a red squirrel which gained access to his valuable seed corn through a hole in the barn. One day he fired upon it, setting the barn on fire."

"Did the barn burn," inquired one of the boys.

Ignoring the question, the lawyer continued: "And seeing the barn on fire, the farmer seized a pail of water, and ran to put it out."

"Did he put it out," asked another.

"As he passed inside, the door slammed shut behind him, and the barn was soon enveloped in flames. When the hired girl rushed out with more water—"

"Did the hired girl get burned?" asked another boy.

The lawyer went on without answer: "The farmer's wife came out and all was noise and confusion, and everybody was trying to put out the fire."

"Did they all get burned?" inquired another.

"There, there," concluded the lawyer, "that will do. You have all shown great interest in the story."

Then, observing one bright-eyed little fellow sitting in thoughtful silence, he said, "Now, my little man, what have you to say?"

The youngster blushed, grew uneasy, and stammered, "I want to know what became of that squirrel."

"You'll do," exclaimed the lawyer, "you're my man. You have not been diverted by the burning barn, the hired girl, the water pails, or the confusion—you kept your eye on the squirrel!"Contributed.

Mobile X-Ray Survey

The Mobile X-Ray Unit purchased by the Alberta Tuberculosis Association from the purchase of Tuberculosis Christmas Seals and operated under the direction and at the expense of the Provincial Department of Health recently conducted an x-ray survey in the Holden Health Unit population. The Health Unit staff who were responsible for the organization of the survey enlisted the co-operation of school teachers and the public spirited citizens of the several centres visited. The Mobile X-Ray Unit stayed in the district from October 10th to November 2nd, a period of 24 days. X-Raying was done at Viking, Holden, and Tofield within the Holden Health Unit, and Ryley, which is not part of the Health Unit as yet. These people in the Health Unit but near Ryley attended the clinic at Ryley. 5437 x-ray films were taken as follows: Viking 1254, Holden 1524, Ryley 848, and Tofield 1811. Of all the people examined, 101 films showed some abnormalities. Conditions discovered were classified as follows:

1. Pulmonary Tuberculosis, probably active.
2. Pulmonary Tuberculosis, probably inactive.
3. Conditions requiring re examination.
4. Pleurisy, inactive.
5. Non-Tuberculous conditions.
6. The latter were sub-classified as follows:
    1. Abnormality of the Heart.
    2. Abnormality of the Lungs.
    3. Abnormality of the Blood Vessels.
    4. Abnormality of the Goitre.
    5. Abnormality of the Bones.

The persons whose films showed abnormalities have already been notified and suggestions for further procedure given where such advice was necessary. The staff of the Health Unit will visit the homes of these people and give further instructions as are deemed advisable.

Those who took advantage of the opportunity offered to get this valuable service acted most wisely. However in the districts from which 5437 came, there should have been about another 7500. Only by x-raying every adult can the fullest possible help be given by the health workers towards control of this disease.

It should be pointed out here again that this wonderful bit of Public Health work was made possible only because of the sale of Tuberculosis Christmas Seals. This Mobile X-Ray Unit continues to function throughout the year. It is the intention of the Department of Health to give this x-ray service to all the districts of Alberta. In order to do this the Alberta Tuberculosis Association is trying to raise more money to buy another x-ray unit. It is urged that everyone in this district buy all the seals he or she can to further this good work and thus in some measure repay for the service given us.

The readers are likely interested in knowing further details about the findings of the survey. This, together with valuable advice on Tuberculosis control will appear in later issues of this paper.

The staff of the Holden Health Unit would like to thank those who helped with the canvassing in the towns, and assisted during the clinic days. Thanks are also due to the management of the Calgary Power Co., for the free use of electricity to operate the x-ray unit, and to Mr. Virgil Nelson of this Company for doing the necessary electrical work in setting up the apparatus. His willing co-operation and his promptness was especially appreciated by the Unit Staff and the Technicians of the Mobile Unit.

NOTE REGARDING SPECIAL ADJUSTMENT OF TAXES IN RESPECT OF THE YEAR ENDED 30th OCTOBER, 1943

The Minister of Finance has expressed the opinion that the transfers made in 1943 to Contingent Reserve Fund from the earnings of this Bank were in excess of the reasonable requirements of the Bank.

The management and the auditors of the Bank do not agree with the Minister in this matter but having been advised of the Minister's views and of his purpose to act in accordance therewith we have estimated that approximately $2,200,000 of such transfers must be added to income of that year for tax purposes. As a result the Bank will be called upon to pay additional taxes for the year 1943 of a like amount under the Income & Excess Profits Tax Acts. Provision has been made from Contingent Reserve Fund for this tax liability, of which twenty per cent, or $440,000, will be refundable under the provisions of the Excess Profits Tax Act.

B. C. GARDNER, General Manager

The strength of a bank is determined by its history, its policy, its management and the extent of its resources. For 127 years the Bank of Montreal has been in the forefront of Canadian finance.

New High Total Resources Mark Bank Of Montreal Year

Showing total resources at a figure higher than in any previous year, the annual statement of the Bank of Montreal, which appears today, is an outstanding illustration of the prosperity prevailing throughout the country, as reflected in the business of the hundreds of offices of the bank which are located in all districts across Canada.

The annual statement, which is the 127th in the history of the bank, shows total assets of $1,526,734,000, an increase of $212,000,000 over the previous year.

Deposits, which last year stood at $1,206,874,000, the highest figure to that date, increased by $214,937,000 to a total of $1,420,811,000, notwithstanding heavy withdrawals in both the commercial and savings departments by subscribers for investment in Victory Loans.

Cash holdings and money on deposit with the Bank of Canada stand at $194,472,000, an increase of $62,196,000, while holdings of bonds and debentures, the greater portion consisting of Dominion Government and high-grade Provincial and Municipal securities which mature at early dates, have risen by $134,073,000 to the impressive total of $866,532,000. These, with notes of and cheques on other banks and money on deposit with other banks of $67,062,000 with call loans of $51,165,000 which latter increased in the year by $29,000,000, place the quickly available resources of the bank at $1,279,000,000, equal to 88.30 per cent of all liabilities to the public.

Commercial and other loans to manufacturers, farmers, merchants and others total $203,101,000—down from $226,399,000—the decrease indicating a continuance of the trend of recent years in which many businesses engaged on Government war work have found less requirement for banking accomodation. All liabilities to the public total $1,448,768,786, to meet which the bank has resources of $1,526,734,251, leaving an excess of resources over liabilities to the public, representing the shareholders' interest of capital, reserve fund and profit and loss account, of $77,965,464.

Profits for the year which ended October 31, after deduction of taxes payable to the Dominion Government, amounted to $3,194,300.19, a figure less by $108,534 than in the previous year. The decrease in profits is, no doubt, a reflection of the generally lower interest return which is being received by banks upon loans and in investment account, as well as substantially higher operating costs combined with an increased total of interest payable to depositors upon a substantially higher volume of deposits in the savings department. The profit represents a return of 4.10 per cent on the shareholders' equity, which compares with 4.30 a year ago and 4.21 per cent in 1942. Dominion Government Income and Excess Profits taxes estimated for the year have been provided for in an amount of $3,725,000.

RECORD ATLANTIC CROSSING

Farmers of Canada are once again advised by the administrator of farm machinery not to dispose of old tractors or other rationing paste unless they have a permit to buy new machinery, because the present system of rationing has to be continued until supplies of equipment are more nearly in line with consumer demands. Parts to keep present equipment in shape are not rationed—there are plenty of them available. The supply of farm machinery for 1945 will be equal in tonnage to approximately 162 per cent of the 1940 supply, but it will not be nearly enough for the apparent supply. The policy has been to take off the rationed list any equipment as the supply situation warrants, and at present there are 35 lines unrationed.

The Department of Labour has issued a report which shows that the general index number for wage rates in the 13 chief lines of industrial employment in Canada rose to 139.5 for the year 1943, compared to 105.7 in 1939. The figure of 100 points represents the average wage level for the period 1935 to 1939. The index numbers relate only to wage rates, including cost of living being paid for normal working hours; and overtime rates and actual total earnings of employees were not taken into consideration when the figures were compiled.

Here's a word for the consumer branch for milady. People who like to give stockings as gifts (not the kind that are hung on the mantle) should find more in the shops this year—not Nylon, of course, but larger quantities of rayon hose from acetate. They are not of viscose yarns, for synthetic tires have first claim on the viscose. Stockings made from acetate are just as serviceable they say, as those made from viscose yarns, provided they receive the same care. Washing after every wearing and drying away from direct heat for at least 36 hours are two "musts" in making rayon stockings last.

National Defence H.Q. at Ottawa advises that standard text telegrams (Expeditionary Force messages) between Canada and war theatres and vice versa will be discontinued between December 5 and 25 inclusive, because of the overloading of telegraph circuits and consequent delay in messages. Instead, during the pre-Christmas period Canadians in war theatres outside the United Kingdom will get five Blue Air Letter forms, free of postage, to send to friends and relatives at home at the rate of one a week; and wherever available, these letters get air transit. Suspension of telegraph service as noted applies only to Expeditionary Force messages; other types will be transmitted as usual.

With the Seventh Victory Loan going so well over the top, it is interesting to note that savings deposits in Canadian chartered banks at the end of September last year totalled $1,969,904,000. The Sixth Victory Loan took a big slice out of these savings, yet at the end of September 1944, savings deposits had reached a new all-time high with $2,464,187,000. The national income has been high and is maintaining a steady climb.

Here's a thought for Canada's place in the post-war market picture. The Canadian Federation of Agriculture which has its head offices in Ottawa gives the latest facts regarding the wartime progress of British agriculture. Wheat acreage in England and Wales is 82 per cent higher than in 1939. The area in potatoes has more than doubled and there is an increase of 68 per cent in the area of horticultural crops. Total arable acreage is 63 per cent above the pre-war level

TEN DOLLARS FOR ONE

Drummondville, Que.—"In a new country transportation means life and probably no other country in the world owes so much to the railroads as Canada", O. A. Trudeau, general passenger agent, Canadian National Railways, told members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. For every dollar spent by the country on railway expansion, he said, Canada's wealth increased by $10.00. He stated that the railways opened the way to the vast natural resources, actual and potential, and, without them, Canada could not have become the rich and important nation she is today.

"HAPPY BIRTHDAY" CABLES MEAN SOMETHING ELSE

Vancouver, Nov. 30—A British bride who married a Canadian soldier in England and has since come to Vancouver to live with her husband's parents is still laughing about an incident in Eastern Canada. A sister whom she had not seen for some years met her at the C.N.R. central station in Montreal. Immediately upon arrival, the English bride ran to the telegraph desk along with a number of other brides and all sent "Happy Birthday" cables to England.

The sister was quite puzzled and couldn't understand how so many girls could have relatives or friends with birthdays at the same time. However she soon realised that people use the code "Happy Birthday" to mean "I arrived safely and am happy and well."

Getting Ready to Build New Hall

The League held their regular meeting for December in the Town Hall on Tuesday evening when over twenty members were present. The meeting opened with the minutes of the previous meeting and a report from the secretary on the Carnival, which proved to be a real financial success. It was also learned that the Farm Mechanics Course was to open classes in Tofield on Jan. 4 and that Tofield was one of three places chosen in the Province to hold this school. It was really through the efforts of the league that this valuable school was brought to Tofield. The secretary also reported that the Ministik Junior U.F.A. club would sponsor a meeting to discuss the Hospital scheme sometime in the beginning of the year.

A report from the committee on the Hall site was given and the League decided that the Committee should again interview the council with the object of getting a deed to the four lots north of the Bank of Montreal for the hall site.

It was moved by R. Coutts and seconded by E. Stinson that the next meeting be held on the second Tuesday of January and that the secretary notify all the members of such meeting as this is the annual meeting and election of officers will take place, also that this meeting be taken up with a full time discussion on the proposed Community hall. If you have any special ideas incorporated into this hall please come and air them at this next meeting.

The balance of the meeting was taken up by an informal discussion on the Hospital scheme. Mr. Rollans, the Secretary of the Viking Municipal Hospital for some years, was present and answered all questions. He gave a short history of the Viking hospital. Mr. Rollans stated he could see no reason why we could not have a municipal hospital here. He outlined some of the more specific reasons why having your own hospital was far better than going to the city or elsewhere to a hospital. In conclusion Mr. Imler moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Rollans for being so kind to attend our meeting and discuss this scheme with us.

WEDDING

DUNN—WATERS

A very pretty wedding was solemnized Friday, November 24, at 2.30 in the afternoon at Holy Trinity Church in South Edmonton, when Alice, daughter of Mrs. A. Waters of South Cooking Lake was united in marriage to William (Bill) son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Dunn of New Sarepta. Rev. Nainby performed the ceremony.

The bride was prettily attired in a floor length gown of white sheer, her chapel veil held in place by a wreath of tiny white roses, whilst she carried a beautiful bouquet of large pink roses. She was attended in marriage by her sister, Violet, dressed in a floor length gown of pastel blue rayon crepe and wearing a corsage of three pink camelias.

The groom was attended by Walter, brother of the bride. Both the groom and his attendant wore a white gardenia in their lapel.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the bride's home for the immediate families.

A toast was proposed to the bride and was fittingly answered by the groom.

The lovely three-tiered wedding cake, prettily trimmed with silver leaves and cashews on dainty rosebuds, was topped with a good luck horseshoe and orange blossoms.

In the early hours of the morning the happy couple motored back to the city to spend a short honeymoon, before making their home on the groom's farm at New Sarepta.

Tractor and Machinery Short Course At Tofield

Word has been received from Mr. S. H. Gandier, Supervisor Junior Activities and Youth Training that Tofield has been chosen as a point at which a three weeks course in tractor and farm machinery repairing will be given. The information was received by W. A. Moisey, District Agriculturist and conveyed by him to the Community League and others interested. The Community League had endeavored to get this course here as far back as last fall.

Mr Gandier and Mr. Moisey were in Tofield on Wednesday making arrangements for the course which will likely commence about January 4.

The number of students that can be accomodated at the tractor and machinery repair school is limited and those wishing to attend should communicate with Mr. W. A. Moisey of Ryley at once. Students will be enrolled in the order of applications received. The course lasts three weeks.

———V———

AGRICULTURAL SHORT COURSE SUGGESTED

If suitable arrangements can be made it is quite possible that an agricultural short course will be held at Tofield some time this winter. This should not be confused with the tractor and machinery repair course which is scheduled to open about January 4th as it is something entirely different.

This course sponsored by the Department of Agriculture can be either a one afternoon and one evening event or a two afternoon and two evening event. Citizens of the town would be expected to supply the evening meal for country folk attending the course. No date has been suggested as yet but late February or early March has been mentioned.

SUCCESSFUL BOX SOCIAL

The McKenzie Calf Club held a very successful basket social on Friday evening, December 1. There were over one hundred tickets sold and there were twenty-five baskets, some of which portrayed some very novel and original ideas. One basket represented an aeroplane model. The highest priced basket fetched $6.00. Mr. Niemetz made an excellent job of auctioneering the baskets off, the total amount obtained being $116.00. It was the largest crowd assembling at McKenzie for some time and the committee, club members and community, were very well pleased with the event.

NATIONAL FILM BOARD SHOW AT McKENZIE

The National Film Board show held at McKenzie on December 2nd, sponsored by the McKenzie Calf Club was quite well attended. The program included films entitled: "Cowboy", a story of a young lad wishing to become a cowboy. "The Cattle Men," reviewing the problems and tasks on the range. The third film showed the harm done to animals through carelessness in shipping "Mankind and Animals," depicting the domestication of various animals. "John Bull," showing the history of the various beef breeds in the British Isles was the fifth and concluding film.

Eggs For the Hatcheryman

(Experimental Farms News)

A few years ago, practically all poultry flock replacements were made with chicks hatched on the farm—either under the hen or through the use of small incubators. Within a period of ten or fifteen years that practice has changed and at present a considerable part of the replacements are made through the purchase of millions of day-old chicks from large commercial hatcheries. Operators of these hatcheries, as a consequence, are in the market for huge numbers of eggs suitable for hatching, and a profitable outlet for eggs is made available to the flock owner.

Eggs for hatching, command a premium in price over those sold for eating but must meet certain requirements before such premium is paid.

The objective of the hatcheryman is to produce a strong, healthy chick from each eggs set. Proper feeding of the breeder flock and careful handling of the eggs will aid materially in its attainment.

The flock should be shifted over to a good hatching ration at least three weeks prior to saving the first eggs to be used for incubation. These rations are high in riboflavin content necessary to high hatchability.

Eggs should be stored in a clean, cool, well ventilated cellar and not held more than seven days. If held longer, hatchability is likely to be reduced. An even temperature of about 50 degrees F. is best.

Eggs should be selected for uniformity in shape and size and for shell, texture and color.

Odd shaped, misshapen and very large eggs or those showing any sign of containing more than one yolk shoud be discarded.

Selection for egg size will not only influence egg size in the progeny, but makes for greater uniformity in the chicks. Hatching eggs should run 24 ounces and preferably 25 ounces the dozen with no egg going below two ounces.

Eggs having undesirable shell characteristics, thin-shelled, rough or sandy, ringed, etc., should be avoided and where shell color is a factor select all hatching eggs to color standard.

As dirty shells are undesirable prevent the production of these as far as possible, for cleaning, and particularly washing, is likely to affect the hatchability adversely.

Before shipping to the hatcheryman or placing in the incubator check all eggs for cracks as it is improbable that a cracked egg will hatch.

Better Farmers

[illegible] a year ago, we drew the a[illegible] of our readers to the agri[illegible] courses offered to farm boys and young men in the three Prairie Provinces. We emphasized the wide v[illegible] of these [illegible] and pointed out that [illegible] can be [illegible] others [illegible] and more qu[illegible] training at [illegible] and schools. [illegible] graduate of the School of Agriculture, Olds, Alberta, or one [illegible] connected with the Universities of Saskatchewan or Manitoba.

It is [illegible] discussions of post-war agriculture, by government bodies, almost without exception, emphasize the necessity of increasing the facilities for training prospective farmers. Many farm organizations have expressed similar views.

The young man who decides to devote his life to scientific research, teaching or extension must take a university degree. This usually involves Grade XI or Grade XII entrance requirement and four university terms extending from the end of September to the latter part of April. For various reasons, many farm boys will never consider enrolling in the degree course and, consequently, shorter, more practical courses are open to any farm boy 16 years or over in each of the Prairie Provinces. These shorter courses extend over two terms of about five months each.

Enquiries should be directed as follows:

- Dean of Agriculture and Home Economics, University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, Manitoba.
- Dean of Agriculture, University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon, Saskatchewan.
- Dean of Agriculture, University of Alberta, Edmonton, Alberta.
- Principal, School of Agriculture, Olds, Alberta.

MINISTIK

A Whist Drive sponsored by the Ladies of the U.F.W.A. was held at the Hall on Monday night last. There were 9 tables. Proceeds to be used for parcels for the boys overseas. I think about $12.00 was the proceeds. Among the visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Lancaster, Mr. and Mrs. L. Gill of Lindbrook and Mr. Ellis and family of Hastings Lake. Everybody had a good time.

We had a letter from Rev. W. Irving last week. In it he sends his best regards and wishes to all of Ministik folks for a Happy Christmas. Bill is in India now.

Some of our young people went to Stoney Creek last Tuesday to a dance. The Ministik Music Makers supplied the music. They reported having a jolly good time.

We had a nice letter from Mr. and Mrs. Carr last week. They wished to be remembered to all their Ministik friends. They still call Ministik home and want their friends here to write them and tell them the news. They get the Mercury each week and the first thing they look for is the Ministik news. Mr. Carr is busy getting out his year's supply of firewood. Give Miles an axe and he is happy.

Our deepest sympathy goes to Mr. J. Portas on the death of his mother a few days ago. The writer used to live next door to Mr and Mrs. Portas 30 years ago and they were a dear old couple.

Don't forget the Social Credit Annual meeting on Saturday night at Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Leach's home, Saturday, December 9th.

Owing to other places having something on the night of the picture show, we had a poor attendance, both at the show and the dance. Better luck next time which will be sometime in January.

Shorty (Walter) George has got his discharge from the army and has been engaged by the Imperial Oil Co. on a survey paper North. A plane took him there last week.

We hear that Mr. and Mrs. Curtis have sold their farm. The old Urquart place right west of Mr. Curtis' has also been sold. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis will not be leaving until March when the two new families are to move in.

Mrs. A. J. Leach spent the last week end at Lindbrook with her daughter Winnie. While there she attended the Whist Drive and Sale of Work.

The next meeting of the U.F.W.A. will be held at the home of Mrs. D. R. Swabey on Tuesday, December 12th.

There will be Church on December 17th, also again on Christmas Eve.

Report on Labour Relations In Packinghouse Industry

A joint pledge by representatives of employers and employees to maintain "a high standard of production without interruption or curtailment of any kind" has been entered into, according to the report on the recent labour dispute in the packinghouse industry. The report, signed by Mr. Justice S. E. Richards as the Special Commissioner who investigated working conditions in the industry, and by Canada Packers Ltd., Swift Canadian Co. Ltd., and Burns and Co. Ltd., as employers, and the United Packinghouse Workers of America representing the employees, was released today. The agreement contained in the Commissioners' report was signed on November 7th.

The agreement reached also provides that on signed authorization of an employee, the employer will undertake to deduct union wages from the employee's pay, or in other words, the check-off will become effective. Also, with some limitations the "maintenance of membership" principle is adopted, which generally speaking, provides that an employee who is a member of the union at the time an agreement is entered into, shall maintain his membership during the term of the agreement.

It is agreed that there shall be no strike or lockout of employees affected by the agreement, until all the procedure provided for the settlement of disputes or grievances has been exhausted.

The companies and the union agree to negotiate and conclude agreements covering each plant between July 15th and September 30th each year, wherever it is possible. In the case of Canada Packers and Swifts, plants will be divided into two zones, with Winnipeg in the western zone as the boundary between west and east. Similarly, the Burns Company will divide its plants into two zones—Manitoba and Saskatchewan, and Alberta and British Columbia. Within a zone in the case of each company [illegible] entered into will have the same termination date, and this expiry date is to fall between July 15th and November 15.

Educational Rehabilitation

The Alberta Department of Education has arranged in co-operation with the Federal Department of Labor to establish special schools for ex-service personnel who desire to complete matriculation for university entrance or other educational training. The first of these schools will be opened in Edmonton on January 2nd, 1945.

Ex-service personnel desiring to enter this school should write without delay to Mr. O. P. Thomas, 10019-101A Avenue, Edmonton, for particulars and advice. With the first letter an applicant should give particulars as to length of service, place and time of last school attendance, age and course which applicant desires to enter at University.

This school is part of the Federal Plan for educational rehabilitation of ex-service personnel and will be conducted in such a way as to enable those attending to complete their high school work in the shortest possible time.

The University Of Alberta is planning to establish for ex-service personnel early in the year 1945, courses covering the work of the first university year following senior matriculation. It is intended to enable students now eligible to enter university to complete the first year before the opening of the University session in September, 1945.

Those interested should immediately write to the Registrar of the University of Alberta, Edmonton, giving the following information:

1. Age and length of service.
2. Time and place where last high school examinations were written.
3. The course to which admission is sought.

WORLD OF WHEAT

By E.G.L. Strange

SCARCITY AND ABUNDANCE

Some time ago in this column I remarked that there never had been an instance of an unsatisfactory price to farmers for their wheat when no great wheat surplus existed. A publication in Alberta comments on this, saying "That is the trouble with the speculative system of grain marketing; it cannot tolerate surpluses. It can only operate on an economy of scarcity." Then they state further "That the aim should be to obtain an abundance for all."

I am surprised to hear this for I have always thought that the real business of any marketing system was to market surpluses, and so make the wheat available to hungry consumers.

All systems of grain marketing have always operated on an economy of scarcity, for the simple reason that wheat has always been scarce in the world. There never has been enough wheat produced to feed all the people, and never will be in our time. I venture to say, however, that if ever the world should be fortunate enough to enjoy a real abundance of wheat, then we may be sure the open "Futures" system of marketing would do a thorough job, as long as it is not interfered with by Governments, in distributing that abundance from producer to consumer, so ensuring that producers would obtain a satisfactory price, and that consumers could enjoy the abundance.

Electricity On The Farm

Many uses can be found for electricity on the farm, states B. T. Stephenson, Agricultural Engineer with the Department of Agriculture. The very first power requirement is a motor for pumping water. Any pump that can be readily operated by hand does not require an electric motor larger than a half h.p. and a large percentage can be run by a quarter h.p. motor. Some of the advantages of electric motors are: ease of starting, simplicity, long life, quiet and safe operation, portability and low operating cost.

Electricity can be used to advantage in processing foods. Small feed mills are increasing in popularity because of their low first cost and low cost of operation. Mixing feed is another job that can be done with a small electric motor. If the farmer is handy with tools he can usually build a mixer with a small outlay of cash.

Simple home made chick brooders may decrease to a great extent the mortality of young chicks. An electric brooder using two bulbs for heaters will give a uniform heat underneath the brooder and it will not be necessary to heat the whole brooder house. Lights in the poultry house will step up production. Simple automatic time controls may be used to operate the switches. In hog production, an inexpensive homemade brooder will prevent little pigs from being chilled and will reduce the chance of crushing. A similar brooder may be used for young lambs.

These are a few only of the uses of electricity on the farm, but it should be remembered that large consumption makes possible a substantial reduction in rates. For the greatest economy electrical service should be used to its fullest extent.

about the things you buy in wartime

The production of milk and milk products in Canada has achieved a notable record. Careful planning makes the best use of every quart. But we must all recognize the conditions imposed by war and realize that in these times we all can't get all we want.

Gordon
Chairman
Wartime Prices & Trade Board

Milk IS NOT ELASTIC

Milk is our most valuable food. It must provide us with milk to drink, with butter, cheese, evaporated and concentrated milk and a score of other products.

Canadian farmers have done a magnificent job. They have increased milk production in 1943 by more than 540 million quarts over 1938.

They have done this in the face of a 25% reduction in farm help, equipment shortages, and the fact that it takes two to three years to bring a calf into milk production.

WHAT HAPPENS TO ALL THIS MILK?

In spite of greater production, the demand for milk and milk products has risen even more, because—
(a) There's more money to spend;
(b) More people are working, with changed food habits and increased food needs;
(c) Our Armed Forces and Allies make heavy demands.

It has therefore been necessary by rationing, by subsidies, by careful planning and by other controls to divert our milk supply into channels most suited to our various food needs.

The above graph shows in percentage how the total Canadian milk supply is used.

FLUID MILK
TAKES 35% OF OUR MILK

Because fluid milk is regarded by nutritionists as the most nearly perfect food, nothing has been allowed to interfere with its sale. Today, Canadians are drinking more milk and a greater percentage of our milk supply is being consumed as fluid milk—than ever before. Fluid milk has the right of way, but don't waste a drop of it.

CHEESE
TAKES 10% OF OUR MILK

Canada's annual cheese production has gone up by about 37 million pounds since the war.

Cheese is a concentrated food product—easily shipped and stored. That is one reason why we send large quantities to Great Britain to help meet its pressing food needs. While in the last year we exported four of every five pounds of cheese we made, our production has been so increased that we have left for domestic use about three million pounds a year more than before the war.

IT TAKES 9 QUARTS OF MILK TO MAKE ONE POUND OF BUTTER

BUTTER
TAKES 48% OF OUR MILK

In the first three years of war, our butter consumption increased 10.9%. So, rationing was established to prevent too much milk going into butter, at the expense of other important milk products, and to insure a fair share to everyone.

The rationing of butter was influenced by the fact that it has less nutritive value than some other milk products, and because we get a generous supply of fats or their food equivalent in other forms.

To maintain a proper balance of consumption between various milk products and to ensure that butter is put into storage for winter use—when production drops—it is necessary to reduce the ration from time to time.

[illegible]

EVAPORATED MILK
TAKES 4% OF OUR MILK

More than twice as much (152 million lbs.) was used by Canadians this last year as in 1938 (74 million lbs.). And yet, there has not been enough.

Where has it all gone? It's an important food for babies—and there are 50,000 more of them a year. Larger quantities have gone to areas where fresh milk is not available. Armed Services have added new demands. In spite of this, our exports of evaporated milk to Great Britain, Newfoundland and the West Indies, etc., are maintained at pre-war level.

ICE CREAM AND OTHER MILK PRODUCTS
TAKE ABOUT 1½% OF OUR MILK

The manufacture of ice cream is restricted to the 1941 level because milk is needed for other purposes.
Milk Powder and Condensed Milk are taking more milk. Milk sugar is used in the manufacture of Penicillin and for other wartime purposes. Casein (a milk by-product) is used in making glue for aeroplanes.

GOOD JUDGMENT—

THE CANADIAN PEOPLE, have, during the past few weeks witnessed a national drama, a political drama, and a human drama. It is to be fervently hoped that unlike ancient Greek drama (in view of present day press reports one could almost say modern) it will have a happy and not a tragic ending. To make one nation out of two peoples is never easy. At the very best a series of compromises have continually to be made and while in many things this is not such an important matter, there comes a time when an issue is created upon which no fair compromise can be made. Conscription for overseas service is just such an issue. It is not a matter of bravery, there are plenty of gallant Quebeckers. It is not even so much a matter of self interest, pure isolationism would do Quebec little good. It is simply a matter of a distinct type of people taking a stand and refusing to budge an inch. It has happened before in history, it will probably happen again. But it is national drama of the most potent kind, requiring in its management the most consumate skill and unfailing patience, both governed with a passion for justice. Only by the exercise of these qualities can tragedy be averted. It is political drama because in the workings of democracy combining two or more parliamentary groups, almost every move made by the party in power is a signal for attack by the opposition. The attacks may be fair or unfair, the House is expected to judge this, but it is particularly exasperating for a government leader to have to withstand attacks made in the light of current knowledge regarding decisions made months or even years previously. A political party eventually stands or falls on its performance of public service, but even when a government's public service is not considered adequate by the people, into that service there has gone much genuine endeavor and no little amount of real accomplishment. Thus in the present Canadian parliamentary crisis there is the political drama of a leader trying to placate the demands of two different expressions of opinion within his own party as well as throughout the country at large, on a subject which to many people is as important as life and death itself. It is individual drama because in the arriving at a government decision the course of many lives will be changed, some cut short, some lengthened and quite possibly made more happy, but certainly changed, and the changing of a life is always dramatic.

Out of the welter of crisscross expressed opinion coming from Ottawa during the past week or so one dominant note seems to stand out. This is the voice of Col. Ralston, former minister of defence. Col. Ralston, a personal friend and member of Mr. King's cabinet, receiving some time ago complaints that Canadian infantry regiments were being inadequately reinforced made the journey overseas to find out for himself. His findings convinced him they were not, and he came back convinced that conscription was the only solution. The Prime Minister, not being able to agree with Col. Ralston on the conscription issue, caused the defence minister to resign his cabinet position, which in turn was chiefly responsible for the present session of parliament being called. It will be remembered that for a few days all was confusion, but however worded, the essence of the session was the motion tantamount to a vote of confidence which the Prime Minister announced he would put to the House. Last week it was freely admitted by old time parliamentarians they did not know how the vote would go and at that time the only real information given out was that it would likely go which ever way Col. Ralston voted, and this in view of his break with Mr. King was an unknown quantity. Later Col. Ralston announced he would support the government and in doing so showed excellent judgment. Voting at least partly against his convictions (he had already sacrificed a cabinet portfolio because of them) he voted to save this country from a general election at this time, an election which would have been bitterly fought with harmful effects to service men already overseas and those still in Canada. It is to be hoped that Col. Ralston's decision to put welfare of country before party and personal interests and beliefs will not be lost upon those Quebec liberals with whom he voted to sustain the government.

THE TRACTOR AND FARM MACHINERY SCHOOL—

THE ANNOUNCEMENT THAT under the Dominion-Provincial Youth Training program a three week's course in the maintaining and repairing of tractors and farm machinery is to be held at Tofield, will be received with satisfaction and pleasure by the community at large. Due to dearth of instructors and other war time problems it is not possible to operate as many of these schools as the government would like and Tofield is fortunate in being chosen as the place at which one will operate this winter. There is now one being operated at Red Deer. As far back as last winter the Community League made an effort to have this three weeks' course given here and no doubt Mr. Gandier's decision to hold one here early in 1945 was prompted by the League's request. Those desiring to enrol should send in their nemes to Mr. Moisey at Ryley at once.

Bacon And Britain

Up to the end of last year Canada had delivered to the United Kingdom over two billion pounds of bacon covering four wartime agreements. To produce that quantity of bacon required 17 million hog carcasses or about the same number of hogs slaughtered in all inspected plants in Canada from 1933 to 1939 inclusive.

The present agreement with Britain calls for the delivery of 900 million pounds of bacon in the two calendar years, 1944 and 1945. That is a minimum figure for the British say they will take all the bacon Canada can export. The arrangement calls for an average of 445 million pounds of bacon a year but up to the first of September bacon purchased for the United Kingdom totalled 511 million pounds. It is probable that bacon exports from Canada to Britain this year will reach an all-time record. Last year's purchases totalled 575 million pounds.

Hog numbers in Canada increased steadily during the war years up until 1944. Livestock statistics issued in June, however, indicated that the peak production had been passed and a decline in hog numbers was in evidence. This was probably caused by increasing scarcity of labor on farms fear that the British market would be contracted when the war ends and better prices for grain, particularly wheat.

J.G. Taggart, chairman of the Canadian Meat Board, says that Denmark will not be a factor in the British bacon market for at least a year or a year and a half after the war ends, and farmers are assured of a market for all the bacon they can produce; also that Britain is relying on Canada for the slender British bacon ration of four ounces per person per week.

Canadian exports of bacon to Britain commenced over sixty years ago. The peak was reached in 1900 when almost 142 million pounds of hams and bacon were exported. A decline then set in and by 1913 the total had been reduced to a little over 27 million pounds. This was due in part to increased grain production in Canada, but mainly to the success of the Danish farmers in catering to the British bacon tastes.

When World War I broke out Danish bacon almost disappeared from the British market and Canadian exports rose to 200 million pounds a year. However, the quality of Canadian bacon was neglected and the British got a poor opinion of the over-fat Canadian bacon. When the war ended the British once again turned to the Danes for their bacon supplies. Annual exports from Canada fell to eight or nine million pounds.

During the depression of the early 1930's hog prices went down to around 3c a pound. Then came the British Empire trade agreements under which Canada was given a substantial quota in the British bacon market. Within one year the price of hogs rose from 3c a lb. to 9c a pound, live weight. By the time war started exports from Canada to Britain had reached 190 million pounds a year and the farmer was getting from 7 to 8 cents a pound for his hogs.

It is believed that the quantity of Canadian bacon has been maintained during World War II. The meat packers have developed a better system of curing bacon and the government policy of paying substantial premiums for superior quality has had a good effect.

Turkeys For Market Should Be Attractive

Too many turkeys now moving to market are not in proper condition for killing, states C. W. Traves, Poultry Commissioner. The low grade bird is extremely difficult to dispose of by the dealer and lowers the price for the better grades.

Each individual turkey should be handled carefully on the farm before being killed and dressed for market. Birds that are not in good body condition should be placed on a finishing ration until such times as they are in proper physical condition. More profit can be obtained from a well finished turkey after the New Year than from a poorly finished bird before Christmas.

When preparing the birds for market, the wings should be stripped clean of all feathers. Too many people leave the fan on the end of the wings. Dealers have to remove these extremity of feathers before they can sell or pack the turkeys. Wash the feet of the turkeys before bringing them to market. An attractive lot of birds catches the fancy of the buyer as soon as he sees them.

Magazines For The Forces

Since March last there has been shipped overseas an average of 100,000 magazines a month from the various magazine depots across the country, military authorities announced today. The Alberta quota is 4,000 a month, and has always been maintained or bettered by the magazine depots of Calgary and Edmonton who have worked faithfully and voluntarily at the task.

The majority of these magazines are less than one month old when shipped.

The magazines go via Red Cross to the Assistant Director of Auxiliary Services, London, England, who is responsible for their distribution overseas.

More current magazines would be welcomed, and these can be left at any post office, at the Bay, or Eaton's, or any B.A. Station.

In addition to the foregoing the Kinsmen Club working in conjunction with the Magazine Depot, ship tons of magazines to the Navy League, and Merchant Marine. These shipments are largely made up of less current magazines.

Individuals may take magazines to any Post Office where they are forwarded, without charge, to the nearest Magazine Depot and are then despatched overseas.

Individuals are not permitted to send magazines except by paying a subscription and the magazine is then forwarded by the publisher.

Central Station Site Is 24 Acres

The Central Station at Montreal occupies 24 acres — about twice the size of Rockefeller Centre, New York. R. C. Vaughn, Chairman and President of the Canadian National System announced that the development of a commercial and cultural centre upon the overhead sites, which total some 640,000 sq. ft. of surface above the railway facilities, is another enterprise for the future.

This area is situated at the very heart of Montreal, close to the hotels, shopping and other business districts and is one of the most valuable properties now available in Canada. The Central Station was opened in July, 1943.

As Christmas Draws Near

The cattle crowd the shelter'd wall,
The snow unfolds its blanket white,
Forlorn and distant sounds the call,
The winds are roving in the night.

The tapers peer from yonder eaves,
The frost is etching mystic forms,
While thoughts return of fruitful sheaves
And kindly shelter from the storms.

The step is heavy on the steel,
While trusted hands the levers hold
And dreams expand of common weal,
The Christian faith and age of gold.

And homeward speeds the empty
dray,
Bright fires cheer the inner walls,
The beams of youthful gladness play,
And hope pervades domestic halls.

As nature's heat and light decline,
A true lamp brightens through the sphere,
The star of grace and peace Divine,
That darkens not from year to year.

—R. C. Vance, Kingman.

Milk Heals Wounds

Soviet scientists have developed a paste of pressed milk which is effective in curing wounds. In a Novembrisk hospital there were several men whose wounds healed very slowly, novocaine blocking, ultra violet ray treatment, antiseptics and permanganate baths not proving of much value. The special milk paste was applied and the wounded were soon well again. During the Leningrad blockade, this paste was used in all the Leningrad hospitals.

Right Foods Important To Older Groups

In the last generation people were considered old when they reached the forty to fifty age group. Now, it is admitted that they are in their prime during those years and the "prime of life" can be extended still further if attention is paid to the changing food needs.

As the years pass and physical activities become less strenuous, the need for energy foods such as fats, sweets, bread and cereals becomes gradually less, but the need for protective food remains as great. These protective foods include milk, eggs, fruit and vegetables.

Milk, eggs, fruit and vegetables are necessary for general good health and to regulate the functions of the body. For instance, as one becomes older, digestive upsets are apt to occur more frequently and may be caused by neglecting to eat the right foods as well as by eating the wrong ones. Certain B-vitamins aid digestion and appetite. Some sources of vitamin B are wheat germ, liver, milk eggs, and green vegetables.

One of the commonest injuries suffered by older people is fractured bones. The ease with which they break may be due to lack of calcium in the bones. An inadequate amount of milk over a long period of time may possibly be a contributing factor to this condition.

The Nutrition Division, Ottawa, stresses the importance of protective foods at all times and particularly during the forties and fifties. An eye on Canada's Food Rules when planning meals is good insurance for health in the middle years and in the sunset of life.

A SOURCE OF CHEAP GOOD SEED

Wise farmers are beginning even now to think about their seed requirements for this coming spring. The results of the analyses of thousands of farmers' crops recently conducted by the "Crop Testing Plan" reveal among other things that thirty eight percent of the crops classified as "A", which means that these crops were true-to-variety to a high degree of excellence, and so should be quite suitable for use as seed.

Dear Friends,

Well I thought I'd drop you a line letting you know I received your parcel O.k. Thanks a lot, it was really [illegible] of you [illegible] to [illegible] parcel and I appreciate it very much. Well, I suppose it is cold back there now. I [illegible] place [illegible] a few [illegible] that's the [illegible] Tofield [illegible] once too.

Well, it really rains a lot over here. In fact it rains every day. How's everybody at [illegible]. I hope they are all fine. I [illegible] lots of [illegible] way. I [illegible] too.

Well I guess I'll close for now. Thanks again for the parcel. It really was very nice.

Your friend, Oscar.

Dear Mrs. Sear and All,

Many thanks for the parcel which I received the other day. Everything was fine and enjoyed it very much. It seems funny that we should always be looking forward to parcels and letters, as we always get plenty to eat. [illegible] every day when the parcel list is put on the order board, everybody makes a rush for it. The mail and parcels have been coming through real good the past six weeks. I have been real lucky as for parcels, more so than some of the boys. In transport we all share our parcels so it makes it nice for the ones who don't get so many.

I imagine winter has set in back there by now. Hope everybody got their harvesting done and had a good crop. It's not too bad here, but sure have had a lot of rain the past two months.

I'm still doing a lazy man's work of driving a truck which I have been doing for the past ten months. Have been expecting to get on draft since last spring, so far I'm still one of the lucky ones, haven't called A-2 category which I had at my last medical in Calgary. Some day they won't pay any attention to our categories, then I'll be on my way.

So far I have had one leave in Scotland, one in Wales and have seen most of England while on duty and week ends. So now I guess it's about time I was to see a little different country. Also its time I started earning my $1.50 instead of just being a cost to the government.

Will close now, hoping you are all in the best of health.

Thanking you once again for the parcel.

Yours truly,
Eugene Carlisle

ICE WELLS AS A MEANS OF KEEPING CREAM COLD AND SWEET

Thousands of dollars have been lost annually by Alberta Cream Producers because of the lack of some efficient and economical means of keeping the cream sweet and cool until it is delivered to the creamery. Ice wells constructed by many farmers have served as an excellent means of holding cream at low temperatures during the hot summer months. Not only is the ice well very convenient in keeping cream [illegible] but [illegible] and operate [illegible] during the winter [illegible] labour and expense.

D. H. McCallum, Dairy Commissioner, advises that the first consideration in constructing an ice well is choice of the site. Since the well is in constant use from spring until fall it must be in a convenient place with clean surroundings. It should not be placed too near the barnyard or any place where foul odours could be absorbed by the cream. A site should be chosen where there is good drainage for the melted ice and where surface water will not seep into the well.

The size of [illegible] varies as to the need of the producer. The smaller the [illegible] greater depth [illegible] the well. To [illegible] falling into the well a cribbing [illegible] used. A cement collar around the top of the well also keeps the dirt from falling in and serves as a foothold for the building over it. The building need not be of elaborate construction. It is only needed to give shelter from the weather.

Further details of the construction and use of ice wells may be obtained by writing to the Dairy Branch, Department of Agriculture, Edmonton.

SOME INCREASE FARM MACHINERY IS PREDICTED

Edmonton — Although material shortages still restrict unlimited production of farm machinery, R. W. Gallup, Prices Board deputy administrator of farm and construction machinery told Northern Alberta Implement Dealers, here, the output for 1945 can be estimated at 102 percent of the tonnage to Canadian farmers in 1944.

Mr. Gallup stated that lack of manpower and classes of materials such as sheet steel, as well as shortage of [illegible], [illegible] limits production of farm machinery. He said shortage of malleable castings brought about entirely by lack of labour [illegible] of farm [illegible] serious bottleneck in [illegible] production today.

Following the end of war in Europe, implement industry will face a period of conversion from war to peacetime production, in producing new tooling and machines, he said.

Mr. Gallup stated that needs of Canadian farmers will have first consideration, but pointed out Canada's commitments to liberated countries of Europe and Empire countries. Rehabilitation of returned veterans will also have to be cared for, Mr. Gallup announced.

Noting that the Prices Board policy is to lift restrictions on civilian goods wherever possible Mr. Gallup said that an improvement in production [illegible] increase in manpower will be required to enlarge output of farm machinery.

In his remarks the premier says: Today, more than 750,000 Canadian citizens are serving in the armed forces. More than 1,200,000 are engaged directly in war work. More than 3,000,000 are engaged in other lines of endeavour. The total, more than 5,000,000 of a population of 12,000,000, is not only a sign of spectacular achievement, but a sign of danger. When the war ends, and war occupations cease to exist, what is to happen to the 5,000,000 Canadians now engaged in gainful occupations? Can we assure them economic security, or must millions join an army of the unemployed, such as marred our social consciousness in the pre-war years? Copies of the booklet may be obtained free of charge on writing to the Secretary-Treasurer, Alberta Post-War Reconstruction Committee, Parliament Buildings, Edmonton.

SHORT COURSE — REPAIR OF TRACTORS AND FARM MACHINERY

The Alberta Department of Agriculture announces that the Three Weeks Short Course in Farm Repair work was conducted at a number of country centres during the last two winters, will be continued again this winter. These schools are made available through the Dominion-Alberta Youth Training Programme, each government being responsible for one half of the operational costs.

With the continuance of wartime restrictions on the manufacture of farm implements and tractors, farmers are limited in the amount of new equipment they may purchase and also in repair parts for worn out machinery. These repair schools help to meet the emergency by training young farmers in the simpler repair work, much of which may be done at home on their own farms. The course is intensely practical, most of the time being devoted to actual shop work in the overhaul of tractors, small farm engines and various lines of farm implements and machinery [illegible] binders, etc. Fa[illegible] limited to a number that may be handled by one instructor.

The Misses Joan and Joyce Innes, and Muriel Rogers spent a couple of days in Edmonton this week.

DRESSED POULTRY TO BE BOUGHT ON SATURDAY

Quite a number of years ago the quantity of dressed poultry bought in Tofield was considerable. Then due to city trucks calling at farm homes and possibly some other reasons too, the business fell right away almost to nothing. Now that gasoline and tires are a problem there are fewer city trucks calling at country homes and something akin to former conditions are returning. Anyway, Saturday, December 9, will be dressed turkey buying day at Tofield. The Woodland Dairy will buy at the egg grading station.

Weed Problem Discussed at M.D. Council Meeting

A most interesting and informative discussion on weeds took place at the M.D. of Beaver council meeting at Ryley on December 8th. Assisting the Council in its deliberations on weed problems were Mr. Mather of the Dept. of Agriculture and Mr. V. A. Wood, of the Dept. of Lands and Mines.

There were present at the meeting, Reeve Anderson, Councillors Giebelhaus, Logan, Lasso, Moon, Ovens, and Swabey.

The minutes and monthly financial statement were formally accepted.

Application for increase in old age pension for Mrs. Solberg was received. Councillor Moon expressed himself very definitely on this saying that the lady is well advanced in years, was bed ridden and was being looked after by members of the family. He moved that full pension be recommended. This was agreed to.

Other routine old age pension matters were dealt with.

Letter from the Department regarding the mothers' allowance of Mrs. M. Hefflin was read. On the motion of Reeve Anderson Mrs. Heffin's allowance will be increased.

Letter from Dr. Neville, Camrose, re Doreen Ovelson. The relatively small account sent, Council decided should have gone to the family.

The secretary explained the hospital agreement set-up, saying that before an agreement with the hospitals could be ratified a by-law had to be advertised and that a motion would be required authorizing the advertising of the by-law. A motion was passed authorizing the publication of such a by-law.

Letter from the Alberta Assessment Commission advising that the appeal of Mr. McKay had resulted in a reduction to $800.00 on the quarter section.

Mr. McNichol of Canada Iron and Ingot Co., interviewed council. He said that the company had received advice that some restrictions had been taken off of the manufacture of steel culverts. If the mills will deliver steel they would be able to sell culverts. Orders are coming in and they won't be able to fill all, but he was around seeing councillor friends notifying them that if they order they will likely get some. Price was not set but it would not be higher than formerly.

After some discussion Council ordered a carload of steel culverts of various sizes.

Mr. McNichol also announced that there has been released for civilian use 400 motor graders. This is for the North American continent. These graders are in stock but each order must be passed by the Canada War Board. The grader No. 99 is one of the best patrol graders made and completely equipped cost $14,000.00. Mr. McNichol urged council if they were in the market for a patrol grader to order one now and have their application go before the Canada War Board. Council decided to consider the matter.

Council adjourned for lunch.

Councillor Giebelhaus is shortly leaving for the coast to spend the winter and generously entertained the council, office staff and press to dinner at the Ryley Hotel.

Council re-assembling it was decided that Mr. Phillip Connelly be recommended for full old age pension.

Letter from Dr. McPherson reporting on two M.D. residents who might require M.D. assistance.

Letter from sanitary engineer regarding Dodds well. The letter recommended pumping out the well and this will be done if an engine can be borrowed. Council will, however, await official analysis.

Mr. Umrysh interviewed council regarding the usual reduction on a hospital patient's bill, saying that the Vegreville hospital were not doing it with regard to his mother. As the Vegreville hospital were charging the M.D., council was of the opinion it was a misunderstanding.

Mr. Mather of the Department of Agriculture, Mr. Wood of the Department of Lands and Mines and W. A. Moisey, District Agriculturist, called on council. Their visit was by invitation and to discuss the weed problem. Mr. Moisey introduced those present individually and then went on and briefly recorded the events leading up to this meeting. He said that some time ago he sent out questionnaires with a number of farm problems listed on it. These

Editor's Note: The following is a letter received by Mrs. A. P. Dunn, Deville, from her son Frank, who is a prisoner of war in Germany. The letter was received December 9th.

Dear Mother:

I'm lying on my blanket in a field of nice fresh clover, which smells pleasantly of dew, and the sun is just above the tree tops. I wrote once from my last camp, have been here deep in the heart of for one week and received one letter, from Roberta, written in March and the latest I've had. My knee is almost as good as new and stood the last march quite well. We were separated from our sports equipment. I have my blanket, a few books and such clothing as I could carry along with the food.

Soup comes from the kitchen once each day in wooden barrels, the rest we have to manage to heat ourselves. Our cooking stoves are most ingenious, a little blower and forge all made from food tins, without tools of any kind. They burn bits of wood, paper and rags and actually boil and fry. I built one from a discarded phonograph motor which draws quite good crowds (it runs itself.)

I still have a fair amount of cigarettes, they are worth about a quarter each to trade. I should have lots of mail when it catches up with me.

I washed my greatcoat in cold water with a hair brush and it came quite clean.

There seems to be considerable optimism among the prisoners here now.

I hope this reaches you and finds everybody well and that I can join you one of these months or years.

With love to all,
FRANK.

WORLD OF WHEAT

UNITY

We hear a good deal these days about the necessity for unity, whatever that may mean, and some people even talk about disunity which is supposed to exist among the people of many different racial origins, which make up our population of Canada.

My own experience of 25 years in Western Canada has not revealed to me this disunity that people talk about. In almost every district on the prairies there are people of different racial origins, living and working in the utmost friendliness as good neighbours and as good Canadians. How, I ask, can people be called disunited if they work, visit [illegible] eat and often dance together as friends, and whose children all regard themselves as Canadians.

Those who talk of disunity might remember one thing, there is no disunity with our sons now in battle. Canadian lads of every racial group are doing their full patriotic duty, side by side, on the battlefields, and when needs be are dying, to safeguard this, our country of Canada. Is it not reasonable to assume that the national mosaic, made up of the good characteristics and virtues of the many races living in Canada, has been firmly cemented for all time by the blood of our sons who have made and will make, the supreme sacrifice!

PRICE CONTROL BENEFITS FARMER

Inflation struck farmers as severely as other Canadians during the last war. Prices paid for essentials from 1914 to 1919 prove the value of controlled prices nowadays.

Our last war farmer could not buy his underwear under $7.25 . . . his overalls more than doubled in price. Fresh paint for shabby barns cost up to $2.10 a gallon, new harness for his team, $28.50. His wife, too, noticed rising costs when her woollen underwear went up to $5.80 and the family cook stove twice its former cost.

Our farmer received around $2.00 a bushel for wheat and $1.50 for corn. But, if his crops were good, inflated prices soon cleared out his inflated payroll. His cows cost $140 each . . . cows which he sold two years later at $88. Inflated prices for day-old calves were $15 each . . . they sold for $18 two years later—not much profit when hay had cost him $25 a ton.

All this is proof enough that price control during this war has served Canada. It has worked, so far, because the people of Canada have been so solidly behind it, Donald Gordon, Chairman of the Prices Board has reiterated.

BARRED ROCKS IN FAVOUR

Any Alberta poultryman who has a good flock of Barred Rocks is advised by the Poultry Commissioner to stay with them.

This breed of poultry for many years was the outstanding breed in most provinces in Canada. With the heavy demand for more eggs for Britain, Leghorns increased in number all over Canada. The last few years have also seen a heavy increase in the distribution of New Hampshires. Our dressed poultry will soon be on the export market again. The yellow finished bird of the New Hampshire type is not in favour on the export market. The Barred Rock has been the outstanding bird for the heavier export demand. Already there is a very definite shortage of Barred Rock eggs for our hatcheries, with a resultant shortage of Barred Rock chicks to supply the demand.

Those who have good Barred Rock flocks, well housed and properly managed, and who will have male birds available should apply for Rock blood testing under Flock and Hatchery Approval Regulations. Barred Rock breeders will have less difficulty in disposing of hatching eggs than will owners of any other breed. If you have good Barred Rocks, stay with them. They are coming into their own.

Wheat Varieties in 1944

It looks as though the wheat varieties now recommended in the Prairie Provinces have pretty well settled down. A few interesting comparisons between provinces follow.

Manitoba

Regent increased sharply, from 24.7% in 1943, to 34.9%. It now threatens the supremacy of Thatcher which fell from 45.[illegible]% in 1943, to 39.2% this year. Renown declined from 19.9% to 16.6%.

Saskatchewan

The picture in Saskatchewan is simple. Thatcher continues to increase at the expense of all other varieties. Even Regent fell off a little this year. One interesting exception to this statement deserves attention. Our old friend Garnet is on the increase in the north. In Zone 4, the grey wooded soil area, Garnet increased from 3.2% of the acreage in 1943 to 6.2% in 1944. This development is even more pronounced in Alberta.

Alberta

Though Red Bobs continues to slip a little, it is still the most popular variety in Alberta by a wide margin. This year, it occupied 41.2% of the acreage. Thatcher increased from 14.0% in 1943, to 16.1% this year. Marquis declined from 30.1% to 27.3%. This year, Garnet occupied 6.0% of the Alberta acreage; last year only [illegible]%. In Zone 4A, the grey wooded soils area, less Peace River Block, Garnet increased from 13.5% to 16%.

The above figures are comparable with those published in this column last year. They are unweighted averages of elevator agents' estimates. They do not check with the figures in Circular No. 7, which were weighted by total wheat acreages at shipping points. The differences do not materially affect the comparisons we have made.

LOST BY SMALL GIRL: A $5.00 [illegible] Certificate and a [illegible] bill in a small black change purse. Finder please leave at Mercury Office.

GOOD SEED SCARCE ORDER EARLY

All farmers are advised to give immediate consideration to their seed requirements for next year. Good seed is in short supply. Only those who place their orders for Registered or Certified Seed at an early date can be assured that their requirements will be met.

Unfortunately prospective purchasers of good seed are frequently unable to locate available supplies of Registered or Certified Seed and, in many cases, good seed growers have not been encouraged to finally prepare and offer their seed for sale because they have been unable to advertise and to merchandise it. The Alberta Crop Improvement Association has been formed to provide a service in overcoming this difficulty. It is composed of representatives of the Dominion and Provincial Governments, the University of Alberta, the Provincial Seed Growers' Associations and the Grain Elevator Companies. Its purpose is to co-ordinate the efforts of all concerned in maintaining and encouraging a high standard of purity, yield and quality in crops produced in Alberta. The final result of the Associations' efforts is that the farmer who is interested in obtaining good seed can place his order and, later, take delivery of his seed through facilities provided by his local elevator agent.

N. N. Bentley, Secretary of the Association urges all farmers to discuss their seed problems with their local elevator agent immediately. The elevator agent can quote prices now and will have the official variety recommendations for next year very soon. He may not be able to guarantee that orders will be filled but "first come, first served."

A CHRISTMAS MESSAGE FROM COMMISSIONER BENJAMIN ORAMES

Once again, in the Season of the Birthday of the Christ Child, people want to give or share not only their worldly goods, but the many small happinesses of life that make this, of all seasons of the year, the most unforgettable.

Unfortunately for many people, the sharing stops with the Christmas Season. We hear many stories these days, from the occupied countries. They say themselves, that many of them for the first time, know what it is to share—their daily bread—the small luxuries that may, once in a long while, come their way—but most of all, the small incidents of daily living and companionship.

In this fifth Christmas of a world at war we, of The Salvation Army, pause to offer a special prayer of thankfulness that, in the coming year, we may look for Peace, and that this bond of fellowship may be one of the cornerstones. We recognise the gigantic tasks we have to make this a lasting Peace and, with the spirit of the Christ Child ever before us, we cannot fail.

WILL TRADE YOUNG COWS FOR Oats. Will also buy young pigs. Apply to E. McClymont, Phone 1910, Tofield. 33-33p.

THE W.K.'s—

THE WEED CONFERENCE (if it can correctly be called that) which took place between representatives of the Department of Agriculture, the Department of Lands and Mines and the M.D. of Beaver Council was one of the best efforts at coming to grips with a problem we have seen for a long time. The weed problem, like the poor, is always with us, and it is too much to expect that the time is close at hand when there will be no weeds. The truth is that only by waging constant and intelligent warfare against weeds can they be kept in check. The council meeting of the M.D. of Beaver last Friday was particularly interesting, as rarely at such a small gathering is there such an array of technical knowledge. Furthermore, rarely does one see greater evidence of departmental co-operation on a vexacious farm problem than was seen last Friday. And while, as pointed out by Mr. Mathers, the departments do not formulate policy but administer it, the representatives did show a keen desire to be of real service to the farmers of the M.D. through the council.

The day of miracles is past. At least there is no agency by which a magic wand can be waved over a lakeshore area or field and have the weeds disappear. At best weed warfare is a slow painstaking effort and beneficial results are generally in proportion to the effort made. Consequently it was with a considerable degree of interest that it was learned that the Department of Agriculture and the Department of Lands and Mines were co-operating with the same object in view, that of reducing the quantity of Canada Thistle around lakeshores. This has been a problem for many years, so much so that lakeshore areas were often blamed for infestation of nearby fields. The Department of Lands and Mines will make the leasing of lakeshore areas as permanent as possible, 10 or 20 years, renewable upon expiry if the conditions of the lease are kept. They will also encourage the putting down to pasture of these areas and the Department of Agriculture will furnish the seed. Practice makes perfect and repeated performance should develop a technique beneficial to the farmers but tough on Canada thistle.

It is too bad some agricultural scientist cannot discover a real virtue in wild oats as they are so numerous, persistent, and hard to kill. The bad boys of western wheat fields, like some Japs, wild oats have to be exterminated, there is no surrender. It is more than possible that the new booklet on wild oats now being printed will give some valuable suggestions as to the elimination of this costly pest.

In the course of the discussion which was open and friendly, and not formal and official, a rather ingenious method of controlling weeds was mentioned. As every farmer knows, when grain is sold at the elevator it is docked for weed seeds and it was mentioned that a penalty of half a mill on each percentage of dockage should be charged. Thus if a man took 100 bushels of wheat to the elevator and received one hundred dollars for it, less a ten per cent dockage, he would receive ninety dollars. If a penalty of half a mill on each percentage was added, it would mean he would receive five cents less. We see little advantage in such an innovation. To us it would appear as if it would make an unsatisfactory situation still more unsatisfactory. No farmer likes to be docked for weeds and another item would simply be another source of aggravation. At best it would be duplicating in a complicated way the work done by the dockage system, namely, penalizing the farmer for having weed seeds in his grain. The money derived from the half mill would, it is presumed, be spent on weed eradication.

There is no doubt that noxious weeds are a menace, also that many farmers are aware of this menace, fully realizing that the loss of money due to dockage is not the full story. There is reduced yields due to weeds taking moisture from the soil. Sometimes a simple suggestion bears fruit where a profound treatise falls flat. We would suggest that an entirely new organization composed of many locals be formed. It could be called "Weed Killer Society," or some such bizarre name. Meeting regularly in different homes, comparison of methods and results could be made. At least a portion of the meeting should be social topped off with the never failing source of satisfaction, lunch. If a button or badge with a couple of initials could be procured, it should be worn. A number of people, particularly young folk, wearing the button would cause comment, which in turn would create interest and this in turn would engender enthusiasm and enthusiasm fed practical knowledge could really accomplish things. This is not a new idea, it is as old as the hills.

OIL SANDS OF ALBERTA

An Alberta Government bulletin released on Friday, December 8th, dealing with Alberta's oil sands deposits and their development, is reproduced as follows:

The Government of Alberta has completed arrangements for the erection of a pilot plant at Bitumount on the Athabasca River north of Waterways, to ascertain exactly the economic feasibility or otherwise of separating oil products from the vast oil sand deposits of the Athabasca River Valley. The Legislature authorized an expenditure of $250,000 for this purpose at its last session.

Oil Sands Limited has entered into an agreement to erect the plant. It is expected that it will be completed and in operation within the year. The location at Bitumount has been chosen because research carried on by Dr. K. A. Clark of the Research Council of Alberta and others over a period of many years indicates that not only is production more prolific here than at any other known spot, but it is much more easily worked because there is very little soil and forest overburden to be removed from the top.

The agreement between the Government and the company provides that the plant will be built and operated under the supervision of a three-man board consisting of two ministers and representative of the company, and under the direction of an expert technical staff. Within a period of ten years, during which the plant will be available to the Government for experimentation, the Company will buy the plant from the Government for the original investment price.

Under this agreement, backed by the additional security of the leases and the patented processes, the interests of the province will be carefully guarded in such a way that, without eventual cost to the Government, the important research into the problem of economical production from the oil sands will be carried out speedily and without further delay.

The Government, after a careful investigation of all the known factors and of scientific analyses at the University of Alberta, which prove that the process completely removes all of the sand, is convinced that statements of federal authorities to the contrary, there are no major mining, separation or processing problems and that a wide range of commercial products from high grade aviation gasoline to asphaltic materials for road and roof surfacing may be refined from separated oil.

It has been established beyond question that successful and efficient simple processes exist for the separation of the oil from the sand and for its refinement into commercial products. Oil Sands Limited has been doing it for some time at its present experimental plant. Members of the Government have inspected this plant while in actual operation and producing a sufficient volume of clear sand-free crude oil at the rate of 150 barrels in nine hours to prove the practicability of the processes.

The only remaining problem is to ascertain whether these processes are sufficiently economical to permit these products to compete with others on the open market.

If the Government's pilot plant, which is actually a means of determining the factors involved in cost accounting, proves that the oil sands products can compete successfully with others on the open market, the largest known oil reserves in the world will become established as economically workable. The revenues to the province will be tremendous, and Alberta's contribution to trade and commerce of the Dominion and the entire world will be beyond calculation.

The action on the part of the Alberta Government has been taken at this time because we feel that other experiments with a similar objective have been too long delayed through selection of unsuitable sites which involve undue mining problems and complicated processes which are likely to prove uneconomical and do not take into full consideration the marketable value of the by-products of the operation.

Another reason why we attach so much importance to the development of these sands is that the proving of this field and its economic development will make available materials for road building and housing projects which occupy a prominent place in our plans for post-war construction and rehabilitation.

The leases were really as perpetuity as if a lessee desired it and he had lived up to the terms of his lease, he always had preference when it came time for a renewal. The lessee was responsible for the weed condition but to assist him in weed control the Dept. of Agriculture would furnish grass seed. The crop share provisions could also be waived when there was a weed problem and the lessee was doing his best to combat it. As far as humanly possible his Department was anxious to co-operate with the Department of Agriculture as regards the weed problem on lakeshores.

Mr. Mather said to go into the full question of weed eradication would require a special meeting but he was pleased to see that the council were interested in the weed problem. The three worst weeds were wild oats, Canada thistle and couch grass. Sow thistle was also becoming dangerous. At the present time there is an up-to-date pamphlet being printed regarding the wild oat menace. This was going out to all farmers.

To adequately cope with the weed problem there should be co-ordination between all parties concerned, the farmers, the weed inspectors, the Councils and the Department. There were weed inspectors who were not possessed of sufficient technical knowledge, others did not exercise sufficient tact which tended to antagonize farmers instead of causing them to co-operate.

The weed discussion was mostly of the round table variety, rather difficult to report but interesting to listen to. The visitors gave the impression that the Departments were anxious to do all in their power to assist the agricultural committee of the council in its weed problem. They were accorded a vote of thanks for the courtesy of their visit.

All the council spoke highly of Mr. Logan's work as councillor. After much discussion it was decided that Councillor Logan carry on for the present.

The question of road supervision came up for discussion, some of the council expressing the opinion it would be advisable to obtain the services of a road supervisor while others believed this was unnecessary, stating that councillors would still be responsible for the work done by the road men. The discussion was of a preliminary nature and not particularly leading up to an appointment. Oats and Barley

Twenty-two different varieties of oats appeared among samples sent in to our laboratory, last year, for germination tests. Only eight were included in lists of recommended varieties. They are: Ajax, Banner, Eagle, Exeter, Laurel (hulless), Legacy, Vanguard and Victory. However, these figures do not provide a true picture, because only 53 per cent of the total samples received were of [illegible] varieties. In other words, judging from the material which passed through our laboratory, 64.7% of the oats in the Prairie Provinces, in 1944, grew from seed of recommended varieties.

The situation with respect to barley is similar, but not quite so good. Seventeen different varieties were included in samples we tested for germination, but only seven are officially recommended. OAC 21, [illegible] 60 and [illegible], are recommended [illegible] for malting, while Plush, [illegible], Newal, Regal and Trebi are considered feed varieties. Of these feed varieties, all except Trebi are smooth awned. 86.9% of the samples received were [illegible] from recommended varieties. [illegible] varieties are suited to some [illegible] and others to others. The local recommendations may be obtained from Dominion Experimental Farms, Provincial Departments of Agriculture, Universities or Line Elevators Farm Service.

Line Elevator agents are authorized distributors of seed grain for Crop Improvement Associations in Manitoba and Alberta, and for the Seed Growers' Association in Saskatchewan. Farmers are invited to consult them about germination tests and seed supplies.

[illegible] have also helped, says J. G. C. Fraser, Cereal Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Some years ago, the wheat which Canada exported was criticized in some quarters because of what was described as the "undesirable mixture of varieties" of which it was alleged to be composed. In order to obtain definite information on this disputed point the Cereal Division initiated an annual survey of the wheat composing a large number of representative cargoes for overseas shipment. Samples were drawn each year from these cargoes by the Inspection Division, Board of Grain Commissioners and sent to Ottawa for special study. These samples were sown in plots in the nursery and the varieties in each plot were identified.

This work has been continued without interruption for the past thirteen years. It has shown, that while a large number of different varieties undoubtedly could be found in our export wheat those which could be classed as poor or even mediocre represented a very small percentage of the whole. This study has also shown that with the passing of time these poor varieties have practically passed out of the picture, due to the agencies at work to remove such varieties.

LONDON: The British Electrical Development Association have exhibited plans of all electric kitchens which have been prepared as the result of a careful inquiry.

A panel of architects, assisted by Mrs. E. Gregory, a member of the Electrical Association for Women, has gone carefully into the problem of providing in the low-cost family home well-planned, care-free kitchens with due regard to cost and the economical production of fixtures and fittings of standard design which could go into production immediately after the war.

One feature of the equipment is the horizontal electric cooker, in which the oven is arranged alongside the hob and hot-water unit. This avoids the necessity of stooping and provides storage room underneath. Other devices are a water-heater; heated floors; fluorescent lamps which will produce good light without glare or shadow on working surfaces.

FOR SAKE OF A NAIL PRIZE BULL LOST

The hazards on the farm were again demonstrated by the death recently at Chicago of the famous Canadian Holstein bull Montvic Rebown, which sold for the Canadian Record price of $14,000 two years ago at Brantford, Ont. A nail killed him. He had swallowed it, and died following an operation for its removal from his stomach.

Many of the accidents on the farm are preventable, but in wartime with the shortage of labour it is not possible to cope with all the possible causes. Less time is now available for keeping the farm yard spic and span, and still less time to ensure that the pasture is free of danger, but time spent in cleaning up to clear the precincts of loose nails, bits of metal, broken bits of lumber, discarded pieces of machinery hidden in long grass, and other articles which should not be there, would prove profitable and prevent such an accident as happened to Montvic Rebown.

Live stock are liable to pick up any odd article that may have found its way into the feed or in the pasture. A board with a nail in it lying about the yard or anywhere, a projecting nail on a step, on a field gate, on the side of a barn or anywhere at all is a constant menace, but more insidious are loose nails inadvertently dropped around the yard or in the pasture. Cattle seem to have a peculiar relish for [illegible]

Apart from machinery which is responsible for the most serious accidents on the farm, everyday causes of mishaps are numerous, such as the careless handling of tools or of a gun, the cover of a well, hay hiding an open trap in the loft, an exposed electric wire, a broken step, a faulty flue, or a ricketty ladder. The farmer must be to a great extent, his own safety engineer.

Messages From The Churches

UNITED CHURCH

Rev. A. E. Allan

Again round the world there rings the message of Christmas: "Peace on earth, good will towards men."

"I bring you tidings of great joy which shall be to all nations". Like older prophesies we are still waiting for their fulfilment.

The world today, longs, desires and prepares for Peace.

It will only come in the God-appointed way—peace on earth to men of good will.

Without good will, understanding and peace are impossible anywhere, among the nations, within a nation, in industry, within a community, in a home, within one's own heart.

Therefore, let us this Christmas, sincerely, honestly and with determination, will the good for ourselves and for others and the Peace of God what passeth understanding shall possess our hearts and minds.

"Joy to the world, the Lord has come,
Let earth receive her King."

We rejoice in Christmas time, it is so full of good will and overflows with joy.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Werton, the Mercury is the medium through which I wish the people of Tofield and district "A Happy Christmas and a Prosperous New Year."

CHRISTMAS MESSAGE 1944

Rev. N. L. Schmeltzer

The unceasing passage of time flowing relentlessly onward into eternity has once more reached the feast of Christmas.

Christmas is a time of joy and of peace. That joy which comes from on High with the tidings that unto us is born a saviour—that peace which comes to us when we think of the Babe of Bethlehem who asks us to put envy and hatred out of our hearts and to love all those around us as brethren.

This Christmas, as the five before it, is darkened and saddened by this terrible war. In many lands the Christmas peace is a mockery for those who are in the path of armies or who have death rained on them from the skies. With the people of old they can say—"They cry peace! peace, and there is no peace". Never was it more true to say that the whole human race desires bread and liberty and not steel.

We should ask the Saviour who is the Prince of Peace to lighten the sufferings of those who suffer in the theatres of war and to make the peace that shall one day come between nations a lasting one founded on justice and charity. We should pray that men of good will arise to guide the destinies of nations into the ways of concord, mutual aid and mutual trust.

May the peace of Christmas which is the peace of Christ, enter into your hearts and remain with you forever.

War came. The manufacture of most civilian goods had to be cut down or stopped to make way for war production. That caused shortages of civilian goods—that was the RED LIGHT

Some restrictions are now being lifted, but it does not mean lots of goods right away. War's demands are still huge and must come first. We can't neglect them just so that some of us here at home can get a little more.

Don't confuse the signals—(This is the YELLOW LIGHT ONLY).

It means a little more of some things and it helps business men get ready for the time when there will be more materials and workers available.

It does not mean the end of shortages!

Getting back to peacetime production will necessarily be piecemeal and gradual.

"Patience" is the word.

Only after Victory over both enemies can the Green Light be switched on, and the road cleared for enough production to meet all our civilian needs.

WE CANNOT TELL YOU—

WE CANNOT TELL YOU any more, certainly not much more, about Christmas than you already know. You know the story of Mary, the Christ Child and the shepherds who guarded their flocks by night. You know that for over nineteen hundred years in different lands and climes and with different customs, but with one central theme, men and women, boys and girls, have celebrated this day of days. You know that there are mothers and fathers, children of parents, brothers and sisters, aunts and uncles, neices and nephews, cousins and friends all to be remembered. You know that Christmas is a time of solemn worship, of feasting, of parties and of good cheer. You know these things because, like all of us, you have seen them. Have seen the luxuriant and brilliant stores with a bewildering array of merchandise, have seen the over-burdened pedestrian, smiling even though weary; have seen the sparkle of Christmas trees, the glitter of decorations, have seen the nuts and oranges and other fruits from many lands. If you are grown up you have seen these things many times and know them by heart, if you are still very young the spell of wonder is still upon you.

Christmas, a personal Christmas, is not something one reads about or observes. Christmas has to be felt. That divine but ever smoldering spark of generosity lying latent in every heart has to be fanned into a blazing inferno of goodwill. Have you not heard people say a week or so before Christmas "It does not seem like Christmas," and then a short time later see the same people rushing around in a frenzy of buying and giving, the scope of which is only governed by the time there is in which to do it.

Surely, Christmas has to be felt, like that of a child, bursting with enthusiasm; like that of a parent, proud to head his progeny at the Christmas table; and like that of the aged mother, serene in the knowledge that her life's work of Christmases have been well and nobly done. We cannot tell you what to do or how to get that way. All we know is that hundreds of thousands, yes millions, of people smile at Christmas time differently than at any other season of the year. That good will and generosity fly on well spread wings and that because of the Christmas spirit felt deep down, people are immeasurably kinder and more considerate to all others.

The Tofield Mercury wishes all our readers a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

THE FORTUNES OF WAR—

PLANNED EVENTS in modern warfare have to be timed very precisely, sometimes months prior to the time they are scheduled to take place. Occasionally the fortunes of war are so good that important events occur before the scheduled time, at other times the fortunes of war are so bad that important military operations are seriously delayed, causing loss and delay to the allied cause. And there are times when the non success of a scheduled event start a train of adverse circumstances seemingly quite unrelated to the scheduled plan. Something like this happened this fall. Readers will remember that in September it was confidently expected that the occupation of Berlin was only a few short months, perhaps weeks, away. High ranking statesmen and officers spoke optimistically as to the duration of the European war and this optimism spread throughout the allied lands. Then two set-backs to the allied cause occurred, set backs that have had far reaching results. The first was the defeat at Arnheim of the paratroopers dropped in there. It was the British commands intention to reinforce these but a sudden change in weather conditions made this impossible. The result was that German land forces closed in on them and they were prevented from making a good junction with the British land army as intended. About this time General Patton's army was rushing across France and by its very speed and force, carrying most everything before it. Then there was a temporary shortage of gasoline for tanks and the eastern surge of General Patton's army was halted. These two events combined to give the Germans time in which to re-organize their defense forces, time which subsequent events have proven they made good use of. The tougher going of the invasion armies is, in the opinion of qualified observers, the cause for much of the upset in Greece. Back in London months ago, it had been planned that certain ships would be taking food and much needed supplies to Greece. This would have in a large measure relieved the situation there, but due to the delayed success on the western front, these ships could not be released for this purpose. So bad weather and a shortage of gasoline at a critical time became responsible for a series of unwelcome events. However, while the allied march into Berlin is delayed, it has not been cancelled.

The Story Of The Year

This is a Knickerbocker Weekly story from Holland. A merchant went to a farmer near Amsterdam to get a pound of butter. The farmer insisted on swapping the butter for a pair of woolen socks. The merchant went home and reported this to his wife, who said: "We have a woolen bedspread. I'll unravel it and knit a pair of socks." She made the pair and the merchant exchanged them for a pound of butter. Whenever the merchant needed more butter, his wife would unravel the bedspread and knit socks. Finally, one day, she had enough wool for only one sock. The merchant took it to the farmer and asked for a half-pound of butter for it. "No, I'll give you a full pound," said the farmer. "You see, I really don't wear the socks. My wife unravels the wool and uses it for a bedspread she's making. And there's just enough wool in this one sock to finish it."

MINISTIK

There is to be a dance in the Ministik Memorial Hall on January 1st, 1945, in aid of the Community funds for the boys overseas.

The U.F.W.A. meeting was held at the home of Mrs. F. Swabey. There were 8 members present. The men were invited after chores and had a game of cards. Then a nice lunch was served by the hostess. The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Curtis.

Some of our young people went to Looma Vista last week. Mrs. F. Swabey won the lucky draw for the Christmas Cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick are spending the Christmas holidays with Mrs. Dick's Mother, Mrs. H. E. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. W. George spent the week end at the home of Mrs. George's parents near Holden.

There will be church on Sunday, December 24th at 2:30. Mr. E. Nix is expected out to take the service.

We had a visit from the school inspector one day last week. He says our school will be re-opened in the near future. Teachers are getting more plentiful now.

It seems like old times again to see the bus on the road again on Sundays.

We see there is some firewood hauled to the Hall but it is coming in very slow. Hurry up boys and make a pile worth sawing.

Mr. S. Baumgartner has had the phone installed in his house.

We are sorry to hear Mr. C. B. Leach is on the sick list. We hope he will be well again to take part in the Christmas festivities.

On behalf of the district we extend our wishes to the Editor for a happy Christmas time and a prosperous New Year.

The Whist drive sponsored by the young people was held at the Hall last Monday night. There were 8 tables playing. Mrs. Stevens drew the baby's dress, Mrs. L. Gill drew the cushion and Lorna Hennessy drew the towels. The net proceeds were $—— which will be used for the boys overseas.

MINISTIK JUNIOR U.F.A.

On November 15th the regular meeting of the Junior U.F.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Grummett with 8 members present. The meeting opened with singing of "Carry On." Minutes were read and passed and arrangements were made for the whist drive and raffle for December 11th. Meeting adjourned.

An hour of games and a nice lunch brought our evening to a close.

On December 6th the regular meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kleinschroth with 6 members and 2 visitors present. The meeting opened with the singing of "Good-Luck." Correspondence from head office was read by the secretary. Minutes were read and passed. Roll call was answered by one good health rule.

The whist drive and raffle we had on December 11th was a success in every way. We extend our sincere thanks to Miss Stewart for the little dress, Mrs. Ferguson for the satin cushion and towel, which were raffled that evening. Mrs. Ed Stevens was the lucky winner of the little dress, Mrs. Gill the cushion and Lorna Hennessy the towel. The proceeds go to the boys overseas. Our meeting adjourned and a pleasant evening closed with music and a nice lunch.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Mrs. Catherine Murdoch who passed away on December 27th, 1942.

A wonderful mother, woman and aid,
One who was better, God never made,
A wonderful worker, so loyal and true,
One in a million—that, Mother, was you.
Just in your judgement, always right,
Honest and liberal, ever upright.
Loved by your friends and all whom you knew,
Our wonderful mother, that mother was you.

Peace on Earth
Good-will to Men

I HEARD the bells on Christmas Day
Their old, familiar carols play,
And wild and sweet
The words repeat
Of peace on earth, good-will to men!

AND in despair I bowed my head;
"There is no peace on earth," I said;
"For hate is strong,
And mocks the song
Of peace on earth, good-will to men!"

THEN pealed the bells more loud and deep:
"God is not dead; nor doth He sleep!
The Wrong shall fail,
The Right prevail,
With peace on earth, good-will to men."

New Assessment For 1945

An adjourned meeting of the M.D. of Beaver was held at Ryley on Tuesday. There were present Reeve Anderson; Councillors Giebelhaus, Logan, Lucas, Moen, Ovens and [illegible].

[illegible] was read from Dept. of Municipal Affairs recommending an [illegible] assessment in 1945. It was recognized that assessors will need assistants, and the Department was giving a special course for this purpose early in the year. The department recommended that a sufficient amount be allowed in the 1945 budget to take care of this.

Some discussion followed regarding the likelihood of being able to engage suitable men as assessors and assistant assessors.

On the motion of Councillor Ovens it was decided to advertise for one assessor and four assistants, applicants to state qualifications and salary expected. Applications to be in before January 12th.

Letter from Dept. of Public Works regarding responsibility of maintaining roads. All roads except main highways are the responsibility of the M.D. Bridges especially should be checked for loads.

Letter from Union Tractor and Harvester Co., wishing council the compliments of the season and advising that they were forwarding a box of cigars and a little gift for each councillor. Council expressed thanks by resolution.

Adjournment for dinner.

Letter from Fred Gierret, Lavoy, asking permission to fence across road allowance. Secretary was instructed to write and say it is against the policy of this council to allow anyone to fence across the road allowance.

Letter from Mr. Lefurud regarding his client sustaining car damage on road.

Councillor Giebelhaus reported that hole was at side of road, there was a well worn trail around it and that it was obvious to any driver. He moved that Council refuse to pay damages and that Mr. Brownlee be retained for defence if necessary. Carried.

Letter from Mr. Finseth asking for position of weed inspector for 1945. Tabled.

Council granted a ratepayer the right to cut out a former road diversion.

On the motion of Councillor Logan, machinery purchase applications will be filled out.

On the motion of Councillor Logan, Councillor Ovens was authorized to look after C. Hines.

Councillor Logan moved that secretary be given authority to send Margaret Peterson to the dental clinic for dental work, the bill to be sent to the M.D. Carried.

Leave of absence until middle of March was given to Councillor Giebelhaus. Councillor Giebelhaus together with Mrs. Giebelhaus will spend the winter at the coast.

This being Councillor Lucas' birthday the reeve extended congratulations of the council.

A dominion provincial housing scheme was discussed at some length. Councillor Giebelhaus moved that we do not join in on this plan.

Councillor Logan moved that Councillor Giebelhaus' motion be tabled.

Councillor Logan's motion carried.

This adjourned meeting was called chiefly to establish a policy as regards road work. The suggestion of a road work supervisor was discussed at some length, there being considerable difference of opinion. No action as regards this was taken.

The use of the large grader units also came in for consideration. There are two of these, one in the east and one in the west. The one in the east end is jointly owned by M.D. of Eagle and M.D. of Beaver, this arrangement being the result of the large municipal units. At present there is an arrangement in force whereby M.D. of Beaver, through division seven, is obtaining this outfit by building so many miles of road in M.D. of Eagle as payment for the machine, the machine to become the property of division seven. There was some question as to whether this was the wisest kind of an arrangement and finally it was agreed that a letter be sent to M.D. of Eagle saying that the council of M.D. of Beaver desired that the road building partnership between the two M.D.'s be terminated on a cash basis.

Meeting adjourned.

The Giving Of Gifts

Ever since the Wise Men of the pastures of Judea brought gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh to the stable, in the manger of which lay Him, who for two thousand years was to guide the destiny of millions of mankind, gifts have been associated with Christmas.

And even before a darkened world was made brighter by His sacrifice, the giving of gifts was associated with Peace and Goodwill.

It has been our valued privilege to have experienced over thirty Christmases among you and as each one passed to have taken a part in the selection of many Christmas gifts. We value this privilege highly and trust our efforts have been of some assistance.

As the year 1944 draws to a close we thank you all for your kind patronage and wish for you all . . .

WEDDING

The wedding of a popular young couple took place in the United Church at Tofield on January 1st, 1945 at 3:30 p.m., when James Edward Ingram of Ketchamoot was united in marriage to Pansy Bernice Bracegirdle of Lindbrook. The Rev. D. K. Allan performed the ceremony before a large gathering of friends and relatives of the [illegible] pair.

The bride was charmingly attired in a white costume, her pill box hat of the same material trimmed with pansies and white veiling. She wore a corsage of pansies and a necklace [illegible] to her grandmother, and came down the aisle on the arm of her father, James Bracegirdle, who gave her in marriage. The groom was supported by his uncle, Frank J. Raligan, as his best man.

The bride's attendants were Verna Plants Stine of Edmonton as Maid of Honor and the youngest sister of the bride, Carol, as bridesmaid, both were wearing costumes of blue suiting. Miss Stine wore hat and veiling of pale pink with corsage of pale pink carnations and Miss Bracegirdle choosing a cat of brown with matching veil and corsage of rose carnations.

Miss Beulah Hillered sang "I'll Walk Beside You" accompanied by Miss Corrine Hushodahl, who also played the wedding marches.

The Bridal couple received the congratulations of their friends at the door of the church.

They were showered by confetti on their way down the steps of the church to their much decorated car.

An informal reception was held at the home of the bride's parents at Lindbrook where sixty people gathered to wish the young people well.

The bride cut her three tiered wedding cake with the same knife her mother had cut hers on New Year's Day, 1922.

Mr. Raligan proposed the toast to the bride. The groom replied with a few well chosen words.

After a honeymoon spent in Edmonton, Calgary, and elsewhere, they will make their home on the groom's farm in the Ketchamoot district south of Tofield.

For travelling the bride wore a dark green frock with gold jacket, with top coat of tan and a brown fur hat to match the fur trimming on her coat.

Alberta Post-War Survey Plan

Most advanced move undertaken in any part of Canada to obtain accurate facts and figures to aid Albertans in meeting their post-war problems realistically will get underway in mid-January.

The plan is a sweeping one. The Alberta Post-War Reconstruction Committee knows that if it is to meet success the farmers, business[illegible]holders of this province must give the plan their com[illegible] co-operation. To administer the plan, the committee has set up a survey management committee with the official support and backing of the Alberta government.

Leading the appeal for public support and co-operation with the province-wide survey is Premier Manning. Mr. Manning has stressed the immediate need now of "appraising accurately the possibilities of our people and our production machine." This will be done through the survey.

Thousands of Alberta farmers, [illegible] and small businessmen and householders [illegible] asked to provide detailed and accurate information on their post war needs and plans. The information will be held in strict confidence by the survey management and its voluntary workers. The information will only be used in bulk with other details. A code number protects the individual's name.

Here, in summary, [illegible] the people of Alberta will be asked to provide:

1. A report of the changes affecting them, which have occurred during the five years of war.
2. A statement of their expectations and plans for the post-war years.
3. Their suggestions of ways and means of facilitating the transition from a wartime to a peacetime economy.
4. Their recommendations for expanding industry, production, services and employment in the province in the post war period.

The overall survey has been divided into three general sections: farm, business and household. In each division a representative section of the public will be asked to provide the information needed to best learn the needs and plans of that group.

To facilitate the tremendous job of gathering the exact information, the provincial survey management committee under Reg Rose, executive secretary of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, has divided the province into 25 sectors. In each sector it has enlisted the aid of a public spirited group such as boards of trade, agricultural groups and other such organizations.

It will be the men of these groups who will voluntarily tackle the work of gathering the detailed information through questionnaires and personal interviews. It is essential that real co-operation be given these volunteer workers.

Hon. A. J. Hooke, chairman of the Post-War Reconstruction Committee has stated the survey cannot be done unless Albertans, as individuals and organized groups lend it their whole hearted support.

"As individuals they can help by assisting in the work that must be done and by giving the information asked of them," he has declared. "As organized groups they can help by declaring their support of the survey and by encouraging their members to participate. The committee believes the people will see the usefulness of the survey and will ensure its success.

"Their support will be a measure of their desire to meet the needs of effective organization for peace," the minister says.

Prime objective of the survey is to build a "workpile"—a reservoir of jobs for returning servicemen. Next to winning the war, this is Canada's most vital thought and Alberta believes the way to do this is to first find out the province's job-making potentialities.

Only through employment will complete rehabilitation of the returning servicemen be gained. Through the survey it is hoped to find out just how much employment Alberta can provide in respect to the number of returning Alberta Servicemen.

Throughout the province the survey is scheduled to start Jan. 15. Regional committees have been set up in each of the 25 sectors and a representative of the regional committee will make his first call to your farm, household or business within a few days after that date.

More complete details of the various types of questionnaires will be announced by the survey management committee soon. Farmers, householders and businessmen should familiarize themselves with the general questions so that answers given to the representatives either verbally or on the questionnaire form are as accurate as possible.

Accuracy is the keynote of the survey. The whole questionnaire form is designed to eliminate guesswork. Various types of questions will form a cross-check so that the overall result will be detailed and exact.

Representatives of both city and country points are on the survey management committee.

Appointed to carry out the survey are Mr. Rose, on loan to manage the survey from the Edmonton Chamber; Andrew Stewart, department of political economy at the University of Alberta; William Anderson, of Canadian Utilities Ltd; Rudolph Hennig, United Farmers of Alberta; Dave Roberts, Alta Association of Municipal districts; R. J. [illegible], Edmonton commissioner and representative of the Union of Alberta Municipalities; A. Hawreluk, [illegible] Alberta Farmers Union; J. H. [illegible], Edmonton Chamber of Commerce; Dr. [illegible] C. Spence, Dominion Department of Agriculture; Fred Chalk, Calgary alderman; E. J. Martin and H. D. Carrigan of the [illegible] committee.

WORLD OF WHEAT

By H. G. L. Strange

HUNGRY PEOPLE

There is trouble in Greece which has led to lamentable loss of life. There is dissension in Italy, France and Belgium. No doubt the same trouble to some extent will occur in each country as it becomes liberated by the troops of those nations which are reluctant about imposing a strong and harsh dictatorship on the liberated countries while the war is proceeding.

My own belief is that most of these troubles spring from the simple fact that the people are hungry. The advance of the liberating Allied troops did not, unfortunately coincide with a large flow of foodstuffs for the suffering inhabitants. The reason for this is simple. It is that the ships which might be used to transport food are badly needed to transport equipment, munitions and fighting men to cope with our still strong, numerous and aggressive enemy in Europe, and no less in the Pacific, for the defeat of the enemy must take priority above all.

The one bright spot is that Canada has sufficient wheat in store that could relieve these hungry people, and would, therefore, in my opinion at least, remove from them the urge to revolt; for hungry people, history shows, seldom remain quiet. Sooner or later, however, as the military situation turns more and more in our favour, ships will be available to transport food; then the revolts, dissensions and disturbances will quickly cease.

END SUBSIDY ON ORANGES

After December 30, the Canadian orange subsidy will be discontinued, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board announces. Future Canadian prices will be based on the O.P.A. ceiling in the U.S. growing area plus a controlled mark-up.

Designed to protect prices to Canadian consumers, the subsidy was introduced two years ago when there was no U.S. ceiling on oranges. Careful check on the American ceiling which has operated for over a year now has led to acceptance of O.P.A. ceiling as a basis for the Canadian ceiling, said Donald Gordon, Prices [illegible]

Prices to Canadian consumers may increase from 3 to 4 cents a dozen although successful marketing of California's large crop might result in sale below ceiling at prices nearer present level. Supply and quantity of oranges should not be affected, the Prices Board says.

COMMUUNITY EFFORT FOR CONTROL OF WARBLE FLY

The warble fly campaign for 1945 will soon be under way, and although the grubs are at present out of sight, the effects are already showing.

The tiny warble grubs are now on the move from the throat towards the backs of the animals. During this migration the affected cattle suffer considerable irritation. A discontented animal is unable to make the best use of its food. Milk production may be reduced from 20 per cent to 25 per cent, and at least 25 per cent more food will be required to keep the steers in condition.

Although the heel flies in summer do not usually travel far, there is always the possibility of a treated herd being attacked by flies from a neighboring herd that has not been treated. For that reason, the supervisor of Pest Control, J. L. Eaglesham, strongly advises community treatment, so that the whole district may be organized against the heel fly pest.

It is hoped that there will be many warble free communities in Alberta in 1945. It is not difficult for a few enterprising farmers to organize a district, says Mr. Eaglesham, and the District Agriculturists will be glad to assist in such organization of any community in their districts.

The Citizen

God bless our land
That we may hold
Through storm and strife;
Thou hast the unfailing arm of might,
The truth of old,
The fount of life.

Sustain the strong
Through battle's throes
On land and sea,
And give our wings triumphant flight
O'er dreaded foes
For victory.

God bless the home,
The noisy mill,
The crowded street;
Direct the thought in ways of light,
The ready will
In service meet.

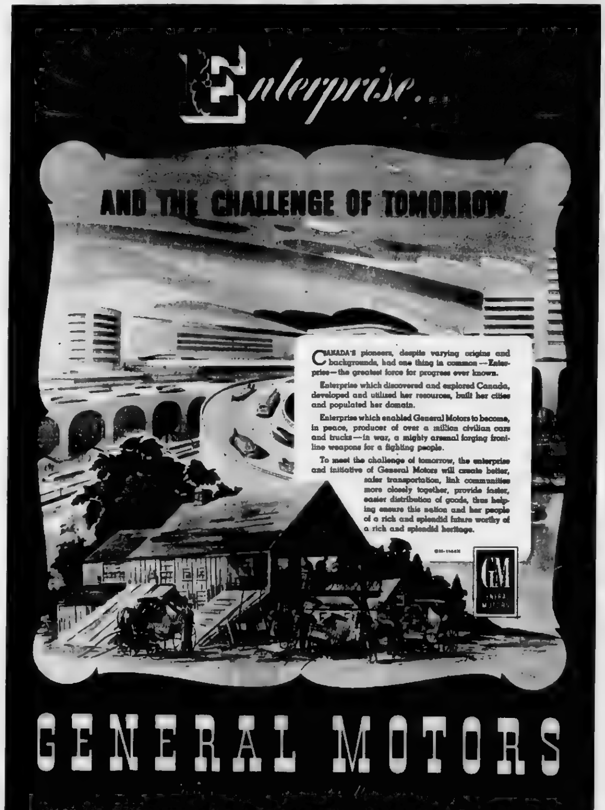
THE FORTY-NINTH BATTALION ANNUAL DINNER

The Annual Dinner of the Forty-Ninth Battalion (Loyal Edmonton Regiment) Association will be held in the Macdonald Hotel, Edmonton, Alberta, on January 6th, 1945 at 6.45 p.m.



CANADA'S pioneers, despite varying origins and backgrounds, had one thing in common—Enterprise—the greatest force for progress ever known.

Enterprise which discovered and explored Canada, developed and utilized her resources, built her cities and populated her domain.

Enterprise which enabled General Motors to become, in peace, producer of over a million civilian cars and trucks—in war, a mighty arsenal forging front-line weapons for a fighting people.

To meet the challenge of tomorrow, the enterprise and initiative of General Motors will create better, safer transportation, link communities more closely together, provide faster, easier distribution of goods, thus helping ensure this nation and her people of a rich and splendid future worthy of a rich and splendid heritage.

MAY THIS BE THE YEAR—

AS AN OLD YEAR passes and a new one dawns it is but second nature to ponder upon what the months of the coming year may have in store for us. The pondering may and usually does last only a few days, just while the new year is really new; as soon as it has acquired a few days in age, the holiday feeling subsides, intense expectation of coming events ceases and all of us go forward ticking off the days of the calendar without much thought as to what coming events may mean to us. The most important matter to all of us in the year ahead is, of course, the progress of the war, both as regards the conflict in Europe and also the one in Asia. That both may be victoriously concluded and that our service men and women may be safely returned to their homes, is the fervent wish of all citizens.

But apart from the actual progress of the war there are and will be changes of immense importance going on throughout the world. While many men of many nations are striving for some basis upon which may be built a lasting peace, other men of many nations are striving to lay foundations to which control of world markets may be fastened. It is not so much that any particular nation desires to shut out other nations from world markets, but there are few nations, if any, but which desire to obtain for themselves a flourishing export trade and a high degree of prosperity for their people. World trade is highly competitive and while the golden rule is frequently voiced at conferences, in actual practice the interests of nations, cartels, firms and even individuals are of prime consideration. This war, among many other things, has smashed solidly built and firmly established foundations of many world trading nations, so much so that for some it will mean a complete rebuilding job while for others broken trade connections will be re-opened. Other nations perhaps for the first time in their history will embark upon a world trading program. Great Britain with her teeming factories and vast merchant fleet, has for hundreds of years, catered to world trade. Imports of raw material and export of the finished products has been an ebb and flow tide of commerce to and from Britain for many years. Years of experience have created an international trade technique which, if not the best, is among the best in the world. Great Britain no doubt can be depended upon to exert every effort to maintain her pre-war volume and to even increase it if possible.

The United States already a fully grown member of the exporting nation group can be expected, as far as humanly possible during 1945, to shape its post war world trade policies. But while the post war world trade policies of Great Britain, the United States, France, Germany and other nations are of economic interest, what concerns Canadians and what will contribute to their economic welfare most will be the exports from this country. In this respect Canada is very fortunate. the following taken from the monthly letter of the Royal Bank of Canada, gives promise of a greatly expanding world trade during the post war years; trade with countries in the east, in the west and in the south, countries which no matter how many miles distant, have become, due to rapid communication and transportation, near neighbors.

> "So industriously have Canada's 11½ million people explored the wilderness, probed the rocks, tilled the plains, and built dams to operate their factory wheels, that their country is among the world's leaders in supplying the world's needs.
> Canada is first in production of nickel, newsprint, asbestos, platinum, and radium, and in supplying food for the United Nations. She is the world's second largest producer of aluminum, wood pulp, and hydro-electric power, and second in the building of cargo ships. Canada is third in producing copper, lead and zinc, third among the United Nation's sea powers, and the third trading nation in the world. She is fourth among the world's air powers, and fourth in production of United Nations' war supplies.
> Canada's scanty population has been achieving mightily through inventive genius and enterprise. These have developed the benefits inherent in the Dominion's strategic geographical position, her abundant water power, her thousands of miles of transportation facilities by rail, highway, waterway and air. Her people have kept her credit and exchange sound in the markets of the world."

Here, in this portion of the Dominion, our interest lies in agriculture. Our wheat, pork, dairy and poultry products, will, it is expected, do much to rekindle health and hope in a sorely stricken Europe as well as in famished lands in other continents. From the sale of these products will come many things which in the aggregate will add to and improve the standard of living here, even though compared to many other countries we are well off.

During the past twenty or more years, if the people of the world have learned anything at all, they should have learned that predictions however well intended, and by however well informed people, have a knack of going sour. The failure of the League of Nations, the non-effectiveness of the Kellog pact, Chamberlain's promise of peace, Hitler's non-aggression, the cure for unemployment, all these and right down to predictions as to the probable ending of the war, have all turned out wrong. Therefore predictions as to the coming year or even immediate post war years, may seem out of place. But if the intelligence and industry of her people, the richness of her resources and honesty of purpose count for anything, Canada should fare well as regards world trade in the years to come.

It is to be hoped that this is so and that when, which we hope will be in the near future, our service men and women are able to return to their homes, it will be to a Canada economically as well as enthusiasticallyable to receive them. May this be the year.

MINISTIK

Mr. E. Nix and Miss Latter came out on Christmas Eve and there was a fine attendance at Church. The next service will be held on January 7th, weather permitting.

Don't forget the Social Credit meeting on January 6th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Leach. Visitors are welcome.

We hear rumours of another wedding in this district, this time in the south west corner. Guess who, boys.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley George left for the coast last week for a few week's holiday.

Mrs. Fricher, two sons and Mr. and Mrs. Fricher of Edmonton, were the guests of Mrs. F. Swabey over the week end.

The dance held at Ministik Hall on New Years night in aid of the cigarette fund for the boys overseas, was a success. There was a good attendance and about $30.00 was taken in at the door.

Owing to the small attendance at the annual meeting of the Hall, there was no business done. There is some talk of closing the hall for a year, so you young people be sure and attend the next meeting when it is called or else the Hall board will be doing something drastic.

Owing to the cold weather there were not many activities in this district during Christmas and New Years.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Leach had 4 of their grandchildren visiting over the New Year holidays.

The U.F.W.A. meeting for January will be held at the home of Mrs. Curtis on Tuesday, January 9th.

What is the matter with the Hasting Lake reporter? Last time I saw him he said he was going to write regularly, that was about 3 months ago. Buck up you scribe, and let us hear from you in the future.

Miss Laurie Lawrence of Edmonton was the guest of Mrs. D. R. Swabey over the New Year's holiday.

Owing to the cold weather quite a few dinner parties at Christmas and New Years had to be put off.

DODDS DOTTINGS

The December meeting of Dodds Red Cross was held at the home of Mrs. A. Wihlun recently. $53.00 was voted to be sent to the Edmonton District Red Cross. Many of the local boys had written voicing their thanks for overseas parcels received in good condition.

Mr. Joseph Helgeland has returned home from hospital but is still unable to be around much.

Mr. Mahlon Bender has a flock of 500 young hens and is getting over 130 eggs daily, which rate will increase as the hens reach maturity.

Mr. Hans Hi[illegible] recently from a three week's hunting trip west of Edmonton.

Seven tons of coal inadvertently caught fire in the basement of Meidal School last week. The prompt action of the janitor and Mr. Hunsby, the principal, prevented the fire from spreading to the building. The coal was shovelled out. The scholars received a days' holiday but studies were resumed the following day.

[illegible] WANTED

Applications for the position of assessor and four assistants will be received by the M. D. of Beaver, No. 489, up to noon on Friday, January 12th, 1945. Applicants to state qualifications and salary expected.

Applications should be addressed to M.D. of Beaver, Ryley, Alberta.

A PINT OF BLOOD

There's little left for us today
To freely do in our own way.
There's little left that's all our own,
That we may give or even loan.

So little time, perhaps, to send
To friend, or more beloved than friend,
Something of our own, something a part,
Of just ourselves, something of heart.

So little effort, yet we wait
Until, alas, it is too late
To give our blood, nay—only lend
It to a loved one or a friend.

Nay—only lend, for God will give
It back to us that we may live
To give again, and know the joy
Of bringing Home a living boy.

So little effort, dare we wait
The tragic words—"Too late, too late."
Dare we for Victory to pray
And yet—give not our blood today.

—Armistead.

FARM TRACTOR MAINTENANCE AND CARE

(Experimental Farms News)

During the winter months while the tractor is usually idle is a good time to check it over and get it in 100 per cent shape for the next operating season, says J. L. Thompson Dominion Experimental Station, Swift Current, Sask., where a special study is made of farm machines.

After the tractor has been thoroughly warmed up it should be stopped and checked for compression. This is done by turning the motor over by crank and rocking each individual cylinder on compression. If all the cylinders are equal and have good compression, then the rings and valves are satisfactory. If there is a weak cylinder, take out the plug and pour in a cup of oil. If the cylinder still does not hold compression, then the valves are leaking on that cylinder. The head should be taken to a good shop and reconditioned, or the whole motor, if rings leak. In most cases it is better to have major overhaul done in a shop well equipped with precision machines. While there bearings and other parts can be checked and adjusted.

The air cleaner and carburetor should be removed and thoroughly cleaned. If the float valve can be blown through, replace it. Re-assemble and replace with new gaskets, making sure the air cleaner connections are tight. Check magneto points and if signs of burning are indicated, remove and take it to a good service man for checking and greasing. Spark plugs can be cleaned and checked. Replace wires if breaks are found.

Check radiator, hoses and fan belts as well as water pump. Have radiator repaired by a good radiator service man if it leaks. Replace hoses and belts if necessary. Check over the water pump and renew worn parts. Make sure that only water pump grease is used in lubricating pump. It is also good practice to use a rust preventative in the cooling system to prevent corrosion to radiator and block.

Jack up the front wheels and check bearings or end play. Check spindle and tie rod bushings. Replace if worn. New bushings usually have to be reamed to fit. Remove wheels, clean out old grease, replace seals if oaking and re-pack with a wheel bearing grease. They require no further attention for at east 1000 hours. Readjust bearings by tightening up snug and backing off one-sixth of a turn.

Raise the rear wheels and check for end play. Adjust if too loose. By rotating a rear wheel the adjustment and condition of the differential can be determined. There should only be a slight amount of free movement. Change the oil in the transmission and rear ends every 1,000 hours of operation. Use grade of oil indicated by instruction book. If transmissions or rear ends are noisy they should be overhauled in a shop equipped for such work.

In the fall or during the check-up, the tires (if on rubber) should be washed and painted with a good tire paint. This helps to preserve the rubber and prevents checking.

During operation and before overhaul, clean the motor down with solvent. Machinery lasts longer and looks better if it is kept clean. During operation, change oil at 100 hours; grease as indicated by instruction book. The valve clearance should be checked every 200 hours of operation. If tractors are kept clean and thoroughly maintained while in the field they will last longer and give better satisfaction.

PRODUCE NEW CARS WHEN WAR IS WON

New motor cars will not be on the market until the latter part of 1945, if then, according to information received by officials of the Alberta Motor Association.

One thing is certain, officials say. That is that the production of new cars will not commence until the war with Germany is over, and effective enemy resistance is overcome.

When the war ends, manufacturers engaged on war contracts can be released so that they can swing over to the production of new cars. Some manufacturers say they can make the swing over in two months while others estimate four to six months.

Thus, taking a most optimistic view, it appears that new cars will not be coming on to the market before late next year, though of course work will depend on the progress of the war.

It is apparent that so long as fuel and tire rationing has to be carried out and the present shortages exist, there is little likelihood of new cars being made.

The exterior design of the next cars manufactured may show alterations but fundamentally they will be the same as the 1942 model.

RYLEY RED CROSS MEETING

Ryley Red [illegible] its annual meeting in the Lutheran dining hall on Friday, January 12th at 2:30 p.m.

"WELCOME TO WAR BRIDES" FROM THE U.K.

"How do Canadian women dress in winter?" wonders the pretty English wife of a Canadian signalman. "How much luggage can I take to Canada with me?" asks the Scottish bride of an RCAF navigator. "What kind of a house will I live in," "Can I get a job?" Can I take any money with me?", there are the hundred and one questions that race through the thoughts of thousands of British women coming to Canada with their husbands or to join their husband's people.

The Department of National Defence and the Wartime Information Board have co-operated in a booklet in which these questions and many more are answered. Details of travel, customs, and immigration regulations, luggage, money are dealt with. The constitution of Canada is explained, the provinces discussed, distances between cities mentioned. Details of weather, Canada's war effort, shopping, schools, churches, sports, clubs, all come in for an explanatory word.

A glossary is included which explains among other things that while in the United Kingdom the word suspenders denotes garters, in Canada it [illegible] braces; that a draper's shop is called a dry goods store; that a geyser is a hot water heater; that petrol is known as gasoline.

Called "Welcome to War Brides" this booklet will be distributed throughout the United Kingdom and will be available to every bride of a Canadian serviceman who contemplates making the trip out to her fu-[illegible]

WIN LONG FIGHT FOR COAST OUTLET

Recent announcement that the 140-mile gap between Jasper and Blue River on the Jasper highway between Edmonton and Vancouver has been opened, has created gratification on the part of officers of the Alberta Motor Association.

The A.M.A. has for some years advocated the completion of this road, as it provides a new connection between Alberta and the Pacific coast.

R. A. Godson, president of the A.M.A., has pointed out that this means a new circle route will be created, as those going to the coast by the northern route can return by the southern connection, or vice versa. Furthermore, the new road means that there will be a year-round connection between Alberta and the coast.

While the new road is not yet open to general traffic, it is expected that it will be in readiness by next summer for tourist traffic. Certain graveling and other work will be done in the interval.

GAS STRIKE AT JUMPING POUND

An interesting gas strike has been made at Jumping Pound, eight miles south-west of Cleichen, west of Calgary. The Madison lime was reached at 9,618 feet and drilling was resumed after running the casing to 9,647 feet. At 9,746 feet a definite porous [illegible] encountered which, it was thought, was a continuation of the upper porous zone of Turner Valley. The porosity was still evident at 9,816 feet. It is hoped that this will be established as wet gas. It is too early as yet to make statements or predictions with any degree of certainty. Should a new oil field be introduced in this area there will be unlimited possibilities for the extension of oil production in Alberta from this one new field alone.

SALT AT VERMILION

The important salt discovery 14 miles south of Vermilion is a valuable addition at the close of the year for the history of Alberta's mineral development in 1944. The strike was made at a depth of 3,400 feet and a salt bed of over 400 feet in thickness is reported. It is early yet to know the extent of the new field and analysis of the product is not yet available. A most desirable feature would be the extension of the field in a northerly direction to come within a closer distance of the C.N.R. at Vermilion and the C.P.R., 15 miles to the north. In the meantime the discovery is outstanding in importance and further information will be awaited with much interest.

BY PETE HOLLAND

We are in receipt of a cutting from an English newspaper lauding the exploits of a field company of Royal Canadian Engineers, who, under heavy fire took their trucks and bridging equipment and rescued the 2000 men, all that were left of the "Red Devils of Arnheim," they were the division of paratroopers landed behind the Nazi lines and were cut off and were gradually being decimated. Our boys undertook the job of rescuing the remnants and did it. The citation reads: "That all ranks displayed a high quality of courage and determination against great odds." A boy well known to many of you was in this affair, namely, Earl Brown, who drove one of the trucks, but never a word from him about it, his letters read that he is just wandering around Belgium and Holland. Yes, just!

Another local boy writes in much the same strain. He enlarges on his little trip to Rome and other places of interest, but very little about the "job" except how dearly he loves a tool he once hated to wit, a shovel! which humble implement he reckons he owes much. He did however mention that his blankets laid on some bushes to air, were riddled with M. G. bullets from a strafing plane, and another time that his equipment laying in a pile was likewise chewed up with bullets. He remarks how lucky he was not to be using either at the time. This young man is Mr., or I suppose we should say Gunner Robert Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Scott of Lindbrook.

"Up the line with the best of luck" from all of us at Lindbrook.

Hope was expressed that more ladies would take out sewing and knitting to be done at home. Special praise was accorded country contributors of work, one lady whom the organization had never met proving herself an example by her generous and excellent contributions.

The full slate of officers and executive was re-elected for another year.

Farm Machinery Repair School Progressing Well

The farm machinery and tractor repair school, now in its second week at Tofield is progressing very well indeed. Upon invitation the editor "took in a class" this week and in addition to picking up some useful information about machinery bearings, was accorded a very interesting interview by the instructor, Mr. Herbert Locke.

The school is being held under the direction of the Dominion Provincial Youth Training program, by means of which many Canadian farm youths are being better fitted for a life's vocation of agriculture. The class consists of 20 farm youths and it was easy to see that they were anxious to learn all they could. This is Mr. Locke's seventh season in this work and four or five classes a season take the course. There are two schools, the other being situated in the Peace River country.

Upon the opening of a school the students are given saw filing practice by sharpening a saw, soldering practice by making a jug or pitcher out of an ordinary quart oil can. Spout and handle complete is added and a neat job done. Work benches are made and forms constructed so all may sit and see the charts and blackboard. Classes are in session for six hours each day and punctuality is insisted upon. Classes consist of a lecture period and a working period. From the simple soldering practice, lectures and work proceed to more complicated subjects and includes practically all of present day farming machinery problems. As Mr. Locke explained, the farmer today must be well informed along mechanical lines. At first agriculture passed through the man power era, then the animal power era and now has entered upon the mechanical power era. Many phases of agriculture are explained leading up to certain mechanical conclusions. For instance in the study of combines, as applied to various districts, variety of seed and preparation of seed bed is studied.

Mr. Locke is equipped with a good range of tools of high quality, many of which are unobtainable today. There are also numerous expensive charts depicting the construction of numerous farm machines. He also carries a small library of farm practice information. The school is a combination of academic, mechanical and psychological practices. You see, the saw filing and soldering jobs are in the nature of an introduction. Later comes real work and study. Then should the course be concluded a little early and interest lag, Mr. Locke has made an electric fence machine which he describes and has the boys copy. He says "they will work nights making this."

It is the object of the school to turn out better trained farmers so that they in turn may help their neighbors. There is no avoidable absenteeism and correct deportment is insisted upon at all times.

It is most likely that the school will be concluded by a banquet with the Community Club acting as hosts.

Canada Reviews Her Position At New Years

OTTAWA—During this year Canada became the second greatest exporting nation in the world and maintained her place as fourth largest producing country on earth. When it is remembered that, in addition, more than 1,000,000 Canadians are serving in armed forces [illegible] 1944 was record [illegible] the previous achievements of any nation of less than 12,000,000 people.

It took leadership, organization and vision at the top to accomplish this as well as the hard work and earnest co-operation of all Canadians. It required sacrifice overseas and at home. But [illegible] necessary all this is to bear [illegible] a free Canada has [illegible] demonstrated by the desperate German drive into Belgium at a time when victory seemed near.

AGRICULTURAL EXPORTS HIGH

For this year Canada's exports will be about $3,500,000,000, half a billion dollars over the previous peak year of 1943. This is more than $12,000,000 a day and was exceeded only by the United States. Of this huge total close to $1,000,000,000 were agricultural or meat products. One of the features of the year's developments [illegible] Canada's 700,000 farmers in the face of all handicaps, produced 450,000,000 bushels of wheat, kept live stock production at a high level and raised that of poultry and eggs to a new high.

What of after the war? "There will be in the immediate post-war period an urgent demand all over the world for a great variety of essential goods which Canada can supply," says Hon. J. A. MacKinnon, minister of trade and commerce, in revealing the 1944 figures. He adds that, for later peace years, it is a good thing the government has foreseen the problems of maintaining export trade and reconverting production to a normal basis.

DOMINION-PROVINCIAL FARM LABOUR CONFERENCE

Post war farm labour policies and the problem of adequate farm labour supply for 1945 were main points of discussion at the second Annual Dominion-Provincial Farm Labour Conference which ended in Ottawa Friday night. This conference followed the Dominion-Provincial meeting earlier in the week on problems of agriculture.

The labour meetings on farm labour were attended by Provincial Directors of Farm Labour Programs, Regional [illegible] MacNamara [illegible] addressing the opening meeting.

Discussing the farm labour situation in 1944, provincial officials pointed out the importance to farm production of the assistance given by civilian labour and members of the Armed Forces. They stressed the fact that the services of members of the Armed Forces on compassionate leave and assigned to farm duty, as well as the services of the farmers and other civilians moved long distances by the Department of Labour through arrangement with the railways had without a doubt resulted in a much greater farm production than would possibly have been the case otherwise.

The provincial representatives from all nine provinces expressed the hope that the Dominion-Provincial Farm Labour Agreements would again be put into effect for next year. (Under these agreements the Federal and Provincial Governments share the cost of recruiting, transporting and better utilizing the services of farm workers within the province while the Dominion [illegible] takes to [illegible] provincial [illegible] farm labour.)

Some of the provincial representatives stated that a continuance of the Dominion-Provincial farm labour policy after the war would be of great assistance in reconstruction inasmuch as it would facilitate the return of farm workers from war industries, and the return and placement of ex-servicemen on farms.

Arrangements for the farm labour conference were in charge of G. V. Haythorne, Associate Director of National Selective Service; T. B. Pickersgill, Assistant Associate Director; and H. R. Hare, Agricultural Advisor of the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

The Birth Of The Alberta Wheat Pool

Charles A. Hayden of Vernon, British Columbia, editor and manager of Country Life in British Columbia, furnishes some interesting facts regarding how the Alberta Wheat Pool came, in writing in a letter addressed to the editor of the Alberta Wheat Pool Budget. At the time the pool was organized Mr. Hayden was managing editor of the Calgary Herald. His letter is as follows:

"Reading your interesting article in the Alberta Wheat Pool Budget on the Alberta Wheat Pool being 21 years old, I noted mention of the pioneering which Alberta farmers did in respect of the Alberta Wheat Pool back in 1923.

I notice your reference to the Calgary Herald and Edmonton Journal bringing Sapiro to Alberta. Actually the credit for that belongs to Percy Woodbridge, the former secretary of the United Farmers of Alberta and a lifetime farm co-operator.

Percy came to my office at the Calgary Herald and told me that Sapiro was coming to Western Canada and would have, he figured, three or four open days. Percy was quite sure that if we wired Sapiro we could secure him for a meeting, or series of meetings, at which he could discuss co-operative marketing by primary producers.

"I laid the matter before Col. J. H. Wood, managing director of the Herald, immediately, and his prompt reaction was 'Wire Sapiro at once and see if he will come'. So, the wire was sent to Sapiro and his reply was he would be glad to address meetings in Alberta on certain dates. The Calgary Herald concluded arrangements with Sapiro on the distinct understanding that the arrangement was not to be regarded as a newspaper stunt, but entirely as a contribution to the grain growers' effort to secure fair prices.

"H. W. Wood of the United Farmers of Alberta, and also Premier Greenfield were contacted with the result that a big meeting was held in the Horse Show Building in Calgary and later, through the good offices of the Edmonton Journal, similar co-operation was given in central Alberta.

"Sapiro was very fair about this whole matter, because when the Calgary Herald asked him for his bill he said there was not any except a few dollars' hotel expenses.—Wheat Pool Budget.

WHEN IODINE LOSES POTENCY IN SALT

Iodine is an important element in the growth of animals, and for some time studies have been in progress [illegible] of iodine in salt under various conditions. [illegible] placed outside during summer pasture conditions lost iodine completely at the end of [illegible] months irrespective of the stabilizer used. Under stall conditions, losses were less rapid, but at the end of 9 months there was very little iodine, and at the end of 16 months there was none present.

When the salt was stored in a cool place in cardboard cartons, there was very little loss after 9 months, and when stored in glass jars, there was no loss at the end of 15 months. From the fact that iodine was lost less rapidly in the winter than in the summer, it is concluded that the combination of moisture and sunlight is one of the factors causing the loss of iodine. From this initial experiment in the laboratories of the Division of Chemistry, Dominion Department of Agriculture it would appear, says the report, that the stabilizers which were used did not appreciably prevent the iodine loss.

WARBLE FLY CONTROL

Planning for Warble Fly Control should start now. Last summer when cattle were being chased by heel flies the subject of control was very much alive. Little could be done at that time except to resolve that all cattle in the herd would be treated before another season rolled around. Much has happened since then. Good resolutions are apt to be forgotten when the source of annoyance is no longer in evidence.

Although the warble grubs are at present out of sight, they are now starting their migration from the throat regions of our Alberta cattle up towards the backs of the animals. In another two months or so they will be forming those lumps or warbles, and the time for action will have arrived. J. L. Englesham, Supervisor of Pest Control, urges that planning be started now. Arrangements should be made for farmers in a community to get together against the warble plague so that a real clean up may be made this season.

Control practised by individual farmers is useful. It will do much to control the pest in a particular herd, but if neighbours will combine their efforts so that all cattle in the vicinity are treated re-infestation will be prevented. Community effort is the only way in which we can expect to combat the warble fly menace on a province wide scale. District Agriculturists will be pleased to advise on methods of Warble Fly control, and will be glad to assist interested members of communities in an effort to encourage total eradication of this pest.

Fast Travelling

Vancouver—In the space of a week, Private Ernest A. "Smoky" Smith, winner of the Victoria Cross for establishing the Amin bridgehead in Italy, had an audience with the King, travelled 10,000 miles by air and was home in New Westminster for Christmas with his family. Actually, the trip by air was covered in 36 hours and though tired on his arrival at Vancouver, his first remarks when he stepped from a Trans-Canada Air Lines plane were "that's the way to get around."

T.C.A. held its passenger plane an hour at Kapuskasing on Christmas awaiting arrival of an RCAF plane which carried Smith across the Atlantic.

Nutritional Anaemia In Swine

The present is a particularly hazardous period in swine production and a little thought and preparation now may result in the saving of the lives of many pigs that would not otherwise reach market age. Many farmers have fewer sows to farrow this year, and an increased effort will be required to save as many of the remaining litters as possible.

As with all diseases, prevention of nutritional anaemia is much preferable to attempted cure. Pigs once affected may not make a satisfactory recovery even though treated. They usually remain stunted and unthrifty or die from other causes.

Since nutritional anaemia is due to a lack of iron in the sows milk it would appear that prevention would consist of feeding iron to the sow. Unfortunately this is not the case. The amount of iron fed to the sow does not influence the amount in her milk. It is an excellent practice to feed some form of iron to all sows during their gestation period, states Dr. R. Walton, Extension Veterinarian since this may result in an increased amount of iron being stored in the bodies of the little pigs before birth.

Sufficient iron cannot, however, be stored in this way. Iron must be fed to little pigs individually, and possibly the best method at this time of the year is to administer reduced iron. There is danger in overdosing with reduced iron but that amount which covers a dime is approximately the dose for two pigs. The iron should be placed on the tongue of each pig, born between October and May, on the 5th, 10th and 21st days after birth. When the temperature is above freezing, sods thrown into the pen is another satisfactory method of providing iron.

WHEAT SURPLUS

Mr. George McIvor, Chief Commissioner of the Canadian Wheat Board, in addressing the Alberta Wheat Pool convention at Calgary on December 6th, stated that there will be a demand for every bushel of Canadian wheat which can be transported to the seaboard before the opening of navigation next spring. The Canadian wheat carry-over, which 352 million bushels last July, may be down, he stated, to 300 million bushels by next July. Canada has the last remaining wheat surplus in the British Empire. The United States will import large quantities of Canadian wheat in 1945, but not as large as the 110 million bushels of last year. Demands from other countries will, however, make up for the lessened exports.

RENEW CONTRACT

Montreal—The Canadian National Railways will renew its contract with the Sperry Company to have their rail detector cars travel over 14,732 miles of track during 1945, it is announced by N. B. Walton, C.B.E., executive vice-president of the C.N.R.

The work of these cars, which contain electrically operated mechanisms is to discover faults in steel rail not discernable by the human eye. In operation they move slowly along the track and when a flaw is discovered the mechanism records it on a chart and marks the rail with a dab of white paint. The defective rail is immediately replaced.

The C.N.R. was the first railway in Canada to operate detector cars over its lines.

WORLD OF WHEAT

By H.G.L. Strange

REGISTERED SEED WHEAT—WHAT IS IT?

Many people are puzzled by the words REGISTERED SEED. "What does it mean?" they ask.

Let us take an example. Canadian wheat is the highest quality wheat in the world. This high quality does not come from the soil and climate of our prairies alone, but is mainly the result of high milling and baking values that have been bred into certain varieties. It is obvious, therefore, that a crop of wheat should consist of one or the other of these good varieties. The Registered tag on a sack guarantees that the seed is really of the good variety indicated, and that it does not contain mixtures of other varieties. When a farmer sows Registered seed, therefore, he is assured that he will produce a crop of wheat that contains all the high qualities that the plant breeders have bred into that variety.

Both the growing fields and the seed in the sack are inspected, and on each sack is placed a Government Certificate, and the sack is sealed. It takes extra care and so costs extra money to produce Registered seed. The farmer should not think of the extra cost of the seed, but only of the extra cost per bushel of the crop he will harvest. This will be, on the average, around 3 cents a bushel, bringing to the farmer, however, a return of many times the extra cost of the seed.

THE LITTLE FARMER

Much has been said and written about the volume of production and the efficiency of large farms. In fact concern has been expressed over the likelihood that the small farms will disappear altogether. Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, largest farm organization in the United States, thinks otherwise. When asked about the future of the small farms, Mr. O'Neal said "We are always going to need that little farmer. Without him we would go naked and we would starve."

Rev. Dr. W. J. Gallagher, M.A., B.D., D.D., secretary of the recently organized Canadian Committee of the World Council of Churches, is shown here at a CBC microphone in Toronto as he broadcasts his weekly budget of "World Church News". He is heard on Mondays at 3.30 p.m. over the Trans-Canada network. Dr. Gallagher reports everything from church conferences in this country to the part Christian youth is playing in the resistance movement of occupied countries, using only current, topical material for his fifteen minutes on the air.

BLACK WIDOW SPIDERS SHIPPED FROM ALBERTA

Edmonton—A dozen or more Black Widow spiders which were shipped from Alberta have arrived at Truro, N.S., to be added to the collection of insects at the Provincial Agricultural College there, according to word received at the Canadian National Railways offices in Edmonton. The spiders were accompanied by two cases of the common variety of insects native to Alberta.

The Black Widow spider has the reputation of killing off her spouse immediately after mating. In some cases the bite is fatal to human beings, but generally the victim survives after suffering intense pain.

RAILWAYMAN MILKS TRAVELLING COWS

Sarnia, January 2—A railwayman has to be a versatile chap. Take Stanley Smith of Sarnia, for example. He is in charge of the Canadian National Railways freight sheds and is an alderman.

The other night he responded to an emergency call and assumed a new role. Twenty cows had just arrived by train and hadn't been milked for twenty four hours. Somebody had to do the job before morning so he climbed into the stock car and rolled up his sleeves. Sitting on a small box he milked the twenty cows single-handed and finished the job shortly before 1:00 a.m.

26,000 BRITISH BRIDES OF CANADIAN SOLDIERS

Winnipeg—Red Cross officials estimate that some 26,000 Canadian soldiers serving overseas have married British girls and that all of these wives will be coming to Canada to live.

A great many have already arrived. The Canadian National Railways has been host to 7,000 British war brides and their 1,500 children, and has operated 21 special trains since the first in April, 1943, of the first group from overseas. The trains, referred to as "homes on wheels" even have clothes lines strung up for the babies' washing.

"Thanks a Million"--They All Say

To The Ketchamoot Ladies' Aid
Dear Friends,

Many thanks for your very welcome parcel which reached me last week. It had been damaged in transit but had been repacked and everything reached me O.K. Thanks again and I wish you all a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Your old Neighbor,
Albert.

Dear Mrs. Sears,

I wish to thank you on behalf of the Ketchamoot Ladies' Aid for the parcel which I have received from you.

Foodstuffs from home are most welcome over here now as we do get slightly tired of the usual army rations. This last few days we have been getting some fresh foodstuffs in our rations which has improved them a great deal, but we still enjoy the meals which we prepare ourselves from our parcels from home.

It looks very much as though we are going to eat our Christmas dinner over here instead of at home as we were all hoping to do when we landed in France, but we will overlook that as it is practically a certainty we will be home early in the coming year.

Right now I am quite fortunate in being billeted in a lovely Dutch home where the people look after me as if I was one of the family. Fortunately the oldest boy and girl talk quite good English so I'm getting along quite well. I sure hate the thoughts of having to leave.

This is a very picturesque country. I have managed to get hold of a couple of souvenirs which I am sending home to Mae and Mildred. One is a pair of wooden shoes all nicely painted with the Dutch Flag on them. They are quite nice. The other is a swell piece of handiwork.

Will say "cheerio" for now, once again thanking you for the parcel.

Yours truly,
Wendell.

Mrs. Sears,

Santa Claus has started delivering his parcels early this year as I received the one you people sent today.

It had been damaged in transit and was repacked by the Cdn. Postal Corps. Everything that was listed arrived in good condition.

I wish to take this opportunity in thanking you people very much and wish the Ketchamoot Community a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. Hope to be there to help celebrate the next year's Christmas.

Gordon Williams.

Dear Mrs. Sears,

The parcel from the Ketchamoot Community arrived here yesterday. All I can say is thanks a million. Sounds pretty flat but I never seem able to express the way I feel. I only wish it were possible to send you a movie of an evening after a parcel arrives. We have a feed, usually most of the Signal Section of the troop trains out and for an evening we forget that we are miles from God's country. The evenings are long now and there is little to do and a get-together helps out a lot.

I always feel that but for the letters and parcels from home, we would be a woe-be-gone bunch of lads. So even though I can't find the right words to express myself I hope you will understand just how much I appreciate the parcel.

The weather here has been for some 3 weeks quite good but cold. Believe me, I'd sooner take Alberta at its worst. We had snow about 3 weeks ago, not right in the valley where we are but all the surrounding hills and mountains were white. We had a rain storm in the valley. It's all cleared off the hills but the mountains still have a white cap. Everything is pretty now, it's almost what we'd call Indian Summer, the leaves turning color, the hillsides are all colors and the sky on clear days is so very blue. Even the mud has dried up a bit, for a while there it was a terror. Never again will I figure we have much mud in Canada. About a month ago the mud was 6 to 8 inches deep on the roads and the fields almost a quagmire, the ditches full of liquid mud, rather nasty when old Jerry was slinging pig iron over and a feller had to find a hole, but at times like that a little mud means very little.

It's over a year now since we got here, this country I mean, and I can't say that I like it any better now although I don't seem to notice the smells so much. Of course the north can't be compared with the south. They are far more modern up here, seem to be better educated and while still far behind Canada they are out of the dark ages, while south they still plow with a wooden plow if they possess an ox or a mule, if not they use an implement that might have been the great great great grandfather of the hoe. At our present position we have met several people that speak English, most of them spent several years in the States. Its a treat to talk with a native that can understand a fellow, this business of using the odd word and lots of gestures is alright but it gets pretty tiresome. It's fairly easy to understand what they are talking about because they use their hands like the French and the odd word here and there helps to shape their story, but to convey what a feller wants to is a different thing, guess my hands don't act right.

Haven't seen any Tofield boys for a while except of course, Chris Berdild, who is in this Regt. and a chap named Martin, who tells me he lived in Tofield. He is attached to this regiment.

Well, thanks again for the grand parcel.

Yours sincerely,
Frank Dunham.

Ketchamoot Community Club,
Dear Ladies,

I received the lovely Christmas parcel that you so kindly sent me, which I appreciate very much indeed. Joe and I are both fine. We hope to be seeing you all soon. Once again I thank you for the parcel.

Sincerely yours,
Eddie Romanison.

Survey Questionaires

The thousands of questionaires to be distributed to Albertans next week are designed to accurately determine the direct and indirect job-making potentialities of farmers, householders and businessmen in the immediate post-war years.

Distribution of the questionaires will start Monday and Reg. Rose, survey manager of the task set out by the Alberta Post-war Reconstruction committee, has stated that each questionaire form will be followed up by a personal interview. The distribution of questionaires and interviews will be done by the hundreds of volunteer workers all members of public-spirited organizations lending their complete support to the survey plan.

All answers given on the questionaire forms and those given verbally to interviewers will be kept in strict confidence and will only be used in bulk with answers given by the other hundreds of farmers, householders and businessmen. Each name is protected by a code number known only to committee members and workers.

Not every Alberta citizen or farmer will be canvassed in the survey. But the committee has stressed the importance of every citizen knowing beforehand some of the details of the questions that will be asked in case he is one of the thousands approached in the survey. Knowing generally what will be asked of him, the farmer, householder or businessman can prepare his answers just that much more accurately.

Householders will be asked to list their planned post-war expenditures on such things as home building, household equipment and appliances, furniture, clothing and other details. They also will be asked for information on how they plan or hope to finance the purchase of these items either through savings, current income, instalment credit or borrowing.

It also asks householders information on servicemen members of the family and what occupation various adult or near-adult members hope to carry on after the war.

Farmers will be asked to give their post-war plans for their farms including expenditures, possible expansion and for a listing of the post-war plans of other members of the family. They will be requested for detailed facts on present farm equipment and on that they hope to obtain in the immediate post-war years. Their planned financing of this also will be asked.

Alberta businessmen, both large and small, will be asked for the most detailed questions. The survey seeks to learn salary schedules paid, number of employees, number of servicemen employees returning, what type of employment can be offered disabled veterans and the number of additional skilled workers required to operate the business at full capacity.

Other questions to the businessmen will seek out their planned business expansions after the war and if it involves new buildings or extensions to present plants. Other general questions deal with planned purchases of equipment, what various types of equipment will be sought and how all this will be financed.

Each set of questions on each questionaire is a cross-check on answers given to other questions. For instance: The committee can judge fairly accurately whether or not a farmer's equipment purchasing plans will work out by comparing his plans with his present financial standing and what he has tucked away in Victory Bonds and other savings.

In this way the survey management hopes to gain a mass of information not only useful for post-war plans but also information that will be thoroughly correct. If it is accurate, then the committee can accurately assess Alberta's post-war future by compiling details of the survey.

Detailed instructions have been given to each volunteer canvasser in the province. He knows what is wanted in the survey and his questions shall be answered with complete co-operation.

The Mighty Littles

A nameless man, amid the crowd
That thronged the daily mart,
Let fall a word of Hope and Love,
Unstudied from the heart;
A whisper on the tumult thrown,
A transitory breath,
It raised a brother from the dust,
It saved a soul from death.
O germ; O fount; O word of love!
O thought at random cast!
Ye were but little at the first,
But mighty at the last.

APPLES IN LAKE

Kelowna, B.C., Jan. 9—Two hundred tons of apples from the Kelowna crop this year are in storage in Okanagan Lake. The Canadian National Railways granted permission to the B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. to use its pier at Okanagan Lake for the experiment in an effort to save apples which otherwise would rapidly deteriorate due to shortage of storage space.

Herring net, 600 feet of it, is attached to the pier piles and weighted with lead. The net lies at a depth of ten feet and covers the area under the pier. Culls, or low grade apples are being used and if they are saved by water storage, they will be used for dehydration and other by-products and if the experiment is unsuccessful the loss will be negligible.

Revolving belts will go down into the water corral, pick up apples and bring them into receptacles on the pier when required.

FUEL SAVING

Whatever may be the temperature on the day you read this item the fact remains that for the current coal year to the end of October the weather has been about 20 per cent warmer than last year according to the weather records. About 15 per cent of the year's degree days have now expired. If you do a little arithmetic and multiply 15 by 20 you will see that a saving of about 3 per cent of all coal used for heating purposes should have been made to date. If you have an automatic stoker you've probably saved at east 15 per cent in coal over the neighbour who is still firing his furnace by hand—in dollar saving considerably more because of using lower-cost, higher-heat-value bituminous coal. Now if in addition you have weatherstripped, installed storm doors and windows, cleaned your heater and added a dependable thermostatic control you have saved considerably more than the 3 per cent. You may even have saved enough to offset your curtailed supply. By doing all these things to conserve fuel and by having the weather-man co-operate with warmer than normal weather, we may get by in better fashion than the pessimists were forecasting last summer. Let us hope so.

New Zealand Facts

Of New Zealand's 66,300,000 acres, 43,000,000 are occupied, and little of the unoccupied area is suitable for agricultural uses. Fifty-four per cent (about 23,000,000 acres) of the occupied land is unimproved and is utilized mainly for low-grade grazing. Almost 20,000,000 acres are cultivated, of which 17,000,000 acres are in sown grasses and clovers. Thus 40,000,000 of New Zealand's 43,000,000 acres of occupied land are utilized for pastoral occupations.

Sheep farming covers about 30,000,000 acres of the occupied land, and 3,500,000 acres are in dairy farms. A small area is devoted to market gardening, fruit growing, poultry farming and nurseries; mixed farming accounts for the remainder of the occupied land. Of the total rural population engaged in farm work, over 40 per cent are dairy farmers, and about 26 per cent sheep farmers. The others are engaged in various kinds of mixed or specialized farming.

A large part (about 70 per cent) of the farm production is for export. The important export items and the percentage of their total production exported are as follows. Butter, 81 per cent; Cheese 94; lamb, 96; pork, bacon and ham, 60; mutton, 54; beef, 43; and wool, 96 per cent. This specialization in the production of a few commodities for export has given New Zealand the world's highest foreign-trade figure per capita. — Wheat Pool Budget.

PROSECUTIONS UNDER N.S.S. CIVILIAN REGULATIONS

Failure to comply with National Selective Service Civilian Regulations resulted in the prosecution of 149 persons during the month of November, according to a statement issued by A. MacNamara, Director of National Selective Service.

A total of 111 of the accused were convicted as compared with 122 convictions in October. Eight more charges were laid in November than in the previous month.

Employers were convicted in 11 cases, most of them being charged with engaging workers without permits. Of 69 employees convicted, a majority were charged with leaving employment without giving notice of separation, quitting "designated" high priority work without Selective Service permission, or failing to accept high priority work when referred by a Selective Service officer.

Thirty-one conscientious objectors were convicted of failing to follow a direction to report to an alternative service work camp.

At December 1 a total of 343 cases were still pending—23 being charges against employers, 166 against employees and 154 against conscientious objectors.

SELF-SACRIFICE

Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, leading U.S.A. ace in the last war, who has traversed most of the war fronts in this war, delivered an address after a sumptuous banquet tendered him in New York. The following is an extract from his speech:

"It is beautiful and wonderful that you can hold this dinner, enjoying a beautiful dinner with beautiful food and drink and music. I look back to Russia. There are no hotels like these in Russia, the drapes are in rags, the carpets are in rags. They don't think of butter, they don't think of sugar. Russia is the only place in the world where men, women and children are all out for the war. Because they know there is no choice. It is that or death. I admire Russia. I have no respect for communism and never shall have, but I can't help but admire Russia. They've lost ten million men and better, over six million battle casualties. What do we have? A little over half a million. That's the difference between two wars, the difference between us. . . . There are not enough of us doing enough at the same time. If everyone donated the costs of his cocktails and bridge parties it would still not be enough. I cringe when I see the gaiety, the complacency, the selfishness and greed and indifference that still exist here at home. And I know you don't understand. If we have the heart America is supposed to have, you should understand, but you still don't understand." — Wheat Pool Budget.

Canada's Efforts Against Bovine T.B.

Dr. Mark Barker, Veterinary Director General of Canada, in an address at the recent meeting of the American Veterinary Medical Association at Chicago, gave an outline of the history, progress and achievement of bovine tuberculosis eradication work in the Dominion.

Bovine tuberculosis control in Canada, said Dr. Barker, went back almost to the time when tuberculosis was first discovered. As early as 1896, a free tuberculin testing service was made available to Canadian herd owners. Later in 1902, this assistance was limited to furnishing the tuberculin free of charge to the veterinarians employed by the stock owners, provided a report of the results of the test were made to the Dominion Department of Agriculture. About that time (1903) the permanent marking of the right ear of reactors with the letter T was adopted and the exportation of such cattle prohibited.

In 1905 the Department adopted what is known as the Supervised Herd Plan, under which herds are tested free. The plan is still in effect. Up to the present, about 33,700 herds containing approximately 401,400 head of cattle are being dealt with for bovine T.B. and there is a waiting list of nearly 3000 herds, all from outside the tuberculosis-free areas.

The next control policy was the Municipal Tuberculosis Order which provided for the testing of dairy herds supplying milk to any town or city that applied for assistance. This policy remained in operation from 1914 to 1933, and it was the first policy in Canada in which provision was made for the payment of compensation for reactors ordered for slaughter.

The next policy was the Accredited Herd Plan, and for the past 25 years there has been a constant and steady demand for the service from the breeders of pure bred live stock. It provides for testing pure bred live stock. It provides for testing pure bred breeding herds, compensation to be paid for reactors ordered for slaughter. At the present time there are 8,303 fully accredited herds, 296 in process of accreditation, and 20 waiting initial test, a total of 8,626 herds, containing about 250,000 head of cattle.

The last control and eradication policy adopted was the Restricted Area Plan which came into operation in 1922. It is under this plan that the greatest progress in eradicating bovine tuberculosis is being made. The first area to be established consisted of 3 rural municipalities in Manitoba, with a total of about 16,500 cattle, the first test having been completed early in 1923. From this small beginning, the work has progressed until today it is estimated that one-half of the cattle in Canada have now been brought under supervision.

Perennial Wheat

Despite the fact that Russian perennial wheat won a place on the CBC coast to coast network, it is not news. Russian plant breeders have, for many years, been investigating the possibilities of perennial wheats produced by crossing wheat with certain species of Agropyron, the genus to which couch grass, crested wheat grass, etc. belong.

Canadian plant breeders, likewise, have produced perennial wheats from the same or similar crosses; but they are not optimistic about the prospect of producing a commercially desirable perennial milling wheat.

In an article such as this, it is impossible to deal adequately with the technical problems involved. Aside from the perennial habit and, perhaps a measure of disease resistance, practically all the characteristics we require in our milling wheats are to be found in hard red spring varieties. The chance of producing a high quality perennial by crossing wheat with Agropyron is so remote that we may dismiss it. Hybrids thus produced belong to a species quite distinct from both parents. Crosses between the new hybrids and our standard varieties are highly sterile and, again, the prospect of success is remote.

Suffice it to say that perennial wheat is probably in commercial production in Russia. It is a fairly safe bet that the quality will not meet the exacting requirements of Canadian and British consumers. The money spent on plant breeding in Canada is mere loose change in comparison with appropriations in Russia. Satisfactory perennial wheat is not an impossibility; but at best it will require plenty of time and money.

High School Hi-lites

A sleigh ride and treasure hunt on December 20, was the reason that so many of the students of Tofield High were going around with bags under their eyes Thursday, December 21. After the treasures were found we rushed back to the school for a "fanfeed" of pork and beans, brown bread and coffee. Santa appeared to hand out some gifts, but we're sorry to note he's not up to his old form (he looked like he hadn't eaten for a week). After some games we broke up shortly before midnight to wend our way home.

The "Stamp Collection" which was mentioned in the last write-up went over very well, with the three forces in the following order: Airforce, Army, and the Navy. However the Army filled it's quota first.

FLASH!! Our editor says the school paper will be out the third week in January. Anyone wishing a copy may secure it through any of the High school students, or contact the circulation staff, Jean Terrie and Betty Stinson.

ALBERTA PROVINCIAL JAN 2

SGT. SWINTON AWARDED M.M.

It will be five years on Wednesday, Jan. 24, since Edmonton's 2nd 61st Field Battery R.C.A., landed overseas. In Italy for the past year or so, the battery has been in the thick of the fighting as part of the 5th Army Field Regiment.

More or less coinciding with the anniversary, comes the news that Sgt. Hugh A. Swinton, Tofield, gunner in the battery, has been awarded the Military Medal. His decoration makes the third for the Edmonton unit. One other N.C.O. has won the M.M. and an officer has received the Military Cross.

The information comes from Bdr. Richard L. Engel, in a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Engel, 10971 120 st. Bdr. Engel, overseas since 1940, has a brother, Gnr. R. Norman Engel, in the army.

Sgt. Swinton, son of W. F. H. Swinton, Tofield, was born in North Battleford, Sask., and moved to Tofield in 1922. He went to public and high schools there and enlisted Sept. 7, 1939, in Edmonton. He played both hockey and baseball at Tofield and since has served in Britain, Africa, and Italy.

He is a grandson of the late Capt. R. H. Swinton, Royal Navy, and a cousin of Maj.-Gen. Sir Ernest D. Swinton, co-originator of the tank during the First Great War.

According to Bdr. Engel's letter, Sgt. Swinton "won his Military Medal when we took up a night occupation last September.

"Jerry gave us some night bombing which set Swinton's self-propelled vehicle on fire. Swinton, by the prompt use of extinguishers and at considerable risk of his life from exploding ammunition or possible exploding of the gasoline tank on the S.P., managed to save the vehicle.

"Not only did his action mean saving the vehicle but a large blaze would have given our position away to the enemy. There were infantrymen waiting to make a surprise attack with us, it was pretty important that nothing should go wrong. Nice work."

Councillor W. Logan Formally Resigns

RESIGNATION ACCEPTED WITH REGRET

At the January meeting of the Council of M.D. of Beaver the resignation of Councillor Logan was accepted with regret by other members of the council. All members spoke highly of Councillor Logan's valuable work on the council and expressed regret that he found it necessary through pressure of private affairs to resign.

The meeting was held at the District's office at Ryley on Friday, January 12th. There were present, Reeve Anderson; Councillors Logan, Lucas, Moen, Ovens and Swabey.

Minutes of preceding meeting were accepted as read.

Mr. W. A. Meissy, District Agriculturist, interviewed council regarding further effort in the control of weeds. He said that quite recently a number of D.A.'s had a conference in Edmonton and the weed problem came up for consideration. Mr. Meissy stated that of four agricultural committees connected with M.D. councils, that connected with the M. D. of Beaver was considered second best. Red Deer rated first. At the D.A.'s conference it was brought out that the Red Deer set up as regards the control of weeds was the best so far, and he, Mr. Meissy, believed it to be a good thing if members of the council could visit Red Deer and confer with the agricultural committee there and learn of their methods. He also thought they would profit by a visit with the agricultural committee at Calgary.

Consideration of Mr. Meissy's suggestion was left until later in the day.

An old age pension applicant was recommended for full pension and two recipients of Mothers' Allowance were recommended for increased allowances, one for the winter months only.

Some hospital admissions were checked.

Letter was read from the Vegreville Municipal Hospital Board stating that the M.D. of Beaver is entitled to elect one member to the hospital board. It was agreed to arrange this.

Letter was read from the Workmens' Compensation Board stating that due to the risk of Municipal employee classification the rate would have to be increased from $3.15 to $4.00 per hundred. There had been three death claims in this classification totalling $30,000.00.

Councillor Ovens moved that consideration of Hon. Lucien Maynard's Provincial Housing Scheme, which was by motion tabled at the last meeting be now taken off the table. Carried.

Letter from Wainwright, calling attention to a meeting to be held at Wainwright on Thursday, January 18th, to discuss new general assessment. On the motion of Councillor Swabey, Reeve Anderson and Deputy Reeve Ovens were authorized to attend.

Letter from M.D. of Eagle. It requested that the original contract between the two M.D.'s regarding the building of roads be carried out. On the motion of Councillor Ovens this matter was tabled until Councillor Giebelhaus, who is spending some time at the Pacific Coast, returns.

Letter from A. E. Allan, manager of Bank of Montreal, Tofield, extending New Year Greetings.

Letter from Soldiers Settlement Board. It wished to purchase a small piece of acreage near Tofield to round out another holding.

Letter from I.O.D.E. headquarters. They stressed the need for books for the armed personnel and said that $17,500 was the I.O.D.E. Alberta quota.

Letter from A. Voiro, road building contractor, soliciting work.

Letter from Dept. of Mun. Affairs in answer to one from the secretary requesting information regarding new assessment. They stated they had no schedule as regards salary for assessor and assistants, but suggested a figure. It was essential, they said, that men engaged know land values.

Concerning some old seed grain accounts, a motion, by Councillor Moen, authorized the Department to pay these off.

The question of handling gopher poison came up for discussion and on a motion by Councillor Moen it was decided that each councillor would arrange for sale of poison within his division. A profit of 5c per can will be allowed.

Letter from Canadian National Railways re weeds on property at Shonts siding. They thanked the council for calling their attention to this and said they had referred the matter to the road master.

On the motion of Councillor Ovens the life of the by-law covering tax consolidation will be extended to the end of March.

Letter from R. P. Spies, Vegreville, requesting information as to which quarter section of land certain buildings were on.

N. J. Karchut wrote asking permission to trap muskrats.

Letter from Mr. E. G. Cole, Edmonton, saying that he had found the water from the Dodds well unsuitable for household use.

Letter from Moen offering

Tofield Goes Hollywood

On Friday last, Mr. S. H. Goodier, Supervisor Jr. Activities and Youth Training, together with Mr. Putnam of the Department of Agriculture visited the Farm Machine Repair School which is now running at Tofield.

Accompanying them was a photographer from the Publicity Bureau and a number of moving pictures were taken of the boys working. A pictorial story of the school was made. The boy signing the application, the class in session with Mr. Locke presiding, working period and other interesting shots as they presented themselves. If they turn out to be good pictures they will be used for publicity purposes and might even be picked up by the National Film Board for showing all over Canada. Tofield goes Hollywood.

I.O.D.E. NOTES

WAR SERVICE LIBRARIES CAMPAIGN

Representatives of the three Services, Navy, Army and Air Force, at a meeting in the office of L. R. La Fleche, Minister of the National War Services, Ottawa, made known the great need of books for their personnel and requested that official recognition be given the I.O.D.E. as the distributor of these supplies.

At the meeting of the I.O.D.E. National Executive Committee in Toronto last November, at which all Provincial Presidents were present, it was decided to change the name from Camp Libraries Committee to I.O. D.E. Service Libraries Committee as our Library Work has now been extended to handle all fictional reading (books) for ships, camps, barracks, air stations, womens' divisions, merchant navy and hospitals. The I.O.D.E. branches throughout Canada are conducting a January 1945 campaign at the request of the federal government to raise $300,000, (three hundred thousand dollars).

The quota for Edmonton is $6000.

The local chapter of the Dr. Tofield Chapter will be conducting their drive on Friday and Saturday, January 26th and 27th, when contributions to this worthwhile cause will be greatly appreciated. Last year's Tag Day was well supported and we are anticipating greater results this year. Thank you.

Delayed On Lake

FOUND BY U.S. SERVICE MAN

On Tuesday morning J. Warner, jr. and helper set out with tractor and bob sled for an island in the lake from which they intended to bring back some stones for building purposes. They left about 8:00 a.m. and intended returning between four and five in the afternoon. By supper time they were not home and J. Warner sr. started out to find them in his car. Unable to travel in the deep snow he was compelled to return.

It was now getting late and Mr. Warner appealed to Mr. Imler to go out with the N.W.U. truck and spot light. Mr. Imler enroute to get the truck met Corporal Taboo, United States service man of Cooking Lake Air Port, who was in town with a tank getting supplies. The tank was also equipped with powerful lights so Mr. Imler asked the Corporal to go out on a rescue hunt which he promptly did.

Quite late at night they discovered J. Warner jr. and helper about 24 miles up the lake. They had had considerable trouble being stuck several times and while not in immediate peril would have spent a very miserable night if they had not been discovered.

For Better Farm Homes

We find trees, shrubs, flowers and lawns around our jails and asylums, but stark and ugly nakedness seems good enough for too many of our homes and schools. With a little forethought and effort and very little cost, the bare surroundings of many farm homes and schools could be transformed into havens of sylvan beauty.

SHELTER BELTS

For Garden Shelter and the Comfort of Both Man and Beast

The Dominion Forestry Station at Indian Head, Saskatchewan, supplies Caragana, Ash, Elm and Russian Poplar trees free of charge. Spruce trees cost one cent each. Applications on their printed forms must be submitted by the end of February. The land must be summerfallowed, and the trees are supplied the following spring.

The Alberta Provincial Forestry Branch, Edmonton, supplies free of charge both evergreen and deciduous trees for replacements or additions to the shelter of natural bluffs or to a planted shelter belt, or for planting around schools and community centres. Application for trees for planting in the spring must be [illegible] before the end of January of that year.

[illegible] Hardy native evergreens [illegible] highly ornamental trees [illegible] may often be dug up [illegible] within reach of most parts of Alberta. Many farmers [illegible] trees, small fruits and perennial flowers, are glad to give [illegible] a start from volunteer plants or divisions.

FRUIT GROWING FOR ECONOMY AND HEALTH

Small Fruits. With shelter belt protection there is no reason why most farms could not grow all the raspberries, currants, gooseberries, and strawberries the family can use. A start can be obtained from nearby neighboring farms.

Tree Fruits. More and more people [illegible] every year [illegible], apples and [illegible] varieties can be grown [illegible]. Ask for "Recommended [illegible] of hardy trees [illegible] and vegetables."

[illegible] circulars and bulletins [illegible] and Beautifying [illegible] and on the "Growing of Trees, Shrubs, Fruit Orchards and Vegetable Gardens," can be obtained from your District Agriculturist.

School and Community Centres. If [illegible] in your community took the [illegible] around your school [illegible] could be treed and grassed to be [illegible] to your district and a worthy example for others.

Please feel free to consult me about Farmstead Planning or any Horticultural or Agricultural matters.

W. A. MOISEY, District Agriculturist

ANOTHER MATTER

When it [illegible] the question of special privileges in taxation, the prairie provinces of Western Canada have suffered more than any part of the whole Dominion through special concessions and tariffs set up for the benefit of the industrial East. Agriculture, being the main industry of the prairie provinces, has had to bear the burden for generations.

A number of years ago the late Hon. [illegible] Rogers prepared a table showing how each province in the Dominion of Canada was affected by the dominion's tariff policy. He calculated that the cost to the three prairie provinces was close to $55 million annually, while the benefit to Ontario and Quebec was over $82 million annually.

The tariff policy Mr. Rogers calculated, cost every man, woman and child in Alberta $26.97 a year, in Saskatchewan $28.16 and in Manitoba $17.25.

This discriminatory tariff taxation of western agriculture has been going on year after year with prospect of any relief virtually nil. How this unfair taxation works out is well exemplified by a southern Alberta rancher whose ranch bestrides the Canada-U.S. border. In the mid-thirties he set out to buy two Ford cars. The one he bought on the Canadian side of the ranch cost him thirty head of cattle while the Ford he bought on the American side cost him fifteen head of the same type of stock.—Wheat Pool Bulletin.

FORAGE CROP SEED DISTRIBUTION

Arrangements are being made to assist farmers in their search for suitable forage crop seed, states N. [illegible] Bentley, Supervisor of Crop Improvement, Alberta Department of Agriculture.

The chief difficulty is not so much shortage of suitable seed, although export demand would seriously affect this if precautions were not taken to reserve supplies for the use of Alberta farmers. The present problem is to get supplies into the hands of those who need them.

To facilitate this, numerous agents are being appointed throughout the Province to whom the farmer can [illegible] his requirements and [illegible] delivery. It is expected that these arrangements will be completed by the end of January, but in the meantime District Agriculturists [illegible] be consulted so that as soon as the agency is set up in any particular district prospective purchasers may place their orders without delay.

Mr. Brockington is heard on the CBC's Trans-Canada Network on Sundays at 9:15 p.m. In a series of fifteen-minute talks, he is recounting his experiences during a tour of the battlefields of France and Italy. He speaks especially to Canadians who have sons and daughters serving overseas and to all who have the welfare of the services at heart.

MALE MINIMUM WAGE ACT

Minimum wages for male employees in Alberta have been increased by a new order under The Male Minimum Wage Act to be gazetted in the first issue of the Alberta Gazette in 1945, according to an announcement this week by Hon. [illegible], Minister of Trade and Industry. The new order will go into effect on February 1, 1945.

The previous order applied to a work week of 42 hours. The new order will apply to one of 40 hours, but the maximum work week of 54 hours will still be permitted.

Wages on a per hour basis have been increased five cents per hour for each of the four recognized classes of worker according to ages.

Under the new order, and assuming that the employee is engaged on a weekly basis or for longer steady period, the worker 19 years of age or over will receive $20.00 per week as compared with the previous $18. Eighteen-year-olds will get $18.50 instead of $16.20. Seventeen-year-olds will get $16.00 instead of $13.50 and those under seventeen will get $13.50 instead of $10.80. The new scales will apply to all workers employed 40 to 54 hours per week. Time and a half will be paid for overtime.

When the work week totals less than 40 hours, the employees will be engaged on a per hour basis. Those 19 or over will get 45 cents per hour instead of 40. Eighteen-year-olds will get 40 cents instead of 35. Seventeen year olds will get 35 cents instead of 30 and those under 17 will get 30 cents instead of 25. Minimum payment under this schedule will be for four hours, even though only a fraction of four hours is worked.

Deductions under the new order will remain unchanged and will be $5.00 per week for 21 meals or 25 cents for a single meal and $2.00 per week of seven days for lodgings or 25 cents per day.

The new order applies to all classes of employees and employers to which The Male Minimum Wage Act applies except where, as in the cases of apprentices, casual workers, commission agents, trade school students, workers under approved contracts, etc., the Board of Industrial Relations has made exemptions.

It is a stipulation of the new order that a bulletin containing the details and issued by the Board of Industrial Relations must be posted where it can be easily read by the employees.

FOOD SUBSIDIES

In Great Britain 214 million pounds is spent annually in subsidies to keep down the price of meat, milk, sugar, eggs, cheese, bacon, bread flour and oatmeal. On a per capita basis this means 1s 9d per person.

This bonusing of British consumers will certainly create a post-war problem. If the bonuses are not continued food prices will likely rise. If food costs go down producers are sure to suffer.—Wheat Pool Budget.

WORD FROM THE WISE

Canadian boys overseas have seen the disastrous effects of inflation in European countries. Urging that we hold down prices at home, "Maple Leaf" overseas army newspaper says, "The greatest enemy of trade and industry, the absolute destroyer of thrift is inflation, and while scarcity remains, price control will have to be maintained for the benefit of both consumer and producer."

DOES THE STORK CARRY RATION BOOK?

No, says the Prices Board. Local Ration Board or branches of ration administration issue new born babies ration books to member of the family, friends or neighbours on presentation of evidence of the baby's birth.

Survey Progress

The huge province-wide post-war survey is in full swing this week and officials of the Alberta Post-War Reconstruction committee have issued an appeal to Albertans for complete co-operation in filling out accurately the questionnaire forms and answering readily the questions of volunteer canvassers.

"This job is for all of us to do," committee officials state. "It is for us to ensure post-war jobs for all who want them. Every businessman, every farmer and every householder being canvassed in the survey should feel that it is his job too. This survey is the first factfinding one to be made provincially to ensure that jobs are available and the importance of its outstanding success cannot be overstressed."

They again emphasized that all answers given on the questionnaire forms and those given verbally to canvassers will be treated confidentially. Findings of the survey are not available to any other department of either provincial or federal governments and the information given by any individual is hidden behind a number—no names are used.

The questionnaires are being distributed to various groups of farmers, businessmen and householders throughout the province so that the complete findings of the survey will be representative of every type of community, of all salary brackets, of large and small businesses.

The committee asks those people involved in the survey to keep uppermost in their mind when answering the questions that the prime purpose of the survey is to build a "workpile" — a reservoir of jobs for returning servicemen and women. The committee believes that if each person canvassed keeps this thought uppermost they will answer the questions in detail, frankly and accurately.

If a representative of the committee has not already called, he may call soon. Each farmer, householder and businessman should be prepared to answer detailed questions about his post-war plans and how he plans to finance those plans.

If the committee can find out these facts it will know where post-war jobs for returning servicemen and women lie and ways and means of increasing employment.

Personal questions will be asked but this is how the committee protects any individual's name from being connected with the answers on the questionnaire: The province has been divided into 25 sectors and each sector numbered. Each town, village or hamlet in the sector also is numbered. Each businessman in the sector is designated by a letter—usually the first initial of his type of business. The questionnaire answered by a businessman does not go under his name. It merely bears the code number made of his sector number, town number and his business letter designation.

Similar shielding code numbers have been worked out for householders and farmers.

Information on farmers is being taken from a sample of 2,000 farms distributed throughout the province. It seeks to discover the changes in farm organization which have occurred in the years of war, to record post-war buying intentions and preferences and to gather suggestions for facilitating the changeover from wartime to peacetime organization on the farm.

The household information is being gathered from 5,000 families in cities, towns, villages and hamlets.

Purpose of the business survey is to secure from firms engaged in retail and wholesale trade, from hotels, restaurants, financial institutions and others, a statement of their plans for employment and a listing of new or deferred maintenance and other projects which they expect to proceed with after the war.

It is hoped to complete this phase of the survey by month's end. Committee officials say this objective can be reached easily if Alberta farmers, householders and businessmen give the survey their complete co-operation.

WHERE TAXES COME FROM

Taxation comes from production. That must be obvious to anyone with even an elementary knowledge of economics. In this province and in Western Canada the great bulk of wealth production is from the soil. Consequently, when all is said, the wealth from the soil must pay the bulk of taxation.

In Alberta approximately three-quarters of the annual wealth production is from agriculture. That means that most people in villages towns and cities get their living from agriculture. In the end, any taxes they pay are finally passed on to the main source of wealth.—Wheat Pool Budget.

Mrs. P. J. Warkentin and new son are home from Edmonton.

We are glad to see Mr. John Bailey home again after his annual season spent in the Packing Plant at Edmonton.

SHEEP PRODUCTION IN ALBERTA

In a recent outline of the live stock situation, J. P. Sackville, Professor of Animal Science, University of Alberta, suggests that sheep producers need not show too much anxiety about the current situation. Although there has been some falling off in prices and demand during the past year, the slightly depressed condition that has struck the sheep and lamb market may be considered to be temporary only.

There has not been, over a period of years, any serious problem as far as a surplus of lamb is concerned, and some measure of protection is afforded by the present floor price on lamb carcasses. Another encouraging feature is that an outlet was provided for a substantial number of lambs (around 125,000 for all Canada) in the United States last year.

Marketings in Canada last year reached approximately 1,000,000 head of sheep and lambs including both public stock yard and direct shipments. Alberta's contribution towards Canada's total marketings in 1944 was between 13 and 15 per cent.

FARM WATER SYSTEMS

There are few investments that will justify their costs better than properly installed water supply and sewage disposal systems. The installation of a water system is an essential part of any farm improvement programme. A recent survey of farm homes in Alberta showed that only one in ten homes have running water, soft water cisterns and sewage disposal. Only four out of ten have any kind of sink.

There is a tendency to regard a water system as a luxury requiring considerable cash outlay with no definite return. If savings in time and energy, as well as increased production of the farm resulting from the availability of running water are considered, the water system will be accepted as a necessity and prove to be a paying investment. According to B. T. Stephanson, Agricultural Engineer, Alberta Department of Agriculture, a farm water system, properly planned and installed, will add greatly to the attractiveness of the farm home and to the health and comfort of the farm family. If progressively installed, it will not overtax the financial ability of the owner.

A leaflet outlining the construction of simple water and disposal systems has been prepared by Mr. [illegible], and may be had on application to the Alberta Department of Agriculture, or from any District Agriculturist.

CANDY BY WEIGHT

Whether kiddies choose bulls eyes or fruit drops as favorite hard-boiled candy, dimes and nickels must buy as much now as they did in 1941 basic period, says Prices Board. In any case, a five-cent bag of candy must weigh at least two ounces and a 10-cent bag, four ounces.

MORE COARSE GRAINS NEEDED

Canada's war effort requires an increased production for this coming season of twelve percent of oats and ten percent of barley. Registered seed will give a higher yield. For the highest quality seed, at reasonable prices, see the nearest Searle Agent.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW!

LONG BEFORE quiz programs became popular there was a common salutation among men, "Hello, what do you know?" and almost invariably the reply would be "Not much!" The "not much" part of the salutation could be merely a reply, or it could, in two short words, actually state the truth. Because, after all, compared to the total knowledge obtainable, the amount the average person acquires is not very large. This was brought home to us this week when one of those men, who for want of a better name, we call new Canadians, dropped into the office and asked us the name of the Premier of Prince Edward Island. We couldn't tell him and immediately consulted a year or two old copy of the Canada year book and were none the wiser for our trouble. There was a personal story behind [illegible] request which we will not repeat here, but the enquiry did show up two things, a political or governmental interest on the part of new Canadians and a lack of political or governmental knowledge on the part of those supposed to possess it. If you feel supercilious about this, try to name the premiers of the nine Canadian provinces off hand, we tried but did not get very far.

For quite a number of years quiz programs have been very popular. Under a number of different guises numerous quiz programs are entering peoples homes via the radio and there is scarcely a magazine but which have a dozen or more questions upon which you may grade yourself, excellent, good, fair or poor. This is a popular diversion for the people of Canada but its importance can be exaggerated.

While general knowledge is of course good to possess, whether it be political, governmental or otherwise, technical knowledge within one's own craft is more important. The population of a country is made up of a bewildering variety of crafts and professions, how good or poor these are individually and in the mass, typifies the degree of quality the products of the country concerned enjoys as compared with the rest of the world. And technical excellence going into everything men grow, make, process or sell, means quality and this in turn means markets. What we mean is that one excellent way a man or woman may serve his or her country is by becoming really good at whatever trade or profession is being followed. Knowledge in this is essential, general knowledge while desirable and good to have, is not quite in the same class. We believe it is more important to a farmer to be able to, say, recognize leafy splurge when he sees it, than to know what the political policies of the Peruvian islands may be. Incidentally we wouldn't know leafy splurge if we saw it either, but we do know it is quite a menace in some parts of the province. So if you don't rate excellent the next time you try a quiz list, don't feel too badly, if you rate good in your own business, you cannot be dumb. Oh yes, the name of the Premier of Prince Edward Island is Hon. Mr. Jones.

PLANNING FOR THE FUTURE—

IT IS BECOMING increasingly evident that the building now used by the M.D. of Beaver as an office at Ryley is too small, more floor space being needed. It will be remembered that the building was formerly used by the former M.D. of Beaver Lake as an office and shortly after the enlarged M.D. of Beaver took over a few feet was added to the front of the building. By an ingenious arrangement of filing cabinets etc., the staff makes use of every bit of floor space but it is plain to be seen that sooner or later a new building will be required. Building is not easy now, materials are still scarce and expensive. After the war materials will of course be more plentiful, but as to cost, nobody knows. In spite of the difficulty of getting all the material required, it is remarkable how many new buildings are being constructed throughout the province. Money being fairly plentiful seems to offset some of the other drawbacks. One hardly dare suggest building now, it is purely a council matter, but certainly serious thought could now be given to a matter that is bound to become in the course of a year or so a pressing problem.

M.D. Beaver . . . .

to lease S.E. 4-14-50-18. Moved by Councillor Logan that this quarter be leased to Mr. Moon.

Letter from Mr. E. A. Moon with reference to the purchase of five acres adjoining his own property. Mr. Moon explained to council why he wished to purchase this five acres. Council seemed in favor of selling this acreage to Mr. Moon but on motion by Councillor Overs decided to write to the Department and find out whether it is lawful for a council to sell a councillor land.

A number of blades for different graders were ordered.

A letter from Councillor Giebelhaus who is spending some time at the coast was read in which he expressed [illegible] regarding the [illegible] housing scheme. There was some difference of opinion regarding this, but after some discussion a motion was passed "that we do not consider it advisable to invest municipal funds in the government housing scheme."

There was some discussion regarding some horses that were impounded last December. Further information is to be obtained.

On the motion of Councillor Overs, service mens tax exemption was granted on S.E. 4-51-21.

Several applications for assessor and assistant assessor were considered.

Moved by Councillor Overs that the matter of appointing assessors and assistants be tabled until the next meeting or at the call of the reeve. Carried.

Some hospital accounts were passed.

Councillor Logan asked for information. He said he had a road work report, but the road foreman will not authorize it but all reports are that the work was done. The road foreman will be further interviewed.

A number of general accounts were passed for payment.

Mr. Fleming of Municipal Supplies Ltd., interviewed Council regarding obtaining a share of the M.D.'s stationery business. He said that a merging of three firms handling this class of work had resulted in considerable saving and that they could give as good service as the Municipal District's Association could. Council favored purchasing through the Association but did not tie the secretary rigidly down to this.

It was decided that for distribution to the ratepayers the M.D. Annual financial statement would be printed in book form using the photographic offset method of reproduction. By this method each ratepayer receives an exact copy of the financial statement as prepared by the secretary and auditor.

Councillor Logan reaffirmed his intention of resigning saying that he regretted very much leaving the council but pressure of private affairs made this imperative.

Councillor Moon moved that we accept Councillor Logan's resignation with deep regret and with full appreciation of much work well done. Carried.

Councillor Logan's resignation will take effect at the end of the council year.

Road mileage reports for 1944 were called for and the following given: Coun. Moon, 30 1-2 miles bladed road, Coun. Anderson, 10 miles constructed road, Coun. Swabey, 2 miles constructed road, Coun. Logan, 5 1-2 constructed, 6 bladed, 6 gravelled.

The council chamber is not any too well suited for the purpose. In winter times at the west end of the room are cold while the reeve and secretary sitting at the east end are far too warm. So Councillor Logan moved that secretary be authorized to buy a circulating heater for the council chamber. Carried.

On the motion of Councillor Swabey, J. Jones will be leased the lower portion of the M.D. office at Tofield for half of the light and gas bills.

Councillor Lucas announced that the U.G.G. desired to purchase a lot at Haight. He moved that a lot be sold to them at $25.00

The suggestion made by Mr. Massey earlier in the day regarding three councillors conferring with the Red Deer agricultural committee regarding weeds was again brought up. On the motion of Councillor Logan a committee composed of Councillors Anderson, Logan and Swabey were appointed.

Councillor Moon moved that the secretary write to the Deputy Minister of Agriculture and explain that a committee will visit Red Deer and Calgary regarding weeds and would appreciate it if the D.A. could go also.

The road building agreement between M.D. of Eagle and M.D. of Beaver again came under discussion. Councillor Lucas moved that secretary write the M.D. of Eagle that we agree that the M.D. of Eagle either sell its interest in the road building outfit or purchase the interest of the M.D. of Beaver. That the council of M.D. of Beaver feel a very grave mistake was made in attempting to make an adjustment by work done with the outfit.

Moved by Councillor Moon that for the year 1944 the cost of operating machinery in Divisions four and five, and that all expenses in connection with the caterpillar tractor, elevating grader, blade grader, No. 311 and No. 20 together with payment on account of purchase of No. 311, be divided equally between Divisions four and five. Carried.

Meeting adjourned.

Soldiers Need Recreation—Any Old Skates?

An urgent appeal for unused skates and boots for the use of members of Canada's fighting forces overseas has been issued by military authorities.

An appeal was made some time ago, but according to a report from Y.M.C.A. headquarters which is in charge of collections, the response to date has been most disappointing.

Skates and boots are needed so that the troops overseas may engage in skating and hockey as recreation.

Anyone having skates or boots not in use which they wish to donate for use of the troops should forward them to the nearest Y.M.C.A. office or to the Auxiliary Services Officer, Military District 13, Calgary.

Arrangements have been made to [illegible] all donations overseas promptly.

LOYALTY

You can't buy loyalty, they say:
I bought it though, the other day.
You can't buy friendship tried and true;
Well, just the same, I bought that, too.

I made my bid and on the spot
Bought love and faith, and a whole job lot
Of happiness, so all in all
The purchase price was pretty small.

I bought a simple trusting heart
That gave devotion from the start.
If you think such things are not for sale,
Buy a brown-eyed pup with a wagging tail.

Considerable progress was made in the elimination of warble flies during 1944 and further progress during 1945 is anticipated. J. L. Eaglesham, supervisor of pest control, advises co-operative community action as the best method of overcoming the ravages of this pest. It is not difficult for a few enterprising farmers to organize a district so that all the cattle therein will be treated and the warble flies eliminated. District agriculturists will be glad to assist in such organization of any community in their districts.

Miss Peggy Morrow spent a day at the parental home.

We are sorry to hear that Miss M. Radena, junior room teacher, had the misfortune of spraining her ankle sometime last week. We hope it isn't too serious and that she'll be back again shortly.

We welcome the Llewellyns who have taken up residence in our community. Ronald, grade IX is the new pupil in the senior room, while Bobby, grade VI is the new pupil of the junior room. We wish them the best of everything in their new home, and the "kids" at school as well.

A Box Social and Dance will be held at the School on Friday, February 16. Tiedemanns will supply the music. Ladies please bring boxes. Everyone welcome, so come on gang!

Grant Kohl is the new proud owner of a guitar.

Farm Mechanics Repair School Closes With Banquet

The dining room of the Royal Alexandra hotel was taxed to its capacity Wednesday evening when, under the sponsorship of the Tofield Community League, a banquet was held. The event marked the end of the three week farm machine repair school which has been in operation at Tofield.

Honorary guests at the banquet in addition to all the young men attending the course, included Mr. S. H. Gandier, supervisor junior activities and youth training; Mr. Scarth, superintendent district agriculturists; Mr. W. A. Moisey, district agriculturist; Mr. Locke, instructor; Mr. H. Catlow, district manager McColl-Frontenac Oil Co.; and Mr. Geo. Dowell of the same company.

The event was presided over by Mr. H. Chandler, president of the Community League who briefly announced the purpose of the gathering and called upon each student to rise and give his name. Immediately following dinner the chairman thanked the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Bray for the fine spread, and called on W. Worton to say a few words of welcome on behalf of the town to the school.

W. Worton said that while addresses of welcome were usually given at the commencement of an event, even if this one was delayed it was doubly sincere. He congratulated the Community League upon their enterprise and thanked Mr. Gandier and his associates for establishing the school here. He assured the students, the instructor and the officials that the town of Tofield officially and unofficially were very pleased and considered it a privilege to have them.

Mr. Locke, instructor at the school, said he was very pleased with the number, quality and attentiveness of the Tofield class. It was one of the best classes he had been privileged to teach. Lectures usually lasted an hour, but frequently due to interest of the students he was compelled to continue for nearly two hours. He had spent a very enjoyable three weeks at Tofield and wished all the students, the community and town in general, the best of good fortune in the future.

Vic Bates, one of the students, expressed his appreciation of the course and on behalf of the students, paid high praise to the instructor. It was with some hesitation that he had joined the class but he felt that the time and effort was more than worth while.

Mr. Scarth, supt. district agriculturists, said he liked to get away from the superintendent angle. He really worked with the D.A.'s. He was pleased to be present and to see at first hand how successful the school had been. He was sure that in Mr. Moisey the district had a good D.A. and congratulated the local organization on their splendid co-operation.

Frank Johnsrud, also a student, spoke a few words in appreciation of the school and in praise of the instructor. He said that in time to come some of the knowledge obtained at the school could be passed on to friends and neighbors. He was sure the students would be pleased to help, if they could, any of their neighbors.

Mr. Moisey said he had just one suggestion to make. He congratulated the Community League on their wholehearted co-operation and requested that local bodies continue to co-operate with the D.A.'s. He said it made a world of difference in putting a project over to have a local body back of it. When a D.A. goes into a town with no local organization it is like something dead. He was very pleased the school had been such a success.

Mr. S. H. Gandier gave an outline of the Dominion-Provincial Youth Training Plan, of which he was supervisor of the Alberta agricultural section. The plan dated from 1937 and he believed had been responsible for much good work. Upon the outbreak of war they were afraid that the appropriations covering this work would be seriously cut, but he was pleased to say that they had not been cut down. At present, due to war conditions, they were short of instructors and of course had not the number of young people to work with as they did in pre-war days. Club work, including various livestock and grain clubs, were a part of the plan, club members ranging in age from 12 to 20. These clubs were helped by various private firms and co-operative enterprises. He congratulated McKenzie on their calf club show and sale last spring. He was pleased to see present a number of former students of Vermilion School of Agriculture, and said that originally there were four agricultural schools in operation but now there was only one, that at Olds. Last year the number of applications at this school was twice as many as the school could accommodate and perhaps some time in the future other schools may reopen. The district agriculturalists represented the Department of Agriculture and carried out the policies of the Department. Two years ago there were only 15 D.A.'s in the province, now there were 26. Giving a brief outline of the work done at the school he said a three bottom plow had been lined up, repair work had been done on two mowers, two binders, two complete tractor overhauls, six half h.p. engines had been put in order, also a 4 h.p. engine and a Chev. auto engine; 14 saws had been filed and 20 tin cans made as a soldering project. There were also 3 home made electric fence machines made and the installation of a lighting system on a farm tractor. There were also four work benches made by the boys and taken home. He thanked the Town Council, the Community League, the Tofield Mercury and all others who had contributed to the operation of a very successful school.

Mr. Catlow and Mr. Dowell of the McColl-Frontenac Oil Company then showed some excellent pictures depicting the uses of the right lubricants on farm machinery. There were also some sport pictures, including a rendition of the National Anthem.

Professor Of Engineering Visits Tofield

Mr. McGregor Smith, professor of engineering at the University of Alberta, accompanied by Mr. S. H. Gandier, visited the farm repair school at Tofield on Tuesday. Prof. Smith gave the boys a lecture stressing the use of modern machinery quoting, "you can't expect to use the methods and machinery of yesterday today and remain in business tomorrow." The professor also stressed keeping a record of hours of tractor operation. It should be known how long a machine took to do a certain job and how much money it took to produce a bushel of wheat. The boys were fortunate in having Prof. McGregor Smith visit them as this is his first visit to a farm machine repair school.

During this session the instructor was presented with a nice shaving kit by the boys. Frank Johnsrud made the presentation and said the boys wanted to show in some small way the high regard in which they held their instructor.

Mr. Locke suitably responded.

United Church Hold Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the congregation was held on Tuesday evening, 23rd January.

The Rev D. K. Allan presided and Mr. J. E. Stinson was secretary.

There was a good attendance and the interest in the reports given was keen and appreciative. These reports of the various departments and organizations of the Church showed increased participation, attendance and generosity on the part of the members and adherents.

The Communion Roll was increased by twenty-eight, twenty-two by profession of faith and six by certificate.

There were twenty-five baptisms during the year.

The pastor had been called upon to officiate at a number of funerals, three of our own members had passed away during the year.

Earl Francis gave a most interesting report on the Sunday School. It is well attended and has a devoted group of officers and teachers. The pupils not only support their own work but give generously to the wider and greater work of the Church. The Junior Choir was thanked and praised.

Betty Stinson, the leader of the Mission Band submitted an interesting report.

The Ladies' Aid report was full of interesting facts in regard to their activities. It has been as busy as ever and showed good financial results for their efforts.

The W.M.S. met its allocation and held helpful and inspiring meetings during the year.

All the reports told the same story of combined interest in the work of the church and increased giving for its ministerings.

As one of the oldest members said at the close "there has never been better, more cheering reports."

The Mission givings were greatly increased. The Minister's salary was also increased. Votes of thanks to Rev. and Mrs. Allan and all the officials and workers were given most heartily and sincerely.

As Mr. Allan closes his ministry here at the end of June, a vacancy committee was appointed to arrange for a successor.

It will be twelve years since Rev. and Mrs. Allan came into our midst on June 30th.

Mr. T. R. Murray was appointed representative of the official Board for 1945.

Messrs. Jack Whyte and Graham Allan were added to the Board of Stewards.

WHAT OFFERS

Shortages of essential goods in Britain have resulted in a barter boom. Newspaper "agony columns" carry fantastic offers, trading luxury for essential. Cross-section of London Daily Mail ads during the past two years includes: "Lady will exchange peach bed linen, pure lingerie silk for honey", "Victorian cheese dish offered for a dozen new handkerchiefs", "appeal for frying pans second-hand suits to cut down for a schoolboy, and men's shirts for making into women's blouses."

WARNING!
CANADA POST OFFICE

NEVER PACK ANY INFLAMMABLE MATERIALS IN PARCELS . . .

MATCHES AND LIGHTER FLUID in overseas parcels have started serious fires. Think what this means. Thousands of bags containing letters and parcels lie deep down in a ship's hold, lurching in a rough sea.

If matches or lighter fluid take fire—AND THEY DO—that means that brave seamen must go into the smoke-filled hold and risk their lives. Thousands of parcels may be destroyed—thousands of men disappointed.

WON'T YOU HELP!

We know that you would not knowingly endanger lives and mail. So think—and then don't put matches or lighter fluid in Overseas Mail.

THE POSSESSIVE INSTINCT—

WHEN THIS EARTH was peopled and dominant characteristics were given out, each animal, including man, was given at least one outstanding trait or instinct. To the lion went bravery; to the tiger went fierceness; to the coyote went caution; to the fox went cunning; to the dog went faithfulness; and to man went the possessive instinct. That bravery, fierceness, caution, cunning and faithfulness and more, are scattered among the human races we know, but separate and towering above all these among men, is the possessive instinct. This characteristic in man is responsible for both the highest and lowest actions of mankind. It can be caressed and made warm by the gentle breezes of love, such as that of a mother for her own child, or it may be fanned by gusts of hate into a white heat of greed, such as when young but mature men rob and torture old and infirm people in order to obtain what money they possess. Or again the possessive instinct may become a cold and calculating science, in which while no actual dishonesty is practised, the results are a distressing and shameful unfairness accruing to some, while from the same source to others go swollen profits and amassed riches. All mankind has a possessive instinct and it depends upon what proportions of other human qualities are mixed with it as to whether individually it can be classed good or bad. The possessive instinct as applied to a benevolent industrialist is used to good purpose, the products being made and the wages being paid combining for the benefit and increased happiness of many. But when the possessive instinct on the part of an employer result in sweat shop conditions, under paid help and an unsympathetic attitude toward employed personnel, the result to say the very least is negative.

Last week and this week newspapers from coast to coast are commenting upon a court case in which a 22 year old bank clerk was sueing the Canadian Bankers' Association for $10,000. In May 1942, Roger Lepine shot and fatally injured a bank bandit who attempted to rob a Montreal branch of the Provincial Bank of Canada, a bank operating entirely within the province of Quebec. In the evidence it was brought out that Lepine received a salary of $11.00 per week and for risking his life to protect the bank's property, the bank for whom he worked gave him the princely bonus of $50.00. Mr. Justice Loranger, before whom the case was tried, was very caustic in his remarks, saying:

> 'It was due to plaintiff's courage that no theft was committed. Defendant cannot be serious in pleading that, as it is the duty of all bank employees to protect the bank in which they are engaged, therefore plaintiff has no right to claim this reward . . . . .
> In the light of the pitiful remuneration which plaintiff received—$11 a week, or $44 a month—the court stands astounded. . . . . . We may, perhaps, find here one of the reasons for numerous quarrels between capital and labor."

Apparently chartered banks relegate to the Canadian Bankers' association the right to pay or not pay any particular reward, which was why the Canadian Bankers' Association was sued and not the bank for whom the clerk worked. In dismissing the action the judge said:

> "As a matter of equity and natural justice, Lepine ought to receive the recompense he sued for . . . . . A judge is a slave to the law and must disregard all sentiment or sympathy in face of the ruling law."

As far as one can learn, the chief cause of the dismissal was because "the claim was not justified because there had been no arrest or conviction." As the clerk shot and killed the bandit "no arrest or conviction" appears to be pretty weak argument.

It was to be expected that the Financial Post, Toronto, would come to the assistance of the Bankers' Association and present to a public already worked up, the Canadian Bankers' Association's side of the argument. This it does ably enough, by agreeing "$11.00 a week wins no public support nowadays," and by explaining that most chartered banks pay a much higher figure. But it does favor the Canadian Bankers' Association by saying that the suit of the ex-bank clerk "was not in any sense a demand that the C.B.A. live up to an undertaking; simply a demand for a hand-out." A "hand-out" mind you, but if they want to use that term, who would be more entitled to a "hand-out," than a 22-year-old who had stayed by his gun while risking his life to protect the property of his employer.

There is no good reason for the general public to assume that all Canadian Chartered Banks are sweat shops. On the contrary, certainly those in the west, pay their staffs quite good salaries. At least, once an employee gets out of the junior stage, salaries are sufficient to maintain good homes and raise a family.

A suit like that of the Lepine vs. Canadian Bankers' Association can be the source of much misunderstanding. There is the ever present tendency for the public to jump at conclusions and believe all financial institutions are pre-Christmas dream Scrooges, which however mathematically precise they may be, is certainly not the case. Our opinion is that if the judge in the light of his general knowledge and his opportunity for personal observation, believed the boy was entitled to $10,000 for what he had done, he should have allowed it. The technicality was a weak one, in fact he was d[illegible]

Successful Bacon Show Held In Viking

On January 17th a very successful and very well attended Bacon Show was held in Viking. It is estimated that 225 farmers attended the meeting. The Wiltshire sides produced from Viking area were exhibited. Mr. A. O. Colbert, with the Dominion Livestock Branch, reviewed the gradings of the Viking district and illustrated the results by pointing out the qualities of the various Wiltshire sides on the rail. One, a Wiltshire side, Grade A1, and one C1 were cut and the difference in the slices of bacon was demonstrated. The meeting was asked which slice of bacon they would buy if they visited the butcher shop. Practically everyone agreed that a slice of bacon from A1 carcass was much more desirable than from a C1 carcass.

Mr. A. J. Charnetski spoke on swine management problems. He stressed importance of proper breeding type, also the importance of balanced rations. He showed models of various pig brooders and self feeders.

Mr. W. A. Maisey, District Agriculturist, explained the various literature available for distribution and the farmers helped themselves to all bulletins, plans and charts.

The Viking Bacon Show was sponsored by the Alberta Farmers' Union, Local. Mr. L. Lansing, the president opened the meeting and welcomed all the farmers to the Bacon Show.

FREIGHT RATES THE SAME

Winnipeg, Jan. 22—"For more than two years we have special committees co-operating with our Department of Research and Development studying post-war problems with special reference to new works that might profitably be taken," stated R. C. Vaughan, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, on a visit to Winnipeg.

These studies have also dealt with new types of light, modern equipment, and with means of benefiting service to the public and enabling the railway to operate with greater efficiency and economy.

"Railway expenses have increased at an enormous rate," continued Mr. Vaughan. "The C.N.R. payroll will be $40,000,000 more than in 1944 than it would have been at 1939 rates and materials will cost $25,000,000 more in 1944. Notwithstanding these increases, we have not asked for any increase in freight rates during the war."

Holden Holds Agricultural Short Course

A very successful Agricultural Short Course was held on January 16th in Holden. This event was sponsored by the Holden Chamber of Commerce.

One hundred and twenty farmers attended the illustrated talk on livestock diseases given by Dr. Lloyd Jones. Mr. Harry J. Mather spoke on weed control to one hundred and sixty farmers. Miss Norma Hogg spoke on How to Make the Farm Home Attractive. Forty-five ladies were present.

At the conclusion of the afternoon meeting all the visiting farmers and ladies were invited to the banquet tendered by the Holden Chamber of Commerce. Over two hundred people enjoyed the dinner.

In the evening, Mr. K. C. Hallman gave an illustrated talk on farm planning. With the help of the colored chart he explained the principles that go into the planning of a farmstead. The colored slides illustrated what other farmers and home owners have done to improve their residences.

WHEAT STAGES A COMEBACK

During the years of the depression, when wheat was at a low price; during the drought years when wheat gave a low yield; and in recent years when it was found necessary to reduce sharply wheat acreage, the total value of the prairie wheat crop fell to a comparitively low figure. It was predicted by some that our farmers would have to seek their future revenue from other crops and products than wheat.

According to the latest figures, however, wheat seems to be staging a comeback. For the crop years 1942 the value of wheat produced in the prairie provinces was 261 million dollars, while the value of all other crops combined was 274 million; for 1943 wheat was valued at 270 million dollars and all other crops at 423 million, but for this past crop year 1944 the prairie wheat crop was valued at 450 million dollars and all other crops at 405 million; demonstrating that wheat once more is becoming our major crop.

It is not difficult to prophecy that soon after this war is over, when the demand from abroad for prairie livestock products will tend to decline, that wheat as ever in the past, will again become the main crop upon which prairie farmers will depend for a living.

COMMUNICATION

Dear Mrs. Sears,

I would like to acknowledge the receipt of the parcel which the Ketchamoot ladies so thoughtfully sent me for Christmas. I would very much appreciate it if you would convey my thanks and appreciation to all concerned. It is always a source of great satisfaction to be remembered by the people at home, especially at this time of the year.

I have strong hopes that I may be back home by spring but of course it may turn out to be wishful thinking on my part. Have, of course, finished my first tour and the prospects are of either to go [illegible] or to put in a 6 or 9 months instructional duties here with the possibility of doing a second tour afterwards. If they give me a choice it would be very hard for me to make up my mind. However the air force does not often function that way so we have to be prepared to accept what comes. However, here's hoping that this year will see the end of it all, and we can all get back back where we belong.

I thank you once again,
Yours sincerely,
Allan Har[illegible]

Mr. Samuel Bronfman, the national chairman, will preside. Guests from the Jewish communities of Great Britain, the United States, and South Africa will address the sessions.

The Canadian Jewish Congress was established in 1919 and was reorganized in 1934. It has been actively engaged in exposing Nazi activities in Canada before the war, helping refugees, organizing patriotic activities, advancing Jewish religious education, and co-ordinating the work of the Jewish organizations throughout the dominion.

Ottawa, Jan. 22—Canadian veterans, or their dependents, were enriched by more than $40,000 during the three month period, Oct. 1—Dec. 31, as a result of the efforts of the Legion dominion headquarters service bureau, R. Hale, chief pensions officer of the Legion revealed here today in his quarterly report.

Claims successfully adjusted, including veterans of both the present and the last war or their dependents, totalled 273, with 102 of the adjustments going to present war veterans. The successful adjustments were brought about as the result of 815 interviews between Legion adjustment officers and government officials.

At the end of the year, Mr. Hale's report said, 4,254 active claims were being investigated and adjustments sought. Of this number, 1,785 were claims for dependents' allowance.

His report, Mr. Hale pointed out, did not include claims adjusted by Legion provincial commands.

CANADA AND THE JAP WAR

Though post-war plans are in full swing, some already in effect, national effort is still concentrated on the war. Despite heavier European fighting the RCAF has sufficient air crew trained for all possible developments. Rumors that training of air crew might be resumed appear to be wrong. But Air Marshall Robert Leckie has been overseas discussing plans for use of part of the RCAF against Japan when the big Pacific offensive starts. Hon. Angus Macdonald has also been in Britain conferring with allied leaders on the part the Canadian navy will play in the Pacific. Naval demobilization plans are proceeding as announced, but the agreed number of Canadian navy units will be used against Japan.

HUNGRY FROG

Ernest G. Poole, tourist and convention agent, Canadian National Railways, tells of a fisherman who was surprised to see a large bullfrog snap up and swallow two ducklings. It happened near the mouth of the Bleach River in Northern Quebec.

I.O.D.E NOTES

February 13 is known as I.O.D.E. Founders' Day because in the year 1844, just one hundred years ago, the Foundress of the I.O.D.E. was born. Margaret Polson was her name. She was the daughter of a well-known manufacturer in Paisley, Scotland. She married Professor Clark Murray, a young Scottish professor. Shortly after their marriage he was called to a post at Queen's University in Kingston, Canada, and was later transferred to McGill University, Montreal. Through Mrs. Clark Murray's efforts, the first Chapter of the I.O.D.E. was formed in the province of New Brunswick in 1900. So this year we celebrate our 44th birthday and the 100th year of our Foundress.

Members of the [illegible] Tofield Chapter will be canvassing this week-end in the interests of the War Service Libraries Campaign. We are anticipating good financial returns to enable ships, camps, barracks, air stations, womens' divisions, merchant navy and hospitals, etc., to be supplied with books. This January drive is being conducted all across Canada, so please support this Tag Day as willingly and cheerfully as you did last year. Thank you.

Fred Griswold Passes On

Word has been received of the passing on January 29th, at San Jose, California, U.S.A., of Mr. Fred Griswold, formerly of Tofield. He will be remembered as the dray man here for many years, driving a black team of mares, Bird and Bess. He was very fond of his horses and in the years spent in California, often spoke longingly of the time spent at Tofield which he regarded as home. He has been failing for some long time but was in bed only a week prior to his passing. He leaves a loving wife and two daughters, Bernice and Mildred, both of California. It was at Bernice's home at San Jose, Cal., that he passed on. Burial took place at San Jose cemetery.

One of the mares Fred liked so well is still living, being owned by Mr. McCarthy. Bird was working steadily on the street up to about a year ago. We have not seen her for some long time. Bess was lost from the range a year or so before the Griswolds left Tofield.

ELECTION TIME

As there have been some changes in the procedure of Municipal District elections, the Mercury is attempting in this article to explain the present Municipal election procedure and at the same time keep M.D. of Beaver ratepayers up-to-date on election matters within their own M.D.

Upon the establishment of the enlarged municipal unit it was arranged that councillors were elected for one year, two years and three years. After the first election all councillors are elected for three years. The one, two, three year arrangement was designed so that the terms of no more than three councillors would expire at the same time. Last February the terms of M.D. of Beaver councillors for divisions one, five and seven expired, these were Councillors Ovens, Swabey and Giebelhaus, and they were all re-elected for a further three years. This February the terms of councillors for divisions three (Councillor Moen) and six (Councillor Lucas) expire. In addition, due to the resignation of Councillor Logan, due to pressure of private business, an election will be held in division two this year. The election in division two will be for the unexpired term of Councillor Logan, which is one year.

There are two ways in which an enlarged M.D. may hold an election, "at large" or "by divisions". Voting at large, means that all voters within the M.D. vote for one candidate in as many divisions as may be holding an election; voting by divisions, means that only those voters in any one division vote for a candidate for that particular division. To be able to vote by divisions the Council must apply to the Minister for permission. M.D. of Beaver council did this some time ago and its application was granted. The reason for having M.D. elections by divisions instead of at large is because voters often know little of the qualifications of candidates outside of their own divisions. It is also much cheaper.

While present election procedure follows along the lines of that followed for quite a number of years, there have been important changes. Preparation for an election commences in November when Council sets the date for the annual meeting, appoints the Returning Officer and enumerator or enumerators for each division in the Municipal district. The annual meeting, unless otherwise arranged, is held on the third Saturday in February, which this year is the 17th. It will be held at Ryley commencing at one o'clock p.m. This is also the nomination meeting, nominations being received by the returning officer from three o'clock to four o'clock. At least seven clear days before the nomination meeting notices of the meeting are posted in at least two widely separated places in each polling division of the M.D., and also in all post offices in the M.D. On February 19th the secretary will prepare a voters list for the divisions in which an election is to be held and the enumerators appointed will take oath of office. It should be noted that this is the first M.D. of Beaver election in which enumerators have been engaged, their appointment being in accordance with revisions in the Municipal Districts Election Act.

On March 7th the enumerators submit lists to the secretary and on March 10th the voters list is certified, dated and signed by the secretary. On March 12th the secretary makes copies of voters lists and posts in office and in central and conspicuous place in each polling division. This is the last day for corrections and additions to be added to the voters list and if there are any they must be dated and initialed by the secretary.

Elections in divisions two, three, and six, of the M.D. of Beaver will be held on March 17th. The returning officer for the M.D. is Mr. N. M. Solberg and the deputy returning officers and enumerators appointed up to the present time for the different divisions are:

LINDBROOK

Mrs. Logan's daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Nehrlund, was shocked Thursday morning, January 25th, to find her mother dead sitting in a chair with her overcoat and hat on. It was apparently a case of heart failure. Mrs. Logan had gone to town on the bus Saturday night and had been driven home by Mr. and Mrs. John Lindberg. They were the last persons that saw her alive. The funeral service was held in the Tofield Anglican Church on Sunday.

Acting Superintendent Reeves of Holden visited the school Tuesday just as the monthly school moving picture show was about to begin. He will speak to the teachers of the Tofield sub-local, Friday, February 9, at 8:30 p.m.

A basket social and dance was held in the Beaver Lake Hall Saturday night. Enough money was raised to finish paying for the hall.

Mr. Robert Smith was re-elected to the local school board for a second term of three years, Saturday. He has acted as chairman and has done a good job.

The Annual Meeting of the members of the Hall Board was held Wednesday. The financial statement showed a year of progress. The 1944 board was re-elected: President, W. Glenn, Vice-president, C. Morden, Sec-Treas., R. Smith, Members, W. McHeffey, R. Hammersley and P. Lauritzen. They are to be congratulated on their public spirited citizenship and good work in the community.

The Hall will be ready for the dance Saturday, February 3rd.

MINISTIK

We had a letter from Rev. Bill Irving, who is in India. He says of all the places he has visited overseas, there is no place like Western Canada to live in. He wishes to be remembered to all Ministik people and is looking forward to seeing them again in the future.

There is not much activity going on in the community just now. Just a few whist parties at the different homes. The older folks would rather stay home these cold nights.

We heard from Pete Baumgartner in Italy. He was in the hospital at the time of writing. He had a poisoned arm but was doing well. Good luck Pete.

After advertising that we would have no church for 2 months, a student came out last Sunday. We did not know until Saturday's mail that he was coming, so there was a poor attendance at church. Mr. Bert Loree was the student and he says there will be service on February 11th, weather permitting.

The Whist drive held at the Hall on Friday sponsored by the Cigarette Fund committee was a great success. Mrs. J. Grummett was very pleased with the results. About $19 was made clear of expenses.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley George arrived home from the coast last week where they had a very enjoyable holiday. While there they visited some old friends from Ministik.

Mrs. F. Williams and daughter Caroll, spent a few days in the city last week visiting her mother.

NEW PENSION PROCEDURE GIVES UNLIMITED SCOPE LEGION OFFICIAL SAYS

Ottawa — A new pension procedure designed to assist veterans of the [redacted] war, or their dependents, in proving claims to pension, was announced here today by R. Hale, Canadian Legion chief pensions officer, following several months of negotiation between the Canadian Pension Commission, the Department of Veterans' Affairs and the Legion.

The new procedure, Mr. Hale said, abolishing as it does any time limit on action to be taken following the Pension Commission's first decision, affords almost unlimited opportunity for claims having merit to receive the full consideration of the commission.

Where formerly a veteran who was unsatisfied with the ruling of the commission in his particular case had to make application for a second hearing, accompanied by additional evidence, within ninety days, he may now secure further consideration at any time upon producing additional evidence. The more complete the evidence is, Mr. Hale pointed out, the better are the chances for a favourable decision.

Legion adjustment officers are prepared to assist all veterans in proper presentation of their cases to the commission, Mr. Hale explained. The applicant must first sign an authorization form which gives the Legion officers authority to examine all military documents in connection with the case.

A copy of the first hearing decision of the commission must be attached and a statement from the individual pointing out reasons why he considers the decision of the commission to be incorrect. When the case is complete, Legion officers discuss the case with the commission and make proper submission to secure new consideration for the applicant.

In instructions to all Legion branches on the new procedure, Mr. Hale added: "Always remember that we have learned from our vast experience, regarding claims arising out of the first great war, that often the diagnosis of applicant's condition may not be fully correct. Obscure and insidious disease in young persons are difficult to recognize, and the tragedy of the last war was that thousands of such cases were discharged on demobilization as being physically fit.

"Therefore, the greatest possible care should be taken in submitting any claim for disability pension to ensure that the true nature of the disabling condition is known and fully described. In Canada, full advantage should be taken of the right to free treatment, within one year of discharge under the Department of Veterans' Affairs. Subsequent medical examinations may reveal previously hidden disease."

THE WINTER MANTLE OF THE NORTH

With noiseless chisel and with cunning hands
An artist wrought through chilling shades of night,
And lo, at morn the open salon stands
With models fair and figures sparkling bright.

And far and wide the downy mantle spread
Above the waste of Autumn's gleaning hand,
Upon the roof and o'er the garden bed,
Beside the trail where fragrant fir trees stand.

And every border, every sculptured fold
Crowned lifeless forms with faultless symmetry,
While orient beams shed dust of early gold
To blend with crystals o'er the field and tree.

There is a charm that haunts the northern zone,
Where cities rise 'neath rich dissolving hues,
And mighty rivers thread the forests lone,
And lingering violets peer through summer's dew.

—S. C. Vance Kingman.

Iraq still produces wheat — 12 million bushels for 1944—but barley has now become its principal crop. WALTER HUNTINGFORD—

ABOUT A HALF century ago when the Canadian West was really getting into its stride and towns were springing up overnight as it were, there was quite a demand for newspapers. The newspaper was the mouth piece, clarion voiced or soft-toned, according to the nature of the editor, but the mouth piece just the same, which delighted in assuring the outside world that its particular town and district was the best in the land. Newspapers, like towns, were born quickly, one printing machinery and supply firm alone shipped plants out of Winnipeg for some long time at the rate of one a day. To man these plants men came to the Canadian West from many parts, Eastern Canada, United States, the British Isles and even from farther away. Almost without exception, these men were printers, or to be more specific, compositors, men who had learned their trade "at the case" and who even if they did not learn and understand the fine points of printing press work at home, were willing to leave their home land, lay their little bit of money down and start out with what ever collection of equipment they could assemble, as newspaper proprietors. Journalism, as it is practised in larger centres and taught in schools, was a dubious quality. Some just had the natural ability to write, to others it was a grind, but essentially these men were printers, and the journalism which in later years grew in strength and importance, was something added to an already solid foundation of high resolve and national, provincial and civic responsibility. In the years that have passed there have been many changes. Some, tiring of the weekly cycle, dropped off and entered other lines of endeavor. Some, through a lack of appreciation on the part of the community in which they worked, wandered off. Others returned to their first loves, the big shops, while others through the very many vicissitudes that are peculiar to this business, carried on until for them the weekly rumble of the press and the smell of printers' ink ceased to be.

With the passing of years the natural order of events inevitably occur and from time to time there appear in the daily press notice of the passing of this or that publisher. Last week it was Walter J. Huntingford of the Wainwright Star, last October it was Ed. Holmes of the Provost News, and a year or so ago it was the dean of weekly newspaper men, Victor French of the Wetaskiwin Times. We knew Mr. French personally over a period of many years and hold his memory in high regard. It is significant that the funeral service Walter J. Huntingford, on behalf of the Oddfellows, conducted for Mr. French a lodge brother and fellow publisher, should so soon be conducted for himself.

We knew Walter J. Huntingford very well. Capable and exceptionally energetic, he has controlled the destinies of the Wainwright Star almost continuously for over 25 years. He leaves as a monument to his memory and a tribute to his energy and enterprise, a splendid brick and tile newspaper building, well equipped.

IT MUST BE NICE—

IT MUST BE NICE to be a farmer. Anyway it only seems a short time ago that the Federal government were paying Canadian farmers a bonus for keeping land out of wheat production. Now if the beliefs expressed in an article by Mr. J. C. Lumsden, which we have recently read come into being, a Canadian farmer's life, even a prairie farmer's life is going to be, if not exactly a bed of roses, at least greatly improved.

Mr. Lumsden points out that in their hurry to grow more wheat, Canadian farmers have not enquired what became of the huge surpluses so common a few years back. He goes on to say humans have not eaten it, but that a huge market has developed in the United States for wheat from which is made industrial alcohol which in turn is used in making synthetic rubber. In one new U.S. factory alone 150,000 bushels of wheat are swallowed up every day. Contrary to general belief, which has been that rubber from the petroleum process had edged out the rubber from the wheat process, wheat has been instrumental in producing eight out of every ten tons of sythetic rubber produced. Thus farmers have not only been feeding the men of our Navies, Armies and Air Force but have via industrial processes, supplied them with rubber also.

New processes are continually being evolved. Now it is possible to separate wheat into its two principal constituents, starch and protein, one bushel of wheat, thus split giving two gallons of alcohol and six pounds of high quality protein. This wheat protein is very nutritious and has the advantage that it can be worked into many different foods. It is not expected that this form of protein will take the place of meat but it has the advantage of being one-eighth the price.

The process as worked out in the U.S. Department of Agriculture is to grind the wheat into a pulp with water, then treat it with a sodium sulphite solution. Sulphite is a waste in paper mills and is cheap. The protein in the wheat clots and rises to the surface as a thick yellow froth and when dried looks like powdered egg white. To make it into a pure protein food costs only a few cents a pound. The starch remains unharmed and from it can be made industrial alcohol, suitable for making rubber, fuel for cars, tractors and engines, heating the house, etc. On a bushel basis the protein in a bushel of wheat is considered worth between $8.00 and $9.00 with the alcohol as a side issue.

In Australia the first of four giant wheat distilleries have just gone into commercial production. The total annual consumption will be 5,000,000 bushels of wheat and the output 12,000,000 gallons of motor fuel. There is the added attraction that from chemical proccesses and devices now being worked out, any farm may be able to possess its own protein industrial alcohol plant. Anyway for the immediate present it looks as if the wheat surplus bogey has been laid low and an entirely new market opened up for prairie grain growers. It must be nice to be a farmer.

A SHOWING OF RUSSIAN MOVIES

Recently the Soviet Ambassador to Canada arranged a private showing of three Russian films. One was a musical film, comparable superficially to Hollywood's many films of the "Stage Door" type; features were two actors who hold the coveted title "Honored Artists of the Republic." The second was "No Greater Love", a story of peasant partisans fighting behind the German lines; it was a stark, realistic play and, like most modern Russian movies, made no attempt to dramatize essential motives and actions.

But it was the third—the newsreel—that gripped the audience in tense concentration, for it showed actual pictures of the liberation of Tarnopol. For the first time I realized what lay behind the official bulletins which say, "There was street fighting and mopping-up operations continue." These pictures, taken by cameramen who made no attempt to stay in the safe areas, showed what "mopping-up" a city really means: the many kinds of artillery used; the techniques of getting entrance to a house and occupying it. The most exciting scene was taken from a window just across the street from a house which had been used as German headquarters. A Russian soldier managed to get on to one of the balconies; first he threw a grenade into the room, then with an efficient little machine-gun, sprayed the room through the window without exposing himself. Then he went through the window himself, followed by others, and then went systematically from room to room until the house was theirs. You saw street barricades hurriedly thrown up and efficiently demolished, you saw the city's inhabitants emerging from cellars and streaming back from the countryside, ragged, hungry and nerve-racked; you saw them cheer as the red flag broke out on the city's town hall.

There is no need to ask the Russians what they are fighting for!

WORLD OF WHEAT

By H.G.L. Strange

A survey of the distribution of varieties over the prairies made by the "Crop Testing Plan" indicates that Thatcher has still further increased its lead over all other varieties, and is by far the most widely used variety on our prairies. Thatcher now occupies 54.2 per cent of the total acreage sown to wheat in the three provinces, compared with 52.6 per cent last year; Marquis is still in second place, occupying 15.5 per cent of the wheat acreage; Red Bobs is in third place with 12.2 per cent and Regent has fourth place with 5.23 per cent. Renown comes next with 3.3 per cent, then Apex with 2.7 per cent. Durum occupies 2.5 per cent and Miscellaneous varieties, including Reward and Garnet, occupy a total altogether of 4.3 per cent.

Thatcher greatly dominates in Saskatchewan, occupying 73 per cent of the acreage, and dominates in Manitoba with 44.1 per cent. In Alberta Red Bobs heads the list with 39.3 closely followed by Marquis with 30.7 per cent. Regent has made a considerable advance in Manitoba, occupying now 30.4 per cent of the acreage, compared with 22.1 per cent last year. Garnet made some advance in Alberta, occupying now 5.3 per cent of the crop, compared with 3.7 per cent last year.

The increase in Garnet production was brought about by the extreme earliness of that variety, which enabled the Garnet crop to escape frost damage in recent years.

HAND LOOM WEAVING AMONG FARM WOMEN

Hand loom weaving among farm women, which has been sponsored on these prairies during the past two and a half years by the Searle Grain Grain Company, is beginning to show most excellent results. Some 850 farm women and girls have been taught to weave, and between them they have purchased just over 250 looms. From advices received from the sixty-two weaving circles that already have been set up, we calculate that these weavers have already woven the equivalent of something over 20,000 yards of material 45 inches wide, which has been made into all kinds of useful, decorative and beautiful materials for the home, and for the clothing of men, women and children; into such things as drapes, tablecloths, bedspreads, rugs, hangings, towels, scarves, neckties, handbags, and one hundred and one other things so dear to the heart of women and girls.

The demand by weavers for the raw materials they require, that is for woollen yarns, cotton and linen threads is increasing week by week. The Searle Grain Company maintains quite large stocks of these materials and is quite willing to sell these yarns and threads to any persons in Canada who may be weaving. In addition, our Company can sell looms and equipment to those who may require them, and all on the same basis as these things are sold to members of the weaving circles who took lessons at Searle classes, that is at no profit to the Company.

The Searle Grain Company is most anxious to do anything that lies within its power to advance this most useful and beautiful art of hand loom weaving, for it has found from its experience that hand loom weaving brings happiness, joy and contentment to those who engage in weaving work. The efforts of the Searle Grain Company have barely scratched the surface. There is room for much more to be done, and it is hoped that many others will engage in sponsoring hand loom weaving. Our Company would be more than glad to give any advice, and to make suggestions based on its own experience, to those who may contemplate doing similar work in the west, or indeed in any other part of Canada. We believe, for instance, that hand loom weaving would be a good thing for the government to encourage among the young women now in the armed forces.

TWO NEW AGRICULTURAL BULLETINS PUBLISHED

A new University bulletin designed specifically for Alberta Farmers is now available under the title Cropping for Profit and Permanency. It is written by W. E. Bowser, Senior Soil Specialist, Dominion Department of Agriculture, and A. G. McCalla, Professor of Field Crops, University of Alberta. It contains a summary of soil and climatic factors affecting crop production in each of the main agricultural areas of Alberta, and offers suggestions for production programs that should prove most advantageous to farmers in each area.

Another bulletin recently published by the University of Alberta is Care and Feeding of Dairy Cattle, written by Dr. J. E. Bowstead. It contains practical advice on the selection and raising of calves, the feeding of cows during winter and summer, as well as a discussion on breeding problems. Fifteen pages also give advice on the cause and treatment of the common diseases of dairy cattle by Dr. P. R. Talbot, Provincial Veterinarian.

Copies of both bulletins may be secured free of charge by writing to the Department of Extension, University of Alberta.

All Families Will Receive F.A. Cheques

Ottawa—Registration for family allowances begins this week in Prince Edward Island and next month registration will get under way in the other provinces. This is the first step toward start of family allowance payments in July. More than 1,800,000 cheques will go out each month for Canada's 3,500,000 children and upwards of $30,000,000 will be distributed monthly to Canadian families. In most cases the cheques will be made payable to the mother and the act requires that the money be spent for the welfare of the children.

GREAT SOCIAL GAIN

This is the greatest single social and economic measure Canada has ever undertaken. The government believes it will result in immediate improvement of the living standards of the Canadian people. It will be of special benefit in smaller urban centres and in rural areas because in these the standard of social, health and welfare services in the past has been below the level of that of larger cities. The application forms are simple, requiring merely listing of the names and birth of the children, information as to where the children are living and the signature of one or both of the parents. In most cases cases the seven questions can be answered with a simple "Yes" or "No."

REGISTRATION IMPORTANT

To be eligible for the allowance, the birth of each child must be registered with the proper vital statistics authority. It is estimated that there are 70,000 children in Canada whose births are not registered. Hon. Brooke Claxton, minister of National Health and Welfare, is urging all parents to see that the births of their children are registered so that they can come under the plan from the start. The scale of payments is: $5 a month for children up to five years of age; $6 for children from six to nine; $7 for children form 10 to 12 and $8 for children from 13 to 15 years of age. In families where there are more than four children there is a reduction of $1 from the above scale for the fifth child; a reduction of $2 each for the sixth and seventh child and of $3 for each additional child.

ALL FAMILIES RECEIVE PAYMENT

For example, a family with two children age 5 and 7, will receive $11 a month. Where there are four children, age two, six, nine and thirteen years of age, the monthly payment to the family is $25. Application forms will be delivered through the post office to every household in Canada where Children under 16 are known to be living. Those with eligible children who do not receive the forms can get them at any post office. Family allowances will be paid to people receiving mothers allowances, dependents' allowances, war pensions, rehabilitation grants, unemployment insurance or workmen's compensation. The payments go as a right to all families with children under 16 years of age.

CARE FOR ANIMALS

Montreal, January 9—Ingenuity often has to be called into play by railway express men in solving problems of handling animal travellers. Recently nine mink and a raccoon arrived at Montreal in the express car of the Maple Leaf, Canadian National Railways train, en route from Fergus, Ont. to Labrador.

The animals were to continue their journey by boat but as none was available immediately, express men had to find the mink and raccoon temporary accomodation in keeping with their natural surroundings until the next sailing for Labrador.

INCREASED BACON EXPORTS

The record of export bacon shipments for the last six calendar years from Canada are rather spectacular. They are given as follows:

1939	187,824,000	pounds
1940	343,604,000	"
1941	464,814,000	"
1942	528,192,000	"
1943	562,961,000	"
1944 (estimate)	700,000,000	"

The preparation and handling of such an increase as is estimated for 1944 presents many special problems in comparison with an average prewar annual volume

In this safe part of the world it is hard to visualize how the war has ravaged children's lives. Russia has more than 15,000,000 orphans. Many fathers and mothers of these little ones have fallen or are missing at the front or in battles in the rear of the enemy. Many have been murdered or sent to slave labor by the Nazis. Clothes may be shipped to Aid to Russia fund, Edmonton.

CALL-UP OF MEN DISCHARGED FROM THE ARMED SERVICES

National Selective Service has [illegible] that generally speaking, all men discharged from the Armed Services who have not had service outside Canada will be subject in future to call-up for Army training if in an age and marital class designated under Mobilization Regulations. The new ruling follows as a result of recommendation from several of the Mobilization Boards, the National Selective Service Advisory Board and discussions between a committee of senior officers of the three Armed Services—Navy, Army, and RCAF—and officials of National Selective Service.

The announcement was made to-day by Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labour, on behalf of National Selective Service and the Ministers of National Defence for Army, Navy and Air.

The new rate, which goes into effect on January 15th, cancels the previous practice of not calling up men who have had three year's or more service in Canada only.

Those who are discharged after service with any branch of the Canadian Forces overseas, or after service with the Royal Canadian Navy [illegible] national waters, will not be called up following discharge, and [illegible] same exemption extends to those with the RCAF who have been [illegible] operational duty on either of the [illegible] coasts.

If [illegible] medical category of any discharged man now made liable to call-up is below the point at which the Army will accept his services, he will be liable to direction by National Selective Service to essential employment in civilian industry. Similarly, any discharged man not callable by reason of not being in an age or marital class subject to Mobilization Regulations, may be directed to essential work.

MIXED BONSPIEL GOING STRONG

Or at least it was until Thursday's soft spell made the ice quite heavy. The annual mixed spiel is an enjoyable event, there are dozens and dozens of curlers who nightly, during its run, enjoy the "roarin' game" to the full.

Can't tell you much about wins and losses, but in the aggregate these do not matter much. The main thing is that the spiel goes forward smoothly, harmoniously, and that as far as curling goes anyway, everyone is happy.

Tofield Community League

The monthly meeting of the League took place in the Town Hall on Tuesday, February 6th. The minutes were read and adopted. Out of the business of the minutes it was learned that Ralph Harrison was to be the students representative on the board of directors of the League.

Mr. Chandler reported that Mr. Imler and himself had again interviewed the council re the lots for the hall site, the result being that the League was to receive a 25-year lease on the site just north of the bank and that this property be tax free. It was also stipulated in a special clause that should anything happen to the league, the town would then take over the hall and that at no time would it fall into the hands of a private concern.

The Hospital Committee reported they held a meeting at Ministik Hall on Wednesday, January 31st, the meeting being sponsored by the Jr. U.F.A. of that district. Quite a good turn out and a very favorable meeting resulted.

Discussion took place on the purchase of a piano. At the present time any activity in the hall is at a stand still due to the lack of a piano. Mr. Bigland, Mr. Chandler and Mr. Elliott were appointed as a committee to look into the purchase of a piano. The purchase price of such to be repaid by renting the piano.

The meeting then went into a general discussion on ways and means of increasing the Hall Fund. It was decided that the best method was a Carnival. The following committee was appointed to arrange a Carnival on March 24th and 25th. Mr. F. Imler, Mr. Ed Kallal, Mr. Wm. Davison, Mr. D. Dodds and Mr. C. Kallal.

The rest of the meeting was taken up by the Hall committee who had a proposed plan of the Hall to show the League. Information was gathered from all the surrounding Community Halls including a new hall just constructed at Bawlf. From the information gathered the committee decided we needed a hall 40' by 100' with a full sized basement. The committee will have an architect's plan and construction of such a hall with the amount of material required to build same.

The meeting developed into an informal discussion during which Mr. Le Maistre answered quite a number of questions.

The What & Where Of Pensions

This is the first in a series of [illegible] articles written [illegible] for The Tofield Mercury [illegible] Hale, chief pensions officer of the Canadian Legion, Ottawa headquarters.

By Richard Hale

Ottawa, Ontario.— The question of pensions for men of the armed forces who are wounded or injured become such and [illegible] one of the most [illegible] in Canada today. At the same time there is probably no other phase in relating to men of the forces [illegible] less understood.

[illegible]

Mating The Breeding Flock

(Experimental Farms News)

To meet the competition that may be expected in the postwar era, greater efficiency, improved quality, and high liveability in the poultry flock will be necessary.

Methodical and exacting selection when mating the breeding pens is the best and surest procedure by which these sound economical features are reached, says W. T. [illegible], Dominion Experimental Station, Harrow, Ont.

Before coming to any decision as to whether or not it is necessary to introduce fresh blood to bring about more improvement it should be [illegible] is always some danger [illegible] with fresh blood some [illegible] may prove [illegible] if they show outstanding [illegible] it may be far safer to use birds of fairly close relationship.

Mating for improvement in egg production is always an uncertain process [illegible] perplexities that are not [illegible] and the value of the pedigree may be overrated unless it embraces a fairly complete family history of liveability. To some extent constitutional vigour can be recognized and presents little difficulty in the selection of the fittest. Look at the bird first and the pedigree next has always been a good rule to follow when mating the birds.

Because of their shorter life history, pullet and cockerel matings are more popular than the mating of older birds. With their proved ability to live and to some extent their proved immunity to disease, the older matings should be favoured as far as possible. Selection on the basis of body requirements and selecting for health and vigour is of more importance than spectacular egg yields, but better still if there is a combination of both.

To allow the birds to get well acquainted in their pens and to provide for any necessary change, mate early, feed a reliable breeder mash and if new blood is positively needed, get the best.

Recommended Crop Varieties For 1945

(A. M. Wilson, Field Crops Commissioner)

Grain varieties recommended to Alberta farmers for spring planting indicate few changes from last season. Recommendations with respect to wheat remain the same as in 1944 with the exception that Marquis is no longer favoured in parts of Zone 3. The variety Regent, although received with some favour in areas of heavy seed, has not yet been considered to have sufficient general merit to justify a provincial recommendation.

Sanalta barley is named along with Newal and Trebi in Zone 1. Although the acreage of barley in this portion of the province is relatively small, it was the feeling of the Committee that Sanalta because of its larger kernels and longer straw would serve a need in the area. The variety was also considered suitable for the irrigation district; here too the size of the seed will make seed cleaning easier and because of the strong straw there will be less loss of the crop through lodging. Other feed varieties recommended for irrigation are Newal, Olli and Trebi. For malting purposes O.A.C. 21 is in general favour with Olli as an acceptable variety for Zones 3 and 4.

No new varieties of oats are included on the list. Ajax, although now quite widely grown and most desirable in areas of Western Canada where rust frequently occurs, has not yet been recommended for Alberta because here rust is rarely a serious problem and this variety, like many other oat varieties which mature earlier, also yields materially less.

The following is a summary of recommendations with respect to each soil zone within the province.

SPRING WHEAT. Zone 1, Canus, Marquis, Thatcher.

Zone 2, Canus, Marquis, Thatcher, Red Bobs.

Zone 3, Red Bobs, Thatcher.

Zone 4, Red Bobs, Thatcher.

WINTER WHEAT: Kharkov in all areas where winter wheat is grown.

OATS: Zone 1, Eagle, Victory.

Zone 2, Eagle, Legacy, Victory.

Zone 3, Eagle, Legacy, Victory.

Zone 4, Banner, Legacy.

MALTING BARLEY: O.A.C. 21 in all Zones. Olli in Zones 3 and 4.

FEED BARLEY. Zone 1, Newal, Sanalta, Trebi.

Zone 2, Newal, Olli (in northern parts).

Zones 3 and 4, Newal, Olli.

FLAX. Zone 1, Bison, Royal.

Zone 2, Bison, Redwing, Royal.

Zones 3 and 4, Redwing.

This variety list has been prepared by the Varietal Zonation Committee which consists of representatives of Seed Growers' Associations, the Departments of Agriculture and the University of Alberta.

Food Industries Have Made Friday War Stamp Day

Friday will be stamp day when the food and allied industries launch their third war savings stamp drive on February 2nd. In response to an appeal from Finance Minister Ilsley, they have undertaken in the following six weeks to sell 12,000,000 stamps, or more than one for every man, woman and child in Canada. Last year the food industry went well over the top, but they sold their stamps every day and only during the month of February. This year the plan has more of a long-term character: people can buy war stamps in any store, post office or bank on any day of the week, but on Fridays the food merchants will go all out to SELL them and will not take no for an answer!

The "25 club" booklet will continue to be a key item in all programs and campaigns organized to assist the National War Finance Committee in the sale of stamps. The food industry will use this booklet as the spearhead of its long-term program, in order to make people aware of the idea of buying at least one stamp per week for the duration.

Choose Seed Potatoes Carefully

It will not be long before householders and farmers will be making arrangements for their seed potatoes. The presence of Bacterial Ringrot makes the careful choice of seed much more necessary than in the past.

Table potatoes are not seed potatoes says J. L. Englesham, Supervisor of Pest Control. The careless use of potatoes from a sack of table stock is as dangerous as the practice of sending away a long distance for seed carrying no health certificate. The common belief that seed potatoes from a distance are better than those produced at or near home has been exploded by the inroads of Bacterial Ringrot.

Use Government guaranteed seed whenever you can get it advises Mr. Englesham. When this is not available use seed you know something about. It is good practice to always be on guard against Bacterial Ringrot. When obtaining potatoes for seed purposes always ask "Are you sure these potatoes are free from Ringrot?" Prevention is easy, but an infected crop just cannot be cured.

Grateful To Canada

Rt. Hon. R. S. Hudson, minister of agriculture in the British government, said there is real appreciation among the British people for what Canada has done for Britain since the outbreak of the war. The interchange of visits of farmers between Britain and Canada during the war has been of immense advantage to both countries. Mr Hudson said he will return to Britain slightly jealous of the progress that has been made in agriculture in Canada, but he has been encouraged by what he has seen and learned of the contribution to British needs on the part of Canadian farmers. —Wheat Pool Budget.

SEEDTIME and HARVEST

By DR. K. W. NEATBY

[illegible]

Smut in Oats and Barley

In our last article, we commented on the alarming and unnecessary increase in bunt (stinking smut) of wheat. In oats and barley, smut disease also causes enormous losses which, for the most part, are avoidable.

In the Prairie Provinces, barley is subject to three different smuts, and oats to two. Formalin and organic mercury dusts may be used to control all except the true loose smut of barley which responds only to the hot water treatment.

Complete elimination of smut by means of seed treatment is often difficult or even impossible. There is evidence that formalin is often more effective than are the mercurial dusts, particularly when smut infestations are severe. But it is important to remember that this advantage may be more than offset by damage to the seed by the use of formalin. "Formalin should not be used on weak seed or when a rapid growth is required to offset wireworm damage, disease, weeds and soil drifting." (Guide to Farm Practice in Saskatchewan, 1942). Also, if the seed is cracked or damaged, the use of formalin should be avoided, and it should never be used for hulless oats.

When mercurial dusts are used, it is very important to secure a uniform distribution of dust, and this depends largely on the efficiency of the treating machine, and of the operator. "If the efficiency of the machines used for this purpose could be increased, it would be a much needed advance." (Proceedings Manitoba Agronomists' Conference, 1944).

WE have the Right to SPEAK...

TO PLAN OUR FUTURE AS WE WILL

WE Canadians are democrats.

Adolf Hitler would never have had a chance in our country. The Fuehrer ranted and roared his way to leadership. His beer-parlour oratory impressed his countrymen . . . they were ready to be swayed, eager to be convinced. Here was a dictator's opportunity.

We Canadians don't do things that way. We don't like being led by the nose. We want to think for ourselves. We want to do things in our own way . . . to plan our future as we will. This is the way we have built Canada into the great nation she is today.

From a primitive land, uninhabited but for a few tribes of Indians, Canada — in a short 300 years — has grown from a terre inconnue to one of the greatest trading nations of the world.

This has come to pass through the vision and pioneering spirit of our forefathers, through their determination, enterprise, self-reliance, and the deep-rooted knowledge that only through hard work, intelligently applied, can anything worthwhile be built.

We have made our war effort in the same way, contributing to the struggle of the United Nations to a degree that has amazed everyone — Hitler included.

We are well into our stride in putting this war assignment over, and when Victory comes, we will face the problems of peace with the same determination to do things in our own way.

We have not reached our present place in the scheme of things without mistakes, and we will probably make mistakes in the future. But, as in the past, so in the future, we will profit by our errors . . . building surely and soundly by individual determination and self-reliance to make life a strong and worthwhile thing.

PLAY THE GAME—

IT WOULD BE DIFFICULT to find a subject of more individual importance than the mailing of gifts to loved ones who are on active service overseas. Parcels thus mailed are above the general run of ordinary merchandise which may easily be measured in value by the ordinary system of dollars and cents. But parcels going overseas to loved ones on active service carry more than their intrinsic worth, they carry love and longing, hope and expectancy, subdued satisfaction and pardonable pride. And they are received too, with an appreciation far beyond their intrinsic worth. Within the confines of a small container may go out gifts that bring to memory with the vividness of life, the warm spicy smell of the kitchen, the familiar sight of the cabinet, the solid comfortable appearance of the stove, even the wood box which had a never failing habit of becoming empty, and more than anything else, the loving hands that packed the parcel. And the dining room with its shadowy lights, solid table and comfortable sofa. And the parlor, even if the carpet was slightly worn in the centre, was a restful retreat either in summer or winter. The memory of the familiar photographs, the pictures, the plant stand, memory of quiet hours spent there rush to mind amid feverish unpacking. The joy of sending and receiving an overseas parcel cannot be expressed in words, even if there are millions of them, each parcel to the sender and receiver signifies and typifies something that mere money cannot buy or position or influence obtain. It is a symbol of helpfulness, a bond of unity, a thing of remembrance and an expression of love.

No wonder then that the post office departments, both civilian and service, make every effort to get service mens' and womens' parcels to them as quickly and safely as possible. No wonder then that they are genuinely alarmed when the senders through ignorance and folly (certainly not wilfulness) continue to include in their parcels articles that not only endanger the safety of their own particular parcel but that of thousands of others also, as well as endangering human life, a costly cargo and a sea-worthy ship.

The post office people earnestly, definitely, emphatically, request all of us not to include in our parcels, matches, lighter fluid, or anything which by any chance may cause a fire. This includes the so-called safety-matches. Already there have been several fires on ship board believed due to the inclusion of these articles, resulting in the loss of hundreds of parcels and the damaging of thousands. Be sure about this; don't try to beat the gun. Sure, matches have been scarce in England and they are plentiful and cheap here. Sure, lighter fluid is easy to buy and pack; but sure again, both when sent by mail constitute a dangerous hazard to human life and property.

In the North Atlantic there are German submarines waiting for a chance to sink Canadian ships, and when they do sink a ship they do not stop to pick up the crew. Don't add to the risk our merchant marine sailors are taking. They are doing you and yours an invaluable service, play the game with them, one hundred per cent.

A GOVERNMENT OF LAWS—

MERCURY READERS will remember perhaps that fairly recent incident that occurred in the United States when the manager of Montgomery Ward & Co., was carried from one of their stores and the business taken over by the government. It was a dispute with the War Labor Board. After a court action Judge Phillip S. Sullivan had this to say:

> "The constitutional guaranties that protect the sacred rights, liberties and property of American citizens, from the humblest to the most exalted, still remain inviolate. These rights may not be transgressed with impunity nor disregarded because of expediency; neither may they be abridged nor suspended, even for a single moment, except in the manner and under the circumstances specifically provided by law."

Effect Of Soil Erosion On Crop Yield

Wind and water erosion are causing tremendous soil losses in Alberta, states H. J. Mather, Supervisor of Soil Conservation. The rich top soils of our fields are of vital importance, and all farming practices should be planned to prevent deterioration.

The effect on crop yields through loss of top soil is illustrated by figures released by the Dominion Experimental Farms Service as a result of experiments in connection with removal of the top soil from a cultivated field. Where no top soil was removed, the yield was thirty-nine bushels per acre. The removal of three inches of top soil caused a decrease of six bushels. Where six inches of soil was removed the yield was eighteen bushels, and removal of all of the top soil resulted in a yield of 5.2 bushels per acre only.

Package Bees For 1945

Alberta beekeepers are warned by W. G. le Maistre, Provincial Apiarist, to take immediate steps to book orders for April or early May delivery. The demand for package bees in 1945 both by Canadian and U.S. beekeepers, is already very large.

Some of the California bee-breeders, who normally supply bees for Alberta, are not accepting further orders. They are already booked up for early Spring delivery. Packages received after the first week in May do not usually produce an average crop of honey in Alberta. Packages can still be ordered from dealers in Alberta, but supplies are limited and orders should be placed as soon as possible.

Canada still needs unlimited quantities of honey, says Mr. le Maistre. A shortage of package bees would seriously limit the 1945 crop.

Frost Injury In Cereal Seeds

(Science Service News)

Frost-damaged seeds are frequently confused with seeds injured by fungi and therefore are of interest to the plant pathologist. A confusion of this kind is natural for it so happens that seeds injured in any way are more liable to attack by fungi, or moulds as they are commonly called. Frosted seed samples contain many grains with broken seed coats, as well as immature and dead seeds. Such samples under conditions of high moisture are soon infected with common moulds. When sown, the damaged seeds, because of their low vitality, are readily invaded by soil fungi, which results in a poor and irregular emergence or stand. This has been shown in work at the Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology at Saskatoon.

Frosted seed of wheat, oats, barley, rye, and flax must be considered in the light of the above information. First, it is necessary where frost is suspected, to have the seed tested for germination. Although a germination test may be done at home, preferably in soil, it is probably advisable to send a sample to a well-equipped laboratory for satisfactory results. Any local agricultural adviser could give definite information in this connection. Second, once the germination is known, careful judgment must be used in determining the next steps. If the germination is 70 per cent or above; that is, 70 strong seedlings or more appear on the average for every 100 kernels tested, the seed may be considered reasonably satisfactory; but even so it would be advisable to increase the seeding rate slightly and also treat the seed with mercury dust for best results. On the other side, if the germination is below 70 per cent but not as low as 50 per cent, the seeding rate must definitely be increased. Furthermore, treatment with a mercury dust to protect the seed from soil fungi would be worthwhile in such cases. Germination below 50 per cent, and to some extent even when it is below 70 per cent, indicates that consideration should be given to discarding such seed and securing good, high-quality seed in its place. The germination of severely frozen grain cannot be improved by seed treatment. Formalin treatment may increase seedling injury, and its use on injured cereal seed should be avoided.

It is not always easy to recognize frosted seed samples, so a germination test must be made. In wheat seed, bran-frost which is shown by the blister-like wrinkling of the bran is rather conspicuous. Samples containing many immature or greenish kernels must be suspected of frost damage. Occasionally, wheat samples show a bronze appearance, which it is believed is simply a manifestation of immaturity with possibly some mould infestation. Frosted oats may be wholly or partly bleached and the hulls somewhat loose, but generally speaking for most samples it is difficult to determine damage definitely. It is also very difficult to determine, with accuracy, the extent of frost injury in barley and flax, except by means of a germinating test. Similar manifestations may be expected in rye to those found in wheat samples.

Information on frost injury, or samples containing disease, may be obtained from the nearest Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology. These are located at Winnipeg, Saskatoon, and Edmonton.

EX-PRISONER OF WAR LOOKS AT CANADA

"Everything looks smaller than I remembered it . . ." "I just can't get used to Canadian girls in uniforms everywhere you go . ." "I thought I was through with lining up for everything, but I have to line up here even to get on a street-car . . ." "The food's wonderful, but I'm surprised to find so many shortages in the stores . . ." "Letting them pass ahead has messed up hockey, I think . . ."

Here are some of the reactions of repatriated prisoners-of-war on reaching home. Most of them were taken at Dieppe, and all have been ill or wounded. I have talked to a number of them and they all agree on at least two points—first, that they lived for their Red Cross food parcels, and secondly, that they need a period of adjustment after getting home. Many of them confess to a feeling of "let-down" after weeks, months and years of building on the hope of getting home. I haven't met one who isn't waiting for Jerry to get his come-uppance—and "get it good!"

They agree on one other point: morale in the camps is marvelous. And judging by the boys who have already come back, that claim is justified.

MEN ARE GREAT SHOPPERS, TOO

The old argument as to whether men or women spend more on clothes has been settled by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. In a recent report it shows that while women's buying of clothes increased by 93 per cent between November 1939 and November 1944, men's buying increases by 85 per cent!

Difficulties in transportation, more people at work, and more people living away from home account to a large degree for the 93 per cent increase in restaurant eating. Department stores may not seem to have very much of what you want, but their sales have stepped up by 80 per cent. Biggest increases: shoes and Vitamin B capsules.

VETERANS' PROBLEMS TO THE FORE

The veterans' problems are Canada's problems. That is shown by the fact that there are no less than 30 government departments, committees and organizations concerned with rehabilitation. Some of them are special House of Commons and Senate Committees, others are organizations such as the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, War Amputations of Canada, and Canadian Legion Educational Services. Biggest single agency is the Department of Veterans' Affairs, which now has veterans' welfare officers in 28 towns and cities dealing with fit veterans, still personal services welfare officers dealing with the unfit in six military hospitals. It has also set up 12 rehabilitation boards across the country . . .

Approximately 200,000 veterans of this war have already received their discharge, over 170,000 of them are general service men and women entitled to wear the little red and silver war badge . . . .

Recently pensions for disability and death were made the same for men and women veterans. Previously the women and their dependents had only received 80 per cent of the benefits paid to men . . .

More than 70 per cent of Canadian men and women with overseas service, who have been discharged for medical reasons and whose cases have been ruled on by the Canadian Pension Commission, have been granted pensions. Up to October 31, 1944, 15,335 such cases had been ruled on, and pensions granted to 11,305.

Time limit on applications for pensions has been abolished. Formerly a veteran had to apply within 90 days of discharge; now he or she may apply any time.

REFUGEES IN B.C.

Canada's success story in colonization, written on the fertile lands of trict, has in the last six years added tirct, has in the last six years added new chapter to the growth and development of this nation.

In 1939 about 150 refugee families from Sudetenland, seeking a haven in a land that was free from the domination of Nazi Germany, arrived in Canada and were settled on a block of land at Tupper Creek, 27 miles from Dawson Creek and close to the Alberta boundary.

Today these immigrants are substantial Canadian citizens. They have paid for their farms, they have neat, well-built homes and farm buildings, and they have ample equipment for tilling, cultivating and seeding the land.

A government report issued recently lists some of their accomplishments.

During the past season they have harvested crops on 3100 acres, much of it land that was covered with bush when they moved into the district. Crops were below average but were better than those in other sections of the Peace River district.

Leaders in the colony reported that settlers were well satisfied with their adopted country and declared that none would be anxious to return to their homeland when the war is over. A number have applied for naturalization papers and others are planning to make application in the near future.

Under the direction of the Canadian Colonization Association, the immigrants have been instructed in the art of farming on the Canadian prairies and they have learned their lessons well. Many had no previous farming experience yet they have in less than six years earned enough to pay for the land.

Thirty or forty of the Sudetens have augmented their income by working on the Alaska Highway project and income from this source in the last year has amounted to about $25,000.

SALT AT VERMILION

The latest report on the Vermilion salt discovery states that the salt body was topped at 3,480 feet with 9 inches of salt, followed by salt and mixed streaks of shale. From that depth all the way down to 3,621 feet practically a solid body of salt was disclosed with more strips of shale appearing towards the base. Value of the discovery is under investigation. The salt is apparently not as free from impurities as that operated for some years now at Waterways. It is expected, however, to contribute a definite value to the chemical and industrial world of the province.

Troops Comforts Are First Duty Of Legion Men

Ottawa, Feb. 1—Canadian Legion supervisors on the fighting fronts, although still paying income tax and worried about their own rehabilitation, are doing one of the most difficult jobs of the war in the best manner possible, Lt.-Col. D. E. McIntyre, general manager of Canadian Legion War Services said here this week on his return from a three month tour overseas.

The Legion supervisors, who are charged with providing extra comforts for the men, are going into forward area positions with hot tea, biscuits, etc., almost every day, Col. MacIntyre said. The closest co-operation exists between the supervisors and the military authorities with the supervisor now accepted as part of the armed forces.

Entertainment is given wherever a group of men can be got together, he declared. It is a common occurrence for men fighting a few hundred yards away to be relieved temporarily to sit in a renovated civilian theatre and enjoy a movie. On the other hand, complete shows have been put on in caves, abandoned cellars and in the open air.

Leave centres, operated by the Legion in the rear areas of the fighting fronts, cater to thousands of men monthly. For the most part, the centers are located in hotels, taken over for the purpose, complete with civilian staffs. Free haircuts, shoeshines, pressing jobs and good meals are provided in most centres for the men on leave, Col. MacIntyre added.

DENMARK INCREASE HOG PRODUCTION

Canada's greatest competitor for the British bacon market—Denmark—is again building up its supply of hogs. According to information received by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Denmark had a larger population of hogs in 1944 than in any year since 1941.

Before the war, in the years 1937 and 1938, the number of hogs on Danish farms was about 2,700,000. This rose to 3,100,000 in 1939 and increased still further to 3,200,000 in the year Denmark was invaded—1940. The reason for this increase was Britain's eagerness to buy every surplus pound of Danish bacon.

With the Germans in control of her small territory, Denmark was obliged to cut down her hog production. From 1940 to 1941, it declined by an estimated one million head, from 3,200,000 to 2,200,000. From 1941 to 1942, another million hogs disappeared and the hog population reached a new low of 1,100,000. This limiting of Denmark's hog population by two-thirds within two years from the time the kingdom was invaded, was not primarily due to pillage. Apparently the Germans did not do anything so foolish as to slaughter willy-nilly such fine bacon breeding stock. They did, however, help themselves to the hogs which were obliged to be killed off for lack of feed. Denmark has always been dependent on imported feed for its bacon hog industry and with the invader's navy unable to give protection to convoys, hog production had to be curtailed.

Eventually, the Germans succeeded in preventing too great a decline in Danish hog production by obtaining new sources of feed. They brought in feed from the Danube basin which together with a better home feed crop produced the result that by 1943 the Danish hog production was again moving upward. In 1944, it made another gain with latest estimates placing the number of hogs on Danish farms at nearly 2 million head. This represents nearly 3 hogs for every 4 on Danish farms in the years just before the war. By contrast, the end of the first Great War found Denmark with only one hog on hand for every 4 when the war began. At the end of this war, Denmark will presumably be in better shape than ever to compete with Canada.

The Canadian farmer is now producing a better bacon hog than ever. Only by continuing to deliver quality bacon regularly, and maintaining continuity of supply, will Canada be able to lessen the threat of foreign competition.

"A Very Brave And Fine Man"

CPL. EARL GOSLIN KILLED IN ACTION

Word has been received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Goslin, of North Cooking Lake, of the death while in action of Cpl. Earl William Goslin. He would have been 22 on January 20th. Events leading up to his death are described in a very nice letter from the platoon commander to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Goslin. It reads as follows:

"As platoon Commander of the platoon Earl was in, it is my sad duty to write and tell you of Earl's death. My platoon had made an attack across a canal and was clearing the Germans out of the slit-trenches along the canal. Earl was leading one of the sections in the platoon when a machine gun opened up on us killing Earl outright. Earl was a very brave and fine man and was one of the very best men I had in the platoon. All the men as well as myself thought a lot of him and sincerely share with you the sorrow of his death. . . ."

He came to Boston, Mass. in 1886. Went west to North Dakota in 1888 and homesteaded there. Assessor And Assistants Appointed For New Assessment

M. D. of Beaver Council from a list of applications, appointed an assessor and four assistants at their February meeting. A. M. Finseth of Ryley was appointed assessor with Jack McLeod, Hay Lake; B. M. Finseth, Tofield; Russel Goebbe, Island; and Lloyd Looney, Holden; as assistants. This was done to conform with instructions issued by the Dept. of Municipal Affairs, who have ordered a new general assessment in 1945 and who will instruct assessors and assistants at a special course to be given in Edmonton shortly. M.D. of Beaver Council went on record as being of the opinion that due to problems arising out of the war, manpower, gas and tire rationing, etc., it believed it would have been better to have held the general assessment off until conditions were more normal.

The meeting was held at Ryley on Friday, February 9th, there being present: Reeve Anderson; Councillors Giebelhaus, Logan, Lucas, Moen, Owens and Swabey.

The minutes of the previous meeting were adopted as read.

Report of a recent visit to Red Deer and Calgary in connection with the problem of weed eradication was given. Reeve Anderson, Councillors Lucas and Logan, together with Mr. Wilson, Dept. of Agriculture and Mr. Moisey, District Agriculturist, made the journey. The reeve and councillors who made the trip gave a report as also did Mr. Moisey, who dropped into the council meeting for this purpose. The gist of the report was that the trip was effort and time well expended and that the methods adopted for weed eradication by the two municipalities visited were new and effective. An effort will be made to adopt some of these methods to the M.D. of Beaver in

THE FARMER'S BEST IMPLEMENT—THE FANNING MILL

Weed plants, it is estimated, steal from farmers on the average 20 per cent of the grain they have so laboriously produced. Weed plants grow from weed seeds, and most of the weed seeds on our prairies have been, at one time or another, sown in the ground with grain.

Weeds can be eliminated by keeping to one of two principles. One is not to sow any weeds with the grain seed, and the other is not to permit any weed plants that grow to set to seed and so scatter additional seeds in the field.

The fanning mill will separate weed seeds from wheat, oats, barley and rye, if care is used. During the winter months the fanning mill should be overhauled, repaired and fitted with proper screens. Different screens are needed for the different grains to be cleaned, and for the different kinds of weed seeds to be separated.

This all may seem like a lot of trouble to take, but it has often been said that there is nothing that will return the farmer such good dividends as time spent in putting the fanning mill in shape, in using the right screens and particularly in passing the grain slowly and carefully through the mill so that all weed seeds are eliminated. Flax is difficult to clean, special screens are needed. Universities and Provincial Departments of Agriculture can give good advice on the screens required.

It it's grain . . . Ask us!

The What And Where Of Pensions

(This is the second in a series of ten weekly articles especially written for The Tofield Mercury by Richard Hale, chief pensions officer of the Canadian Legion, Ottawa Headquarters.)

By RICHARD HALE

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 12 — A good deal of confusion exists in the public mind at the present time as to who is and who is not entitled to pension, as a right, for a condition that arose while the veteran was on active service. One group is all right. The men and women who have seen overseas service are entitled to pension as a right because they are protected by what has come to be known as the Insurance Principle.

The Insurance Principle means simply this: When a citizen of Canada undertakes military duty in the armed forces, he or she is protected against disability or death from any cause except misconduct.

At the beginning of the war, the government announced that men who enlisted would be given the same benefits under the Pension Act as applied at the conclusion of the last war. The Insurance Principle was part of the Act and therefore everyone who joined the service automatically was protected by this principle.

This was the case until May 21, 1940, when the government passed an order-in-council which abolished the Insurance Principle for men and women with service in Canada only. In its place, the government said that pensions would be payable to the "Canada only" group as of right only when the disability or death arose out of, or was directly connected with, military service.

A provision was made for the payment of compassionate pensions when the veteran was seriously disabled or, if he died during service, to his dependents when they were in necessitous circumstances and held ineligible under these very restrictive regulations.

The Legion has found by experience that it is almost impossible to prove that any ordinary disease arose out of service or that death due to disease could be directly connected with service when that service was in Canada only. In addition, injuries causing disabilities or death which were not incurred while performing actual military duty are rarely compensated by pension as a matter of right when the service is in Canada only.

The Legion has constantly maintained that the Insurance Principle should be extended to all troops who volunteered for active service, no matter where they saw service. Many hardships and misunderstandings have arisen in Canada as a result of the decision to limit it. When a man loses his life while on service in Canada, his dependents should be compensated just the same as though his life had been sacrificed overseas.

FACTS ABOUT AGRICULTURE

The need for food is one of man's primitive instincts and has influenced his attitude to peace and war, has been the cause of some of "man's inhumanity to man" through the centuries, has occasioned territorial acquisitions by nations and has caused people to wander over the earth in search of arable areas. The supply of food in the world has never been far ahead of its actual need.

These statements were made by Dr. R. D. Sinclair, dean of agriculture at the University of Alberta, in an address delivered a short time ago. He said that in the United States, Canada and most European countries man is being replaced on the farm by modern machines. Improved methods of agriculture are coming into use which are releasing farm operators for other duties about the farm or for other industries and professions. However, agriculture will continue to occupy the important place it has in the past for at least another generation. At the same time only 22 persons per hundred of population are needed on farms for the production of food in Canada and the United States. In China 85 of every hundred persons are needed for the production of food. The need for agricultural workers in the United States has decreased by 1,500,000 persons since 1929.

Dr. Sinclair said about 2½ acres of land are needed to supply the necessities of life for one person. There are four billion acres of land capable of cultivation in the world and the population has been estimated in excess of two billion persons, giving a cultivated acreage of approximately two acres per person. — Alberta Wheat Pool Budget.

A Policyholder Reports

"Some years ago I insured my life with The Mutual Life of Canada and every year since that time I have carefully read the Company's Annual Report because as a policyholder I am, with 180,000 other policyholders, a part-owner of the business.

"I am a practical man, and big figures, as such, do not convey much meaning — I want to know what they mean to me as a policyholder and to my dependents.

"Take 1944 for instance. More new policyholders joined The Mutual Life than during any other year in the Company's long history. That means a stronger company, more people united with me for a common purpose — personal and family protection. (We own 285,000 policies for protection exceeding $723,000,000). It is evidence that the Company has gained a good reputation through its service and outstanding policy results.

"$14,854,000 was paid to policyholders in death claims, matured policies, dividends and other payments last year, benefitting many individuals and families throughout Canada. My policies are still in force and their values are constantly increasing. The assurance of security for the future that they guarantee gives me peace of mind.

"Of the amount paid out by the Company in 1944 I received my share of the dividends, or premium refunds as a substantial reduction of my premium. $93,000,000 have been paid in dividends to policyholders since The Mutual Life was first organized in 1869, which means that the actual cost of insurance has been reduced by this amount.

"I also noted with pleasure that The Mutual Life invested heavily in the two Victory Loans of 1944 and that a large percentage of the assets, which total $252,000,000, is in War and Victory Bonds. I am interested in these assets because they belong to us — the policyholders — and represent the stability behind our insurance.

"It pleases me to know that the Company is conducting its operations from year to year so carefully that the SAFETY of my insurance is unquestioned, and so economically and efficiently that the earnings of the Company give me my insurance at the LOWEST POSSIBLE NET COST.

"You see, life insurance to me is a personal thing, and my Company's reports on its operations for the year mean more than a presentation of figures — to me they mean a strengthening of my present and future security and that of my fellow policyholders and our dependents."

"I WILL BE BACK"—

AT THE BEGINNING of any war statesmen and members of high commands are quick to promise their nationals victory. For morale purposes it couldn't be otherwise and it is quite likely that they mean what they say, but it is quite obvious that both sides cannot win a war and that one high command has to eat humble pie some time. In the greater scope of this war we have had the choice as between statements of Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt or Mr. Hitler and Mr. Japanese Premier and at no time has the choosing been difficult. Even in 1940 and 1941 when German and Japanese successes were following one another in rapid succession, Canadians had faith in ultimate victory, faith which due to her fighting sons and the fighting sons of her allies, bears more than ever the promise of fulfilment. Today Germany is staggering and Japan is reeling under the persistent blows from British, Canadian, American and Russian combatant forces, and if in those immediate months after Dunkirk, there was a feeling of bitterness and frustration, there was also the iron will to carry on to beat aggressors on their own ground and in a manner of which the aggressors believed themselves the master.

Amid the world shattering and history making events of the past few years, there must have been thousands of last ditch stands and heroic deeds, but that of the Americans at Bataan and Corregidor on Luzon island in the Phillipines, will be remembered for some long time. With the exception of those who were captured as prisoners, the Americans were compelled to withdraw and leave the Japs in possession of Luzon. But in doing so, General McArthur said to the Japs in particular and the world in general, "I will be back". The belief in the truth of that statement through three long years of semi-starvation was fully justified a few days ago, when after the almost complete capture of Manilla, he slowly walked through a prisoner of war centre and greeted many old friends, some of them emaciated beyond recognition. They grasped his hand and fervently said "We knew you would be back."

JOBS FOR TOMORROW—

By Alex M. Miller in the De Havilland "Mosquito"

THOSE WHO Expect our Governments, municipal, provincial and federal, together with what is vaguely known as "big business" to provide a utopia of jobs for all at top rates after the war, are living in a fool's paradise—that is, if they expect these agencies to work without whole-hearted co-operation from the people as a whole.

Of course, jobs for all at top rates is what everyone wants. It is in everyone's interest to want that condition and to do everything they can to bring it about. Full employment means more revenue for governments, more sales for all businesses, and a mounting standard of living for the whole Dominion. So nobody with his head screwed on the right way wants anything else. Only the criminal minded and the subversive thrive on human distress. Loose talk about sinister groups who want "to take us back to the bad thirties" is rank nonsense.

At any rate, it is best to assume that most people are like ourselves and want security and a higher living standard for all; that we don't want to get this the Hitler way, but insist on as much personal freedom to live our lives the way we want to, as is consistent with law and order.

If this assumption is correct, then no government or governments and no "big business" or little business group or groups, and no financial magic can do the whole job for us. Our individual co-operation is essential as long as we have a dollar to spend or save.

Here we should remind ourselves that every dollar we control is the power to make others work a dollar's worth for us at the job we want them to work at for us.

We don't need to spend recklessly now to keep our fellow workers employed when half our national income is going to keep us free.

This is the time to hang on like grim death to our war bond and cash savings, so that we will have them to create jobs when the war is over.

Then, when victory is complete, it will be our privilege to pay our fellow workers to work for us growing and making the necessities of life first and the conveniences of life second, leaving the fads and frills a weak third.

Everyone who does this will be a bulwark of national prosperity and a warrior in the battle for economic freedom.

Deficiency of Moisture Reserves

Searle rainfall reports indicate that the rains which occurred this last fall were only 33 percent of normal. This might be a good year, therefore, for farmers in moisture deficient areas to increase their summer-fallowed acreage in order to conserve more moisture for the crop of 1945.

THE WHEAT SITUATION

Canada and the United States are likely to have a combined wheat carryover at the end of the present crop year of 700 million bushels as compared with 679 million bushels at the end of the 1943-44 crop year according to a tentative estimate made by G. L. Burton, editor of the Monthly Review for the Wheat Situation issued by the dominion bureau of statistics. In the January issue of that publication Mr. Burton points out that although anything can happen, conditions are favorable for the maintenance of a high level of wheat supplies in North America in 1945-46. Domestic disappearance of wheat in the United States this crop year is expected to be down by about 320 million bushels from that of the previous year, while Canadian domestic disappearance will be down by about 30 million bushels. Total exports from the two countries are still uncertain but Canada may export 340 million bushels and the United States 100 million bushels. If these figures work out the two countries will have a wheat carryover of 700 million bushels next July.

As far as the supply situation goes, the United States has seeded fifty million acres to winter wheat and present prospects are good.

In Canada a wheat acreage of 21.5 million is the objective set but will probably be exceeded. The moisture situation in the prairies is better than a year ago but still below average. Any calculation on what wheat Canada will produce next year is just a guess. —Wheat Pool Budget.

DEATH OF ROBERT GARDINER

Robert Gardiner, president of the United Farmers of Alberta since 1931 died in Calgary on Tuesday, February 6th, at the age of 65 years. Born in Aberdeenshire, he came to Canada in 1902. In 1912 he homesteaded near Excel on the Goose Lake Line. He came into public life in 1921 when he defeated Nelson Spencer in the federal contest in the Medicine Hat riding. That marked the upsurge of the U.F.A.'s entrance into politics. Mr Gardiner was a member of the federal house until 1935 and made a remarkable contribution to agriculture in that position.

REINSTATEMENT OF SCHOOL TEACHERS

A note of warning that school boards must be prepared to reinstate any of their teachers who have been serving with the Armed Services, was sounded today by Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labour, in a statement issued to the press.

"In a few cases which have come to the notice of the Department of Labour," the Labour Minister said, "it appears that some school boards have got into difficulties by forgetting that the Reinstatement in Civil Employment Act requires them to reinstate their teachers after discharge from the Armed Services just as other employees must be reinstated. School boards should protect themselves when engaging substitutes to replace teachers who have gone into the Armed Services by inserting a clause in the contract that the engagement of the substitute may be terminated after the return of the teacher from the Forces."

The Minister said that some school boards have taken the necessary precautions and that so far cases where difficulties have arisen are not numerous. However, Hon. Mr. Mitchell expressed the hope that all boards would make the necessary provision in engaging teachers as replacements for those with the Services.

"Boards might well consult with the Employment and Selective Service Offices, which administer the Reinstatement in Civil Employment Act", the Labour Minister added.

Robert Gardiner was one of an outstanding group of farm leaders developed in Western Canada during the 1920's. His contribution to prairie agriculture was exceeded by few men. — Wheat Pool Budget.

THE PLOUGHING ARGUMENT

Prof. Emil Truog, head of the soils department of Wisconsin Agricultural College, has written an article in reply to the condemnation of ploughing contained in "Plowman's Folly", a book written by Edward H. Faulkner.

Prof. Truog says that in Nature's cropping scheme there is no removal of plant growth. The grass and other plant growth wither and die, adding a percentage of fertility to the soil each year. But man harvests and carries away the wheat and corn, thus depriving the soil of fertility elements. Consequently, the land must be cultivated and provided with certain nutrients in the form of fertilizers.

The conclusion reached is that it is not particularly the depth of plowing that counts but the restoration of fertility to the soil to make up for what is taken away for man's use.

ARMOURED TRAIN IS DISMANTLED

Winnipeg, February 12—One of the best-known diesel locomotives in Canada—the 9000 of the Canadian National Railways, has just been discharged from military service.

On the secret list since shortly after the start of the war, the 9000 had been completely remodeled in the railways. Transcona shops to furnish the power for an armoured train. These shops also converted four all-steel Canadian National flat cars and three all-steel box cars for this train, which was used in British Columbia until the Japanese invasion menace disappeared.

The locomotive and cars looked alike, making it difficult for the enemy to pick out the engine in case of an attack.

THIS is a war of rapid movement. Overseas mail must be handled many times before it reaches your man. If you write a wrong or incomplete address, it may cause weeks of delay in spite of all your Post Office or Canadian Postal Corps can do to speed delivery. You can save much heart-ache by following these simple rules:

1. Write clearly or print full address in block letters.
2. Make sure the address is COMPLETE, many delays are caused in Army mail by senders omitting name and number of unit.
3. If you are writing to a wounded man in hospital Overseas, write the usual COMPLETE address, then ADD the words "IN HOSPITAL" in large letters on the envelope.

AGRICULTURAL SHORT COURSE MARCH 6th

The announcement on page three giving the full program of the Agricultural Short Course which is to be held on Tuesday, March 6th, should be read with interest and clipped out for immediate reference when required. The event is of great importance to those engaged in agriculture as the result of years of practice and study will be given by those conducting the different classes. The passing of time in all vocations bring about improvements and changes in the methods of operation and in no vocation is this rule more apparent than in agriculture.

The event is being held under the sponsorship of the Tofield Community Club and is being conducted by the Provincial Department of Agriculture. For the convenience of those attending and as a token of good will the Community League is providing supper to all farm visitors to the course. Supper will be served in the curling rink.

MISSING PARTICIPATION CERTIFICATES

There are quite a few missing participation certificates covering deliveries to the wheat board from the crops in the years 1940, 1941, and 1942. Those farmers who have lost such certificates should write to the Wheat Board at Winnipeg. The Board has a duplicate of the original certificates and is now engaged in an effort to get all the payments cleaned up.

BESIDE THE BAY

AGRICULTURAL SHORT COURSE—

WE ARE MORE THAN pleased to see the announcement of the agricultural short course to be held at Tofield on March 6th. It is not so much that an agricultural short course is being held at Tofield, though that of course is a matter of satisfaction also, but we are genuinely pleased to see the policy of holding agricultural short courses adopted by the department of agriculture. The idea and practice is not new, even in Alberta, agricultural short courses were held at different points throughout the province thirty years and more ago.

In those days a staff of agricultural experts vould come to town and lecture morning and afernoon for either a week or three days, according o the length of the course. A large tent would be rected with, if we remember right, seating accomdation provided. Livestock and poultry were rought in and the good points and poor ones desribed. Then due to various reasons, the 1914-18 var, political upsets, etc., this particular form of gricultural education was dropped, other forms of gricultural education being adopted, such as junor grain clubs, cattle clubs, swine clubs, etc. The ncreased use of moving pictures for agricultural ducation has been much in evidence and in the inervening years between the earlier agricultural hort courses and those being held to-day, the work f the farmer has been much changed. It is so that e may keep abreast of these changes that make hese agricultural short courses of such value to the verage farmer.

We remember a very successful agricultural hort course held well over thirty years ago. A local poet enthused over the project, wrote a few erses of which but a part of two lines remain in memory: "And teach us how to make hens lay mid now and ice." Before that time hens were sissies nd only worked in the summer time and now as verybody knows, they scorn our climatic changes, nd keep the eggs coming all the year round. Ain't he Department of Agriculture wonderful.

ONLY TOO MUCH IS ENOUGH—

EARLY THIS MONTH the annual Red Cross rive for funds will commence and across Canada rom coast to coast, in hamlets, villages, towns and ities, people will be asked to give financial aid to ne of the most, if not the most, humanitarian oranizations ever formed. So much has been said and ritten about the work of the Red Cross Society hat it becomes difficult to add anything of which eople have not already heard and mere repetition ends to become tiresome. There is however, a side f Red Cross giving that could be emphasized, amely, personal responsibility. Upon each one of s here who in safety pursue our separate and at east for the time being, profitable ways, there hould rest a solemn obligation. We should give hat we can so that those service men and women hose service and sacrifice make our safety and rofit possible are not neglected or forgotten should ither disaster or distress reach them. Whether we ealize it or not the present security and the future ecurity of the people of this area and of all Canda is the direct result of men and women who were illing to place themselves and their personal liberes at their country's call and go forth in various ays to do battle. If and when distress and disasers of war strike these men and women, there hould be no withholding of help due to lack of unds, only too much is enough.

GOOD AND EVIL—

WHEN ONE READS of the terrible Nazi rimes of Europe where wholesale murder has eached the proportions of a fiendishly high art, ne is appalled and shudders in apprehension for he future welfare of Europe and even for the fuure welfare of all mankind. "Murder factories" pecially designed and built for the elimination of undreds and thousands of political undesirables is omething we on this continent find it hard to beieve existed. Yet over and over again we are inormed that they did exist and that in a fiendishly lever way, political internees were by the thousand ent to their doom.

Add to this the distress and devastation rought by hunger, cold, bombing and military ocupation and one wonders how the populations of hese places have managed to live through the years f "blood, tears and sweat."

It is therefore both gratifying and surprising o learn that even while the hardships due to war re being borne, plans for a better world are being aid. It is only recently that we read of far reaching ocial plans for an European country as much in he war news as Belgium. If the government of Belgium lives up to its promises the Belgian people rom an economic-social point of view are going to e well taken care of. Even in this country, our Canada, legislation has already been passed making famly allowances a real thing. Ten years ago this vould have been considered revolutionary.

So it would appear that at the same time the owest form of depravity is practised, sensible and benevolent thinking resulting in advanced legislaion is going forward. Good and evil.

The What And Where Of Pensions

(This is the fourth in a series of ten weekly articles especially written for The Tofield Mercury by Richard Hale, chief pensions officer of the Canadian Legion, Ottawa Headquarters.)

By RICHARD HALE

During the five years of this war, a substantial number of men and women have been discharged from the three services because of various types of neurological disabilities. The general public find it difficult to understand why such cases are so rarely pensioned for what appears to be a disabling condition which removes their usefulness in the general labour market.

The situation as it now stands places the person who comes into this category in a special classification. The Pension Act says specifically that where an applicant for pension "has a disability which is purely functional or hysterical no pension shall be paid, but such member of the forces shall immediately be referred to a Neurological Centre for teratment." However, there also exists a very specific provision in the Pension Act that, when as a result of treatment the disability has not disappeared, a pension shall be awarded in accordance with the extent

The argument, of course, is not as
to whether or not the man is disabled. This type of disorder can be — and very often is—very disabling indeed. However, there is nothing organically wrong, according to the opinions of neurological specialists.

At the Neurological Rehabilitation Centres the plan is to give these cases every opportunity to do something constructive. Work in gardens, machine shops, etc., is carried out under medical supervision and an attempt is made to bring them to a normal state. When treatment is concluded, an attempt is made to place the person in employment that is best suit- [illegible]

It is generally agreed that this treatment is of much more value than awarding pensions indiscriminately for this type of disability. However, it is felt by the Legion that after treatment has been tried, and the person is still suffering from disability, the only fair thing to do is award a pension. In practise, it appears very difficult for the Pension Commission to award disability pensions in these cases.

While admitting that there are seldom two cases exactly alike, medical neurological experts maintain that the great majority of these cases can be restored to their former state. The Neurological Centres, they are satisfied, provide the answer in most cases.

COMMUNICATION

The Editor,
Dear Sir,

I should like to point out that the 'Agricultural Prices Stabilization Act' proposes to arrange for the export of surplus products and the maintenance of reasonable prices on the domestic market.

The Act does not definitely provide to the producer minimum or floor prices for farm products regardless of the actual selling price. (These are to be gauged by the actual price which prevails with regard to that commodity.)

Provision is made in the Act to enable the Prices Stabilization Board to provide subsidies or take other measures to avoid price collapses.

In the event that so called floor prices should be placed so low that in the farmers estimation production would only be done at a loss, then it would not be reasonable to expect the farmer to maintain maximum production at such a price level.

On the other hand the Government can always refuse to accept more than a stipulated quota at a selling price. This has been done under the quota regulations and always provides the Government with plenty of latitude for a way of escape if in their opinion the price is a stimulation to surplus production.

If we may be allowed to take the words of Mr. Taggart at their face value when he says, "If we can find a way to forestall thirty, forty and fifty cent wheat prices we may have to forego $3.00 wheat" we would reply that, if the Board regards thirty, forty and fifty cent wheat as just as ridiculously low as $3.00 wheat is high, then we are in accord with him and agree that somewhere equidistant between these points, Parity lies.

Farmers should watch closely the administration of this Act as while it can, if applied with courage, serve a useful purpose, it is sufficiently elastic that it could prove to be only another costly piece of interfering administrative machinery that does not administer to the interests of the farmers, and cannot in any event take the place of an intelligent Parity Price Policy.

Yours truly,
H. E. Nichols, Secretary, Alberta Farmers' Union.

Mr. and Mrs. Torval Nomeland are in the chicken business on a large scale this year. Recently they bought sixteen hundred baby chicks. They came when we were having our coldest weather, but with three stoves, and may we say bed, in the brooder house. They came through very successfully.

LAKESHORE

T. A. Jones had an auction sale on Tuesday. It was unfortunate that the weather was anything but pleasant just at the time of the sale, which doubtless prevented a number of people from attending.

Mrs L. Jones spent a couple of days last week visiting her folks at Camrose and going to the dentist.

Rowland Herbert has been busy sawing wood for various farmers of our district.

Members of the War Workers' Club and many others will be interested in hearing that the cigarettes sent to Frank Dunn last May and the parcel sent in July arrived safely at the prison camp where Frank was held. However, the November parcel was one damaged by fire in the hold of a ship carrying P. of W. mail and was sent back. All articles were damaged so badly that nothing could be salvaged. It was planned to send another but the week after the parcel came back, the list of camps to which parcels are not to be sent was published and it contained the name of Frank's camp.

Speaking of the efforts of the War Workers' Club, perhaps the following will be of general interest. Last year some 30 garments were made for the Red Cross of Red Cross materials, about 30 articles, made from the club's own goods were donated to the I.O.D.E., Red Cross and Salvation Army (these included 6 quilts, 4 blankets and a quilt top) and about a dozen articles were made for the I.O.D.E. (Several of these were knitted articles made of I.O.D.E. material). For the Salvation Army there were three ditty bags filled with donated articles of approximately $13 value. A total of $30.30 was donated to various War Charity Funds and parcels to the value of $134.70 sent to local boys overseas and goods worth $11.40 to prisoners of war.

JAMES R. McFALL, SECRETARY OF A.F.A.

Calgary, March 1.—Appointment of James R. McFall as secretary treasurer of the Alberta Federation of Agriculture, with headquarters in Calgary, is announced by Lew Hutchinson, chairman, board of directors. Mr. McFall will take up his new duties early in March.

The Federation's new secretary has had a long and varied experience in agriculture. He was raised on a farm in the Etzikom district, attended the Raymond School of Agriculture and graduated from the University of Alberta in 1927 with the degree of Bachelor of Science in Agriculture (B.S.A.) Returning to his home farm from the University, Mr. McFall took an active part in organizational work having represented his district as a Wheat Pool delegate and a delegate to Sugar Beet Growers conventions on a number of occasions. He later undertook soil survey and analysis work, and activities in connection with the farm youth training program. Since 1940 he has been supervisor, Agricultural Improvement Associations, with headquarters at the Dominion Experimental Farm, Lethbridge.

HOME-MIXED CALF MEAL FOR PAIL-FED CALVES

There is usually a marked difference in the rate of growth, finishing, and general thrift of calves that nurse and those that are pail fed. Part of this difference can be overcome by feeding the milk three times daily instead of twice; by making sure the milk is at approximately blood temperature when fed; and by using a suitable meal mixture as a supplement to the skim milk.

At the Experimental Farm, Brandon, the meal mixture used for feeding with skim milk is made up of two parts finely ground sifted oat chop, two parts finely ground sifted barley chop, and one part ground flax. It is prepared for feeding by adding scalding water to the meal a few hours before being fed. The mixture when cool forms a jelly, and it is in this form it is added to the milk. Two heaping tablespoonfuls of the dry meal is the allowance given to young calves. The amount is gradually increased until one-half to three-quarters of a pound daily is being consumed. The meal mixture contains fat and protein and has proved a suitable supplement to skim milk for calf feeding. In addition to the meal added to the milk, the young calves are self-fed a dry mixture of whole oats and bran, to which ten per cent of oil cake meal or ground soybeans is added, and they are also given the best quality of hay available as as soon as they will consume it. —Experimental Farm, Brandon, Manitoba.

WONDERS IN GLASS

London: British factories can now turn out glass strong enough to be bullet-proof or fine enough to be woven into fabric.

Tanks and bombers are now fitted with bullet-proof windows.

At the same time a Scottish factory is now drawing glass thread one-fifth the thickness of human hair. Millions of glass marbles made from special raw materials are melted in electric furnaces, and from every pound of marbles about 175 miles of fine thread can be drawn.

Glass has thus a tremendous variety of uses. At present the electrical industry is the largest single user of glass silk cloths to insulate electric motors, generators and transformers. They do not rot, are unaffected by water and most chemicals, are vermin-proof, are so efficient that a thin layer is enough and so fire-proof that apparatus can operate safely at much higher temperatures.

A 10 h.p. motor insulated with cotton weighed 384 pounds. When insulated with glass fibre, the same motor weighed only 190 pounds, occupied only half as much space, and operated at higher speeds. Glass fibre insulation used in a battleship can reduce the weight by 500 tons.

Experts in Britain estimate that a material made of glass fibres reinforcing and binding plastics has the greatest strength in relation to weight of any material known. Already experimental aircraft have been built of this new plastic plus glass, and other developments are expected

REVEAL BIG JUMP IN GASOLINE USED

Gasoline consumption in Alberta in 1944 was more than 6,000,000 gallons in excess of the last peacetime year, 1939, according to official figures compiled by the provincial secretary's department.

Nearly 50,000,000 gallons of gasoline were consumed by so-called "civilian" users in Alberta last year. The actual total was 49,611,486.

Gasoline consumption in the province appears to be on a steady increase, as the 1944 figure was 8,220,237 gallons in excess of 1942.

Agricultural Short Course Well Attended

The Agricultural Short Course sponsored by the Tofield Community League and arranged by the Provincial Department of Agriculture, which was held at Tofield, Tuesday, March 6th, will be remembered as a very successful event.

The weather was about all that could be wished for in early March and the number of farmers attending was very gratifying. The Department of Agriculture arranged for well qualified lecturers and without question the event was worthwhile.

There were two meeting places, the Variety Theatre and Catholic church classroom. The lectures in the Variety Theatre included general farm topics, while those in the Catholic church classroom were connected with poultry raising. A Mercury representative was present at two sessions and found the audience very attentive and the question period quite interesting.

At 5:00 p.m. farm visitors to the short course were entertained to supper by "town folk" and this proved to be a very enjoyable event, some two hundred or more partaking of the evening meal.

At the close of the program at the evening session at the Variety theatre, thanks were tendered the Department of Agriculture for arranging such a successful short course. W. A. Moisey was chairman of the afternoon sessions at the Variety and Geo. McFadzean was chairman at the evening session. At the Catholic church classroom meetings, Mr. Jim Francis was chairman at both the afternoon and evening sessions. The full programme was as follows:

Variety Theatre: 1:30 p.m.: Dr. Lloyd Jones, Livestock Diseases; 3:00 p.m., Dr. W. E. Bowser, How to Make the Soil Yield More; 4:00 p.m. Mr. H. J. Mather, Control of Wild Oats, Canada Thistle and Couch Grass; 8:00 p.m. Mr. J. P. Sackville, Beef Cattle—Feeding, Finishing and Market Trends; Mr. Hargreaves, Brooks Horticultural Station, Horticulture and the Farm Home, illustrated.

Catholic Church classroom: 1:30 p.m. Mr. C. W. Traves, Market Situation in regards to Poultry, Management of Laying and Breeding Flocks; 3:30 p.m. Dr. Lloyd Jones, Poultry Diseases and Parasites; 8:00 p.m. Mr. C. W. Again THE RED CROSS ASKS YOUR HELP TO HEAL A WAR-TORN WORLD GIVE!

• Wherever the great destroyer, War, has passed, pain, suffering and sorrow follow in its wake. Young men on the battlefield or in hospitals are tormented by sickness or wounds. Little children, mothers, aged people are homeless, hungry, cold. In every theatre of war, whole cities lie in ruins. Millions are suffering the pangs of disease, starvation and dire want.

So the Red Cross will continue to reach out a helping hand. It must heal and comfort our own sick and wounded. It must send food, clothing, medical supplies to war-torn lands.

And the Canadian Red Cross will answer this urgent call. For the Canadian Red Cross is you and your friends and your neighbors, and all the good folks up and down this fair Dominion of ours. You will send help—yes, life itself—to the stricken people of other lands. You will stand staunchly behind your Red Cross, and—GIVE!

MINISTIK

The Picture Show and dance was well attended last Friday night. If the Hall is not moved into place by the 30th of March, Good Friday, which is the date of the next show, it will be held in the school. Come all and have a good time.

Mrs. A. J. Leach is back home again from the hospital where she had an appendix operation. She is coming along fine.

We understand Mrs. Barnes is in the hospital but we do not know particulars of her illness.

A good attendance was at the Hall meeting to decide about moving the Hall. It was decided that the contracting price was too high, so the men of the district will move it themselves, Mr. A. Kleinschroth heading the job. The job has to be done before the frost is out of the ground.

Mr. Jack Reddick sawed the wood for the Hall last Friday.

The What And Where Of Pensions

By RICHARD HALE

Ottawa, — A goodly number of veterans from the present war have heard something of compassionate pensions and, feeling themselves eligible, have submitted applications to the Pension Commission.

The idea of compassionate pensions, however, is not, as the name suggests, a plan whereby veterans in straitened circumstances may qualify for a pension that they would otherwise not be entitled to. Two words in section 21 of the Pension Act, i.e. "specially meritorious" limit its application to a very great extent.

Obviously, the great problem is to decide what is meant by these two words. The Pension Commission has been very reluctant to make many awards. The recognition of any case under this section tends to set up a precedent for others. Naturally the Canadian Pension feels it would result in a great many applications which they would find difficult to refuse.

In actual practice, about the only applicants for pension under section 21 who have succeeded are those with something very distinctive about their service. If a man has been awarded a decoration for service in the field, his chances improve accordingly. In some cases pensions have been granted to widows of men who gave gallant and exceptional service.

The problem of administering this section has really not begun for men in this war. Many have performed such heroic deeds—in France and Italy; in the air; or on any number of ships—that the "specially meritorious" clause could be applicable to countless numbers when demobilization is complete.

There is provision for another type of "compassionate pension" in section 11, subsection (2) of the Pension Act. This is limited to those who have served in the present war in Canada ONLY and have been seriously disabled, although not as a direct result of the performance of military duties. It is also applicable to dependents of those who have died during service in Canada, but not because of actual military duty. In either case, if the applicant is in "necessitous circumstances", the Commission may authorize an award of pension.

QUOTA SYSTEM ON WHEAT REVIVED—

Contributed by W.A.M.

Dominion Minister of Trade and Commerce, Mr. MacKinnon, has announced that wheat deliveries for 1945-46 will be restricted to 14 bushels per authorized acre. At the same time he reviewed the wheat market situation and asserted that it is not likely that this regulation will be rescinded.

How will this action affect Alberta farmers? Farmers in the soil zone 1, the brown soil belt in Alberta, have very little to worry about. The wheat yields in this dry zone seldom exceed 12 bushels per acre. They will be able to sell all the wheat they can grow. Also, the quality of this wheat is 'tops'.

The climatic soil zone 2 is the dark brown soil belt. It's northern boundary stretches from the U.S.A. boundary along the Rockies to Cochrane, hence to Stettler, Viking and to Lloydminster. In this area, especially towards the north, many farmers will obtain yields of wheat over 14 bushels per acre, therefore the surplus wheat will have to be used up by other means, especially feeding.

In the Black soil zone 3 and zone 4, the yields of wheat are well over 14 bushels per acre, under favourable conditions. The surplus wheat will need to be used up by other means.

Another phase of wheat marketing comes into the picture. It is the protein quality of wheat. Wheat from zone 1 is very high in protein content. From zone 2 it is somewhat lower, depending a great deal on rainfall and weather. In zone 3, when the yield is good, the protein content of the wheat is low. In zone 4 the protein content is usually very low. Therefore, the buyers will be very careful and grade down whenever they see fit. Quality is going to be the main slogan.

This single regulation re delivery of 14 bushels per authorized acre, if adhered to as announced, will automatically dictate the plan of farming to farmers in this area. Each farmer will need to adopt one of the following production set-ups:

1. Grain and hogs, or
2. Grains and beef cattle, or
3. Grains and poultry, or
4. Grains and dairying.

As time goes on it is the consumer who is going to dictate what farmers are going to produce.

Luther League convention held March 2nd, 3rd and 4th. In spite of cold weather and a hockey game, the Lutheran Church was well filled, extra chairs had to be brought from the Parish Hall to accomodate the people. Rev. M. S. Johnson of Edmonton was the main speaker. His topic was "Having made atonement for Sin" and emphasized Jesus' words when He said "I am the Way, the Truth and the Life," John 14: 1-7. Saturday morning a half hour of prayer was held before the business session which started at 10:30 and closed at noon. New officers were elected for the coming year. Dinner was served in the Parish Hall. The topic of the afternoon was "Stewardship of Life" members from each local gave short talks on different varieties of stewardship. They were all delivered well, especially Mrs. Hanson's of Viking on "Stewardship of Time," as it made one stop and think of how we really spend our time and energy, if it is all to the glory and honor of God. In the evening, Rev. Johnson spoke on "Justification by Faith." Ryley Male Quartette sang "Wandering Child, Come Home."

Sunday morning, Communion Service by Rev. Ostrem and the sermon by Rev. J. B. Stolie of Viking. In the afternoon Rev. C. A. The Kingman Octette gave two musical numbers and the Ryley Male Quartette also gave another number. Rev. Stensland of the "Friends of Israel" mission gave a talk on his work among the Jews at one of the sessions on Saturday.

DODDS DOTTINGS

A 'prisoner of war' parcel sent to Kenneth Wideman, a prisoner of war in Germany, was recently returned to his mother, Mrs. Holtie Wideman, because of damage from water, etc., when a fire occurred among the parcels. It is reported that nothing it contained is now usable with the exception of the handkerchiefs.

TO THE ELECTORS OF DIVISION SIX OF M.D. BEAVER, 489

Once again an election for councillor in Division 6 is approaching. I would like to solicit your support on voting day. Our Division has many problems but I feel that the biggest and most important is still that of building and maintaining our roads. Due to war conditions we found it very difficult in the last two years to purchase new machinery of any kind to build the roads. Owing to the extremely wet weather the last two summers, wash outs and culvert replacements caused our money, not to mention time to be [illegible] spent.

The Division is large and no doubt many of the ratepayers are not aware what roads are being built. If fortunate enough to be elected again I would put a statement of some form in the local papers showing every mile of road that is built. I have tried in the past to help with and take a sympathetic interest in all indigent and relief cases and would continue to take that attitude.

Thanking you sincerely for your co-operation in the past and again hoping that you will support me in the coming election. A vote cast for me on March 17 will ensure competent management of your municipal affairs.

I remain,
Yours faithfully,
WM. LUCAS.

MUCH TO BE DONE

Although the war in Europe is drawing to a successful conclusion, the work of the Canadian Red Cross will not decrease with the surrender. Rather the responsibilities of the Society will become heavier because considerable help must be given to the peoples of the liberated countries who have suffered so much during the period of occupation.

Relief authorities estimate that there are over 17,000,000 persons destitute and homeless in the freed areas. Many of them are suffering from disease and their children are victims of malnutrition. The Canadian Red Cross, along with other relief agencies, have shipped clothing and food to these people, but more and more must be sent if the real victims of war, the civilians, are to be saved to help build a better world.

United Church News

On Thursday evening, 8th March, a representative gathering from the congregations of Tofield, Lakeshore, and Ketchamoot, met in the church to consider "calling a minister." The Rev. Harold B. Ricker B.A., B.D., of Bentley had been invited to meet the congregation.

He conducted a short devotional service and then the Rev. D. K. Allan acted as chairman of the meeting. Questions were asked Mr. Ricker as to the type of work he had been engaged in. It was all very friendly and the members and adherents were satisfied from his answers that he could worthily carry on the traditions of our church.

On motion, which was carried unanimously, Mr. Ricker was invited to become pastor of Tofield United Charge. He has accepted this invitation and will assume his duties at the beginning of July.

Mr. Butler was one of the "real old timers" having laid the cornerstone of the United Church which at that time was known as the Calvin Presbyterian Church. His first wife and Mrs. J. L. McPherson were on the first canvassing committee for the building of the Church. His was a familiar figure every Sunday morning, rain or shine, on his way to the Church services. We were especially glad to have our very first president, Mrs. J. Ferguson with us. In fact, no less than seven presidents, past and present, were counted at the meeting.

Roll call was answered by 'Irish Stories' and got us off to a good start. A paper on "War Work in Alberta and Locally" was prepared by Mrs. E. A. Moen and in her unavoidable absence, was read by Mrs. Bill Davison. This article was full of information and facts on the efforts of the home front folks, and was much appreciated.

A contribution of $10.00 was voted toward the current Red Cross Drive.

An interesting discussion was held on the function and duties of the Women's Regional Advisory Committee to the WTPB and on our responsibility to this committee.

The committee on Ways and Means reported a total of $42.40 added to the locals funds raised in March.

One new member joined.

The April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. A. Torrie on the second Thursday, and a cordial invitation is extended to all farm women and girls.

HOW MUCH OF THIS MONEY WENT INTO YOUR POCKET?

THAT'S A LOT OF MONEY! It represents the gross agricultural production in Canada for 1944 as estimated by one of the country's leading farm magazines. It represents the earnings of Canada's biggest primary industry.

Is the share of this huge sum of money which came off your farm as much as it might be? In other words, is your farm producing to the full extent of its possibilities? Could it be made to produce more?

You can answer these questions for yourself best if you are in a position to know exactly how much you spend and how much you receive in each of your farm operations.

You can know these facts only if you have some reliable way of keeping track of your receipts and expenses. We don't mean anything complicated . . . just the opposite—something quite simple, such as our Farm Account Book.

A few minutes at this book every day or so and you will know just which operations of your farm are doing well, which only fair, which are falling behind. Then you can take the necessary steps to correct matters.

A copy of this book is yours for the asking. Call at our local office for a copy. While you are in, have a word with our manager. He will be glad to see you and to discuss any problems you may have in the operation of your farm.

THE AGRICULTURAL COMMITTEE—

WITH THE COMING of the enlarged M.D. units a new feature has entered municipal affairs, that of the agricultural committee. Formerly the functions of a municipal council were restricted to assessing, tax levying and collecting, road work and the hundred and one smaller pieces of business that comes up before council meetings. Generally speaking, it was left to the individual farmer, if he got into agricultural difficulties, due either to misfortune or mismanagement, to get out again. If during the process of misfortune or mismanagement, his taxes were unpaid, and he lost his farm through tax enforcement proceedings, the council and the general public would give a sympathetic cluck, cluck, but that would be all there would be to it. In other words whether a man as a farmer was brilliant, average or just plain dumb, he was strictly on his own and profited or lost accordingly. And many have found that an agricultural fight against the forces of nature, when only equipped with the weak armour of insufficient technical knowledge was a losing fight against weeds and taxes.

To put it more plainly, research of a kind has found that where tax lapses habitually occurred, it was often because the agricultural problems had become too great or too involved for the man who was operating the farm. Weeds and erosion, just to mention two agricultural hazards, unless attacked vigorously upon their first appearance, increase in force as the years pass while their eradication becomes a task too great for the individual land owner. This is where the understanding and advice of the agricultural committee comes in. Where heretofore it has simply been a matter of allowing taxes to accumulate until tax enforcement proceedings finally deprived a man of his farm, it is now proposed that the agricultural committee make investigation into cases where the weed menace or other agricultural hazards have become acute, and in the light of experience gained by actual practice and information supplied by the Department of Agriculture through the District Agriculturist, give advice and even instructions as to how to get the land back into paying production. It is well understood that the agricultural committee will not be able to perform miracles but it is believed, this belief being based on experience elsewhere, that its help can be of considerable benefit to much harassed farmers even to the extent of saving their farms for them.

There is just one thing that could be mentioned and that is that agricultural committee meetings should be held at some other time than during council meeting hours. Important as the agricultural committee is, it is subsidiary to the M.D. of Beaver Council proper, and the committee's meetings and deliberations should not be held at a time which make a full attendance at council impossible.

BE CAREFUL—

BE CAREFUL ARE UPON many occasions two of the most unwelcome words spoken. As a rule people do not wish to be careful, rather they desire to be carefree, cares are a burden and to become careful is to assume a burden. Just now the burden thrown upon western Canadian farmers is to decide whether they want the British bacon market or whether after the war they are content to let the Danes have it, bearing in mind that sometimes it is just as profitable and much easier here to raise grain than hogs. Just now those responsible for keeping up the Canadian quota for the British bacon market are tearing their hair because there is a decided falling off of pig production throughout Canada. This is unfortunate because during war time it is a patriotic duty as well as a profitable business to keep Britain's frying pans sizzling with Canadian bacon. In peace time it is a matter of choice, but, again perhaps unfortunately, the British bacon market is not something Canada can have one minute, discard, and then reach out and get it again. Canadians may depend upon it, as far as Britain's bacon market is concerned, the Danes are ready and waiting, and as soon as the European war is over, will be in British ports with shiploads of stuff.

It is our opinion that whatever Canada does as regards supplying the British bacon market now, Canadian farmers will not have the whole British market for themselves after the war. It is quite likely Canadian bacon will receive some preference, and that the amount of preference it will receive will be governed to some extent how well Britain is treated as regards supplies of bacon now. But the decisions are bound to be made against the background of national interest and the facts are that Britain must trade with many nations.

Weeds--The Robbers!

Weeds rob the farmers, on the average, of about 50 percent of their crops. Many weed seeds are often seeded with grain. Farmers can save themselves losses by cleaning and repairing their fanning mills, and by fitting them with proper screens. Early spring is a good time to do this work.

The Continuing Job of the CANADIAN RED CROSS

THE EUROPEAN WAR is nearing its end. That is obvious. Many people, including members of the Canadian Red Cross, have asked us what our job will be if the war should suddenly end.

We reply that we can only see ahead greater responsibilities than ever. Both in Europe and at home the work of the Red Cross must go on. The war will not bring an end to suffering and want, to the care of our Prisoners of War, to our Wounded, and to the millions whose homes and way of life have been dislocated by strife.

We therefore feel that every Canadian has a right to some knowledge of what our responsibilities will be in the event of peace, and just how we propose to discharge those responsibilities. We treat each of our main activities under its respective heading.

PRISONERS OF WAR—With the end of hostilities our Prisoners of War will automatically cease to be Prisoners. Chaos and breakdown in Germany will probably ensue. The German state will cease to care for them. They will become wards of the Allied General in command of the Occupation Forces. Transportation will be difficult, and it will probably take a minimum of six months to repatriate the 2,400,000 Canadian, British and Allied Prisoners in German Camps. The need of Prisoners' Parcels and Medical Supplies will be doubled. They will be distributed by the Allied Command, and will play a vital part in feeding our men pending repatriation. After the magnificent job we have done during the last five years we cannot let our boys in German prison camps down. Our Prisoners in the Far East will also be a continuing responsibility. We must carry on until every man is back home.

EUROPE'S STARVING MILLIONS—The job of feeding Europe's hungry millions is staggering in its immensity. Over 17,000,000 humans have been torn from their homes. Many have nowhere to rest their weary heads. They are starving. Malnutrition is the rule rather than the exception. There will be an urgent need for food, clothing and medical supplies. The Red Cross in these stricken countries are utterly dependent on their sister societies for supplies to meet these dire needs. Can we let them down? The Canadian Red Cross must go on!

RED CROSS WORK WITH OUR ARMED FORCES—Until the last Canadian soldier has left Europe and has been discharged from hospital, there will be important work for the Red Cross to do. How long this will be we do not know, but one thing we are certain of and that is that every Canadian at home will want to make sure that our boys will be as well looked after with the coming of peace as they were in war. The care of the wounded both in Europe and Canada is a permanent responsibility which we cannot evade. No Canadian wants to evade it. Here again the Red Cross must go on!

BLOOD SERUM SERVICE—Red Cross Blood Serum has saved countless lives in battle. The end of the war will see the end of painful war wounds. The demand for serum on the fighting fronts, except the Far East, will cease. But the Red Cross Blood Serum Service should be continued for civilian use. If the Red Cross makes it freely available it can save thousands of the lives of our own civilian citizens when war has ended.

OUTPOST HOSPITALS, CHILDREN'S CLINICS AND DISTRICT NURSING SERVICE—This is part of the Red Cross service to civilians in Canada. It is carried out in the sparsely settled parts of the Dominion, and it must go on.

FIRST AID AND HOME NURSING SERVICE—One of the finest peacetime activities of the Canadian Red Cross. It is truly a worth-while work and must go on.

TEACHING CANADIANS HOW TO BE BETTER NOURISHED—There is important work yet to be done in the matter of Nutrition. Thousands of Canadians are not eating the proper food. Their health could be improved immeasurably. The Canadian Red Cross has undertaken to educate where education is necessary. This work must go on.

PREPARATION TO MEET EPIDEMIC OR DISASTER—In case of these twin evils the Red Cross is always first on the job. For this reason alone the Red Cross must go on.

JUNIOR RED CROSS—A great crusade of 900,000 Canadian school children for health and good citizenship. A work that must go on.

Chairman,
National Executive Committee

Red Cross Work Must Go On!

MINISTIK

Mrs. Grummett put on a fish pond and Whist drive in aid of the Soldier's overseas parcel fund. I think about $40 was taken in. This was on Friday night, March 9th. We did not know anything about it so could not advertise it.

Miss Lorree Lawrence of Edmonton was a week end visitor at Mrs. D. R. Swabey's.

Mrs Baumgartner and son Steve was a week end visitor to her son John and family in Edmonton.

Mrs A J Leach is coming nicely after her operation. Among her Sunday visitors were Mrs. S. George, Mrs McIntosh, Mr. and Mrs. W. George and Mrs. F. Baumgartner.

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. D. R. Swabey and family are sick with the 'flu. We hope this fine weather will help them to get fit again.

Some of our men started work on the Hall today (Monday). It is going to be a big job to move the Hall and we hope there won't be any trouble doing the job.

There will be a Dept of Health meeting held at the home of Mrs. D R Swabey on Friday afternoon, March 16th. As this item will be too late to let the people of this district know in time, we will get to know when and where the next meeting will be held. These meetings are very interesting to all the ladies of the community and they will get a great benefit from them. Study group will be formed on social and family relationship.

The Social Credit Meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. George on Saturday night, Mar 17th. After a short session of business there will be a Whist Drive. Visitors are cordially invited.

Mrs Barnes is back home from the hospital where she had an operation. Reports are she is coming along fine.

Mrs D. R. Swabey left on Tuesday on the bus to attend the Dairy Pool convention as delegate.

OUTSTRETCHED HANDS are calling for HELP...

MILLIONS of innocent victims of war are without food and clothing for hunger, ragged bodies—without skilled care for the sick.

In collaboration with the Red Cross, we are appealing for funds to send urgently needed supplies to the destitute in our homelands—the help that saves bodies and renews hope.

Your contribution to the Red Cross is the one way in which you can express a practical sympathy for those who are enduring so much.

Their need is great. We cannot ignore their pleading.

OUT OUR WAY

Tpr. Bruce Ray is home for a few days leave.

Quite a number of people from Out Our Way attended the Agricultural Short Course in Tofield, sponsored by the Tofield Community League. The lectures were greatly enjoyed and very instructive and interesting. We wish to take this opportunity of thanking the Community League for sponsoring this day of entertainment for the farmers. The highlight of the day was the banquet and we think a hearty vote of thanks should be given to all who helped make it a success.

A hockey game was played Sunday at Miquelon, between Miquelon and Spinstead. The score was 5-1 for Miquelon.

A farewell party was held at the home of L. McGinitie Friday night for Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Robinson, who are leaving shortly for B.C. A very large crowd attended and everyone seemed to enjoy themselves. John Brown on behalf of the guests presented them with a pair of silver candlesticks.

M.D. Beaver Hold Meeting

The M.D. of Beaver held its regular monthly meeting at Ryley on Friday March 9th. There were present at the meeting. Reeve Anderson; Councillors Giebelhaus, Logan, Lucas, Moen, Ovens and Swabey.

The minutes of the last meeting together with the monthly financial report were accepted as read.

A routine report as regards a Mothers' Allowance recipient was read and it was decided that no change in allowance be recommended.

A letter was received from Patriquin & Johnstone, auditors, requesting that they be considered when the appointment of auditors for 1945 came up for consideration.

On the motion of Councillor Moen Patriquin & Johnstone were appointed 1945 auditors for the M.D. Beaver.

Letter from Dept. Municipal Affairs approving of the appointment of Mr. Finseth as assessor for the 1945 assessment.

Letter from Northwest Utilities saying that they did not feel that they should gravel a certain piece of road as the road was also used by the general public. The letter was in reply to a suggestion that they might be willing to.

Letter from Teachers' Alliance requesting that if the M.D. of Beaver embarked upon any pest destruction schemes, that school teachers be not asked to keep records, etc. Discussion brought out that it was quite a chore for school teachers to count dirty and even sometimes decaying gopher tails, crows feet, etc. On the motion of Councillor Giebelhaus it was decided that teachers be not asked to assume this duty if and when any pest competitions are decided upon.

Letter from M.D. of Eagle referring to the negotiations now in progress regarding the large road construction outfit in which both M.D.'s have a financial interest. They also requested an estimate of the amount of gravel taken out of the gravel pit jointly owned. The amount of gravel estimate was set at 3000 yds., discussion of the machinery negotiations was left over until a full council was in session.

Letter from J. Bydlowska, Beverly, who desired to sell cement culverts to council. On the motion of Councillor Giebelhaus this letter was tabled.

Letter from Field Crops Commissioner approving formation of agricultural committee. A discussion ensued regarding weed matters, it being stated that the intention of the agricultural committee was to pursue a helpful attitude rather than an arbitrary one.

Quite a little discussion took place regarding the negotiations between the M.D. of Eagle and M.D. of Beaver regarding the large road building unit. The final outcome of the discussion was that a committee composed of Councillors Swabey, Moen, Lucas and Giebelhaus, were appointed to inspect the unit.

Mr. Revegar interviewed Council regarding some land which had been condemned for the growing of wheat due to weeds. He requested that he be allowed to plant 60 day barley. He wished to purchase seed at once.

Moved by Councillor Logan that Mr. Revegar be given recommendation to buy seed barley on the basis of his statements here today. Later the agricultural committee will go into the matter more fully.

Mr. Hamilton of Adams Machinery Co. interviewed council suggesting that if they required any, they should order snow plows now. Council did not order any.

Mr. Rice of the Richardson Machinery Co. interviewed council regarding machinery and parts. A number of grader blades were ordered, also two turnover scrapers, one for Div. 4 and one for Div. 5. These are small two wheel graders that can be used for repair work and which can be easily moved form place to place. They cost about $175.00 each.

Reeve Anderson on behalf of Rev. Ostrem requested a small grant to be used for improving Kingman cemetery. This was fully considered and council was quite sympathetic with the request, but it was pointed out that there are very many cemeteries within the M.D. and that repeated requests for grants would be made if this one were granted. On the motion of Councillor Ovens the request was tabled.

The amount of government grants for road building was discussed and on the motion of Councillor Ovens it was decided to make a request to the government for a grant of $22,000.

Mr. Ward whose home was recently burned down and whose wife and children are or have been in the hospital, requested Council to underwrite his hospital account. Council was of the opinion that they could not do this but suggested that an advance of $150.00 on the lumber bill for rebuilding be made.

Councillor Logan then took his leave for the last time as councillor and Reeve Anderson voiced the regret of Council that Councillor Logan found it necessary to resign.

On the motion of Councillor Moen an investigation will be made as to the possibility of procuring gravel from the shores of Beaver Lake.

A number of bills were presented, passed and ordered paid.

Council adjourned at 9:30 p.m.

The next meeting of Council will be held on Tuesday, April 3rd and this is what is known as the statutory meeting.

Immediately prior to the noon adjournment Councillor Logan announced that as this was his last meeting he [illegible] to entertain the Reeve, councillors, press and office staff [illegible] dinner. Mr. Rice of Richardson's Machinery Co. because this was his first call upon council, had arranged to do the same thing. All we can say is that the hotel served a very nice dinner and express the thanks of all to the hosts.

COMMUNICATION

Editor's Note: The following letters were received by Miss Jean Clark of Deville. Miss Clark is secretary of the Deville Cooking Lake Activity Club which has shown much interest in the welfare of the enlisted men and women of the district.

Dear Jean,

Just a few lines to thank you and all the members of the Club for the two parcels of tobacco I received a few days ago.

I get to see a lot of shows over here, was to see a C.W.A.C. show last night. It was real good.

The war should soon be over and then there will be some happy fellows when they get back to good old Canada.

There is not much to write about and I never was one to write much, so will say so long. Thanks again.

Sincerely,
George Westlake

Dear Folks,

I received the smokes today and wish to thank you all very much. A good smoke is really appreciated when the going gets tough over here, and thank you all once again.

Bert Clark

Dear Jean,

While the Tommies are having a spot of tea and a Wild Wood Nine Cig. I'll take time to write a few lines and thank yourself and the club for the three hundred cigs which came a few days ago. It's nice to know that there is some one back home who still thinks of us guys over here.

I've gone a little ways since I got over here and some time things have not been too nice, but one gets used to it quite soon. At first we lived down in the ground like some wild animal who doesn't trust his next door neighbor, and sometimes we nearly had to put floats under our beds so we would not drown at nights when it rained. Then for three months we lived, drove and slept in our trucks somewhere in France and Belgium. Talk about Indians on the move, they had nothing on us.

At first we drove with no lights at night and you would see the odd truck in the ditch or trying to climb up a tree. I've been lucky so far but my turn may come yet. I've been in a few hot places and it's not just a bed of roses. There was one thing a few of us found out soon after we got over and that was not to get lost when you are close to the front lines, it's just not healthy.

Belgium, I think, was the nicest place, the people really treated us good. They tried to help a guy out and they were very friendly. I did not care much for France, and here in Holland a guy doesn't know quite what to make of these people, and by a few things that has happened, you don't know who to trust.

We are attached to an English outfit now, doing their hauling for them. I have quite a bit of fun with them.

This morning they called us at four-thirty and said you've got fifteen minutes to be on the road, rush order. You should have seen the sleepy looks, most of us were playing cards till midnight, so we went without breakfast, which I did get at eleven after driving fifty miles and getting loaded up.

I would like to have seen Bert when they were out for a rest but I never got to go near the town where they were.

I'm waiting for Sam S. to come back to camp now so I could see him. I pass his camp every day but he is away for a few days. It will be nice to see him again. Well, there are only twenty one more shopping days till Christmas, so I'd better go.

As ever,
Fred Gruidl.

P.S. This is one of Jerry's pads, can't take everything along.

Attention Farmers

We wish to bring to the attention of the farmers that the Department of Agriculture has a Bull Exchange and Assistance Policy. This assistance is available to bonafide farmers but does not include breeders of purebred cattle. If the farmer disposes of an inferior grade bull for slaughter purposes and presents this bill of sale with the application, to the Department under the Bull Loaning Policy, he is entitled to 15 per cent discount and free transportation to the nearest railway shipping point.

In the past it has been our experience that after the Spring Sale we receive enquiries about purchase of purebred herd sires. Invariably such enquirers are disappointed because their enquiries are past the season.

This year the livestock auction sale will be held in Edmonton on April 12. If any farmers in this area wish to take advantage of our assistance, they are urged to make their application to this office. We have on hand a supply of regular forms. The farmer must deposit a cheque for the purchase price with the Department before the sale. In the case of purchase of bulls in the higher price bracket, it might be possible to arrange a selection of three and submit such information to me before the sale.

So if you are interested in our assistance, we wish that you would get in contact with us before the sale.

W. A. MOSSEY, District Agriculturist.

THE TOFIELD MERCURY
W. Worton, Publisher

"GIVE US THIS DAY—"

FROM THE HEART and through the lips of millions of people during nearly 20 centuries of time has come the familiar prayer "Give us this day our daily bread." To most of mankind during the centuries "daily bread" has been available, but at different times and in different places, sometimes due to natural causes and sometimes to man's perversity, there was "no daily bread" and mankind, like plants in parched earth withered away and died, one by one and in groups.

With the exception of natural causes, such as long and recurrent periods of drought, war and strife is most prolific of famine conditions and the longer war lasts and the more devastating it becomes, the closer to the bottom of the corn crib the whole human family gets.

Hunger, increasingly creeping, gnawing hunger, is something people on this continent rarely experience, but on other continents, one does not have to delve back into the dark ages to learn of men, women and children dying from sheer starvation. Parts of China, parts of Russia, parts of India, have all, during recent years, been afflicted with famine conditions and death from not having enough to eat, death from not having anything to eat, has been all too common.

During the "lean thirties" lean in money and in opportunities and the where-with-all to do business, but fat in the prolificacies of nature, we often wondered if the day would not come when food stuffs would be scarce and none too easy to get. Idle apprehension perhaps, but nature as well as mass human behaviour have an almost unfailing habit of, like a pendulum, first swinging to one side and then the other, yet strangely enough remaining much the same throughout the ages. During those days, "the lean thirties" there was an abundance of everything, grains, meats, vegetables, fruits, and while even then in some portions of the earth, privation and starvation occured, it was man made famine and not one of natural causes. Therefore it is not without interest that we read this week that the United States plan to cut the lend lease shipments of food to Great Britain 87 per cent, which if the percentage quoted is correct is very near to stopping the lend lease shipment of food altogether. The reason given is that Great Britain has immense stock piles of food amounting to 7,000,000 tons. Prime Minister Churchill immediately announced that Great Britain did not have 7,000,000 tons of food but slightly less than 6,000,000 which due to aid being given liberated countries will by the end of June be cut to 4,500,000 tons. This stockpile, said Mr. Churchill, has been built up by self-denial and over a period of intense bombardment, and represents as a margin of safety only about two or three hundred pounds of food per person, which is necessary in the flow of distribution under present conditions. These figures mean little to most of us here because we have no previous knowledge of what constitutes an adequate margin of food safety, but it is obvious or at least should be to all of us, that the suggestion made officially in the United States that the lend lease shipments of food to Britain be cut 87 per cent and Prime Minister Churchill's quick response to the suggestion, that world food supplies are diminishing and that world statesmen at least are food shortage conscious.

This does not mean that here in Canada famine conditions are around the corner. In fact if Canadians always continue to exercise even a small degree of common sense, famine conditions in Canada need never occur. But it does mean that Canadians should be aware of the possibilities of such an event, remembering that even in fertile regions in recent times famine conditions have occurred. Being food shortage conscious does not necessarily mean being fraught with fear, but it is wise to watch the trend of events in this connection. Canadians as a people have been very, very fortunate so far during this war. It is true hundreds of thousands of her men and women have volunteered or been drafted for service at home and abroad, yet there has been no actual visitation of war's horrors. This is not due to enemy good will but to the willingness of British, American and Canadian servicemen and women to go out and meet the forces of the enemy before they reached our shores. We should not forget this. Canadians have not had to flee from their homes before the enemy, sleep in caves or race for air shelters. Restrictions have been light and business has been good, so good in fact that business men, farmers, fishermen and lumbermen, miners and manufacturers, almost without exception, have profited. Because of this and the seemingly apparent ending of the European conflict, there is a tendency to slacken off, consider the war won and believe that what are known as normal conditions will follow forthwith. We very much doubt it. In the first place "normal conditions" is a misleading term. If there is such a thing as normal conditions of national and international affairs they have been badly disrupted since the accidental sinking of the Titanic in 1911. Actually world conditions are like the surface of the ocean, ever changing but ever the same.

Yesterday, Wednesday, was the first day of spring. Soon hurried preparations will be going forward so that fields and gardens are well laid and planted so that with the blessings of a good season a bountiful harvest may result. And so may "Our Daily Bread" be assured for us throughout the years and for those millions of Canadians still unborn who will follow us.

REGISTRATION FOR FAMILY ALLOWANCES Starts on MARCH 22nd, 1945
F.R. SAUER
TO OBTAIN THESE ALLOWANCES
every child under 16
must be registered

PARENTS: Through the mail, shortly after March 22nd, all families will receive a Family Allowances Registration Form. Fill in this form as soon as it is received and mail it back in the envelope in which it came. Please do this promptly —it is in the interests of your children.

The form you will receive is very simple. There are only seven questions and only a few minutes need be required to complete the form, but be sure to answer every question.

Family Allowances are being provided to assist parents in the raising of their children. This monthly allowance is to be used for health protection, for doctors, dentists and nurses; to provide better food, adequate clothing and shelter, and to help equalize opportunities for all children.

INCOME TAX: No one will benefit from both Family Allowances and a full income tax deduction for their children. Parents have the choice of applying for their Family Allowances or not claiming the allowance and claiming the full deduction for their children under Income Tax. If they claim the Family Allowance, the amount of deduction from tax allowed for children under the Income War Tax Act will be reduced by the amount of any Family Allowance received. Anyone who is uncertain whether or not he or she will benefit from Family Allowances more than from Tax Deduction should register for the Family Allowance and in this way be on the safe side. Incomes may change during the course of a year.

Pool Payments Held Up

There will be no payment of patronage dividends by the Alberta Wheat Pool this spring. Neither will there be any purchase of reserves. Nothing can be done in this regard until the federal government makes a decision on the question of taxing co-operatives.

For some years past the Alberta Wheat Pool has been issuing substantial sums in the form of patronage dividends and for the purchase of reserves at about this time of the year. Members who may be looking forward to the same will undoubtedly be disappointed to hear that these payments will not be forthcoming. Until it is made clear whether the federal government will tax such earnings or not these payments will have to be held up. If it is decided to tax the earnings the amount of payment will be lessened by the amount of the tax.

His Red Cross Mother

FIGHTING through the mud and icy slush of flooded battlefields, our boys in the front line have learned to bless the tens of thousands of devoted women who labor as volunteer workers for the Red Cross.

Through five years of war, these Canadian "Blue Smock" workers have knitted hundreds of thousands of pairs of socks . . . made millions of other comforting articles of clothing—packed millions of Red Cross food parcels. Other specially-trained volunteer women serve as drivers, as nursing aides, as office workers and dietitians.

Freely giving their time and labor, these hard-working volunteers make your Red Cross dollars stretch farther. Thanks to their efforts, each dollar you give is multiplied three times in the value of food, clothing and medical supplies it buys.

GIVE—and give generously, to support their selfless work. Let your contribution to the Canadian Red Cross be the token of your thanks to these devoted women who serve in very truth, as "another mother" to your boy, or your friend or neighbor in the fighting line.

FARM CASH INCOME AT NEW HIGH LEVEL

Cash income from the sale of farm products reached a new high in 1944. The estimated returns totalled $1,752 million, representing an increase of $350 million, or 25 per cent over '43, and $1,067 millions or 145 p.c. over '39. Additional Government payments raise the total farm cash income to $1,817 million for 1944 compared with $1,454 million in 1943. Higher income in 1944 is reported for all provinces except Prince Edward Island. Most notable increases occurred in the west in both grains and live stock. Saskatchewan recorded the largest increase. Substantial increases were recorded from Alberta, Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec.

In view of the reduced stocks of grain on farms in the Prairie Provinces at the beginning of 1945, together with a prospective reduction in the marketing of hogs, it is probable, states the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, that cash income from the sale of farm products in 1945 will be somewhat lower. Except for hogs, some increase in the output of live stock and live stock products is indicated. There is not likely to be much change in prices in the coming year.

History Of Bardo Male Chorus

By Eddie Steen

It was back in 1930 when Albin Anderson, returning to Alberta from the State of Washington, brought with him the idea of forming a Male Chorus here. Mr. Anderson sang with the Bellingham, Wash., Male Chorus for a number of years and had considerable experience in chorus work. This Chorus sang at different points along the coast and took part in the Singer's Convention ("Sangerstevne") held annually under the direction of Rudolph Moller, director of the Seattle Chorus. Some of our Male Chorus music has been arranged by Rudolph Moller.

In discussing the idea with the men and boys of the community, a great deal of interest was created, and all seemed in favor of organizing a Male Chorus.

Albin Anderson called an organization meeting for Jan. 7, 1932, when our local men and boys met in the basement of the Bardo Church, and the Bardo Male Chorus came into being. Officers were elected, and the following signed up as members during the first year. Pres., Hans Hillerud; Vice-Pres., Bennie Anderson; Sec., Monrad Pinseth; Treas., Ingvald Ness; Marshall, Bennie Pinseth; Director, Albin Anderson; Asst. Director, Bennie Anderson; Music Com., Ivar Moen, Pete Bjornson and Monrad Pinseth; Organist, Mrs. Ivar Moen; Axel Kindley, Eddie Steen, Alvin Steen, Reuben Eide; Michael Erickson; Bennie Moen; Art Moen; Olaf Lund, Ingolf Brachan, Bill Simonson, Rolf Bjornson, Lief Foshaug, Ivan Foshaug, Olaf Anderson, Bob Berrecloth, and Inge Johanson. A committee was elected to draft by-laws though at times they have been broken, we have tried to uphold the by-laws in our Chorus work.

Our main purpose in forming the Chorus was not for honor or gain, but for the love of singing and to create interest in Chorus work in other communities. It was decided to hold rehearsals on Monday nights at 8 p.m. and the members who could not read music, would meet on Thursday nights to study the notes, under the direction of Mrs. Ivar Moen. Mrs. Geo. Hendrickson and Monrad Pinseth. For a number of years lunch and coffee was served at rehearsals, which was a good drawing card, as a Norwegian needs his coffee. Members took their turns in serving refreshments.

Our songs consist of Scandinavian folk songs, secular and sacred songs in both English and Norwegian languages. At the present time we have over one hundred songs in our music library. Our Chorus has varied in personnel and number, at one time there were 25 voices, though the Chorus has averaged 20 voices over a period of years. Our present strength is nineteen members. Age bars no one, as the members range from sixteen to sixty years. The Chorus is mainly Norwegian descent with a mixture of Swede and English.

The Chorus sponsored an annual picnic for years, with a program of singing music and sports, and have sung at concerts, festivals, celebrations and sacred programs at different points in the province, namely: Edmonton, Camrose, Rawif, Daysland, Ryley, Viking, Tofield, Amisk Creek, Kingman, Friedheim, Round Hill, Armena, Crooked Lake, Spilsted, Hastings Lake, and a series of concerts in the Grande Prairie country, at La Glace, Valhalla, Rolla, Beaverlodge, and Lake Saskatoon and numerous times in our own community. In 1933, on Nov. 2nd, we sang at the Ryley Chautauqua, and in 1934 we sponsored a two-day celebration, commemorating the fortieth anniversary of the early settlers in this district.

In 1935 on the eve of the provincial election, we sang at political rallies in Daysland, Rawif and Camrose, in support of Chester Ronning, U.F.A. candidate. We really had to move fast that night to follow up with the politicians. Whether it was Aberhart's $25.00 promise or our singing, Mr. Ronning was defeated at the polls.

During the summer of '36 we took part in a Sons of Norway celebration at Viking and then we took to radio for a change, singing on the Lutheran Hour over Radio station CFRN on Dec. 13, 1936, and on April 18, 1937, we took part in a program over CFRN, sponsored by the Sons of Norway Lodge. Radio wasn't our line so we went back to our farming. On Sunday, Aug. 11, 1940, the Chorus had a busy day, singing in the afternoon at the Crooked Lake Church, north of Wetaskiwin. After the program and eats, we had to rush back to Ryley where we sang in the evening.

And in the summer of '40 we were favored by a visit from the La Glace Male Chorus, who gave a series of concerts here, and at surrounding communities. Their visit ended with Mrs. Ida Johnston, wife of Jim Johnston, who lived in this neighborhood for over 25 years, coming to their farm east of here from Ontario with her husband, when Harvey was about 2 years old, passed away in St. Joseph's hospital, Edmonton, on March 20, and was buried in the Edmonton cemetery on March 22. She leaves to mourn her loss, her loving husband and three sons, Harvey and Stanley, farming in this district and Louis, with the RCNVR at Halifax, and three grandchildren. Many beautiful floral tributes were received, among them being a wreath from the Dodds Community. Ten dollars was also contributed and sent to the Red Cross from Dodds in memory of Mrs. Johnston. The sympathy of the Dodds district goes out to the Johnston family in this bereavement.

Red Cross Fund Drive: Up to date Dodds has collected $152.12 for this fund.

J. H. McLEAN PASSES

A wide circle of friends all over the Holden Inspectorate and in the Crows Nest Pass area learned with regret of the death at the University Hospital, Edmonton, on Friday, March 23rd, of Mr. J. H. McLean, supervisor of Schools for the Holden School Division.

Mr. McLean has been associated with the teaching profession for some time. Before coming to Holden he was principal of the Bellevue School, at Bellevue in the Crows Nest Pass. He is well known there for his successful work as a principal and teacher, for his interest in educational affairs, and also as an athlete. He excelled in sports himself and stimulated an active interest in them in his school and in the community.

Soon after the organization of the large school divisions in the province, Mr. McLean's ability was recognized, and he was appointed supervisor of the Holden School Division. To organize for, plan and achieve desired results in a division requires time and high ability. For what has been done so far Mr. McLean deserves much credit. During the time he has been actively engaged in his work here he has done much for the Division; he was liked and appreciated by the teachers. He has not been able, however, to see the full fruition of his plans.

Funeral arrangements were in the hands of Howard & McBride of Edmonton. A service was held in the United Church at Holden on Monday, March 26. Rev. W. J. Bell and Rev. Geeson will officiate. After the service the body was forwarded to Coleman, Alberta, for interment.

He leaves to mourn him, his wife, two daughters, Elaine and Dolores, a brother at Red Deer, and a sister at Delburne. —Holden Herald.

Mrs. G. Bailey returned home Tuesday of last week after spending 10 days in a hospital in Edmonton. She is feeling much better.

Mrs. Wickenberg had some of the neighbors in to help celebrate Mr. Wickenberg's birthday on Saturday evening.

Mrs. Eaglesham spent a few days in the city, returning home on Monday. Jean also came back with her, and also Charley Othen who arrived in Edmonton Saturday night for a 30-day leave, after about 5 years overseas service with the Army. Pte. Othen is a guest at the Eaglesham home now.

From an interview an Edmonton Bulletin reporter has this to say of Private Othen: "Pte. C. E. Othen of Tofield was wearing the shoulder shields emblematic of Field Marshall Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's Eighth Army—together with two good conduct stripes pointing to four years good service or in Army parlance, "undetected crime". Member of the Loyal Edmonton Regiment, he was blown up by a mine one night in Italy when his gun carrier struck the enemy explosive. "I hit the ditch, but fast," he recalled.

TO "FINISH JOB"

Asked about how the boys in Italy were doing "in general" Pte. Othen stated that most of them wanted to remain in Italy and finish the job there, rather than move to the western front. "They've been trained for mountain warfare. They can gradually adapt themselves to different terrain, but it would be hard for them to do it suddenly," he explained. He was none too enthusiastic about Italy as a country however. At one point during the interview he was asked to spell one of the Italian names he had mentioned. "Oh heck, don't ask me to spell any of those names," he said. His opinion of the country pretty well followed suit.

Mr. A. Hatten is spending a few days in the city this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacobson attended the Holte sale at Amisk Creek on Tuesday.

Jack Jones and the L. Jones family were city visitors on Tuesday.

Elmer Geoglein and Verlyn Moos spent a week at Calgary attending the cattle show and sale. Elmer Geoglein shipped 3 head and Verlyn Moos one, and both reported a very interesting week.

Alvin Steen spent a couple of days in the city last week getting dental work done.

Margaret Meyers and Vivian spent Thursday and Friday in the city last week.

The teachers, Miss P. Walker and Mr. L. Olson and school children of McKenzie, spent Tuesday in Edmonton and had a very interesting day. They went through the Parliament Buildings and attended a session, went through the University and Canada Meat Packers. They left the school at 9 a.m. and returned home about 6 p.m. Joe Jones, Mr. Geoglein,

LINDBROOK

Superintendent J. H. McLean passed away in the University hospital at Edmonton, March 23rd. He had suffered great pain from pernicious anaemia during the last six weeks there. The teachers and pupils of the Division suffer a great loss in his passing. His keen interest in progressive education and his sympathetic understanding of teachers and their problems will long be remembered. He was a gentleman.

From Tofield, John Brown, Ivar Moen, Lars Olson, Earl Hardy and Arkie Richardson acted as pall bearers. Nearly every teacher in the Tofield district attended the funeral in Holden Monday. The body will be laid to rest in Coleman.

The following is a list of wearing material and comforts made and donated to the Tofield Branch of the Red Cross this week by the Mennonite Brethren Church at Lindbrook: 25 pair stockings, 6 pr. socks, 33 childrens' dresses, 7 petticoats, 4 pair pyjamas, 11 pair bloomers, 8 children's shirts, 2 nightgowns, 12 diapers, 3 baby nighties, 8 pillow cases, 3 boys' suits, 6 boys shirts, pair boy's pants, 2 shirts, 2 large wool filled quilts, 1 medium quilt, in all 141 articles. This is a very worthy effort.

Mrs. L. Herndon, Mrs. T. Bourne and Mr. R. Phillips of Edmonton were week end visitors at the R. Smith home.

We welcome Mr. T. Porter home after having spent the winter in Edmonton with an injured knee

Mr. W. C. Lacaster who is a scout at the Wainwright prisoner-of-war camp, was a week end visitor at home.

History Of Bardo Male Chorus

a banquet and a ball game between the two Choruses, only they were better ball players.

We promised to repay the visit, so in the summer of 1941 we journeyed northward, 35 in number, and gave a series of concerts in the Grande Prairie country. Travelling in seven cars, we were away thirteen days, covering a distance of 1000 miles, splashing through mud and water. A trip we would all like to repeat again. The summer of 1944 we took part in the Old Timers Celebration, held at the P. B. Anderson farm, Bardo, to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the pioneers who settled in this district. The late Mr. Anderson was a lover of song and music, and a staunch supporter of the Male Chorus. And we pay tribute to Mr. Anderson for his service towards singing in this community.

These are a few of the highlights on our different singing expeditions. We expect to stage a few concerts this summer, at Camrose and in other communities.

For years the Chorus practised in the Bardo Church, but during the later years we have held our rehearsals in the Bardo school. At times we have met three times a week for certain concerts and celebrations. Our transportation for a number of years was mainly by truck, but later we became more modern and travel by cars. Albin Anderson, who was our director for eleven years, and founder of the organization, deserves most of the credit for the success of the Chorus. When roads were blocked for car traffic during the first winters, Albin would trudge eight miles through the cold and snow to keep his appointment for rehearsals. Showing the love for singing and music and the interest he had in the Chorus; we believe the Chorus would have folded up years ago if it hadn't been for Albin's encouragement and faithfulness to the Chorus. When handing out the laurels, we must take our hats off to Albin Anderson for the great work he has done for the Bardo Male Chorus. Our present director, Alice Broughton, has been directing the Chorus for the past two years, and we hope to have her with us for many more. As far as we know this is the only Male Chorus with a lady director—of course we don't mind, as all the members think their director is tops. With her pleasing personality and tactful manner, she has won the respect and admiration of all the singers. Miss Broughton's ability in singing and music has been a big factor in the recent progress of the Chorus.

Both our former and present directors have stressed expression in the singing, bringing out the full interpretation of the song. Though they differ some in their ways of directing, the Chorus has been fortunate in having capable directors.

The following have been our assistant directors, Alice Broughton, Monrad Fineseth, Pete Bjornson, Ingvald Ness and Bennie Anderson.

Organists and pianists with the Chorus for the past thirteen years, and who have sacrificed their time and energy in teaching us the sharps and flats are: Miss Ivar Moen, Mrs. Geo. Hendrickson, Edna Steen, Mabel Simonson, Mrs. Walter Scott, (nee Betsy Ness), Alice Broughton and Muriel Fineseth.

And there are those who have balanced our financial worries have been, Martin Eide, Martin Hagen, Geo. Hendrickson and Albert Haukedahl.

Officers elected for 1945 are: Pres., Pete Bjornson, Vice-Pres., Ingolf Breckan, Sec., Eddie Steen; Treas., Earl Kindley; Marshall Bennie Fineseth; Director, Alice Broughton; Assistant Director, Monrad Fineseth; Pianist, Muriel Fineseth; Music Com., Ivar Moen, Botolf Bjornson and Monrad Fineseth; Librarians, Bob Berrecloth and Eddie Steen; Auditors, Lief Foshaug and Albert Haukedahl.

The following have been members of the Chorus since it was organized, names in parenthesis are the present members: First tenors: (Monrad Fineseth, Bob Berrecloth, Eddie Steen, Botolf Bjornson, Earl Kindley,) Olaf Land, Henry Johnson, Ivan Foshaug, Michael Erickson, John Berild, Talbert Foshaug, Bud Steen, Clifford Jevning, Gordon Hendrickson and Jacob Strommer.

Second tenors: (Ivan Moen, Axel Kindley, Bennie Anderson, Leroy Fineseth, Harold Kindley,) Art Moen, Alvin Steen, Art Hollin, Otto Johansen, Eric Likeness and Selmer Olsenberg.

First bass: (Bennie Fineseth, Lief Foshaug, Elcon Moen, Charles Rude, Philip Anderson,) Bennie Moen, Ole Bartness, Malcolm Fineseth, Merlin Foshaug, Lawrence Broughton, Olaf Anderson, Everitt Nash, and Finn Ness.

Second bass: (Pete Bjornson, Ingolf Breckan, Geo. Foshaug, Reuben Eide,) Hans Hillerud, Ingvald Ness, Bill Simonson, Milton Jevning, Bert Loken, John Wentby, Hans Krogen, Inge Johansen, Olaf Haugen and Art Haugen.

Non-singing member, Pete Lorbekmo.

Five of our members have seen action in the present conflict on the European war fronts, namely, Pte. Merlin Foshaug, Pte. Talbert Foshaug, Sgt. Milton Jevning, Pte. Clifford Jevning and Pte. Everitt Nash.

Financially we have been able to make both ends meet, despite the hungry thirties, through membership fees and proceeds from picnics and concerts. Our expenditures have been mainly for music, and other expenses for a music cabinet, fee to organist, light, fuel, janitor work and transportation. The Chorus has made donations to the Red Cross and other charities, also to the various local organizations, and when times are normal again, we hope to promote the building of a curling rink in Bardo.

In conclusion the Male Chorus wants to thank the Bardo congregation and the Bardo Ladies' Aid for their co-operation and loyal support they have rendered us through all these years. And praise to the mothers, wives, sisters and daughters, who have baked many a pie and buttered sandwiches for our picnics and concerts, and stayed at home to milk cows and feed pigs, while we were away warbling in some distant land. And thanks to our neighboring communities for their support in the interest of the Male Chorus. Without this support the Chorus would have been unable to carry on.

Though the Chorus has had its struggles, disappointments and an occasional family quarrel, the members have tried to co-operate and support each other, as it should be, and we always look forward to Monday night for another rehearsal.

When this world's conflict is over, we hope to see Male Choruses organized in other localities, and meet annually for Singers convention. As we are not professional singers, our singing at times has been both good and bad, but we hope our singing has served a purpose, and brought some enjoyment to our listeners. We expect to celebrate our fifteenth anniversary on January 7, 1947, and our wish is that the Bardo Male Chorus may continue for years to come.

War Veterans Insurance NOW AVAILABLE

Offers protection, without medical examination in most cases, to those discharged.

When Canada entered the present war, it was realized that men and women who went into uniform faced the possibility of returning to civilian life with their health impaired, or with some physical disability. It was realized also that, as a result of this impairment in health or disability, many service men and women would be unable to provide protection for their families through the normal channels of commercial life insurance. To meet this situation, Parliament at its 1944 session passed an Act known as The Veterans Insurance Act. This act has now been proclaimed and applications may be made for policies under it.

WHAT ARE THE SPECIAL FEATURES OF WAR VETERANS INSURANCE?

One of the principal features of War Veterans Insurance is that with very few exceptions it is available at low cost, without medical examination. No extra premiums are charged where the veteran's occupation is affected by hazards—such as, mining, construction, commercial flying, etc.—and, in addition, premiums are waived in the event of total disability. There is no extra cost for this waiver of premium.

WHO MAY APPLY FOR WAR VETERANS INSURANCE?

Any ex-service man or woman is eligible. In addition, widows or widowers of veterans may apply for the insurance on themselves if the veterans were not insured under the Act. Merchant Navy personnel in receipt of a war disability pension from the present war are eligible also.

WHAT TYPES OF INSURANCE ARE AVAILABLE?

The plans of insurance available are 10 Payment Life, 15 Payment Life, 20 Payment Life, Life Paid-up at 65 and Life Paid-up at 85, that is [illegible] premiums may be paid for 10, 15, 20 [illegible] respectively. The longer [illegible] the term of payment the [illegible] the premium required. The insurance Term and Endowment [illegible] no dividends are [illegible]

WHAT AMOUNTS OF INSURANCE ARE PROVIDED FOR?

[illegible] in amounts ranging from $500 to $10,000. The amount of the insurance is payable only in the event of the death of the insured.

HOW ARE PREMIUMS PAID?

At the option of the veteran, premiums may be paid monthly, quarterly, half-yearly, or annually. There is no additional cost to the veteran for paying premiums on a monthly basis.

IS THERE ANY CASH SURRENDER VALUE?

After premiums have been paid for two full years, the policy may be surrendered for its Cash Surrender Value, or it may be transferred to Paid up Insurance or Extended Term Insurance. There is no provision for loans against the policy.

AT DEATH HOW WILL THE INSURANCE BE PAID?

The maximum amount which may be paid at death is $1,000, with the remainder being paid, at the option of the insured, in one of the following three ways:

(1) The money, plus 3½ per cent. interest, may be paid to the beneficiary in equal instalments over a period of five, ten, fifteen or twenty years, as selected. If the beneficiary dies, the payments are continued to his or her estate.
(2) The money may be paid in equal instalments as long as the beneficiary lives.
(3) As in (2), but instalments are guaranteed for five, ten, fifteen or twenty years, whether the beneficiary lives or dies.

WHAT IS THE EFFECT OF A WAR DISABILITY PENSION?

If, on the death of the insured, the beneficiary receives a pension, the insurance money will be paid as follows:

(1) If the policy is paid up, the full face amount of it will be paid to the beneficiary in the manner elected by the insured, plus the pension.
